Mayor, Board Sworn In On New Year's Day

Judge Franklin Flaschner swears in Mayor Mann

A certain casual air swept through the inauguration ceremonies Tuesday at City Hall.

Mayor Theodore Mann, after taking office, reelected to the city's first four-year term for mayor conducted the swearing-in ceremonies of the Board of Aldermen and the School Committee with a light touch that made obvious his enjoyment of the occasion.

Before an audience of more than 350 people, the mayor was accompanied into the aldermanic chamber by Rev. Charles G. Coyle, S.J.; Rabbi Terry Bard; Judges Joseph Mitchell, Arthur Sherman, Bruce Robinson, and Mone Basbas; State Sen. Irving Fishman; State Rep. Paul Guzzi; and former Mayor Howard Whitmore, and was sworn in by Judge Franklin Flaschner.

Mann gave the oath of office to the Board of Aldermen and the School Committee simultaneously.

Ald. Wendell Bauckman, who has served on the Board for 32 years, was elected president emeritus, by a vote of 23-0, with Bauckman declining to vote.

Ald. Eliot Cohen was voted Board president for the second consecutive term on a motion by Ald. Sidney Small that the vote be unanimous.

On a rollcall vote for vice-president, Ald. Richard Bullwinkle was elected unanimously, with Bullwinkle shunning the modesty of not voting for himself and registering his vote loud and clear, laughing along with the rest.

Outgoing School Committee Chairman Manuel Beckwith placed in nomination the name of Eleanor Rosenblum for chairman, and Committeeman Alvin Mandell nominated Dorothy Reichard as vice-chairman. Both nominations were approved unanimously.

Beckwith, who has been chairman of the School Committee since 1968 and a member of the Committee since 1956, was voted chairman emeritus.

Mayor Mann commented that Beckwith was "entering the big league" when joining the company of Wendell Bauckman in an emeritus position.

Upon the reelection of Lillian Radlo as secretary to the School Committee, the mayor, noting that the chairmanship and vice-chairmanship both went to women, jokingly said, "I'd have thought that in this day of women's lib you might have elected a male secretary."

The mayor's address held the attention of the audience well, causing thoughtful looks on the faces turned to the podium.

The Hallelujah Chorus from Handel's "Messiah" and two other complex selections were performed by the Smith Family choral group from Newton North High School, who gave a performance that stunned the audience with the beauty of the voices and made a brilliant wall of red and white along one side of the chamber.

Applause continued so long that the mayor told the group, "I think they are telling you they want more."

The Highland Glee Club sang "America, The Beautiful", followed by City Engineer Ulderico M. Schiavone, leading the assembly in the Pledge of Allegiance.

The invocation was delivered by Rabbi Bard and the prayer for Newton city officials by Rev. Coyle. The closing prayer was said by Rabbi Bard in the absence of Rev. Harold Pulley, who had been called away on an emergency.

The hour-and-a-half ceremony was followed by a reception in the rotunda of Memorial Hall, where well-wishers gave their congratulations to the mayor and his family and topped off the late New Year's afternoon with a cup of eggnog.

Members of the Board of Aldermen and the School Committee moved on to a party at a local restaurant.

Clinic Head To Fight State Dismissal

Norman Bernstein

Dr. Norman Bernstein, medical director of the Newton Guidance Clinic, will seek a preliminary injunction against the state today, prohibiting it from dismissing him or taking any other action without a hearing before the Department of Mental Health.

Bernstein was dismissed by Dr. William Goldman, state commissioner of Mental Health, effective Jan. 5.

Bernstein's complaint will allege that termination of Bernstein's services is improper, that Bernstein is under Civil Service, and that hearings before both the Department of Mental Health and the Civil Service Commission are required before termination can take place.

Asked whether Dr. Bernstein is under contract, Bernstein attorney, Monroe Inker of Newton, said, "The question of a state contract and what rights of protection anyone has is a nice question."

Bernstein was dismissed from his position so that an administrative reorganization of the clinic can be undertaken, according to Edward Sahatjian, associate director of the Newton-Wellesley-Weston Mental Health Area office.

Most of the trouble at the Guidance Clinic originates from the fact that the roles of the clinic's board of directors and the N-W-W Area office, an arm of the state, have not been clearly separated.

The Guidance Clinic, then called the Newton Mental Health Clinic, was born and nurtured through its early years by the Newton Mental Health Association.

When the state came on the scene, the board of directors of the Guidance Clinic, instead of running the clinic, became advisory to the state, with no power to hire and fire but able to make recommendations.

The departure of former director Dr. William Stone was apparently the turning point.

Last May the state hired Bernstein, on the recommendation of the clinic board, but things did not go smoothly from then on.

Bernstein found many problems in the operation of the clinic and set about trying to correct them. Stone had run the clinic in a loose, informal style, which was not Bernstein's.

Bernstein also wanted to replace psychologist Haskell Cohen, who was a part-time staff member, with a full-time psychologist.

Bernstein became the symbol of the clinic board and Cohen the symbol of the staff, which were by then at odds with each other.

A fact-finding committee of the N-W-W Mental Health Area, under the direction of Dr. Robert Kaplan and Edward Sahatjian, came up with the conclusion that there were "irreconcilable differences" between Bernstein and Cohen and recommended that they both resign to clear the way for the reorganization of the clinic.

Cohen has resigned.

Sahatjian said Wednesday that the area office feels it imperative "to reorganize the interaction between the staff and the (clinic) board," and then get a new director who will enter a situation where the roles are clearly defined.

Sahatjian emphasized that despite the unsettled conditions at the clinic, it's still "business as usual."

The clinic, which is funded by the city, the state, patients' fees, and money raised by the private Newton Mental Health Association, treats about 200 mentally disturbed children and their families per year.

Most of their patients are referred by the Newton School Department.

In addition, the clinic provides consultations to the school and makes referrals to other agencies, such as the psychiatric clinic of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

The city contributes nearly one-third of the clinic's budget. In 1973, the city's share amounted to about $74,000.

Newton Doing Okay With Gas

A proposed shutdown of Massachusetts gas stations to protest ceiling prices on gas seemed to be having no effect on Newton this week.

It does appear likely that there will be a gas shortage at the end of this month, possible even more severe than the shortage at the end of December.

A check on 14 Newton gas stations on Washington Street and in Four Corners Wednesday morning showed that 10 were doling out gas.

The Gulf station in Newtonville was in the process of receiving gas from a tanker and expected to be open soon.

Spokesmen at both the Mobil station in Four Corners and the Exxon station in West Newton said that they were out of gas and they did not know when they would be receiving more.

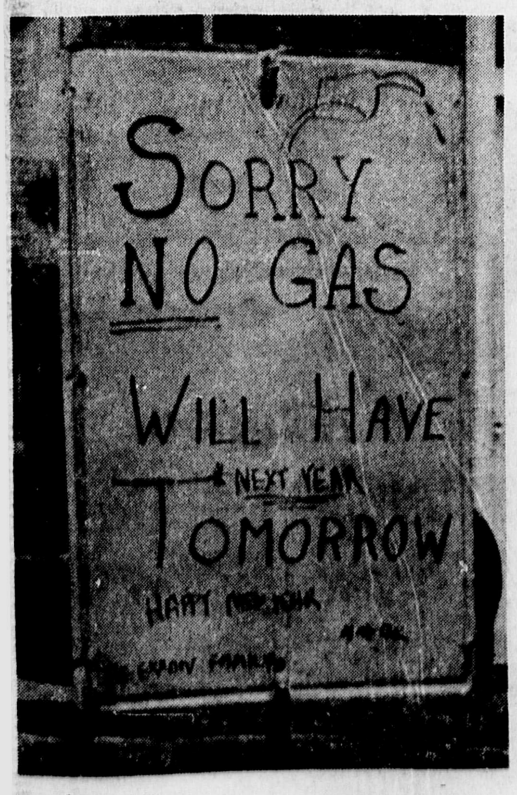

A spokesman at the Jenney station in West Newton stated that he should be receiving gas on Thursday or Friday, but that he would get 20 percent less gas than he received in December.

Reduced allocation was also claimed at the Shell station in Four Corners. A spokesman there said that the station's January allottment was 5 per cent less than what was received in December.

The stations with gas had heavy business early Wednesday morning. There were lines of cars two or three deep at most pumps at 9 a.m.

A decision from the Federal Energy Office on Monday allows retailers to boost their gas prices by 1 cent per gallon, and wholesalers can raise prices by ½ cent. This could mean a 1½ cent per gallon increase for consumers.

Phase four guidelines allow service stations to charge consumers the price they are being charged by their suppliers plus the markup they had last May 15, or 7 cents a gallon, whichever is higher.

Mann Inauguration Heralds Departmental Reorganization

BY ELIZABETH McKINNON
Of The Graphic Staff

The reorganization of the structure of city government, which Mayor Theodore Mann described briefly in his inaugural address will be in two parts, one affecting the Executive Department and one the rest of the city departments.

The first part, which can be implemented without approval of the Board of Aldermen except for salary appropriations, will establish the position of chief administrative officer, which will be filled by mayoral aide James Salter.

To Salter will report the new programming and planning officer, who will be present Planning Director Charles Thomas, and another new staff person, the chief financial officer, not yet named.

Also responsible to Salter will be the heads of all the other city departments.

The Planning and programming officer will be in charge of fiscal planning, planning administration, comprehensive planning, community development, and intergovernmental relations.

The chief financial officer will be responsible for budget preparation, performance audit, and electronic data processing.

If the mayor is successful in getting his plan through the Board, changes in the regular operating departments will put care of all grounds and city facilities and the care and maintenance of public buildings under the Public Works Department, to be headed up by present Public Buildings Commissioner Gene Larson.

The present Public Buildings Department will become the Department of Building Inspection, an area which many feel has been neglected over the years.

Central Services will be a new division of the Purchasing, it will take over the phone, central mailing, janitorial, and supply services for city offices, except the School Department, and will maintain City Hall.

The new Public Works Department will give the director of the department control over its present subdivisions, the Engineering, Street, and Water Departments.

In addition to these divisions there will be a new Sanitation Division (solid-waste disposal) Facility Maintenance Division, and Program Division.

According to the present organization, the director of Public Works has only an advisory capacity.

The Street Department will be in charge of all pavement, parks and grounds in the city.

Removing the burden of grounds maintenance from the Recreation Department will free that department to spend full time on the development and operation of program.

The reorganization of the Public Works Department may be regarded as the most important component of the entire reorganization, since it will vest in one person the authority to hire and fire several hundred people, and all decision making.

Newton Stations Hit For $42,000

NEWTON, Mass. (UPI) — Seven gasoline stations in Newton have been fined $42,500 apiece for violating federal regulations on posting ceiling prices, it was learned Wednesday.

The Internal Revenue Service said the stations had failed to affix the latest stickers issued to their gasoline pumps.

The operators said they told the IRS in telephone conversations they were unaware that new stickers had been issued to replace ones attached to pumps in October.

The IRS subsequently sent stickers to the stations and several days later an IRS agent reportedly went to the stations to see if they had complied with orders to post them.

The fines are based on a daily penalty of $2,500 for 17 working days ending Dec. 7, when the fines were imposed.

The Green Line is back in service

Green Line Operating Again

The Green Line Trolleys are rolling again.

After nearly four months of work on the roadbed, during which time shuttle buses ran between the Riverside station and the Highlands station, the trains are back on normal schedule.

About half the ties and all the track have been replaced on the three-mile stretch. The new, heavier track is in 1400-foot lengths, welded at the joints, and provides a much smoother, quieter ride, even with the ancient cars now in service.

The cars are running at low speed temporarily, until track exapnsion and contraction have reached their peaks.

The work completed so far represents Phase 1 of the whole project, which was undertaken to prepare the Green Line road for the new, larger, and faster cars that will go into service in 1975.

Phase 2, beginning March 15, will cover Cook's Junction (the loop west of the Highlands station) to Reservoir station.

In Phase 2, service will suffer only minor disruption, according to Donald Levitan of City Hall, who has been the liaison with the MBTA. No buses will be used.

During Phase 3, trolleys will be rerouted from Reservoir to Fenway along Beacon Street.

Text Of Mayor Mann's Inaugural Address

It has been my privilege to serve as mayor during the conclusion of Newton's first one hundred years—1972 and the Centennial Year 1973. With me were a most conscientious Board of Aldermen and School Committee, industrious department heads, diligent city workers, and a loyal executive staff. I especially wish to recognize the unprecedented citizen involvement in our community. It was evident that the Spirit of the Centennial prevailed. The villages of Newton joined hands and, in touching, brought the first century to a meaningful and united conclusion.

While we stand on the threshold of a new century and attempt to look into the future, one is awed by the prospects. When one steps forward into that interval of time as the mayor of a city, he finds himself seeking the assurance of citizenry stepping forward with him. You and I stand on this threshold of time together. Let our steps go forward together in unison.

Newton begins its second century in the midst of the world's twentieth. The mood of the universe at this time is very complex. The leadership of men has accomplished great achievements. But the leadership of men has also yielded great failings. Because of this intangible contradiction in the human intellect, ours is a fragile time in history.

Here in Newton, your government has been diligently working to create new systems of operation. These systems will strengthen our position and be consistent with today's needs. As the first mayor to hold a four-year term, I look forward to using this extended period to more fully meet these needs.

We have been an "action oriented" administration. We have been constantly attempting to achieve greater fiscal control over our expenditures, and much has been accomplished.

Notwithstanding our accomplishments, we have to be aware of the city's limitations in addressing its many complex problems. For our great need is to establish priorities, where we carefully allocate the city's limited resources among the various needs.

If this city is to continue to function effectively and economically, it must provide the office of mayor with the full range of management tools needed to supervise, to coordinate and to evaluate the multiplicity of city activities. Consequently, a management corps responsible to the mayor will be created by the following:

1. Establish the position of chief administrative officer, responsible directly to the mayor.

2. Establish the position of chief financial officer and enlarge our electronic data processing systems. This officer will be responsbile to the chief administrative officer.

3. Establish the position of planning and programming officer. This position will be created by enlarging the responsibility of the Planning Director to include long-range fiscal planning and policy research and the coordination of the various development activities of the Housing and Redevelopment Authorities.

This officer will be responsbile to the Chief Administrative Officer.

The request for necessary appropriations to enact these positions are to be transmitted to the Board of Aldermen.

To be submitted as a draft reorganization plan, to allow for maximum input by the City Solicitor, by the Aldermen, by the City workers, as well as our citizens, will be the reorganization plan for the Department of Public Works. The plan calls for the consolidation within the Public Works Department of the various construction, care and maintenance functions currently found within the Public Buildings and Recreation Departments as well as direct authority over the Street, Water and Engineering Departments.

The highlights of this reorganization are as follows:

1. A major emphasis will be an improved capacity to maintain the public buildings and grounds of the city, such as the parks and playgrounds.

2. The removal from the Recreation Department of the care and maintenance functions will allow that department to focus its capabilities upon the delivery of improved recreational programs.

3. The Building Department will be reconstituted as the Department of Building Inspection and will be charged with inspection and enforcement of our building codes and zoning ordinances.

4. A new supportive group will be established to be designated as Central Services within the Purchasing Department. Postage, centralized mail, and the pooling of office equipment., among other things, will be its specific responsibilities.

Now, if the potential of this reorganization is to be realized along with the creation of the three administrative offices, these actions must be accompanied by improvements in the budgetary and fiscal control systems which support the management functions.

The initial steps toward the establishment functions.

The initial steps toward the establishment of a system of this type have already been implemented through improvements in the capital budgeting process and the presubmission process established for all the operating budgets.

It is my continuing goal to improve the management capacity of the city by improving the capability for effective fiscal decision-making. This will provide for the evaluation of the effectiveness of city programs and services and for basing the administration of the city on a strong management system.

While steering our community into a new direction of priorities, we are at the same time, of course, aware of the international power struggle now raging, and we are seriously and unavoidably influenced by it. The lives of all are touched by it.

In the present energy cirsis, since most rules and regulations of necessity must be promulgated by federal and state government, preempting the entire regulatory area, we here in the city of Newton shall make every effort to be in strict compliance with any such applicable rules and regulations. Steps have and will be taken to insure maximum savings by the city in the use of its energy.

We must face the present and immediate future courageously. The fuel crisis is and will continue to be extremely frustrating for our residents and the city government. There is certain to be a great deal of inconvenience and disruption. There will be economic dislocation, and, unfortunately, in some cases, hardship.It is my hope that as good neighbors and as responsible citizens we will extend ourselves to the needs of others and discipline ourselves to the wants of our own.

Legislation I sponsored in 1971 as a state representative calling for a State Power Commission to carefully assess state energy requirements, as well as the increasing cost of fuel, has been resubmitted.

Adverse conditions notwithstanding, our obligation is to bring the best of our talent and judgment to bear on the multitude of day-to-day and long-range problems that are part and parcel of municipal government. Let us together review some of the more prominent matters that command our attention.

During this term we will see the court-mandated revaluation program put into effect in our city. The firm of Cole, Layer and Trumble has begun to compile the data necessary to accomplish fair and equal assessments of property in the city. The program will be implemented in January of 1975.

Our main source of income, real estate taxes, is not capable of supporting programs mandated by the state and the federal government. New funds must be provided from sources other than the property tax and must come from the federal and state governments. It should be noted that while the state has mandated many worthwhile programs for municipalities, such as under Chapter 766 and the hot lunch program, the state has not adequately provided funds for their support, thus adding to our tax burden. I will continue my efforts to obtain relief from such an unfair and discriminatory situation.

One of the largest and certainly most complex and costly problems facing us these next four years is how to protect our environment and at the same time meet our everyday human needs.

Imagine this--each day in this city approximately 200 tons of solid waste are generated. It is becoming an extremely difficult problem to dispose of that simple bag of trash. Men, equipment, sanitary landfills and incinerators are all elements of this process. Consider the fact that over the next two or three months we will have to make the decision requiring several million dollars for handling just the disposal end of the system.

The decision to be made is itself extremely involved. We now know that the final decision is not as simple as it first appeared. The Arthur D. Little report indicates that the upgrading of the incinerator may not be in the best interests of the taxpayers over the long term. However, the alternatives are all relatively high-risk ones.

One way to relieve this situation is to actively encourage a broader program of recyling. We have been recycling paper, which is collected monthly, as well as cans and bottles at our recycling center. I will be calling for a special committee to recommend a more comprehensive program of recycling and composting.

Since at least 52 cents of every tax dollar spent last year was for the School Department, it is essential that better coordination between the school department and other city departments takes place. I urge the School Department to collaborate more closely with the city in establishing greater fiscal control over educational expenditures that affect every taxpayer whether or not he has school children.

The volume of material one must review in order to be up to date on school department matters is overwhelming. Consequently, I recommend that a conference committee be established through which the School Committee, the Executive Department, together with the legislative body of the city, will be able to discuss and review matters of common interest.

An excellent opportunity is afforded to our residents because of the new ordinance establishing the Community Schools Commission. This newly constituted group must strive to provide the programs required consistent with what the city can afford and in accordance with local needs. This is a unique development in that the city and School Department have jointly created this commission. Our goal of greater utilization of municipal school buildings can be achieved and the school can, in a very real sense, become a center of community activity.

The Health Department must continue to seek ways to expand the services to the citizens of our community. Many successful clinics have been held. We are especially pleased with the establishment of a full pedodontic dental clinic at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

Because of our concern for the needs of good mental health services, it is disturbing to note the current unrest at the Newton Mental Health Clinic. Our Health Department is concerned about this program. I hope that through careful evaluation and management those responsible will solve their administrative problems so that they may deliver the necessary services to the citizens of Newton more effectively. Since we here in the city contribute a substantial amount to the budget of this organization, we view this situation with grave concern.

Today, a new ordinance voted by the previous board of aldermen will take effect regarding the Department of Human Resources. We have done much in this area and are proud of our accomplishments and seek to continue to provide the service necessary.

The purpose of the Department of Human Resources is to foster good will, cooperation and conciliation among the citizens of Newton and to design and implement programs aimed at meeting the specally "Human Needs" of these citizens. The focus of the Department's activities is responding to the needs of the disadvantaged, the young and the aging.

Also, at this time, there is a new ordinance going into effect creating a Personnel Department. It is essential for an employer as large as the city of Newton, employing 1,700, to have a platform where the employees and employer meet and where the common goals of both can be expressed as policy.

The single largest expense that a municipal government has is that of wages and salaries. Collective bargaining agreements have afforded us these past two years the opportunity to stabilize and reflect on the labor policies and costs. We are now on the threshold of another collective bargaining period and we look to our department heads as well as to labor to work hard to produce the contracts that are mutually beneficial to the worker and the taxpayer.

We have seen the creation of the Cultural Affairs and Urban Beautification, Commissions to deal with the civic, cultural and aesthetic qualities of the city.

Our efforts to have family housing constructed by the Newton Housing Authority have been frustrated to date by the high per-unit construction costs which were disapproved by the Department of Community Affairs. Every effort has been made to revise the specifications in order to meet maximum cost requirements by so doing, hopefully, the approval of the city's first family housing, to be constructed on three sites at various locations within the city, will soon be forthcoming.

We have seen the initiation of vigorous and expanding planning functions, addressing a wide range of city problems such as traffic, transportation, land conservation, and street lighting, among others.

We have dealt with the rapidly increasing costs of municipal operations in the past year, by the city's tax rate being reduced by $5.00.

The protection of life and property is one aspect of a community which never changes in its degree of importance. This past year, cooperatively, both the Police and Fire Departments took part in establishing a network of lime-colored Citizen Emergency Telephones throughout the city. These and the introduction of the emergency number, 911, further protect the citizenry and assist the police and fire personnel in their constant vigil.

And now, as this inaugural address draws to a close, I would like to think of it as a "preface." A preface to the volume of history which will be written and titled, "City of Newton - Second Century."

This address begins that volume as an honest assessment of our city's affairs and spirit. It is a statement of Newton's governmental determination for unity and stability. And it aims to project those qualities of awareness and sensitivity which make government and its citizenry honorable to one another. Also, we have placed in evidence that which is so vital – a rational perception of where we are today.

I have not wanted to belabor the factors of unrest plaguing today's society. I need not dwell on that which is recognized by the instinct and intelligence of decent men and women.

Our national and internati nal affairs, our political posture, the state of our natural resources, our morality – all of these are imploring us to seek counsel among ourselves. Therefore, my concern as the mayor of this city is that we counsel with one another with respect, that we learn from our exchanged, and that we do everything humanly possible to build and uphold the concepts of good government in our community.

Thank You.

Week-Long Program Set On Energy Crisis

During the week of Jan. 7 the Enrichment Program at Newton South High School will conduct a special program, "Exploring the Energy Crisis," in an attempt to clarify the situation and explore the problem in depth.

The energy crisis is of concern to every American, from the young child whose school hours have been altered to the faculty member who must drive to school, the teenage driver yearning to use the family car, and workers contemplating how they will get to their jobs, if indeed they still have jobs.

The week-long program on the energy crisis will attempt to answer many of the questions raised by the crisis.

The program will provide a focus on the technological, the social and the political aspects of the problem. The speakers are all experts in their respective fields and will examine the energy crisis from their individual vantage points.

On Monday, Jan. 7, at 10 a.m. in the Lecture Hall at Newton South High School Mrs. Susan Wilkes of the Sierra Club will present a slide show on conservation of energy.

Also on January 7 Prof. Walter Jones of Northeastern University will speak on "Politics of the Crisis" at 10:55 a.m. in the Lecture Hall.

On Tuesday, Jan. 8, Alan Altshuler, the State Secretary of Transportation, will speak on public transportation at 8 a.m. in the Lecture Hall.

At 10:55 a.m. on Jan. 8 Bob Copeland, weatherman for Channel 5, will speak on "The Weather and Its Relationship to Us and Our Fuel." This presentation will be in the Lecture Hall.

Wednesday, Jan. 9, Newton South will feature three different speakers simultaneously. At 10 a.m. in the Lecture Hall Prof. William Heronemus from U. Mass. will speak on "Alternatives to Conventional Thermal Power Systems." Also at 10 a.m. in Room 5102 Prof. Jon McGowan from U. Mass. (Amherst) will speak on energy and transportation.

In Room 5106 at 10 a.m. Prof. Allan Hoffman from U. Mass. Amherst will discuss the pros and cons of nuclear power. At 12:45 p.m. Profs. Heronemus, McGowan and Hoffman will participate in a panel discussion on the Energy Crisis in the Lecture Hall.

On Thursday, Jan. 10, at 10 a.m. in the Lecture Hall Prof. Richard Wilson from the Cyclotron Lab at Harvard University will discuss the applications of solar energy to help solve the energy crisis.

At 10:55 in the Lecture Hall Prof. James Feldman from Northeastern University will discuss "Do We have an Energy Crisis? Yes and No."

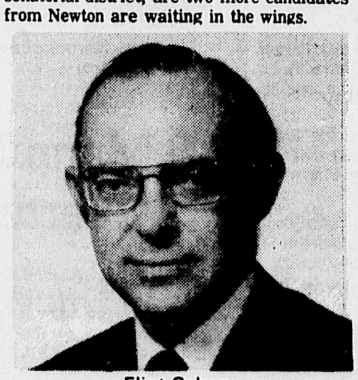

In the Lecture Hall at 11:50 a.m. Mr. James McKenzie from the Massachusetts Audubon Society will explore the background of the energy crisis.

To conclude the extensive program on the energy crisis on Friday, Jan. 11, at 10:55 a.m. in the Lecture Hall Louis Amadio from the State Department of Education and John E. Gilleland, director of Support Services for the Newton public schools, will discuss "What Are the Plans for Our Schools, State and Local?"

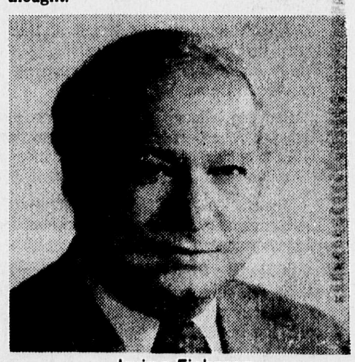

All members of the community are invited to attend any of these programs given at Newton South free of charge.

Eliot Cohen May Jump Into Fishman-Backman Contest

Two current state senators are already in contention for the new Newton-Brookline senatorial district, are two more candidates from Newton are waiting in the wings.

Eliot Cohen

Irving Fishman

The election next fall will pit two liberal Democrats — Sen. Irving Fishman of Newton and Sen. Jack Backman of Brookline — against each other.

Backman is already working hard to gain Newton's votes, while Fishman, always a low-key campaigner, has not begun to move into high gear.

Newton Board of Aldermen President Eliot K. Cohen said this week that he is giving his state senator's candidacy "serious thought."

Cohen apparently has considerable strength in Brookline and is vice-president of Temple Ohabei Shalom there.

Cohen explained that he is still in the process of building up his organization and will make an announcement probably in March if he decides that his chances are good enough to run.

Cohen, also a Democrat, could be viewed as a "moderate" compared to both Fishman and Backman.

The fourth possibility is Ald. Robert Gaynor of Newton, a somewhat maverick

Human Rights Commission New Alderman's Proposal

One of the first measures to be considered by the new Board of Aldermen will be a proposed ordinance to establish a Human Rights Commission in Newton to replace the present Community Relations Commission.

The measure was filed in December by newly elected alderman at large from Ward 2 Terrence Morris.

According to Morris, the Community Relations Commission needs broader powers if it is to keep abreast of changes in the civil rights field over the past decade.

The original ordinance which created the CRC mentions generally that its purpose is "to advise and assist the mayor in promoting understanding . . . and to create better communication among all residents of Newton."

The new ordinance is prefaced by a policy statement which commits Newton to "protect each individual in the enjoyment of his-her civil rights."

"It is now recognized," Morris said, "that equal opportunity is a fundamental right protected by law."

Under Morris' proposal, the Human Rights Commission would have the same responsibilities as the CRC, but in addition it would assume various investigative and law enforcement functions.

Among them, the Human Rights Commission would be empowered to receive and initiate investigation of complaints of discrimination, to hold hearings, subpoena witnesses, administer oaths and require the production of any evidence in connection with agency investigations.

Another section of the law would give the Human Rights Commission the power "to adopt, promulgate, amend, and rescind rules and regulations to carry out the provisions of this ordinance . . ." Morris hopes that the new commission through the creative use of this rule-making power can be more innovative and effective than its predecessor.

The freshman alderman also sees the local commission as a supplement to its state counterpart, the Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination (MCAD).

Citing his own experience as an MCAD staff member, Morris recalls two instances where this could have proved successful in dealing with Newton problems.

In 1971, the Newton Committee on Fair Housing and Equal Rights complained to the MCAD about alleged discriminatory practices by certain Newton realtors. Later that year, the CRC approached MCAD officials concerned over noncompliance by the contractor who built the new Day Junior High School.

"In both instances," Morris said, "a strong local agency, as is proposed, could have acted more rapidly than the understaffed state commission."

Morris envisions the possibility of a formal working arrangement between the two commissions. Such agreements with local commissions are already functional in Boston and Worcester.

Board Of Judicial Inquiry Proposed By Mofenson

Legislation establishing a Board of Judicial Inquiry to investigate and process complaints against judges has been introduced by Rep. David J. Mofenson of Newton and the Massachusetts Bar Association.

Rep. Mofenson said, "It will provide a simple, clearly-defined process by which citizens may complain about the performance of a judge and expect such complaint to be acted upon promptly and effectively."

The nine-member board would be composed of two judges, four lawyers and three laymen. It will have the power to review the conduct of a judge, hold hearings and, where appropriate, recommend that the Supreme Judicial Court take disciplinary action, including censure, suspension or removal.

Rep. Mofenson said in removal cases the Supreme Judicial Court would request the legislature to exercise its impeachment or address power and transmit copies of any findings, opinions and transcripts to the House speaker and Senate president.

This measure provides an entry mechanism and procedure that operates within the existing constitutional framework, he added.

A total of 24 complaints against judges have been received by the Massachusetts Bar Association since it established a Committee on Judicial Complaints last September.

The Committee dismissed 13 of the complaints, conducted a hearing and filed a report with the Supreme Judicial Court on one, and 10 others are under investigation.

The dismissals were based on the finding that the alleged misconduct was an expression of dissatisfaction with the outcome of litigation or concerned matters within the proper exercise of judicial discretion.

The work of the committee has demonstrated the need for a readily accessible public agency to respond to citizen complaints concerning the administration of justice, according to Chairman Richard K. Donahue.

The Lowell attorney said, "It is important that serious matters be promptly brought to the attention of the Supreme Judicial Court. We must also lay to rest unfounded complaints as quickly as possible."

The MBA Committee on Judicial Complaints will continue to perform that function until the legislature provides an alternative, Donahue added.

Guzzi Seeks Support For March Caucus

By ELIZABETH McKINNON

State Rep. Paul Guzzi of Newton is picking up speed in his effort to garner statewide support as the "reform" candidate for Secretary of State.

Even though bumper stickers are everywhere, and Guzzi is getting a good deal of exposure in the press and on the radio, he still said this week, "I have consistently said I'll abide by the wishes of the caucus."

The caucus - a statewide meeting of liberals - was originally planned to take place in December, 1973. Now it appears that there will be no caucus until March 30.

The caucus will endorse a reform candidate for Secretary of State against the present secretary, John Davoren, and a candidate for the position of attorney general, now occupied by Robert W. Quinn, who will be running for governor.

Perhaps as important as the endorsement by the caucus is the fact that the caucus will reduce the field of people trying for the two positions and prevent some of the usual Democratic Party bloodletting.

As a reform candidate for Secretary of State, Guzzi sees a number of improvements that must be made in the administration of the office.

His best-known proposal is for public financing of campaigns for high-level state offices.

Guzzi also would establish an office of citizens' assistance within the Office of Secretary of State to monitor the performance of state agencies and to help citizens receive due benefit from them.

Guzzi also has prepared a bill requiring the Secretary of State to publish the state budget in understandable form, with the rationale for all important changes and deletions.

Guzzi is a member of the House Election Laws Committee and Education Committee.

Bush To Be Speaker At Lincoln Day Dinner

Republican National Chairman George Bush will be the guest speaker at Newton's fourteenth annual Lincoln Day Dinner being held Thursday evening, Jan. 24 in the main ballroom of Nonantum Post 440.

George Bush

"We are very fortunate to have a national figure of Mr. Bush's prominence come to our Lincoln Day dinner to speak to us on matters vital to our country and our party," commented Newton Republican Club president John L. DiSabato.

"What he will have to say to us at our dinner is certain to be of considerable significance for all of us in the community," DiSabato added. "We assure Mr. Bush a warm and enthusiastic welcome."

DiSabato pointed to the need for early reservations, stating that tables are being fully subscribed and that tickets will not be available after Jan. 17.

Prior to becoming chairman of the Republican National Committee in January 1973, Bush was permanent representative of the United States to the United Nations. As an ambassador he was a member of the President's cabinet.

Bush, a graduate of Yale University, was born in Milton, Massachusetts. Prior to his college years he served as a Navy pilot in World War II.

Now a resident of Texas, where he became active in politics, Bush was the first Republican ever to represent Harris County and the City of Houston in Congress.

Since his election as national chairman, he has travelled over sixty thousand miles while fulfilling speaking engagements.

Several hundred people are expected to hear Bush speak at the dinner. Head table guests will include local, state, and federal dignitaries.

General chairman of the affair is Mrs. G. M. Swift. Ticket chairman is Miss Charlotte R. Thornbury, Miss Adelaide B. Ball is heading the Committee of Patrons.

The event is sponsored by a combination of Republican organizations in Newton.

New Courthouse

The new $44-million-plus Middlesex County courthouse in East Cambridge will be opened to the general public in late February.

Following consultations with the architect, attorney for the county and the general contractor, the Middlesex County Commissioners have tentatively decided on a Feb. 15 to 18 moving date for furniture and files into the new building.

This week will see the first of new furniture moved in, with present furniture and files from the old courthouse moved over Washington's Birthday weekend.

EPA Offers Bibliography

The New England Regional Office of the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency has a new publication called "Energy and Environment: A Selected Bibliography For the Citizen."

The bibliography is intended to aid those who wish to become better informed about energy problems and the effects that energy sources and uses have on the environment.

The bibliography lists sources covering such important topics as energy conservation, new sources of energy, energy consumption and energy and environment.

Individual copies of this publication are available, free of charge, by writing to the Public Affairs Division, EPA, Room 2203, J.F.K. Federal Building, Boston, Mass. 02203.

Mental Health Board Sponsors Public Hearing

The area board of the Newton-Wellesley-Weston Mental Health Dist. will hold a public hearing Wednesday, Jan. 16, in Usen Auditorium of Newton-Wellesley Hospital at 7:30 p.m.

The purpose of the hearing is to discuss existing services and hear recommendations from residents.

Programs for adolescents will be discussed from 7:30 to 8:20 p.m., followed by a talk on mental retardation services from 8:25 to 9:15 p.m. Mental Health agencies will be the topic from 9:20 to 10:10 p.m.

Tax Booklet For Elderly

While Federal income tax laws apply equally to all taxpayers regardless of age, certain provisions in the laws grant special considerations to taxpayers who are 65 years of age or older, according to William E. Williams, Internal Revenue Service district director for Massachusetts.

Internal Revenue Service Publication 554, "Tax Benefits for Older Americans," tells how to compute the retirement income credit, covers the exclusion of gain on the sale of residences, makes clear the gross income requirements for filing a federal income tax return, and many other special provisions.

It also contains general information designed to assist senior citizens in preparing their tax returns and includes numerous examples and step-by-steps explanations to show how the law applies to taxpayers over 65, Williams said.

The publication is available free at all Internal Revenue Service offices throughout Massachusetts.

Sternburg Named Man Of The Year

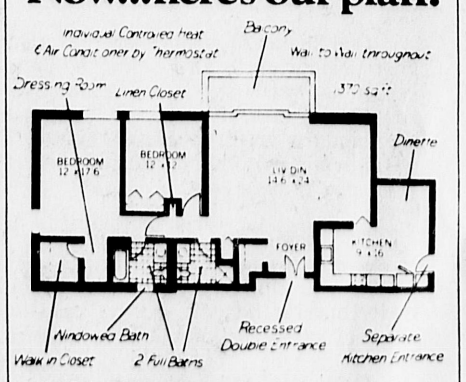

Frederic L. Sternburg of Newton has been named "Man of the Year" for 1973 by the Boston Operations of The Paul Revere Life Insurance Co.

Sternburg was cited for his outstanding overall sales and service record in the local area during the past 12 months. According to Earl D. Leake, general manager of the Boston Operations, Sternburg has also been presented with a recognition certificate by company officials.

Barkin Steps Down

Monday, Board of Alderman President Eliot K. Cohen will anounce his appointments for chairmanships of Board committees.

While some may be in doubt, most people in the city know that Alderman Alan S. Barkin will step down as chairman of the Land Use Committee and will be replaced by Ald. Joseph McDonnell.

For more than three years the astute Ward 8 alderman has been the chairman of this crucial Board committee and has done what can only be descirbed as a superhuman job of grappling with the problems of the use of precious land in Newton.

We, in our endorsements, described Ald. Barkin as "indispensable" to the Land Use Committee," and we meant it. We regret that he declined the chairmanship this time around and are happy that he did decide to remain on the committee at the very least.

Why?

Ald. Barkin, as an expert in zoning law and a veteran alderman, was the ideal choice for chairman of this committee. At its meetings, it was always more than obvious that the chairman had done his homework and was well-versed in all proposals before his committee, more than could be said of some of the committee members. Not only was he prepared in fact, he always appeared prepared to listen. He seemed always to be a man who would do developers the courtesy of hearing them out before passing judgment.

Alan Barkin steered the Land Use Committee through the NCDF hearings and, with due credit to his impartiality, surprised a few partisans with his ultimate vote on the floor of the Board of Aldermen; saw to it that low income family housing sites were secured in two Newton locations by making them a part of a three-part housing deal; and was responsible enough after arguing in favor of an apartment developer who had misled him.

But, when discussing Alan Barkin, there is always one other character trait in the accolade that cannot be omitted. Ald. Barkin has humor on his side. And sometimes, in the middle of the night when aldermen, visitors and press are nodding, humor is one's only ally.

A dose of humor is likely to revive the press and bring the visitors and developers back to life. A dose of humor is also a lesson. It reminds us that we are not so omnipotent in this business of city government that we can neither make a mistake nor take a moment to sneak a glance at our clay feet.

Ald. Barkin's successor will be Alderman Joseph McDonnell, an attorney and a capable alderman in his own right. We feel he is the best choice as a successor to Barkin.

And we will be watching him and observing how he conducts his committee and waiting to see if he will be as effective, fair and honest as his predecessor.

Energy Abrasion

There's something abrasive about New Year's Day football after the third or fourth bowl game.

One begins to wonder whether all the beef thundering to and fro on the distant screen is worth the value of an instant replay. In fact, one begins to wonder whether that guy from Notre Dame is the clean-living epitome of Middle America we're led to believe.

One begins to wonder whether all those screaming fans, foaming at the mouth with alternating hate and ecstasy, really understand why they've paid hundreds of dollars to blow out their eardrums.

One begins to wonder why the television set has been on for six hours and whether 200 million citizens in 50 states are also watching.

And when one leaps from his armchair shouting at the referee's poor judgment, one begins to wonder about many things. . .whether one's wheels and gears are meshing for example.

Then one begins to realize that, if all those football players ran on a treadmill, if everyone turned off TV, if all the spectators stayed home in Indiana, we'd save a heck of a lot of energy.

READY TO ROAR!

Political Highlights

By JAMES G. COLBERT

Sargent Is Criticized By Republican Leaders

Governor Sargent has campaigned successfully and effectively against that faceless political entity, the State Legislature.

Everybody likes his own State Senator and State Representative but distrusts "the other guys."

So maybe it was good strategy for him to call members of the Massachusetts Legislature "sons of bitches" and hurl other epithets at them during a closed-door meeting in Washington with the Bay State Congressional delegation.

But some of his listeners didn't think so. In fact, some of his listeners felt Sarge was putting on an unseemly political act.

One Republican Congressman, who is a powerhouse vote-getter in Western Massachusetts and a former member of the State Senate, was outspoken in his criticism of Mr. Sargent.

Congressman Silvio Conte, who is a safe bet to run ahead of Governor Sargent out in the Berkshires next November, said Sarge went to Washington and told the Bay State Congressmen things about the oil shortage and energy crisis they already knew and presumable knew before the Governor did.

Conte's remarks on television made it plain that he was unimpressed by Governor Sargent's performance in Washington and that he felt the Governor should make a greater effort to get along with the members of the Legislature.

Some of Sarge's top advisers and strategists, of course, believe he makes political capital from not getting along with the legislators. So far it would seem they are right since Governor Sargent is a highly successful politician.

Eventually, of course, the people may realize they're being hoodwinked because Sarge makes a practice of not getting along with the legislators even though he could provide better state government by working in harmony with them.

Peter Fuller, the automobile dealer, sportsman, son of former Governor Alvan T. Fuller and a bulwark of the Republican party in Massachusetts, also drew a bead on Francis Sargent and let fire with both barrels, declaring that his fellow Republicans regard Sarge as "the most political Governor in Massachusetts history."

What aroused Peter Fuller's ire was Sarge's obvious attempt to please everybody when he vetoed the capital punishment bill. "In a desperate attempt to placate the police and the anti-capital punishment group he has forgotten, as usual the average citizen he was elected to represent and protect," Fuller declared.

Fuller, who asserted that his wife is opposed to capital punishment, expressed the conviction that the death penalty should be imposed for "a wanton killing," that death in the electric chair should be the punishment for "the guy who walks into a bank and has the people lie on the floor and then callously shoots someone through the head. Someone who's no threat. The senseless killing. That's the kind of thing we have to stop."

Peter Fuller had an interesting observation about former State Correction Commissioner John Boone. He said he met Boone shortly after the latter came to Massachusetts to take charge of the state's penal system and that he thought Boone was too good a man and too trusting to accomplish what he had to do.

Fuller was especially sharp in his criticism of the manner in which the Sargent administration has harassed Massport Director Edward King who has been in charge of operations both at the Logan Airport and on the waterfront. He referred to King as "one of the best men in government, maybe the best."

King, who receives a higher salary than either Governor Sargent or Boston Mayor Kevin H. White, has been mentioned periodically as a possible candidate for Governor, but there appears scant likelihood King will enter the gubernatorial race while Attorney General Robert Quinn is in it.

Peter Fuller appeared so say that he would vote for Attorney General Quinn if Quinn is the Democratic nominee for Governor next November but that he would be hard pressed to choose between Sargent and former State Representative Michael Dukakis if Dukakis should be the Democratic candidate for the Governorship. This is how he put it.

"I know Bob Quinn, and he's a very bright man, and I know Mike Dukakis. We live in the same town. He has done some good things, and there are things I disagree with him on.

"But if next fall, it's Sargent and Dukakis, you really don't have much choice. They're both sort of on the same side."

In fairness, Governor Sargent is not as much a left-winger as former Representative Dukakis, but Peter Fuller's remarks indicate that Quinn could take advantage of Governor Sargent's weaknesses to a greater extent than could Dukakis.

Year Ahead Will Be Politically Momentous

The year looming ahead shapes up as a momentous one politically both in Massachusetts and in the nation.

Here in the Bay State a battle will be waged for the right to serve as Governor for the next four years.

The voters will decide in the Democratic and Republican primaries next September what candidates will go on to run in the final November election.

An attempt may be made early this year to move the primaries ahead from September to June. So far, however, little support has developed for that shift.

Seasoned reporters assigned to cover the White House believe President Nixon will be impeached by Congress before 1974 is more than a few months old and will resign rather than stand trial in the Senate.

Some persons close to Mr. Nixon concede that he may be impeached but insist there is little likelihood he will resign under fire. A few Democratic critics say that inept handling of the fuel oil shortage may drive Nixon out of office.

The people may have only a few months to wait for the answers to the questions involving Richard Nixon who is only one-fourth of the way through his second Presidential term.

Governor Francis W. Sargent and Lieutenant Governor Donald Dwight almost certainly will head the Republican State ticket next November. Sarge has served five years in the Governorship, two of them in the unexpired term of John A. Volpe, three of them in the term to which he himself was elected in 1970.

In a space of five years, three as Lieutenant Governor and two as Deputy Governor, Dwight has achieved greatly increased recognition, respect, popularity and prestige.

In an election where the candidates for Governor and Lieutenant Governor will be running together as a ticket and tandem, Dwight probably will be a greater help to Sargent than anyone the Democrats are likely to nominate for Lieutenant Governor will be to Attorney General Robert Quinn who is expected to be the Democratic candidate for Governor.

At this Sargent and Dwight are favorites to win reelection. The situation, of course, could change. A sitting Governor usually starts off well ahead and loses support during the campaign in which his administration is made the big issue.

Political analysts believe the Watergate scandal, the fuel oil shortage and energy crisis will hurt all Republican candidates even though Sargent and Dwight had no connection whatever with the Watergate mess.

Nevertheless, Sargent and Dwight are solid favorites. They team up well together. Dwight pulls substantial support from Western Massachusetts, and they will not be easily ousted from office.

Ordinarily, Sarge would handpick most of the members of his supporting cast on the GOP State ticket. Without a pre-primary State Convention, that will be more difficult to do.

Present indications are that there will be primary fights for the Republican nominations for Attorney General and Secretary of State. Sarge probably will be obliged to draft candidates for State Treasurer and State Auditor, both offices firmly in Democratic control, with the promises of subsequent jobs for the Republican nominees who round out their party's state ticket with no real chance of winning election.

Attorney General Quinn already is campaigning against Governor Sargent even though he is not yet an officially announced candidate and must defeat former State Representative Michael Dukakis of Brookline in the September primary in order to get the nomination for Governor. Dukakis was the unsuccessful Democratic candidate for Lieutenant Governor in 1970 and now is seeking promotion to Governor.

Representative George Sacco of Medford is making a strong drive for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General. Edward Harrington of Needham is his only opponent up to now.

State Treasurer Robert Q. Crane, State Auditor Thaddeus Buczko and Secretary of State John F. X. Davoren all presumably will be renominated although Davoren will be opposed in the Democratic primary by Representative Paul Guzzi of Newton.

State Senator John M. Quinlan of Norwood and Ron Burton, a Black and one-time great halfback for the Patriots, will be primary opponents for the Republican nomination for Secretary of State.

The months ahead should combine to make an interesting and exciting political year which in all probability will provide its full share of surprises and unexpected developments.

Keeling Over

By CYNTHIA BLACK

If we "spring ahead" and "fall back," what are we supposed to do Sunday, keel over?

It has taken months, but I think I finally have some vague glimmer as to how daylight saving time is going to help us now. (Unless we're beyond help). Albeit I haven't got the most renowned scientific mind and the entire situation had to be explained to me in third grade terms–by four or more people– before I comprehended. However, don't call me, I can't explain it to anyone else.

I have only one final question to answer: will I be one hour early or one hour late for work Monday?

May I take a moment to remind everyone that the Graphic is staging its annual "First Baby" contest and the deadline is today (Jan. 4). Anyone ho lives in Newton and had a baby on Jan. 1 is eligible. We are saying goodbye to our correspondent Dan Barkin this week. Dan is going back to college in Virginia.

He's been covering the Newton Housing Authority and several aldermanic committees for the past six months for the Graphic and shows a definite flair for the writing business. . .once we got rid of the "howevers" and "therefores," that is.

Completely Black

Elizabeth McKinnon and Tom Graves appeared very humble by the tone of the column that appeared here last week while I was on vacation. Don't let them kid you, they both know what they're doing and the proof is the Dec. 27 Graphic.

And while they were slaving away, I was home for Christmas luxuriating in the sub-zero temperatures of Wisconsin.

Winter weather there is similar to the weather here, except it's more. More cold, more snow, more sleet and more rain. Usually all in the same day.

In one week, I saw rain and snow and watched the temperature plunge to -10 degrees.

I was not complaining, however; all I had to do was walk from the house to the garage to get into my father's Firebird. And it warms up pretty fast, even in that kind of weather.

I would have brought that Firebird here with me, but my mother threatened to issue an APB for a stolen car. I adhere to the 50 m.p.h. speed limit on principal, but I was sorely tempted while driving around in that car.

The only crisis at home was the temporary loss of my luggage by the airlines. You know, the old story of how you get there but your luggage doesn't? It made it a mere 1 hour before I was scheduled to go to a party Saturday night and I was ready, by that point, to send written thanks to everyone dating back to Charles Lindbergh.

Going home is a special time when you live away. It means seeing family and friends, not "old" family and "old" friends. Time goes so fast. It didn't seem like a year since I'd seen them, it only seemed like a day.

OPINION

Natick Family Thanks Volante

To the Editor:

I would like to publicly thank the Natick Fire Department for their prompt appearance and effective action on Dec. 23 when our garage caught fire threatening the attached house.

Also, our grateful thanks to neighbors and passersby who entered the burning and gasoline-filled garage to remove tools and equipment.

And our particular thanks to Gary Volante of Newton, a passerby who stopped, entered the blazing garage, and drove our station wagon to safety.

Most of this special assistance occurred before I was aware of the blaze. We hope we may similarly help someone else someday.

Howard and Anne Williams,
South Natick, Mass.

Unfair

To the Editor:

It is my opinion that your choice of headlining the picture, "St Nicholas Day 'Massacre'," in your Dec. 27, 1973, issue is grossly unfair to the Christian community. To say nothing of those responsible for such a pageant.

I am very grateful that such an impropriety on the part of the non-Christian community would not have found its way in the headlines, of your paper and to this I take violent exception.

I would like your paper to not only apologize for emphasing the negative; but also to publish the positive side of the Christian communities' holiday events, which I am sure you have in your files.

I have already communicated my indignation on this subject to my local alderman and to the present mayor, Theodore Mann.

Mrs. John F. X. O'Halloran,
Newton

Heretofore this authority has been divided among four persons.

The Public Works reorganization will also make one person responsible for much of the public image of the operation of the city.

The total cost of the reorganization has been kept under close wraps by the city administration, but is expected to be revealed in a letter to be distributed to the Board of Aldermen before the first regular meeting Jan. 7.

The mayor has confirmed that a $60,000 annual budget increase will be asked for salaries, both for increases for present personnel whose jobs are being upgraded and for new positions.

A published figure of $200,000 for data processing equipment necessary to implement the reorganization was apparently inaccurate. It could not be learned this week whether the figure is being revised up or down.

The reorganization of the Recreation, Public works, and Public Buildings departments and the creation of the Central Services Departments will require approval of the Board of Aldermen, according to the city charter

Mann is expected to submit his "draft" reorganization plan to the Board of Aldermen next week.

Republican in Aldermanic voting. He is, nevertheless, coordinator of Newton and several towns for Gov. Francis Sargent's campaign for reelection.

"I am going to leave all my options open," Gaynor said this week. "Some pressure is being exerted on me to consider being a candidate."

He also is giving it "serious thought.".

There have been rumors that Fishman might be appointed a judge or other appointive position before the campaign for state senator begins in earnest.

A spokesman for Backman discounted this possibility reecently, saying that Gov. Sargent has announced that he will appoint no more judges until after the election.

Ward 8 Committee To Hear Legislators

Two state legislators from Newton will address the next meeting of the Ward 8 Democratic Committee on Wednesday evening, Jan. 9, 1974 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Sisson, 266 Greenwood Street.

Senator Irving Fishman and Representative David Mofenson will discuss activities of the General Court during the recently completed sessions.

On hand to describe the upcoming Citizens' Caucus for endorsement of candidates for the offices of Massachusetts Attorney General and Secretary of State will be caucus organizer Cameron Kerry, brother of recent Congressional aspirant John Kerry.

The yoinger Kerry will represent Newton State Representative Paul Guzzi, who may seek the Secretary of State nomination. Other candidates for state office in 1974 are also expected to attend the meeting, including Edward Harrington of Needham, who seeks nomination for Attorney General.

Since Ward 8 Committee Chairman Hal Fishbein has announced his resignation as chairman, effective Jan. 9, an election for a successor will be on the agenda for the business portion of the meeting.

Committee members were notified of the impending vacancy in accordance with the by-laws, and those wishing to run for the office were requested to notify Chairman Fishbein or Secretary Fay Cohen 14 days before the meeting.

Redistricting of ward--precinct lines in Newton has directly affected Ward 8 Committee members, 11 of whom now reside in Ward 6, but who will legally sit on the Ward 8 Democratic Committee until the 1976 presidential primary.

Since there will be at least 11 vacant seats at that time, present members are urged to invite guests who may wish to become associate members of the committee to this and all other Ward 8 meetings. These people could run for office in 1976. The 8 p.m. meeting is open to the public.

Lung Association Half-Way To Goal

Thanks to the support of people in the Norfolk County-Newton area, Christmas Seal contributions have reached the half-way point for the 1973 campaign goal.

However, the Norfolk County-Newton Lung Association reminds you that it's not too late to answer your Christmas Seal letter, since your contribution is still a matter of life and breath.

For instance, this year the Association hopes to expand its programs by developing home care programs for emphysema patients to begin classes in conditioning exercises for asthmatic children, and to complete validation of the results of a respiratory disease project. This last project involves research with over 500 volunteers in trying to discover chronic obstructive pulmonary disease in each participant.

The Lung Association, through the support of Christmas Seal contributions, carries out public health education and professional education, supports medical and social research and stimulates community action needed to control and prevent lung disease.

To get pamphlets concerning a specific lung disease or for information about Christmas Seals, contact your Noffolk County-Newton Lung Association at 326-4081.

Cicciariello Heads Keystone Club

Daniel Ciccariello, age 17, has been elected president of the Officium Keystone Club at the Newton Boys' Club annual meeting last month.

The Keystone Club is a nationally chartered teenage youth club for members of the Boys' Club between the ages of 14 and 18. Its purpose is to assist with many of the Boys' Club and community functions.

Ciccariello is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Pasquale Ciccariello of 56 Capitol St., Watertown.

Other Officers elected were Daniel DiBona, vice-president; Robert Meek, treasurer and James Pellegrini, secretary.

Vincent Fulmer On Carroll Board

Vincent A. Fulmer, vice-president and secretary of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, was recently elected to the board of directors of the Carroll Rehabilitation Center for the Visually Impaired in Newton.

The Carroll Center specializes in the rehabilitation of newly blinded adults. Formerly the Catholic Guild for All the Blind, it was recently renamed in memory of the late Rev. Thomas J. Carroll, head of the nonsectarian agency for 25 years and an internationally known pioneer in the field of rehabilitation of blind people.

Appeals Board Grants Variance On Comm. Ave.

By DANIEL BARKIN

The Zoning Board of Appeals granted a variance at 555 Commonwealth Ave., last week, with Rep. Peter F. Harrington present to challenge the Board's jurisdiction over that petition.

In addition, the ABA acted upon two other petitions.

Opponents of the petition filed by Winn-Gilbert Realty Trust for a variance to permit the use of the Commonwealth Ave. building for real estate offices, filled most of the spectator benches in the Aldermanic Chambers, while appearing for Winn-Gilbert was Atty. Bertram Winn.

Winn argued that his client was attempting to "Legitimize a traditional use" of a building used exclusively for commercial purposes since its construction in 1914.

When Newton enacted zoning ordinances in 1922 the owners of the building, Vitaliat Corp., then operating a milk-testing laboratory on the premises, were automatically granted non-conforming use status. The building is presently situated in an area zoned for two-family dwellings.

Rep. Harrington argued that the Zoning Board of Appeals does not possess the legal authority to issue the variance, since, as he pointed out, the board's jurisdiction doesn't extend to the approval a change from one nonconforming use to another, regardless of the extent of the change. Harrington referred to legislation slated for the next session of the Legislature, commenting that he, along with other legislators, will file a Technical Redraft of the Zoning Enabling Act, which, Harrington added, would then empower the Zoning Board to act on variances of this nature.

The Law Department is currently researching the matter, and is expected to render a decision on the ZBA's jurisdiction with specific regard to the Winn-Gilbert petition.

Neighborhood opposition was in evidence at the hearing, as several residents of the area offered their arguments against the granting of the variance.

Julius Freedman, of 49 Irving St., complained "How long do we have to come to City Hall to fight a building which is being improperly used?" Others spoke of a "steady stream" of automobiles using the parking area in front of the building during weekends and in the non-business hours of the evening. One neighbor complained of automobile fumes seeping into his home, and still another claimed that the Building Department was "uncooperative" in responding to neighbors' complaints of extensive remodelling within the building.

Before granting the variance, the ZBA members stipulated that five restrictions be enforced with respect to building use: The basement area cannot be used for any other function except as a storage facility; all office and parking space be used solely by the petitioners; office hours be held to 9 a.m. -5 p.m.; and the outside sign be no larger than 2x2 feet.

The vote to approve the variance was unanimous, (4-0), however, Chairman Champe Fisher added that the vote would remain unofficial pending written submission of the Board's action.

In other action, the ZBA voted to deny the variance petition of Fausta and Ole Hammerlund to permit the conversion of a carriage house to a single-family residence at 686 Centre St. Land Use Committee Chairman Joseph M. McDonnell appeared on behalf of the opponents of the variance.

The ZBA also approved the granting of a variance for the subdivision of land owned by Albert L. Chabot at 12 Goff St.

Middlesex County Not Under State Board

"The state-wide County Personnel Board hasn't contributed one thing, constructively, to Middlesex County government in years and is an anachronism to county government."

With these words, the chairman of the Middlesex County Commissioners, S. Lester Ralph, has announced that the county is no longer looking through a gun barrel toward progress. Governor Francis Sargent has decreed that Middlesex is no longer subject to the personnel board in having its employment appointments validated by that board.

Commissioner Ralph commented that the personnel board, made up of three commissioners from across the state, has repeatedly and systematically stood in the way of qualified individuals being employed by the county.

Ralph said the personnel board went out of its way to run Middlesex County, obstructed the county at every turn and did all it could to show that county government couldn't work.

In the past, according to the commissioner, an individual hired by the county would have to have his papers approved by the personnel board, notification would have to be sent to the county treasurer and then notification sent to the department head. This procedure very often resulted in persons not being paid their salaries for three and four months.

County Commissioner Paul Tsongas of Lowell stated, "Our action in seeking this ruling by the governor is a result of the arbitrary harrassment by the personnel board which was effectively precluding the hiring of a qualified, aggressive purchasing agent."

Commissioner Ralph concluded by saying, "The heavy yoke of the personnel board has been removed from our backs by the insight of the governor in assenting to our request, and we thank him for it."

Open House At Nursing School

The first open house of the New Year at Newton-Wellesley Hospital's School of Nursing will be held on Wednesday, Jan. 16, 1974, for parents, guidance counselors, and high school students interested in nursing careers.

The event is scheduled from 2 to 4 p.m. at the school's dormitory, Allen Riddle Hall.

Newton-Wellesley Hospital sponsors several open houses each year to acquaint prospective students with the program and the facilities at the School of Nursing. Visitors will be shown movies and slides of nursing activities and interests, they will be given a tour of the hospital, and they will have a chance to meet students and nursing school staff informally. Refreshments will be served.

Men and women of both high school and college level are invited to get acquainted with Newton-Wellesley's innovative two-year diploma program, now beginning its third year.

The school asks those planning to attend to call Gertrude Burke, R.N., at 244-2800, ext. 343, or the Admissions Office at ext. 347 for reservations.

Nature's Ways

By WAYNE HANLEY
Mass. Audubon Society

Cardinals seem more impressed by the company they keep than by the weather.

The birds' preference for landscapes that bear a touch of the city may account for their unexpected spread into New England. The invasion began in Connecticut in the World War II era and since has included the other New England states.

Ecologists long have suggested that some change in New England broke the barrier that seemed to keep these brilliant red birds south and west of our region. After all, the birds filled most of the area east of the Great Plains while boycotting New England. The climate here was no harsher than in southern Ontario, Michigan, Minnesota or Wisconsin. Cardinals singing in a bare tree against a snowscape is a familiar Christmas card theme– and a scene that actually occurred throughout the birds' northern range.

The clue that the post-World War II exodus of humans from cities to suburbs—and the essential urbanization of suburbs that followed—may have lured the cardinals into the area comes from urban wildlife studies. At a recent conference on urban wildlife held in Springfield, Mass., urban wildlife specialists from all parts of the East gave reports. Practically all those dealing with trends among bird species' success in small towns that were becoming cities showed the cardinals increasing.

While there were no definitive studies that showed exactly why cardinals should benefit from an urbanizing environment, there were suggestions. Among other things, cardinals prefer shrubby areas for breeding, and burgeoning suburbs usually have plenty of shrubs as decorations. Cardinals also love small fruit and suburban landscapes contain many ornamental trees that produce small fruit. In addition, suburbanites put out sunflower seeds, which cardinals thrive on.

By 1930, cardinals had invaded New York State. Sometime around World War II, cardinals became increasingly common in Connecticut. In 1957, cardinals entered Massachusetts in substantial numbers, moving up the Connecticut River valley and spilling out over the commonwealth. By 1962, cardinals were entering southern counties of Vermont and New Hampshire.

Although their numbers have vacillated, cardinals now seem well established in all states except Maine where an annual census never has exceeded 16 birds and in recent years has remained around one or two birds.

Perhaps an indication that cardinals prefer just so much urbanization, but not too much, may be illustrated by their success in Vermont and Rhode Island. In the 1973 census, made on the weekend closest to Lincoln's Birthday, Vermont reported 784 cardinals compared to Rhode Island's 133.

Until 1900 when laws ended the custom the cardinal was a favorite cagebird in America. In the period between 1835 and 1900 cardinals occasionally were reported in Massachusetts. At the time, ornithologists assumed that a cardinal in the state was an escaped cagebird. But it is possible that in the period when Massachusetts was transforming from open countryside to woodlands there was a period in which the landscape was favorable for a few cardinals.

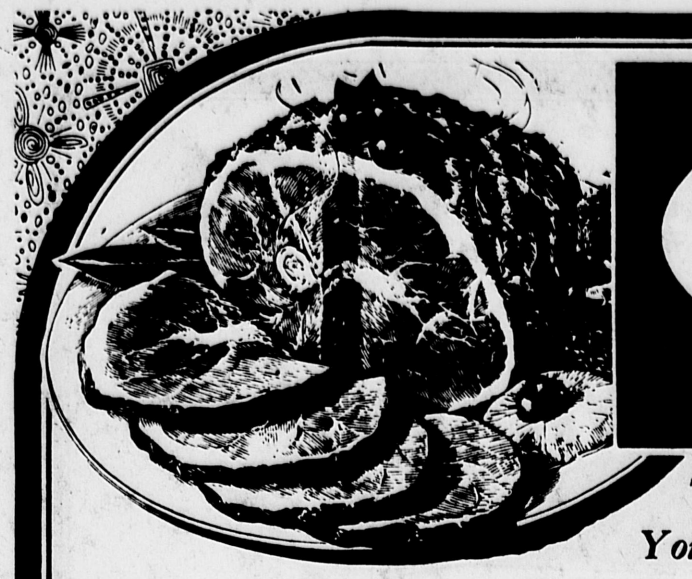

Chorale Recruits New Singers

Fine Arts Chorale is recruiting new singers for the second concert of its eighth season.

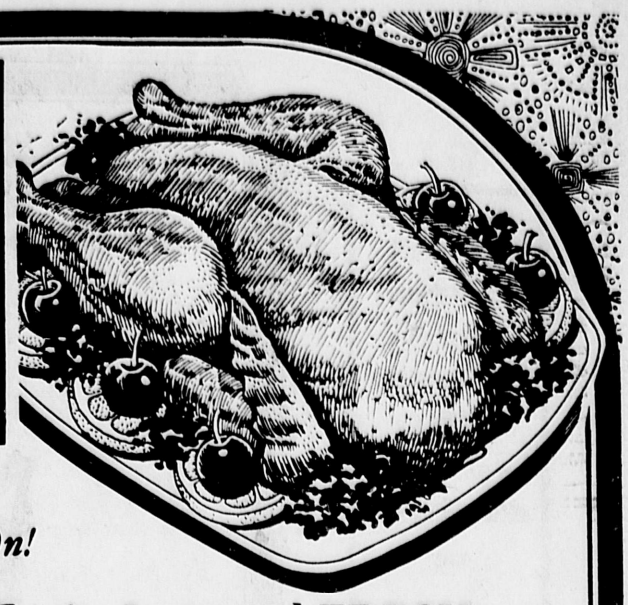

Rehearsals are held each Wednesday, starting Jan. 2, 1974, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at Old South Union Church, Columbian Square, South Weymouth. The group is interdenominational and all religious faiths and racial groups are welcome.

There are no auditions required or dues assessed. The group is solely for people who enjoy singing fine choral works in a large group accompanied by professional orchestra.

Reservations can be made or information obtained by contacting Mrs. Harold F. Drury, Jr., 265 Elm St., Braintree, 843-7045, or Kenneth Antoine, 46 Elm St., South Weymouth, 337-2637.

Innovations In Sound

You've probably never thought of your car as an ideal stereo listening studio. Well, it is! The minute you sit in your stereo equipped auto, you're blanketed in thrilling sound. You'll witness an entirely new perspective in stereo listening: a richness in stereophony and realism of sound reproduction that has never before been possible. Now, with stereo tape cartridges, whether you listen in your car, home, boat, plane or trailer you enjoy an unparalleled sound sensation . . . crisp clarity and maximum fidelity, superior craftsmanship . . . and a wealth of music for every taste from Broadway to The Beatles, from current hits to classical.

Stereo cartridges are carefully engineered to afford maximum reliability and convenience of operation.

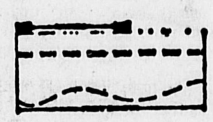

1. You never have to thread or even touch the tape.

2. You may change from one stereo program to another with the press of a button.

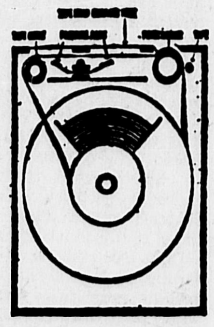

3. Tapes are continuous and never need rewinding.

4. With a minimum of care, the playing life of the tape is practically unlimited.

What is four-track and eight-track stereo tape? Within the ¼-inch tape width, music is recorded on four or eight parallel tracks which run the length of the tape. Two tracks play simultaneously and produce true stereo sound. Standard tapes provide up to 40 minutes of continuous music. Twin cartridges up to 80 minutes.

How does a tape cartridge work Stereo cartridges contain a tape in a continuous loop, which simply means that the tape runs from the center of the spool and is returned to the outer lap of the reel. Thus, never needs rewinding. Inserting the cartridge into the tape playback unit is probably as easy as replacing your cigarette lighter in the dash.

Seeing is believing, however, and perhaps the least expensive method for you to experience the unusual convenience engineered into a stereo tape is to visit a dealer and ask for a demonstration.

Realizing that stereo tapes are here to stay, Lechmere Sales of Cambridge and Dedham is now compiling substantial stocks. This forsighted record dealer and department store devoted exclusively to providing the consumer with even a larger and more complete musical selection than previously realized with the more traditional record album departments.

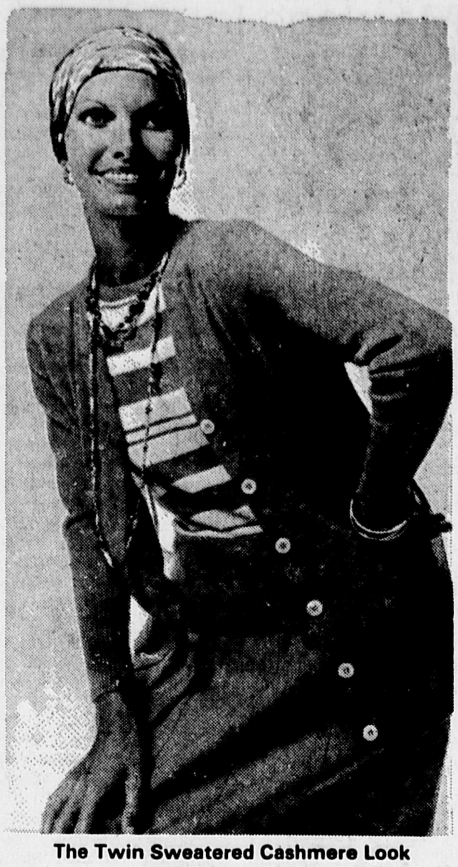

Long recognized as a retailing leader and innovator, Lechmere now features perhaps the largest selection of stereo tape cartridges in New England. It's a certainty that a visit to either Lechmere in Cambridge or Dedham will prove a most rewarding musical experience.

The Twin Sweatered Cashmere Look

Wool Versus Synthetics

Elongated, pulled down, stretched out, wrapped around. They're not new, sweaters have been around as chill chasers since the early 1900's, however, they've achieved status in today's fashions.

There is no look in today's sportswear scene that takes precedence to the sweater and for good reason. Baby it's cold outside AND inside nowadays.

But what's your sweater made of? For some, the new synthetics have been the answer to a prayer—thrown into a washing machine and then the dryer they've provided good wearability and certainly saved on cleaning bills.

However, as fashion expert Eleanor Kairalla pointed out recently, there are no insulating properties in synthetics. They reflect the temperature around them which is why synthetics usually feel cold and clammy in winter and overheat the body in the summer.

"After all," she went on to say, "the original purpose of the naturals is to assure survival of the animals that grow them in all kinds of weather. You never see sheep sweating on the hottest of days. The warmth, as well as the 'coolth' of these natural fibers can't be beat."

To prove that budgeting is also Eleanor's concern, she suggests the saving of all of your obsolete wool sweaters and other wool items.

"Cut them up into large squares," she cautions, "machine-stitch the borders, and make a patchwork throw. If faded, remember that wool takes color to its very core and can be easily brightened with Tintex."

The layered look is a current fashion anyway, and there's more warmth from wearing a few lightweight wool sweaters than from wearing a single heavy garment. It's the barriers of air between the layers that add extra insulation.

This holds true for the warmest of feet in outdoor boots. Two layers of wool socks are warmer than one heavy pair. But be SURE they're roomy enough so that you don't restrict circulation.

A warning has been issued that with the scarcity of wool many fashion ads and garments are now omitting any mention of fiber. Legally, they're supposed to have identification, so be sure you insist on knowing what the fiber content is before you make a purchase.

Another pitch for true-blue wool is, when polishing furniture, there's nothing that cuts down elbow grease more than an old wool sock. It also takes less time and works like magic. (Sliding your hand in the sock also protects your manicure.)

World famous designer, Halston, agrees on the importance of wool in couture fashion.

"The twist of having a jeans fabric glorified into a fine de luxe texture (our new jeans material is, perversely, made in Italy), the elegant and somehow quite recognizable difference between handpainted chiffon and the printed variety, and te subtlety of a new double-face that is natural etched liney wool on one side and caressable white cashmere on the other are, I think, more important to dressing beautifully than trendy, drop-dead shaping."

Halston does the unusual, as sen in his long country skirts in jeans cloth worn with a cashmere tank sweater top. You could call this "throw away chic."

Other designers have spoken out against the synthetic fibers—such as Coty Award Winner John Anthony.

"There is not a synthetic fabric in my spring 1974 collection. Women who look for creative fashion want the best, most supple, most alive fabrics as well. I don't think anything can meet the standards of a beautiful piece of crepe de chine or a fine piece of wool crepe or silk georgette."

The sweater-jacket has come into its own this fall and will continue to be a popular silhouette right into spring. The uses to which the sweater is put are new and innovative.

Sweater dressing for evening take on an elegant air when they are made of wool knit with lots of crystal beaded glitter. Black or gray cashmere sweaters, whisper light, top floaty chiffon gowns. A pink satin shirtdress takes on the look of sophistication when it's dyed-to-match cashmere fanny sweater has pink-dyed fur cuffs.

Your spring sweater wardrobe will undoubtedly contain at least one cardigan worn low and easy with a self belt. Sweater sets are back in the swing again but are a far cry from the prim classics of the past.

There are generally two philosophies regarding a woman's wardrobe—a crowded closet with fairly inexpensive clothing or a few expensive clothes that are meant to last and last.

Variety is the bonus for one, quality for the other. Therefore, the synthetic fabric versus pure wool will continue to be a war of healthy competition.

Information Please

This is the reader's column. If you have a question or a recipe to share with other readers, please write to: Information, Please, Transcript Newspapers, 420 Washington Street, Dedham, Mass. 02026.

Our thanks to Virginia Tashjian of the Newton Free Libraries and her staff of librarians for sending in their yearly Christmas recipe booklet — this year's theme is "Our Favorite Beverages." The following recipes promise happy toasts for all!

PEG SNIDER'S APPLE PUNCH

1 quart apple juice
½ cup lemon juice
1 cup orange juice
1 cup crushed pineapple (13½ oz.)
1 bottle (28 oz.) ginger ale, chilled

Garnish for ice ring mold: ½ cup pineapple tidbits, 4 oz. maraschino cherries. Combine fruit juices with pineapple and chill at least 3 to 4 hours. Just before serving, pour juices into punch bowl and add ginger ale. Stir gently. Add ice ring mold and serve. Make ice mold from punch recipe so there will be no diluting of punch when it melts. Yields: 20 punch cups.

EDNA COHEN'S FRENCH MONTMARTRE CHOCOLATE BLEND

4 bars (1 oz. ea. unsweetened chocolate
¾ cup hot water
1 cup superfine sugar
¾ cup medium whipping cream
3 quarts milk (approx.)
½ teaspoon salt

Melt chocolate in hot water over low heat; stirring constantly. Add sugar and salt, bring to a boil, reduce heat and simmer for 3 minutes while stirring constantly. Cool mixture to room temperature. Whip cream in a small bowl and fold into chocolate blend. This may now be stored in a covered jar in the refrigerator until ready to serve. When serving, put 1 to 2 tablespoons into each cup. Fill with very hot milk and stir well. Top with a puff of whipped cream. Serves 12.

SHEILA BROWNSTEIN'S SANGRIA—RED WINE PUNCH

1 bottle of chilled red wine (burgundy, rose or any dry red wine)
½ bottle (or more) chilled carbonated water
2 tablespoons sugar
Peel of 1 lemon
1 orange, thinly sliced

Put sugar in large pitcher and stir in the bottle of wine. Add ice cubes and carbonated water. Cut the lemon peel in spirals and drop in. Garnish with orange slices. Serve Sangria while the bubbles dance.

VELDA MODEL'S BLACK RUSSIAN

1 oz. vodka
½ oz. Kahlua liqueur

Stir with ice cubes in an old fashioned glass and serve.

Question: Do you have a Marzipan candy recipe and a recipe for making candy strawberries (using gelatin, I think). Thank you. — Pat Paden, Needham Heights

Answer: A bit late for Christmas (please allow at least two weeks for a reply in writing in) but here are both recipes — happy nibbling!

MARZIPAN

(From the Fannie Farmer Cookbook)
Mix thoroughly:
1 cup Almond Paste (below)
1 cup confectioners' sugar
Few drops rose water or orange extract (Rose water is the traditional flavoring; buy it at a drugstore.)

Put on a marble slab or a chilled platter. Knead for 20 minutes. Shape with your fingers into tiny fruits and vegetables. Paint with food coloring or dip in a small bowl of coloring. Tuck in cloves for stems and bits of angelica as leaves. Set on a cake rack to dry.

ALMOND PASTE

(Canned almond paste is available, but it is simple to make.)

Grind 3 or 4 times in a meat chopper, using the finest cutter:

1 pound blanched almonds (the nuts should be very finely ground)

Put in a saucepan:

1 pound sugar
1 cup water

Cook to 240 degrees; mix with the chopped almonds and add: ½ cup orange juice. Stir until creamy. Spoon onto a marble slab or a platter dusted with confectioners' sugar. Let stand until cool. Pack in air-tight containers and store in a cool dry place at least a week before using. Makes 2 pounds.

CANDY STRAWBERRIES

2 pkg. (3 oz. ea.) strawberry flavor gelatin
1 cup ground pecans
1 cup ground coconut
¾ cup sweetened condensed milk
½ teaspoon vanilla
Red sugar crystals
Green food color
Slivered almonds

Mix together gelatin, pecans, coconut, condensed (not evaporated) milk and vanilla. Shape mixture into strawberries; chill at least 1 hour. Roll chilled berries in sugar crystals. Add food color to almonds to tint a delicate green. Use for leaves and stems of berries. Store in a cold place. Makes about 48 strawberries depending on size, or 1 pound, 3 oz.

Question: Mrs. K. K. of West Roxbury requests the aid of the readers as she writes: "This is my first letter to you and I sure enjoy your columns and look forward to them every week. I would appreciate it very much if someone has these recipes that are made at the "German Hoffbrau" — they are "Goulash" and "Stroganoff"; also if anyone has the "Pork and Chicken Won Ton Soup" as made in Chinese restaurants also "Lobster, Shrimps, Chicken and Beef and Chinese Vegetables in a sauce and topped off with Won Ton"; and also the "Lobster, Scallops, Crabmeat, Pork and Beef and Chinese Vegetables and sauce." I would be very grateful for these recipes.

Answer: Come on, readers, to the rescue! What we will offer here is:

LOBSTER, SCALLOPS, PORK AND CHINESE VEGETABLES CANTONESE

1½ to 2 pounds lobster
¼ pound scallops, halved
2 cloves garlic
3 stalks scallion
1 egg
1 tablespoon cornstarch mixed with 1 tablespoon water
1 can Chinese vegetables
¼ teaspoon sugar
¼ teaspoon monosodium glutamate
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
½ teaspoon salt
1 paper-thin slice ginger
1½ cups chicken stock
½ pound ground pork

Preparation:

Clean and chop lobster into 8 pieces (be sure that lobster is alive when fish clerk chops lobster or if you do it). Mince garlic and scallion. Slightly beaten egg. Wash scallops, halve and set aside. Mix cornstarch solution; add sugar, monosodium and pepper. Set beside extra large pot or wok.

Across The Kitchen Counter

Feeling tired? Cold? Hungry? Bored? One remedy works for all these ailments — soup!

The value of a good meaty soup bone and the down-to-earth simplicity of a bowl of soup has come to light for a new generation of homemakers who have also discovered the pleasure of baking bread. A lovely combination — a steaming bowl of rich soup and a thick slice of warm homemade bread.

As a matter of fact, soup is worthy of, but rarely given, party status. Try serving it next time in cups or small bowls from a buffet table prior to the main course. There are also hostesses who are finding a buffet of different soups a new way to entertain. Instead of just one soup, she prepares a selection of three or four hot soups or chowders, a variety of breads and crackers, along with a salad, hot rolls and dessert.

Preparing ingredients for a soup requires no more than 15 minutes and the end results are well worth the effort. Plan your cooking well in advance because soups made from scratch do take time. Meat and vegetables should be done at the same time and then allowed to stand for a blending of flavors. Many soups are aided with condensed canned ready-mades, and the results are equally delicious and quicker.

There are those who say "no" to soup saying it's not worth the extra calories — you can get rid of most of the calories by allowing the soup to be chilled and then removing the solidified fat before reheating.

Why not prepare a variety of soups and freeze them for those busy days when you and the family come in from the cold chilled to the bone — comfort and well-being can be restored just for the heating of your homemade soup.

ONION SOUP WITH PUFFY CHEESE CROUTONS

4 cups thinly sliced onions
¼ cup butter
2 tablespoons flour
2 cans (10½ oz. ea.) beef broth
1 can (10½ oz.) chicken broth
1 soup can water
Puffy Cheese Croutons, below

Saute onions in butter until limp but not brown. Stir in flour. Add soup and water; stir until smooth. Simmer about 30 minutes. Serve topped with Puffy Cheese Croutons.

PUFFY CHEESE CROUTONS

¼ cup butter
1 tablespoon milk
1 cup (¼ pound) shredded aged Cheddar cheese
2 egg whites
French bread cut into bite-size pieces

Melt butter in top section of double boiler over hot, but not boiling, water, or in a small saucepan over very low heat. Add milk; stir in cheese, stirring constantly until cheese is melted. Remove from heat. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Gently fold beaten egg whites into cheese mixture. Dip bread cubes into egg-cheese mixture and place on ungreased baking sheets. Bake in preheated 400 degree oven 10 to 15 minutes or until slightly browned. Remove immediately. Yield: about 34 cubes. Note: Croutons may be recrisped by returning to 350 degree oven 7 to 10 minutes.

COUNTRY SOUP SUPPER

1½ pounds boneless lean beef brisket, chuck or stewing meat, cut in large, bite-size pieces
3 cups water
1 teaspoon salt
1 small clove garlic, minced
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 small bay leaf
2 stalks celery, sliced (about 1 cup)
2 medium carrots, sliced (¾ cup)
1 onion, cut in wedges
¼ small head cabbage, cut in 1-inch wedges
3 tablespoons pearl barley or rice
2 cans (8 oz. ea.) tomato sauce
1 can (15 oz.) red or kidney beans, undrained

Place meat, water, salt and pepper in a large kettle or dutch oven. Slowly bring to a boil; skim. Add garlic and bay leaf. Reduce heat, cover and simmer 1½ hours or until meat is almost tender; remove bay leaf. Add fresh vegetables, barley and tomato sauce. Simmer, covered, 20 minutes. Add beans. Simmer, covered, 10 minutes more or until vegetables are tender. Serves 6.

MUSHROOM POTATO SOUP

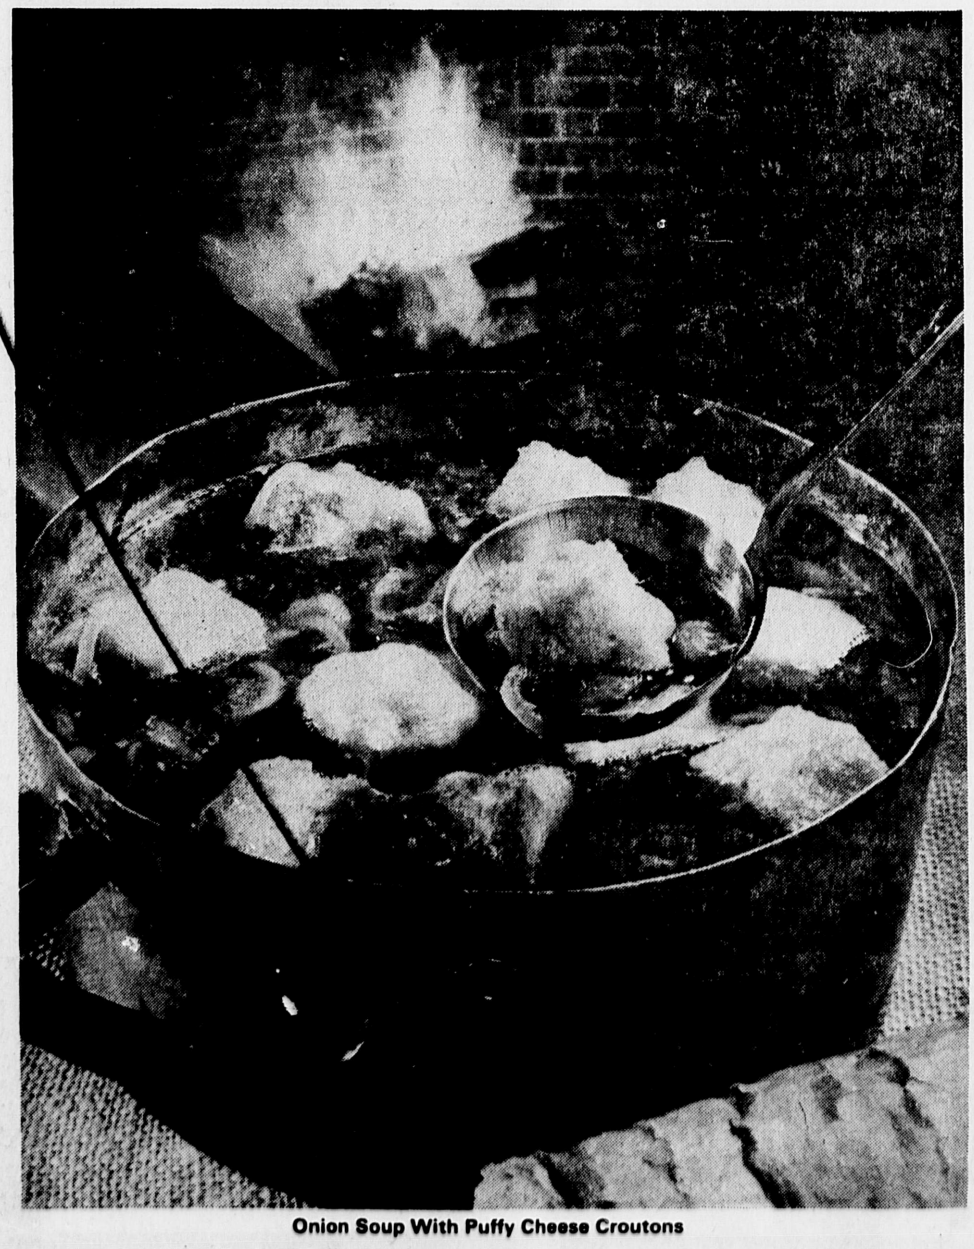

1 can (6-8 oz.) sliced mushrooms
2 cups diced potatoes
½ cup chopped celery
2 tablespoons minced onion
3 tablespoons margarine
3 tablespoons flour
1 quart milk
1 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon celery salt
½ teaspoon ground black pepper
1 teaspoon minced parsley

Drain mushrooms. Cook potatoes, celery and onion in water to cover until tender; do not drain. Meanwhile, melt margarine. Blend in flour and cook until brown, stirring frequently. Add cooked potato mixture, including liquid, to flour mixture. Blend in milk, mushrooms and seasonings. Cook 15 minutes. Add parsley just before serving. Makes 12 portions.

BUDGET BEEF IN A BOWL

3 to 4 pounds oxjoints or beef shank cross cuts
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
8 cups water
2 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
1 large onion, sliced
¼ teaspoon marjoram
1 bay leaf
3 medium potatoes, diced
2 large carrots, sliced
1 cup diced rutabaga or turnip
1 can (1 lb.) tomatoes

Brown meat on all sides in vegetable oil. Pour off drippings. Add water, salt, pepper, onion, marjoram and bay leaf. Cover and simmer over low heat for 2 hours. Add potatoes, carrots, rutabaga or turnips and the tomatoes. Cover and simmer until meat and vegetables are tender, about 30-45 minutes. Serves 6-8.

Reception

Invitations to the Inaugural Reception honoring Newton's Mayor Theodore D. Mann as he begins his four-year term of office have been sent to residents throughout Newton, an aide stated this week.

The reception is being held at 8 p.m. Saturday evening, January 12, at the Marriott Motor Hotel in Newton and is open to the public.

Local, state, and federal officials are among the distinguished guests expected to attend the gala event.

Because errors and omissions are bound to occur, the mayor's aide urged those who have not yet receved invitations and wish to attend to call the Inaugural Reception Committee at 965-4450.

Chairmen of Committees on Arrangements are Mrs. Emily Ann Lipof and James H. Lombard, co-chairmen, and Henry J. Wilson, honorary chairman.

Lecture Series Begins At Jackson Homestead

The Friends of the Jackson Homestead will once again present a lecture series on aspects, of New England life at an earlier time.

The series for this winter entitled, "New England Architecture Inside and Out," will be given by Mrs. Charles A. Butts, whose special interest is in American art and literature.

She is currently a lecturer for the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston. Mrs. Butts feels that New England architecture was profoundly affected by the topography of the region, and in particular by the seacoast and rivers.

With that theory in mind, Mrs. Butts has developed the following lectures for the Homestead series:

Jan. 17th - The Massachusetts Bay Area, Meeting House and Mansion.

Feb. 14th - Seaport Cities and Federal Tastes.

Mar. 7th - Technology and Taste: The 19th and 20th Centuries.

All lectures will be given on Thursdays at 10 a.m. The series is open by reservation to all who are interested. Capacity is limited to 40. Please phone the Jackson Homestead weekdays at 332-3920.

Newton North Cagers Win Third Straight Game

By JACK GREEN

Newton North's basketball team was off to a slow start this season. It lost its first two games to Arlington and Brockton.

But in their most recent game, the Tigers did everything well as they beat Waltham 65-58, in their home opener. It was their third straight victory.

The game started out with Newton winning the tap and failing to score. Waltham came back to score the first points of the game. This was one of the few times Waltham led as Pete Laskaris and company (Newton) came back to lead 19-12 at the end of the first quarter.

In the second quarter Newton held Waltham to just nine points as it increased its lead to 34-21.

Newton surged farther ahead in the third quarter. Laskaris, who had played brilliantly, had to leave the game due to foul trouble.

Newton ran up a 21 point lead and carried it into the last period.

With the subs in for Newton, Waltham started to come back. Waltham narrowed its deficit to six before Newton returned its starting five.

Laskaris led Newton with 18 points. Keith Glasser scored 13 points and Jack Ryan had 11.

Waltham's high man was Rick Mansur.

Newton's three game win streak also includes victories over Weymouth North and Medford.

Newton defeated Weymouth North 71-65. The Tigers led by 17 points at one time before Weymouth North made the score close in the fourth quarter.

Against Medford, Newton won 69-49 and played well. After trailing at the half, the Tigers came back strong in the final two periods. Laskaris and Mark Wasserman led Newton's scorers with 21 and 12 points, respectively.

In their second game of the season, the Tigers were beaten by a strong Brockton team, 52-46. Laskaris scored 25 points, grabbed 28 rebounds and blocked 10 shots.

Newton's record is 3-2 and it must win two-thirds of its games to qualify for the Tech Tourney.

South Basketball Team Defeats Canton, 49-39

By BRUCE BOYNICK

Strong individual performances by Steve Korn and Mark Jefferson were instrumental in providing the Newton South basketball team with a 49 to 39 win over the Canton Bulldogs last week at the South gym.

Korn and Jefferson each tallied 16 points. Korn, a 6-3 forward, had nine rebounds, four of them off the offensive boards. Jefferson, the team's captain, played subperb defense with numerous steals, two of which resulted in baskets.

The Lions treated the matinee crowd to a fine first half, taking a commanding 32-12 lead. Korn and Jefferson combined for 21 of those 32 points.

A medley of defenses; a 2-3 zone, a man-to-man, and a full court zone press, flustered the Canton attack for three quarters, South led after three periods, 38-20. In the final stanza, Canton outscored the Lions 19-11.

Center Rich Spector finished with six points. Bob Harris, Saul Rubin, Jerry Antonellis, Mark Aronson, and Howie Pinderhughes tallied two points each.

After four straight non-league victories, the Lions open their Dual County League Season Friday, Jan. 4 against Acton-Boxboro.

Acton-Boxboro is touted as a strong club and should provide the Lions with their biggest test of the young season.

The Dual County League appears improved over last season. The departure of Westwood and Maynard (two of last year's weaker teams) to different leagues, narrows the Dual County to seven teams.

Newton South, Concord-Carlisle, Weston, Bedford, Wayland, and Acton-Boxboro all have one or more starters returning from last year's squads. Lincoln-Sudbury lost virtually all of its 1972-73 team, but is perennially a strong team.

Bedford, Lincoln-Sudbury, and Acton-Boxboro made the State Tournament last year.

The Lions will play each Dual County League team twice.

North Skaters Remain Winless

BY KEITH GLASSER

Newton North High's hockey team tied Weymouth South 4-4 last week at the Randolph Arena.

Earlier in the week, on Wednesday, Dec. 26, the Tiger's were ripped 4-0 by league leader Weymouth North.

It was a see-saw battle between the cellar dwelling Tigers and Weymouth South.

Newton's Ray Valente started the scoring at 6:14 of the first period on a power play goal from the blue line. At 10:32 Weymouth South tied it up, and took the lead 17 seconds later, on a King to Harris score.

Steve Donovan tied it up at 2-2 in the second period when he skated over the blue line and put a hard high shot past the Weymouth goalie

After a Weymouth goal, John Connolly fired in a rebound a 11:34 to tie it up again. Jeff Senior was credited with the assist. It was Newton's first rebound goal of the season.

Dave Warmington got his second goal at 5:09 of the third period to give the Blue and Goal a short lived 4-3 lead. Newton's Cal Moffie tied the game a minute later. Steve Chapman won a face-off to the left of the net and Moffie fired the puck through a screen.

After the game Coach Don Crowley praised the play of the defense and said, "We did not take full advantage of our opportunities."

The Tigers outshot Weymouth South 19-15. Previous to the game Newton had scored two goals to its opponents 10, while Weymouth had scored four to their opponent's 23 in four games.

Newton was whitewashed by undefeated Weymouth North (4-0-0) at the Randolph Arena. The Tigers could have come closer to winning if they had capitalized on their chances. In the first period Newton North's Moffie missed two breakaways and Steve Donovan one Newton completely dominated the first period as it sieged Weymouth North goalie Mark Holden. The Tigers hit the posts and had the three breakaways but, could not score.

With only 34 seconds left in the first period, Weymouth North's Mark Haley scored off a face-off on a screened Joe Steele. The goal broke the already frustrated Tiger's momentum.

Newton gave up three second period goals. One of Weymouth North's goals was on a sensational back hander in front. The shot was an inch from the upper post and an inch from the right post. Steele played a good game in goal as all the goals against him were on good Weymouth shots. The shots were even.

Crowley feels the Tigers will have to play more consistently and play more as a unit to win. To give Arlington a battle, Crowley said, "We're going to have to play three good periods."

Newton faces Rindge Tech on Saturday, Jan. 5 at 12:30 p.m. at The Boston Arena.

Recreation Department Swim Team Wins Opener

The Newton Recreation Department's swim team opened its season with a strong win over Belmont, 146 to 93.

The meet was held at the new Newton North High School pool and Coach Mary Buntin and Assistants Russ Brooks, Suzanne O'Connor and Beth Kelley were pleased with the team's first outing, all noting the results were due to the hard work by the swimmers.

The Newton winners were: Class eight and under - 25 yard free style, Drew Lane; 25-yard backstroke, Pricilla Donovan; 50-yard free-style, Drew Lane, and 25 yard breast stroke, Jimmy Holland.

Classes nine and 10 - 25 yard free-style, Leslie Tocci; 25-yard backstroke, Billy Ridge and 25-yard butterfly, Meg Donovan.

Classes 11 and 12 - 100 yard Individual Medley, Joanna Bonizoli; 50-yard breast-stroke, Joanne Fay.

Class 13 and up—100 yard individual Medley, Paul Higgins; 50 yard backstroke, Mary Mulvaney; 100 yard free style, John Mescall, and 100 yard breastroke, Eileen cronin.

North Track Team Loses To Powerful Brockton

By RICH RAUM

"Trying to beat Brockton is like trying to buy a Christmas present for the man who has everything," commented Newton North indoor track Coack Ed Boyle.

They can both be frustrating activities.

North was coming off a strong victory over Cambridge Latin when it faced Brockton last week. The Tigers were hopeful of another good showing.

Brockton, one of the Suburban League's track powers, won every event except the 300 to upend North.

Brockton swept the 1000 as North's Brian McCallion was barely edged out of third place.

The Tigers then rebounded in the 600 and 300. Ken Tocci and Rich Raum placed second and third in the 600. Bob Meek and Dave Berkowitz took first and second in the 300.

Brockton ended North's comeback by sweeping the two-mile and winning the high jump. Tiger leapers placed second and third in the high jump.

Brockton won the shot put. The winning toss was 47' 5". North's Jim Averback and John Cardillo placed second and third, respectively.

Tigers Bill Fulton and Bill Seward finished second and third in hurdles.

Peter Waxman and Alan Rubin placed second and third for Newton in the dash.

The Tigers were disqualified in the relay.

Newton North's record is 1-2.

North Wrestlers Gain First Victory Of Season

By BOB LOW

Newton High's wrestling team needed a forfeited match in the 107-pound division to gain its first win, 30 to 27, over Melrose last week.

The forfeit was not disclosed until after the match was over. It had appeared that the match had ended in a tie after a tremendous Melrose comeback.

After Don Keefe lost in the 167-pound class, Newton won four straight matches to take a 21-3 lead.

Paul Siegenthaler won on a decision, 7-2. Mike Annesi scored an 8-0 shutout in the match which was later called a forfeit because Melrose's wrestler was an eighth grader. Mark Siegenthaler and George Hebard won with pins.

Newton's Steve Rosen then held Melrose's Bill Mulvihill to a 4-0 decision. Mulvihill is a highly touted wrestler in his weight class.

After Steve Parker lost, Cliff Brown, Bob Keefe and Bruce McNulty won matches for Newton.

At this point, Melrose appeared to need three pins in a row to tie the match.

And three pins it got. Newton's Mike Mulcahey was pinned in the first round, Mark Riley was pinned with a second left in the second round, and Tom Barrett was pinned halfway through his match.

The forfeiture was then disclosed, and, an additional three points was given to Newton. The three points broke an apparent 27-27 deadlock.

Newton's next match is Saturday, Jan. 5 at home against Waltham. The junior varsity match begins at 6:30 p.m. and the varsity match at 8 p.m.

On Tuesday, Jan. 8, Newton hosts Weymouth South at 3:30 p.m.

Newton South Track Team Loses, 52-34

By JEFF KAROL

Newton South's indoor track team lost to Bedford High, 52 to 34, last week.

South Co-Capt. Steve Berger placed first in both the hurdles and the high jump. In the hurdles, Berger's time was 6.8 seconds. Berger jumped 5' 2" in the high jump.

South's Bob Lein finished first in the two-mile with a time of 10:56.5.

Stuart Perry, who usually competes in the 40, sprinted to a second place finish in the 300.

Co-Capt. Peter Kotzen placed third in the 600 and Jeff Karol finished third in the 1000.

Newton South has lost three straight meets.

Boating Courses At Museum Of Science

What do you do when you pass a red nun on your way into a harbor?

You'd better leave it to your right - the starboard side of your boat - or you may find you've run aground.

A course in basic navigation, beginning Jan. 9 at the Hayden Planetarium of Boston's Museum of Science, will teach students how to interpret these and other buoys, and how to make best use of other navigational aids, instruments, and systems.

Designed for beginners with some knowledge of boats and sailing, the course will also go into procedures for nighttime and occasions of low visibility.

Students will learn piloting (plotting a course), and the various methods of navigation suitable to small craft both along shore and offshore. A prerequisite for the Museum's advanced course, celestial navigation, it will also include a brief introduction to the principles of celestial navigation.

Instructor Waldo Holcombe, an experienced yachtman and formerly program director of the Museum, has given the course on piloting for the past three years.

Meeting for eight Wednesdays from 7:30 to 9 p.m., the sessions will run through March 6. The fee is $26. Family and Contributing Members receive a $4 discount.

As enrollment is limited, interested individuals should contact the planetarium course registrar (723-2500), as soon as possible.

Newton South Skaters Blanked Twice, 6-0, 3-0

By MARK COOPER

Newton South's hockey team lost games to Acton-Boxboro and Weston in recent Dual County League action.

South dropped a 6-0 decision to Acton. The Lions managed only six shots on net, and were pinned in their own end during much of the game.

Acton attacked South goalie Dave Satter with more than 25 shots.

Mike Bradley scored Acton's first goal at 3:52 of the first period. Later in the period, Don Lato and Mark Brecker tallied to raise Acton's lead to 3-0.

"We were up against a wall right from the start," commented South Coach Neil McPhee.

A fine crowd came to root for South against Acton.

South showed fine skating and passing, but could not put a shot past Weston goalie Rich Caples.

At 5:52 of the first period, after play had been continuously in the Weston end, Jim Butler scored for Weston. Butler wheeled past two defensemen enroute to the net.

Newton South outshot Weston 18-4 in the first period.

The second period was also one-sided in South's favor, but penalties kept the Lions shorthanded for several minutes.

A lapse in defensive coverage allowed Weston's Mike Butler to score at 6:57.

Newton South's record is now 1-3-1. The Lions' next game is Friday night, Jan. 4 against Lincoln-Sudbury at West Concord Arena.

Diet Important For Pregnant Women

"A healthy start in life begins several years before birth," says the National Foundation-March of Dimes in its continuing effort to combat birth defects. "This is true in no area so much as in nutrition; in many ways we really are what we eat." Proper nutrition is important for children and teenagers not only for the sake of their own growth and development but also because it will have an influence on their future as prospective parents.

A good diet for anyone is one which includes sufficient daily servings from each major food group: milk, meat, vegetables and fruits, grains and fats. For most people without special dietary problems, this means 2-4 cups of milk, four servings of fruits and vegetables, at least two servings of meat, poultry, fish, or other protein foods, an occasional egg, and four or more servings of enriched breads and cereal foods.

A woman who becomes pregnant will find sound meal planning especially important. Because her blood is the sole source of nourishment for her growing baby, sufficient amounts of protein, vitamin, and mineral foods are crucial; she will probably have to increase her intake of each.

Although amounts will vary according to individual needs, most pregnant women can expect their doctors to allow them to gain more weight today than in the past. Doctors now say a weight gain of between 24 and 30 pounds is desirable during the nine months. Prospective mothers should be cautioned, however, that this does not mean they can eat as much as they like.

Many women already use pregnancy as an excuse for putting on unnecessary pounds, especially by eating carbohydrates which they don't burn up through increased exercise. On the other hand, dieting to "keep her figure" could prove hazardous to the unborn child.

Studies have shown that undernourished mothers sometimes produce babies with fewer brain cells and smaller heads; that factor very likely contributes to the child's intellectual development as he grows up. Gaining too little weight is almost sure to produce a small baby; those under 5½ pounds are known to have a more difficult time in their first year of life than babies who are larger at birth.

The best diet at all times, of course, is a sensible one which provides sufficient nutrients. This is doubly important during pregnancy!

Some diet tips to remember before and during pregnancy:

Eat plenty of foods containing protein, vitamins, and minerals. Usually increase milk intake.

Five small meals a day may prove more comfortable than the usual three as pregnancy advances.

Eating for two does not mean eating twice as much! A woman who has a normal pregnancy can expect to gain from 24 to 30 pounds.

Never take drugs, pills, or laxatives unless prescribed by the doctor.

Avoid alcohol, tobacco, snack foods, and sweets.

Portrait Of Coco

The recently acquired "Portrait of Coco," by Pierre Auguste Renoir, is now on view at the Museum of Fine Arts. Completed in 1909, this oil canvas is an affectionate portrait of the artist's son, Claude. The work is a fine example of the Impressionist master's mature style.

VA News Letter

Certificates worth up to $12,000 each are being mailed this month to 50,000 recently discharged Vietnam Era veterans, and millions more eligible veterans can have them for the asking.

The mailings are certificates of eligibility for GI Bill benefits from the Veterans Administration.

Administrator of Veterans Affairs Donald E. Johnson said the new program is made possible by computers. Formerly, each veteran had to apply for the certificate and present a copy of his discharge.

GI home loan certificates of eligibility are now being mailed out also.

Johnson said the new procedure which affects only recently discharged veterans will be much more convenient for GI Bill students, and it will free VA employees for counseling duties and for more vigorous "outreach" efforts. With a certificate in hand, Johnson speculated, a veteran is more likely to think seriously about education than he would if he still had to apply.

The VA Administrator expressed hope that the reduced "red tape"—coupled with other VA outreach efforts—will bring more disadvantaged veterans into training.

VA has used a special direct mail program to tell undereducated Vietnam veterans about a "free entitlement" benefit that permits them to complete high school and college preparatory courses under the GI Bill, while receiving monthly allowance checks, and with no charge against their basic entitlement. Almost 200,000 have responded, but use of the GI Bill among high school drop-outs is still far below the rate for veterans who were ready for college when they entered military service.

More than 47.2 percent of Vietnam Era veterans have used some or all of their education benefits. This compares to 48.8 percent after W.W. II. More than 56 percent of current enrollees go to college compared to 28.6 percent after W.W. II, Johnson said.

Ice Skaters Warned Of Thin Ice

Ice skaters with a yen to try the Charles River and lakes and ponds in the Metropolitan District Commission area were urged today not to do so by Acting MDC Commissioner Arthur T. Lyman, Jr.

Commissioner Lyman called attention to the fact there are varying degrees of thickness of ice due to water movement and salt, adding, "This is particularly true around bridges where water fails to freeze solidly."

Calling attention to a recent Waltham drowning in which a boy tried to save a dog that had wandered onto thin ice, Lyman urged skaters and would-be skaters to stick with 25 MDC rinks for the time being. "And even when the weather does turn colder," he emphasized, "nobody should skate alone on the lakes and ponds. The Charles River should be avoided at all costs, and, for that matter, we ban skating on the river at any time."

Commissioner Lyman pointed out the MDC has many natural skating areas at reservations and on lakes and ponds that will be opened in the weeks and months to come. "There is no need to take chances. We have plenty of supervised areas in which skating may be enjoyed. I would hate to see anyone made happy by the gift of new skates at Christmas lose his or her life because of a lack of good judgment as to a proper skating location."

Deadline Is Near For VFW Voice Of Democracy Contest

The Department of Massachusetts Veterans of Foreighn Wars of the U.S. announced that the 27th annual Voice of Democracy Scholarship program sponsored by the VFW and its Ladies Auxiliary in cooperation with the National and State Association of Broadcasters is rapidly drawing to a close as reported by State Chairman Vernon W. Villeneuve, of Springfield.

The 1973-74 theme is "My Responsibility as a Citizen." All school and community winners were selected by December 10th and entered in the VFW District funoffs, which will be judged by January 8, 1974. District winners will be entered in the State VFW finals to be judged by January 20, 1974. The State winner will represent Massachusetts in the VFW National finals.

There will be $22,500 in National Scholarship awards: 1st place - $10,000; 2nd place - $5,000; 3rd place - $3,500; 4th place - $2,500; and 5th place $1,500. There will be 53 all expense paid trips to Washington, D.C. for the National finals. More than $400,000 in Bonds, Scholarships and Awards will be distributed on the State, District and local levels.

All 10th, 11th and 12th grade students had an opportunity to participate. As young Americans they had expressed their thoughts on the theme and gave their viewpoint on what their citizenship responsibilities are. All were recorded on 7½" per second magnetic tape of not more than three minutes nor less than five minutes. Delivery had to be in a natural voice style, conversational, not oratorical. They were not permitted to refer to their race, creed, national origin nor in any way identify themselves in the script.

The third annual State VFW Voice of Democracy - Legislative Awards Banquet will be held at the George F. Bryan VFW Post No. 613 at 24 Broad Street, Quincy, Massachusetts on Saturday evening, February 2, 1974. All 18 VFW District winners will be honored and an outstanding State Legislator will be awarded the highest State VFW Award, the Silver Medal, for his outstanding voting record supporting Veterans' causes.

Skylab At Museum Of Science

Skylab has landed at Boston's Museum of Science.

At least, a one-fifth scale model of the orbiting space station has arrived at the Museum, and is now suspended in the Great Well of the Museum's west wing.

A home away from home for the astronauts, Skylab orbits the earth at an angle of 50 degrees to the equator, at an altitude of 270 miles. From this vantage point, it can observe all sections of the United States. And from the vantage point afforded Museum visitors, they may observe all sections of the model space station.

The Skylab program has three main purposes: to monitor the sun's activities with the Apollo Telescope Mount; to conduct medical investigation on the impact on man of longterm space travel; and to evaluate the earth's resources and environment.

The Skylab model, complete except for the Command and Service Module, was built for the Museum by Engineering Dynamics Corporation of Westford, Mass. The background material and design were prepared by members of the museum staff.

There is no charge above museum admission to see the Skylab model.

Book Review

By CHRIS MONROE

THE DESCENT OF WOMAN BY ELAINE MORGAN, BANTAM.

The Descent of Woman is the herstory of evolution, that is, biological evolution from the woman's point of view.

Up until now in the field of evolution we have essentially known only the popular writers like Desmond Morris (The Naked Ape) and Robert Ardrey (African Genesis), and, in general, we have swallowed their interpretations whole.

Until recently, we have been (and many still are) geared to the male dominance beliefs that permeate the writings of these two anthropologists.

But Elaine Morgan, while reading some of the currently accepted theories, was struck with how much the female is ignored, largely due to the fact that in speaking of humans the word "man" is used. But this usage leads too easily to the thought "man-male" rather than "man-human."

Ms. Morgan points out numerous fallacies in the accepted theories, showing how many of them could work for "man-male" but not for "man-female".

She reveals several absurdities of other assumptions made by Morris and Ardrey concerning the physical changes which occurred in the female. Their interpretations are usually that these developments were purely for the benefit of "man-male", i.e. to improve the appearance of the female, this insuring better pair-bonding necessary to the survival of the young. (It sounds believable until you read Ms. Morgan's interpretations).

The author shoots holes in the well-known "hunter on the plain" theory to explain our bipedalism and supports a little-known theory of a life in the shallows of the sea. Many otherwise unexplainable mutations can be accounted for by this theory.

This theory of life fascinating idea has been merely touched upon and discarded by other anthropologists. Without this point of view, woman seems just a convenience "man" took along with him for his own pleasures and to care for his children. Right or wrong, at least this theory allows woman an equal role in the evolution of our species.

One of the most beautiful is Grandma Moses by Otto Kallir (Abrams, $32.50). It was in Kallir's Galerie St. Etienne that her paintings often hung in one-man shows in New York, and he follows her career lovingly as she uses primitive technique, the simple style, to tell the story of simpler times when ice skating on the hometown pond and horsedrawn sleighs were a way of life in much of America.

Other books that are works of art in themselves include Impressionism, by the editors of Realities, the French magazine (Putnam's $35), and Francisco Goya Drawings: the Complete Albums, by Pierre Gassier (Praeger, $29.95).

Popular Prints of the Americas, by A. Hyatt Mayor (Crown, $12.95) may not be great art, but these prints vary from religious to historical to scenic right on to a number of funny advertising posters that might be the forerunners of "pop art."

They range from an ad for Merchant's Gargling Oil, "a Liniment for Man and Beast," to the May 8, 1909, cover of Motor Sports magazine featuring Motor Matt's Daring Rescue, or The Strange Case of Helen Brady.

Americana

America itself is popular for gift-giving this year, ranging from the Traveller's Guide to American Gardens by Harry B. Logan (McGraw-Hill, $19.95), to the same publisher's two volume American Heritage deluxe boxed set, The Artists and Writers' America ($37.50) by Marshall B. Davidson.

You also can travel Wild Rivers of North America, by Michael Jenkinson, photographs by Karl Kernberger (Dutton, $10.95) or underwater with Jacques-Yves Cousteau in Three Adventures: Galapagos, Titicaca, the Blue Holes (Doubleday, $9.95).

If you'd rather stay home and play games try Goren on Backgammon by bridge expert Charles Goren (Doubleday, $7.95) or read about Grandmasters of Chess by Harold C. Schonberg (Lippincott, $10) in which even non-chess players can find interesting biographies of the masters, but it's more fun if you know how.

There are a number of just plain interesting books that might make good gifts for someone on your list. They include:

The Imperial Presidency, by Arthur M. Schlesinger (Houghton-Mifflin, $7.95); Burr, by Gore Vidal (Random House, $8.95); The Best of Life (Time-Life Books, $19.95), which offers almost 700 pictures; The World at War, by Mark Arnold-Foster (Stein and Day, $10), a one-volume history of World War II; Astounding: John W. Campbell Memorial Anthology of Science Fiction, edited by Harry Harrison (Random House, $7.95); The Harvard Lampoon Centennial Celebration 1876-1973, Martin Kaplan editor (LittleBrown, $29.95), and I Never Danced at the White House, by Art Buchwald (Putnam's, $6.95).

For a stocking-stuffer there's Ave Ogden! (Putnam's, $6.95) in which James C. Gleeson and Brian N. Meyer have taken it into their joint head to translate Ogden Nash into Latin. But it may be all Greek to you.

Special Program On New Comet Kohoutek

Because of the widespread interest in Comet Kohoutek, the Hayden Planetarium at Boston's Museum of Science will present a special program on the comet, Jan. 2 through 21. In addition it will hold two outdoor observation nights, Jan. 11 and 18.

The program will explore the origins of the comet and its development, and compare it to comets of the past. Among the visual effects appearing on the Planetarium dome will be an apparition that was reported of the 1528 comet, photographs of more recent comets, and comet clouds, and depiction of Kohoutek's probable end.

The two Comet Nights to be held at the Museum, Jan. 11 and 18, will begin at 6 p.m. outdoors. The Planetarium staff will assist visitors in identifying and studying the comet, and in photographing it. Visitors are advised to bring binoculars, rather than telescopes, for a greater field of vision. Indoors special comet-oriented demonstrations and the "Kohoutek" Planetarium program will be presented.

The Comet Nights are part of the Museum's series of special Friday night programs when admission is half price after 5 p.m. ($1 for adults, 50 cents for children 5-16 years of age.)

Second Thoughts On Second Wives

The second wife has achieved a new status in American life. Far from being the "forgotten woman" of just a few years ago, she has emerged as a prime sociological and economic force, respected even by friends of the former wife.

That's the tenet of Jean Baer, author of a new book "The Second Wife," who points out that the booming divorce rate has created a booming remarriage rate.

"There are going to be more and more second wives who must be willing to cope with the very real problems — alimony or children or both — that come with a man who has already made one trip up that aisle."

She cites figures: "Experts predict that in the near future 50 per cent of all marriages will end in divorce, and statistics show that 75 per cent of all divorcing men remarry quickly."

Ms. Baer feels that wife number two definitely has to try harder. Often she supports her husband so that he can support his first wife "who already has the house, car, insurance and sleeps until noon." She must deal with her husband's guilt because he "failed once and fears he may fail again," hostile stepchildren, and her own psyche if she feels competitive with her predecessor.

Yet, Ms. Baer claims that things have changed from three years ago when she first conceived the idea for the book. "There are 10 million couples in the United States today in which one or both partners have been married before, and the sheer number has forced judges, lawyers, wives, husbands and society in general to adopt new attitudes toward the special problems of the remarriage-go-round.

Judges are becoming more aware. They know that unless he's an Onassis, the average man can't support two families.

Today's Family Court judge will often suggest the ex-wife return to work. In New Hampshire there is term alimony — granted only for a three-year period. In some states ex-wives are being ordered to pay child support.

Groups taking the side of the divorced husband who pays "unreasonable alimony" and proffering counsel to remarrieds, are growing. For example, Remarrieds, Inc., now has 16 chapters in eight states. In Baltimore, The Second Wives Coalition has a counseling service, plans a family center where first and second wives can meet if they choose, and also sponsors the Children's League of Divorced Parents.

The image of the second wife as the "predatory other woman" is on the decrease. "The new trend is that it's the first wife who often wanted out of the marriage," says Ms. Baer, who notes that in the 220 interviews she did for the book she found "amazingly few" second wives who had been the "other woman."

In "The Second Wife" Ms. Baer, who is herself married to a divorced clinical psychologist with three minor children, takes up everything the second wife wants, needs and ought to know, but rarely learns until too late.

She covers sizing up a man's potential for remarriage; life as a weekend stepmother; widower's wife and in a his-and-hers combine; alimony angles; custody conditions; brain-washing mamas; etiquette; marrying off his ex; and danger signals in a second marriage.

"A second wife has traumas and triumphs, whether she's young or old, black or white, normal or neurotic," says Jean Baer. "But I like to remind other second wives that being one doesn't mean you're second best."

Jean Baer is the author of two previous books: "Follow Me and "The Single Goes To Town." She is special projects editor for "Seventeen Magazine," lives in a New York brownstone and claims she got over a lot of her second-wife problems by writing a book about them!

Course Offered For Ambulance Personnel

An intensive course geared to upgrading skills of ambulance personnel in this area begins Tuesday, Jan. 15, at Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

The 81-hour evening course is jointly sponsored by the hospital, Massachusetts Bay Community College, and the Charles River District Medical Society.

The course is being given at [illegible]

new legislation, candidates for advanced training will study the emergency situation as a whole; respiration and resuscitations; bleeding; wounds and shock; soft-tissue injuries; injuries to the skull, brain, neck and spine; injuries to the extremities and environmental emergencies including childbirth.

Approximately 30 men from the west suburban communities of Needham, Newton, Wellesley and Weston are expected to enroll. The preponderant majority are present ambulance workers including police, fire and private ambulance personnel.

Newton-Wellesley Hospital officials also pointed out that improved training for ambulance attendants is only the first step in a broader emergency care program. Adequately designed and equipped vehicles, on-the-scene communications systems linking emergency sites with emergency rooms, and ultimately some categorization of emergency services among area hospitals are future targets, hospital authorities said.

Notification has been sent to pertinent workers by Mass. Bay Community College. Registrations for the Jan. 15 opening date can be made at Mass. Bay, 57 Stanley Ave., Watertown, Jan. 7-10. Course fee is $105 for five credit hours plus $3 for registration.

Newton Girl Tours Russia For USIA

Amy Saldinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Saldinger of 98 Sumner St., Newton Centre, is serving with the U. S. Information Agency's comprehensive exhibit, "Outdoor Recreation — USA," now touring the Soviet Union.

Miss Saldinger is among 22 young Americans selected by USIA in the second group of guides for the exhibit on the basis of their personal qualities and proficiency in the Russian language.

The exhibit has begun the second half of its year-long tour of the Soviet Union under the U.S.—USSR Cultural Exchange Agreement.

Miss Saldinger now is with the exhibit in Yerevan, the capital of the Armenian Republic of the USSR located near the frontiers of Iran and Turkey. She will accompany the exhibit from Yerevan to the Soviet cities of Kishinev and Odessa, where it will close early next summer.

A graduate of Newton High School, Miss Saldinger received her B.A. degree in Russian studies from Brandeis University in 1972. She also studied at the Leningrad State University in the Soviet Union in 1972 and 1973 and began her work for a Master's degree last summer at Middlebury College, Vt.

"Outdoor Recreation — USA" has already been presented in Moscow and other cities. It attracted more than 800,000 Soviet visitors during its tour of the first three cities.

The exhibit shows how Americans enjoy outdoor recreation the year-round and the equipment available to them for outdoor life.

The young American guides converse with Soviet visitors, explaining the many exhibit items, including boats, mobile homes, automobiles, and fishing, hunting, and camping gear. They also discuss the availability of mountains, lakes, resorts, rivers, the wilderness, the seashore and national parks and forests for recreation in the United States. Their fluency in Russian also enables them to answer many questions about life in the United States.

Woman's Club Auction Jan. 9

An auction will be held at the Newtonville Woman's Club on Monday, Jan. 7, at St. John's Parish House, Lowell Avenue, Newtonville. The auction is open to members and guests.

There will be a coffee bar at 1:30 p.m. under the direction of Mrs. Harry W. Abells, president, and Mrs. Edmund Miller, followed by a short business meeting at 2 p.m.

The auction will follow the business meeting.

Articles of all kinds are expected from members to make the occasion a success.

The next regular board meeting will be Jan. 21.

Adoption Assoc. Plans Meeting

The Adoption Association of Massachusetts, Inc., presents its January program, "Adopting an Older Child," on Tuesday, Jan. 8, at 8 p.m. at the First Parish Unitarian-Universalist Church, 50 Church St., Waltham.

Speakers and discussion leaders will be Joseph and Jane Caputo, who will share their experiences and insights regarding the rewards and problems involved in adopting a non-infant.

In addition, a representative from an agency dealing with older children is expected to participate.

Math Teachers Meet Jan. 19

The Association of Teachers of Low Achievers in Mathematics is holding its winter meeting on Saturday, Jan. 19, from 9:30 a.m. to noon at Newton North High School.

To register send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to M. Petranic, Brookline High School, Brookline, Ma. 02146. The registration fee is $1 for nonmembers.

There will be two main sessions (elementary and secondary) from 10 to 11 a.m. and six discussion groups from 11 to noon.

The discussion group topics will be math lab materials, manipulative materials, metrication, alternative schemes for the low achiever, individualized instruction, and teaching fractions.

The purpose of ATLAM is to find ways to assist teachers in order to more effectively teach the low achiever. The group wants to bring together teachers of these students so that methods, programs, ideas, and possible solutions to difficulties can be shared.

Adult Series Continues

The Adult Education series at Temple Beth Avodah, 45 Puddingstone Lane, Newton, continues to delve into the nature of Reform Judiasm.

Rabbi Klein

Following the worship service Friday evening, Jan. 4, guest speaker Rabbi Joseph Klein will speak on "Reform Judiasm and Halacha (Jewish law)."

Exactly what is Reform Judiasm's stand on Jewish law? Are there particular laws that we must observe and others that we are free to discard? Are there any laws which are absolutely binding? Who decides what laws, if any, Reform Jews must observe? Rabbi Klein will address himself to these questions and related issues in his talk.

Rabbi Klein is the spiritual leader of Temple Emanuel in Worcester, which he has served since 1948. He is a past president of the New England Region of the Central Conference of American Rabbis and has served on their National Executive Board. From 1958-64 he was editor of the Conference Journal. He has also served on the Board of Governors of the Hebrew Union College, Jewish Institute of Religion and on the Executive Board of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations.

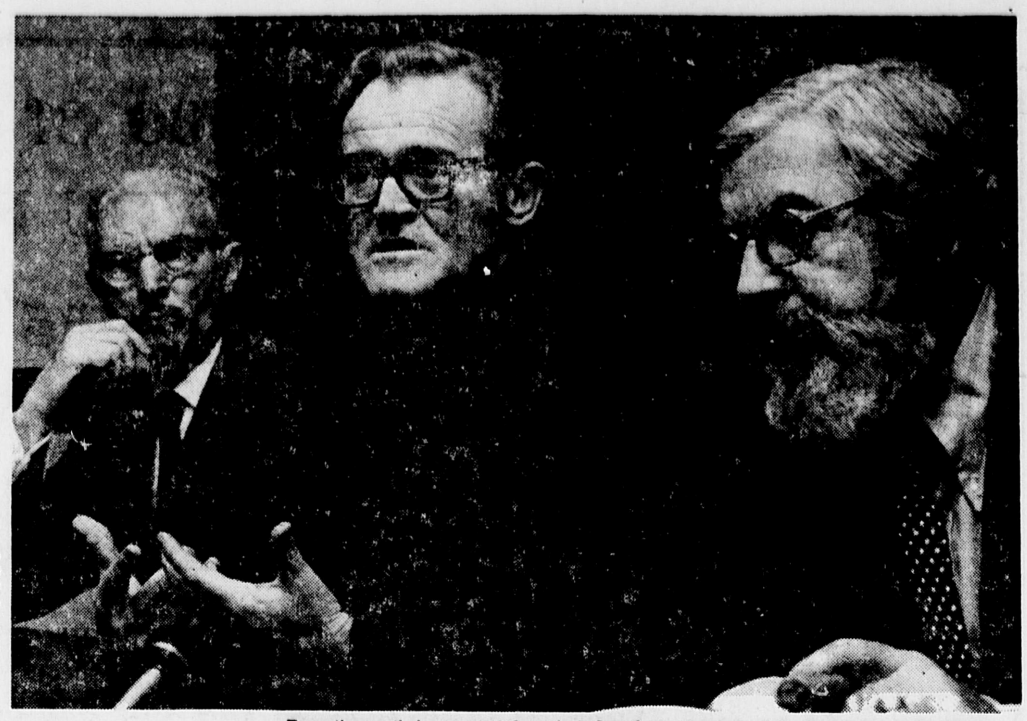

Rabbi Robert Miller and the congregation of Temple Beth Avodah invite all guests to worship and join them in listening to the talk.

For further information, please call the Temple office, 527-0045.

Rev. Holt To Talk

The Rev. Ellis J. Holt, Executive Minister of the American Baptist Churches of Massachusetts, will be one of the keynote speakers at the Temple of Shalom Brotherhood Breakfast Sunday, Jan. 13, at 9:30 a.m.

Mr. Holt will tell about his recent visit to Israel with an interfaith group of Jewish, Protestant and Catholic leaders.

Clergymen

Reporting on their recent 10-day trip to Israel are members of the Boston Interfaith Mission. From left to right, The Rev. Dr. Eugene Bartlett, the Rev. Robert W. Bullock, and Rabbi Murray I. Rothman.

Clergymen Report On Trip To Israel

Three religious leaders representing the Catholic, Protestant and Jewish faiths reported recently on their 10-day study mission to Israel at a press conference at the Copley Plaza Hotel.

The Rev. Dr. Gene E. Bartlett, of the First Baptist Church, Newton, the Rev. Robert W. Bullock and Rabbi Murray I. Rothman, of Temple Shalom, Newton, participated in the first greater Boston ecumenical mission sponsored by three local groups, the Interfaith Committee of the Jewish Community Council of Metropolitan Boston, the National Conference of Christians and Jews, and the Catholic-Jewish Committee of the Archdiocesan Ecumenical Commission.

In his remarks at the press conference, Father Bullock talked of his first impressions of the Jewish State: "I think survival cuts across everything in Israel and by that I don't think the people of Israel and Jews throughout the world mean something like the survival as we would say of the American way of life or the survival of political and social characteristics of a people or a nation.

"I think it means survival in the most extreme sense of that term, not only political survival or social survival but physical survival, survival of a people physically — their existence."

Rev. Bartlett noted that he was impressed by the loyalty of Israelis to their nation. "I am deeply impressed by the passion for Israel which we felt on every side," Rev. Bartlett said. "I can't recall any time in my adult years when I have encountered as intense a sense of loyalty as one felt for Israel on every side."

Bartlett said this loyalty manifested itself in a number of different ways: "It was in the kibbutz where we stayed, it was in the immigrants, both from America and Russia it was in the young people who seemingly very happily and wholeheartedly were learning the dances and the folksongs of their tradition and it was in the numbers of young people from America whom we saw who went for a brief time in Israel and were very reluctant to leave."

According to both Bartlett and Bullock, the "holocaust" experience has had a great deal to do with the Jewish attachment to Israel.

"The holocaust," stated Bartlett, "is a memory which has been seared into the feeling that explicit or implied was the sense that never again in this world will a Jew have no place where he can go when he needs refuge, and I suppose that the sense of intense loyalty is explained in part by that."

Speaking to the current crisis in the Middle East, Rabbi Rothman observed, "The people of Israel feel very much alone."

"They feel the world doesn't understand that the United Nations is stacked against them," Rothman added. "They lean very heavily on American understanding and they're prayerfully concerned that America will not yield to oil blackmail."

"A good deal has already come out of the Interfaith Mission," Rothman asid. "We have established a kind of kinship, and that in itself from the point of view of human realtionships has great significance."

The group plans a reunion next month at the Paulist Center in Boston to share observations of the visit and to discuss methods of relating their experiences to the community at large.

President of the American Baptist Churches of the United States, an organization comprised of 6,000 churches with 1½ million congregants, Rev. Bartlett was responsible for Protestant participation in the mission. He is spiritual leader of the First Baptist Church of Newton.

The Rev. Robert W. Bullock serves as Director of Campus Ministry of the Archdiocese of Boston and is the Catholic Chaplain at Brandeis University.

Rabbi Murray I. Rothman chairs the Jewish Community Council's Interfaith Committee and is spiritual leader of Temple Shalom in Newton.

During their intensive tour, the participants attended services at the various holy sites, lived on a kibbutz, met with Jewish and Arab officials and private citizens, and worshiped together at Christian and Jewish holy places. The group was comprised of 10 Protestant, nine Catholic and four Jewish leaders.

Assistance to the mission was given by Yoram Golan, New England director of the Israel Tourist Office, Rev. Robert Kelleher of the Archdiocesan Ecumenical Commission, and Bernard Garber, co-chairman of Boston's Salute to Israel's 25th Anniversary.

Obituaries

Evelyn Haggie

Funeral services for Mrs. Evelyn (Nelson) Haggie were held Thursday (Jan. 3) with Rev. Donald H. Freeman, pastor of Immanuel Methodist Church officiating.

Mrs. Haggie, 63, of 129 Parmenter Rd., West Newton, died Saturday (Dec. 29) in Newton-Wellesley Hospital after a long illness.

Widow of Thomas D. Haggie, Mrs. Haggie had lived in West Newton for 50 years and had worked as an assembler for Sylvania in Waltham.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Ethel Casieri of West Newton and Mrs. Marilyn Brown of Marshfield; two sons, Thomas of Clinton and George of Newton; her sisters, Mrs. Violet Wright of Hyde Park; seven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Burial is in Newton Cemetery.

Thomas J. Murphy

A funeral mass was said in Our Lady's Church Friday (Jan. 4) for Thomas J. Murphy.

Mr. Murphy, 54, of 15 Otis Park, Newtonville, died Friday (Dec. 28). A native of the Garden City, he was a graduate of local schools and served in the Navy in World War II. He worked as a mail handler for the U.S. Postal service for 21 years.

Mr. Murphy is survived by his wife, Mrs. Dorothy Murphy; two sons, Thomas J. Jr. and Perry, both at home; four daughters, Mrs. Irene Dumais and Mrs. Mary Schubert of Framingham, Judith and Nancy Murphy, also at home; a brother, James B. of Galeta, Calif.; and his sister, Charles Bayides of Norwood.

Interment is in Newton Cemetery.

We gathered on this morn
A greatly crowd was there,
All these came here to mourn
And say a parting prayer;
We know prayers will help her
As Marion's soul
wends its way,
No greater could we offer
Only our Eucharist today.
To my dear friend Jim McGlame,
Day of burial of his wife Marion

MIAMI (UPI) — Nick Buoniconti, Miami's tough little linebacker, knows who the winner's going to be in the Super Bowl.

He knows, but he's not saying .. yet.

For a lot of reasons, all well thought out.

To begin with, Nick Buoniconti is a lawyer and he knows you don't air all your evidence publicly before you go into court plus the fact he's been in this pro football business a long time, 12 years now, and he's aware it's one thing to come out and say what you're going to do and quite another thing to go out there and actually do it.

When you talk with Buoniconti about what he expects from Minnesota in the Super Bowl at Houston two weeks from now, he doesn't try to snow you.

"I honestly don't know," he says. "Most of those things we know about them from before don't matter much now. I'll have to see their films. Then I'll know more. What I can tell you is we have a chance against them. Them or anybody. I'm so proud of this club I can't tell you. It's fantastic."

He Isn't Putting On

Nick Buoniconti isn't putting on.

He actually talks this way and he's sincere in what he says. If there's anyone who has more pride than Nick Buoniconti over being part of the Miami ball club, then I haven't seen him yet.

Actually, the Dolphin players strike you more like collegians than professionals. They root for one another, openly and unashamedly.

Big Larry Csonka stood on the sidelines during Sunday's ball game with Oakland in the Orange Bowl here and kept encouraging Garo Yepremiam, the Dolphin's half-pint placekicker.

"Don't worry," Csonka kept reassuring Yepremian. "Whenever you get in there, you're gonna make it today. No problems. Not today. You'll see."

Csonka was right on the money. Yepremian went out there, booted the ball five times and made them all good for two field goals and three extra points.

The Play of the Game

Likewise, the Dolphins almost felt like lifting Bob Griese onto their shoulders early in the final quarter when he pulled the play of the game with a nifty quarterback draw on which he ran the ball 17 yards down to the Raiders' 28 and took what little heart they had left out of them.

"Are you scared when you see Griese running the ball like that?" was one of the questions ut to Buoniconti following Miami's 27-10 win in the AFC title contest.

"Scared?" said the Dolphins' 32-year-old middle linebacker, standing there in his underwear in the dressing room and needing a shave. "I could've gone out there and kissed him for what he did."

"You could've, or you did?"

"Could've," put in the former Notre Damer who calls the Dolphins' defensive signals. "You know, when you have a quarterback like he is, you have an extra dimension on your club. I don't remember us ever practicing that quarterback draw Bob used. I don't think it was designed. I think it came out of his head. A lot of things do, thank God."

A Lot of Things Come Out

A lot of things also come out of Buoniconti's head although he knows how and when to apply his muscle as well. He did against the Raiders, and he'll be trying to do the same with the Vikings.

"You beat 'em in the pits," he says. "You have to take their game away."

Buoniconti played the Oakland game with bone chips in his right elbow. He was to have them cut out in minor surgery Monday but on the chance some complication could develop and hamper his effectiveness in the Super Bowl, he decided to wait until after Minnesota to have it done.

As an "old pro" now, Buoniconti didn't feel any real need to go out and paint the town red New Year's Eve.

He and his wife enjoyed an early dinner and played bridge with another couple afterward. Later, he watched football on TV rooting for his old school to beat Alabama.

He knows who the winner's going to be in that one. No matter how the game eventually turns out, he's right because the way Nick Buoniconti thinks, and the way he plays, he can't ever possibly end up a loser.

About Sports People

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Sharon Thomas, 17, daughter of a former National League slugging star, Frank Thomas, was killed Tuesday when she fell 35 feet down an elevator shaft at a restaurant-motel in suburban Ross Township.

Sharon, third oldest of eight children, and six other persons were in the elevator of the Sheraton North Motel shortly after midnight when it got stuck between the second and third floor, police said.

One of the passengers forced open the elevator door and jumped to the second floor to summon help. A witness said Sharon tried to do likewise but fell down the shaft.

She was taken to North Passavant Hospital where she died an hour later. She was a high school senior attending a party at the motel.

PITCHER DROWNS

CARACAS (UPI) — Mark Weems, a 22-year-old California-born pitcher belonging to the Baltimore Orioles, drowned Sunday while swimming at a beach on the central coast of Venezuela, local authorities reported.

Weems disappeared while swimming at Patanemo Beach 100 miles west of Caracas, and rescue workers had still not recovered his body late Sunday.

The righthanded relief pitcher was drafted by the Orioles in 1969 and last year played with Rochester of the International League where he had a 9-7 record.

CEDENO LIMBERING UP

SANTO DOMINGO, D.R. (UPI) — Baseball star Cesar Cedeno was reportedly "limbering up" Tuesday in preparation for spring training, running and hitting some balls at an undisclosed site here.

ForSight Foundation Elects Schoenfeld

Richard J. Schoenfeld, Jr., prominent Newton and Boston engineer, has been elected president of the ForSight Foundation.

The ForSight Foundation was created in 1973 as the principal source of financial support for the Vision Rehabilitation Clinic of Boston University Medical Center. The clinic is the only facility in New England providing comprehensive treatment programs for the severely visually handicapped.

The Vision Rehabilitation Clinic provides care and treatment for children and adults with severe vision problems that do not respond to routine treatment.

Demand for services has increased more than 2,000 per cent since the clinic opened in 1969. The staff treats 600 new patients each year, but there are 12,000 people in Massachusetts who require vision rehabilitation services.

ForSight Foundation will seek $75,000 in its 1974 campaign on behalf of the clinic.

Recreation Notes

Basketball Leagues To Open Seasons

The Newton Recreation Department's 1974 Basketball League will open its season the week of January 7. Hundreds of hoopsters from junior high school age to adults participate in the leagues each year.

The Pony League, for junior high age boys, will have seven teams this year. There are eight teams in the National League for high school age boys, and there are 12 teams in both the A and B Divisions of the American League for adults.

American League play will begin Jan. 7 when the A Division plays two games at Warren Junior High. B Division play will start with two games at Day Junior High, Wednesday, Jan. 9, and the A Division will also play two games at Warren that night. Thursday, Jan. 10, there will be two A Division games at Day and two B Division games at Bigelow.

Play in the National League begins Tuesday, Jan. 8, at Warren, with four games, and continues Thursday, with two games, also at Warren.

The Pony League starts its 1974 season Friday, Jan. 11, with three games at Warren.

American League games start at 7 and 9 p.m. National League play runs from 7 to 9:30 p.m. and the Pony League taps off games at 6:30 p.m.

Recreation Commissioner John B. Penney says that Newton residents may jog at the new North High School between 7 and 8 p.m., seven days a week. The indoor track is in the simulated outdoor area on the top floor of new building. Joggers should use the Hull Street entrance and there is no fee charged.

The indoor tennis program at North High continues from 8-10 p.m., seven nights a week.

Reservations may be made only by calling 925-0267 between 7-8 p.m. any evening, seven days a week.

Play is limited to Newton residents and only doubles games may be played. Those making the reservations should have the tennis permit numbers and names of all players in their party.

Staff member Pat Savage reports that there are still some openings in the swimming classes being offered at the North High pool for the next eight-week session beginning Jan. 7. Lessons being conducted Saturday and Sunday mornings include beginners, advanced beginners, intermediates, swimmer, advanced swimmer, junior survival and elementary diving.

During the week there are classes in snorkle, fin-fun, synchronized swimming, senior life saving, adult beginner and health club.

Registration continues at the pool week nights from 7-10 p.m. and on Saturdays and Sundays.

Classes in figure skating for girls in the first, second and third grades begin at the Cleveland Circle MDC Rink on Saturday, Jan. 5, starting at 9 a.m. and continuing for an hour. The classes for girls in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades are held from 10-11 a.m.

People can register for these classes by calling 969-3171. The fee is $10.00 and skaters must wear hats.

Recreation Supervisor William J. Barry reiterates his warning to children and parents not to venture onto the ice unless conditions have been first checked out with the Recreation Department's special telephone number for skating information, 969-2851.

Conditions are extremely dangerous during periods of freezing and thawing, and skating will not be safe until there has been a prolonged cold spell.

The adult badminton program will resume at Warren Junior High, Thursday, Jan. 10. This program is conducted Thursday nights from 8-10 p.m.

The schedule for the North High pool effective Jan. 7 and continuing through Feb. 25 will feature general swimming in addition to the many classes being conducted.

Classes include: Monday, 7-7:55 p.m., snorkel, fin-fun and synchronized swimming; 8-8:55 p.m., adult swimming; and 9-9:55 p.m., senior life saving.

Tuesday: 7-7:55 p.m., swim team; 8-8:55 p.m., general swim; and 9-9:55 p.m., senior life saving.

Wednesdays: 7-7:55 p.m., senior citizens and adult swimming; 8-8:55 p.m., general swim, and 9-9:55 p.m., senior life saving.

Thursdays: 7-7:55 p.m., swim team; 8-8:55 p.m., adult swim; and 9-9:55 p.m., health club.

Fridays: 7-7:55 p.m., junior high school age; 8-8:55 p.m., high school age; and 9-9:55 p.m., college age and up.

Saturday's schedule includes many classes interrupted by general swimming from 1:30-4:25 p.m.; family swim from 6 to 6:55 p.m.; adult swim from 7-7:55 p.m.; and general swimming from 8-9:55 p.m.

Sundays there will be classes from 10-11:25 a.m. and then general swimming from 11:30 a.m. to 4:25 p.m. There will be family swimming from 4:30 to 5:55 p.m., and handicapped recreation swim from 6-6:55 p.m.; adult swimming from 7-7:55 p.m. and general swimming from 8-9:55 p.m.

The pool will be cleared after each hourly session for maintenance and program control.

Dr. Albert Wins Tennis Tickets

Dr. Harold Albert, 18 Sheldon Rd., Newton, is one of the prize winners in a "Name The Team" contest recently conducted by Boston's franchise in the new professional World Team Tennis League.

The winning entry was "The Boston Lobsters."

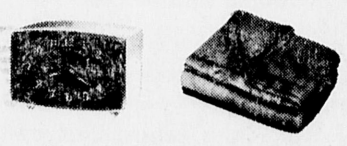

For his "Beacons" entry, Dr. Albert will be awarded seasons tickets for two to Boston Lobsters home matches.

The Lobsters will play a 44-match schedule from May 15-August 5, which includes 22 home matches at Boston University's Walter Brown Arena.

The team has signed its number one draft choice, Kerry Melville of Austrialia. Ms. Melville is ranked fifth in women's tennis.

Challenge Facing North

By PAULA BARRY

In mid-December the Newton North Music Department initiated the stage with the all-school musical, "Funny Girl." The show was a work of excellence as a performance and as tangible evidence of a challenge successfully met.

A different challenge was presented to the Newton High community when it was faced with turning the red brick building on Lowell Avenue into Newton North High.

People considered the job of finding one's way to class as a priority, but as the days passed, people began to pay more attention to what needed to be done in the building. In the Athletic Department the heater in the pool broke down. In the library, new shelves had to be installed. In the Language Department the lounge had to be set up and the public address system had to be adjusted for the whole school.

As the newness wore off, departments announced the start of their extracurricular activities, which included the new swim team and the new radio station, as well as the more traditional track football and French Club. But still those bugs in the building existed.

As the New Year approached with all these bugs finally being worked out, students and teachers began to pay attention to the problems of scheduling, busing and parking which face them, and when school opens again in January, there will be a committee and the Student Senate to deal with these problems.

The challenge of eliminating the physical bugs at NNHS has been met successfully, but the challenge of eliminating the intangible problems is far greater because it involves more than hitting a nail with a hammer.

Speech Contest Offered For High School Students

The annual American Legion Oratorical program is about to be launched throughout Massachusetts.

The Oratorical Contest is open to all students who are enrolled in Grades 9, 10, 11, and 12, who have not graduated from any high school in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

The four national finalists will receive scholarships to any college or university in the country.

First winner's scholarship will be $8,000, runner-up, $5,000; third place, $3,000; fourth place $2,000.

Each state winner will receive a $500 scholarship.

Intraschool Contest winners will also receive money prizes.

The subjects for the contest are as follows: An American Citizen's Rights and Responsibilities Under the Constitution; Fulfilling the Aims of the Constitution; Checks and Balances — Our Basic Governmental Principle; Our Constitution — Worth Having, Worth Defending; Our Constitution — Ordained by Free Men, Sustained by Free Men; The People's Constitution — Ours to Defend.

Also, The Constitution in a Changing World; The Constitution in Our Everyday Life; The Bill of Rights — Reciprocal Rights and Duties; The Constitution — A Barrier Against Tyranny; The Constitution — Guardian of the People's Rights; In Defense of Our Constitution; The Constitution — Temple of Liberty; Our Living Constitution; Communism Threat to the Constitution; The Constitution and the Federal Courts; Powers of the States Under the Constitution; Our Constitution and Free Capitalism.

Plans for competing in the local contests with the aim of choosing the contestants for the District Contests are now being formulated throughout the Department of Massachusetts.

The closing date for Intraschool Contest is Jan. 21 and for District Contests March 3. The closing date for Zone Contests is March 10, and this year the State Finals will be held on Sunday, March 24 at Faneuil Hall, Boston, Massachusetts, at 2 p.m.

In addition to the prepared orations on the Zone, State, and Final levels, extemporaneous discussions are required.

Eligible students and high school principals interested in participating in this program will contact the district chairmen as follows: No. 1, John J. Ward, 272 Onota St., Pittsfield, 01201; No. 2, Raymond Skowyra, 17 Benham Ave., Ware, 01082; No. 3, James H. Denver, 63 Eleanor Rd., Springfield, 01108; No. 4, Elton C. May, Sr., 27 Spruce Ave., Shrewsbury, 01545; No. 5, John Fisher, P.O. Box 63, Everett, 02149; No. 6, Henry P. Bradley, 20 Small St., No. Quincy, 02171; No. 7, James W. Conway; No. 8 Walter Arsenault, 167B So. Common St., Lynn, 01905; No. 9, Lionel Demers, 259 Raymond St., New Bedford, 02745; No. 10, George F. Berry, Phillips Rd., Pembroke, 02359.

Course On Auctions, Flea Markets Planned

Hundreds of auctions and flea markets, held each year in the Greater Boston area, offer a fascinating variety of old or new goods, as well as inexpensive entertainment.

A five-week course on "Auctions and Flea Markets" will begin Wednesday, Jan. 9, at 6:50 p.m. at the Boston Center for Adult Education, 5 Commonwealth Ave.

Conducted by Joel Miller, the series will cover the subject from the point of view of both shopper and seller. You will learn how to bid strategically at auctions and will discover the locations of markets. Sessions will include trends in collecting, the gentle art of haggling, and ways to price and sell your own goods, from consignment to quality auctions.

An eight-week class in the "Appraisal and Selection of Antiques" will meet on Wednesday afternoons at 3 and in the evening at 5:45, beginning Jan. 9.

Lectures and discussions, led by Milton M. Babcock, director, Boston Antiques Show, will include furniture, accessories, jewelry, and objects of art.

Participants are encouraged to bring items to class for appraisal.

For registration information and a free catalog of the winter program, call the Boston Center at 267-4430.

Green Mountain Counselor Here

Nancy McWilliams, admissions counselor for Green Mountain College will meet with guidance counselors and talk with students at Newton South High School on Wednesday, Jan. 9.

Students interested in discussing Green Mountain, a two-year college, should contact their guidance counselor for further information concerning the visit.

Hebrew School Donates $350

The sixth-graders of the Temple Mishkan Tefila Hebrew School in Chestnut Hill recently held a raffle for the benefit of the Israel Emergency Fund. The youngsters netted $350, which they presented to Mrs. Israel J. Kazis, immediate past campaign chairman of the Women's Division of Combined Jewish Philanthropies.

Zionists Plan Salute To Israel

The Brookline-Brighton-Newton Zionists, ZOA, and Temple Emanuel Brotherhood, under joint auspices, plan "Salute to Israel" Breakfast Meeting at Temple Emanuel, 385 Ward St., Newton, on Sunday, Jan. 20, at 9:30 a.m.

Guest speaker will be the Honorable Ziedan Atashi, Consul of Israel in New York, who will speak on "Peace With Israel's Neighbors."

Registry Warns Drivers On Lights

The Federal Emergency Daylight Saving Time Energy Conservation Act which starts at 2 a.m. Sunday, Jan. 6, 1974, can create additional hazards for motorists unless they follow preventive measures.

The Registry of Motor Vehicles reminds motorists that they may then be driving to work during darkness which is not customary on their morning trip. They are cautioned that the law requires that headlights—not parking lights—be used during darkness!

Car lights should be turned on when leaving home and kept on while visibility is poor or until one-half hour before sunrise.

Drivers are also cautioned to drive slower than usual because it will be more difficult to see pedestrians. They should also be on the lookout for children on their way to school who may be wearing dark clothing and are not easily visible.

Diabetes Club

The Waltham Area Diabetes Club will meet on Wednesday, Jan. 9 for its first meeting of the new year. Speaker for the evening will be Arnold S. Brill, M.D., an active member of the medical staff at Waltham Hospital. The subject for the evening will be "Peripheral Vascular Complications of Diabetes."

The meeting will start at 8 p.m. in the Radiology auditorium of the Waltham Hospital. The public is invited.

'Between Two Worlds' New Repertory Offering

"Between Two Worlds," a musical version of a famous Yiddish classic, will be the first production of the season for the Jewish Repertory Theatre. Original music was composed by Dr. Saul Potter, well-known local musicologist. Coordinator is Mrs. Ethel Potter

The play will be performed Jan. 12 at 8:15 p.m. and on Jan. 13 at 2 p.m. and 8:15 p.m. at the Temple Israel Meeting House, 260 Riverway, Boston.

Tickets are $12.50, $7.50 and $3. Also available are tickets for groups, students and senior citizens.

The Jewish Repertory Theatre is a semi professional group, dedicated to the furtherance of Jewish cultural life through production of authentic Jewish drama in English.

The group is sponsored by the Jewish Community Center. The current production is underwritten by the Soviet Jewry Committee of the American Jewish Congress and the Nantasket Youth Center for the benefit of the Israel Emergency Fund.

Museum Art Course Offered By Schools

The Art Department, Division of Program of the Newton schools, in conjunction with the Museum of Fine Arts, is planning to offer a unique course in art, entitled "The Museum as an Art Resource" and will have as its base of operation Boston's Museum of Fine Arts.

The class will meet at the museum on Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 12 noon. While most of the classes will take place at the museum, tours will be planned for other museums and gallery centers in the Greater Boston area.

Class will meet for 15 sessions and a project will be required for students desiring credit. The class will cover the scope and nature of the institutions visited plus some in-depth study of selected art works.

The course is designed for anyone who is interested in study and discussion of art rather than making art objects. There are no prerequisites. Anyone in grades 10, 11, or 12 who is interested may call the Art Office (969-9810, ext. 297) to reserve a place.

The first class will meet January 26. The instructor will be a highly qualified member of the staff of the museum. Admission is one a first-come, first-served basis, and the first 12 who call will make up the class. Students who are accepted will receive further details by mail. There is no charge for the class. Reservations must be in the Art Office no later than Friday, Jan. 18.

Local Women Display Crafts

Two Newton residents, Caroline Raines Cohen and Diane Camber, are currently featured in group exhibition of "Crafts as Art" at the Berman-Medalie Gallery, 10 Austin St., Newtonville.

Ms. Cohen creates striking porcelain sculptures, a very unique art form. Some of the brilliant matte-white works are done in relief; others are ceiling-hung.

A graduate of George Washington University, Ms. Cohen studied painting and design at the Carnegie Institute of Technology. She has exhibited at the Hamilton and Marblehead Art Festivals, Boston City Hall, and has had several one-woman shows.

Diane Camber is a master craftsman in the medium of batik, an intricate wax-resist method of design developed thousands of years ago in Java.

Her effective use of warm, vibrant colors and round, full shapes are reminiscent of the painter Gauguin.

The Barnard College graduate has a masters degree in art, and has studid painting and sculpture at Columbia University and Mass. College of Art. She is currently an art specialist in the Holliston public school system and art therapist in the Tri-Valley Special Education Program.

The show, which will continue until the end of January, is a composite of many fine examples of artistic craftsmanship.

The Berman-Medalie Gallery is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday, and is located just off Walnut Street near Exit 17 of the Mass Turnpike Extension. For further information, call 969-6264.

Board Games

How did the classic games — chess, mancala, parchisi, go, backgammon, mah-jongg — evolve?

Find out at a 10-week course this winter on "Board Games of the World" at the Boston Center for Adult Education, 5 Commonwealth Ave., on Wednesdays at 6:50 p.m. beginning Jan. 9.

The series will be conducted by Richard Onanian, inventor and consultant. He will cover the psychological and sociological effects of gambling, and how games are devised and used to explore human behavior.

For registration information and a free catalog, call the Boston Center at 267-4430.

Temple Groups To Hear Dean

The combined Sisterhoods of Temple Reyim, Temple Emanuel, Temple Emeth, Temple Mishkan Tefila, and Temple Hillel B'nai Torah present Ms. Miriam Ritvo, Dean of Students at Lesley College, as guest speaker at a mini-breakfast meeting.

Dr. Ritvo's talk is entitled, "The Hand That Rocked the Cradle Rocks the Boat."

The combined Sisterhood meeting will take place at 9:30 a.m. Jan. 9 at Temple Emanuel Community Hall, 385 Ward St.

Players Plan Tryouts For "Black Comedy," Jan. 7, 8

The Newton Country Players will hold open tryouts for their annual mid-winter production, Peter Shaffer's farce "Black Comedy," Monday and Tuesday, Jan. 7 and 8, at 7:30 p.m., at the Rebecca Pomroy Playhouse, 84 Eldredge St., Newton Corner.

Performances are scheduled for Friday and Saturday evenings, March 1-2 and March 7-8. The production will be available for programming to sponsor groups and theatre parties interested in fund-raising at the Pomroy Playhouse, with its seating capacity of 175. Organization bookings for alternate mid-week or Sunday dates will be considered for the show, which will be staged cabaret-style, with tables and chairs.

A Broadway success, "Black Comedy" was described by the N.Y. Daily News as "Grand slapstick . . . Jolted me with laughter, and I was sorry indeed when the stage went dark and the farce ended."

The play contains five male and three female roles, all adult, and auditionees are requested to bring resumes. All local residents interested in participating in any phase of the production and in any capacity — producer, stage manager, set design, wardrobe, props, lighting, technical people, cast or crew — are invited to attend.

President of the Players, Mrs. John Deming of Newton Highlands, stressed that an earnest effort will be made to place as many as possible of those attending tryouts in some area of the production.

Taking a page from the Chinese theatre, this farce opens on a dark stage (which is light to the characters), then blows a fuse throwing them all in the dark (which is light to the audience), and ends with the lights reconnected (i.e., with a dark stage).

What we see in the "dark" is this: A girl bringing her wealthy father to meet her fiance, an improvident sculptor; and to impress him, the sculptor has both invited a wealthy art patron and stolen the fine furniture from the apartment next door for his bare pad. Not only have the lights gone out, but everything else turns cockeyed — the neighbor returns too soon. the art patron is mistaken for an electrician, and a former flame pixies the proceedings from the bedroom.

The New York Post described it as "A truly hilarious and original farce . . . Farcical situations and amusing characters that keep the hilarity spinning festively in the air," while the N.Y. World Journal Tribune stated, "An evening with this uproarious play is like the rediscovery of laughter."

Now in its eighteenth year of community theatre activity, the Newton Country Players is a non-profit, philanthropic association comprised of local residents, who, as an avocation, are actively engaged in the development, expansion and assistance of theatre activity on community and educational levels.

For additional information concerning the open auditions or theatre party sponsorship, phone Jim Sloane at 969-2665 or write P.O. Box 9, Newton Centre, 02159.

Reorganization Costs Revealed To Aldermen

The costs of Phase 1 of Mayor Theodore Mann's reorganization plan were revealed in a letter to the Board of Aldermen Monday night.

The total additional salary requirement will be $64,000 per year.

The proposed chief administrative officer will be paid $25,000 per year, an increase of $6,000 for James Salter, who will fill the new position.

The chief administrative officer will "exercise control" over the city's operating departments and will be responsible for the budget preparation and submission to the mayor, and maintaining fiscal control of the departments.

The chief budget officer (previously referred to in the reorganization as chief financial officer) will be a new position, which will carry a salary of $22,500.

The budget officer will administer the electronic data-processing operation, which will become an independent function, in addition to the technical preparation of the budget.

The cost of the increased data-processing system has not been revealed.

The third position, that of planning and programming officer, is to be filled by present Planning Director Charles Thomas at an annual rate of $22,500, an increase of $5,500.

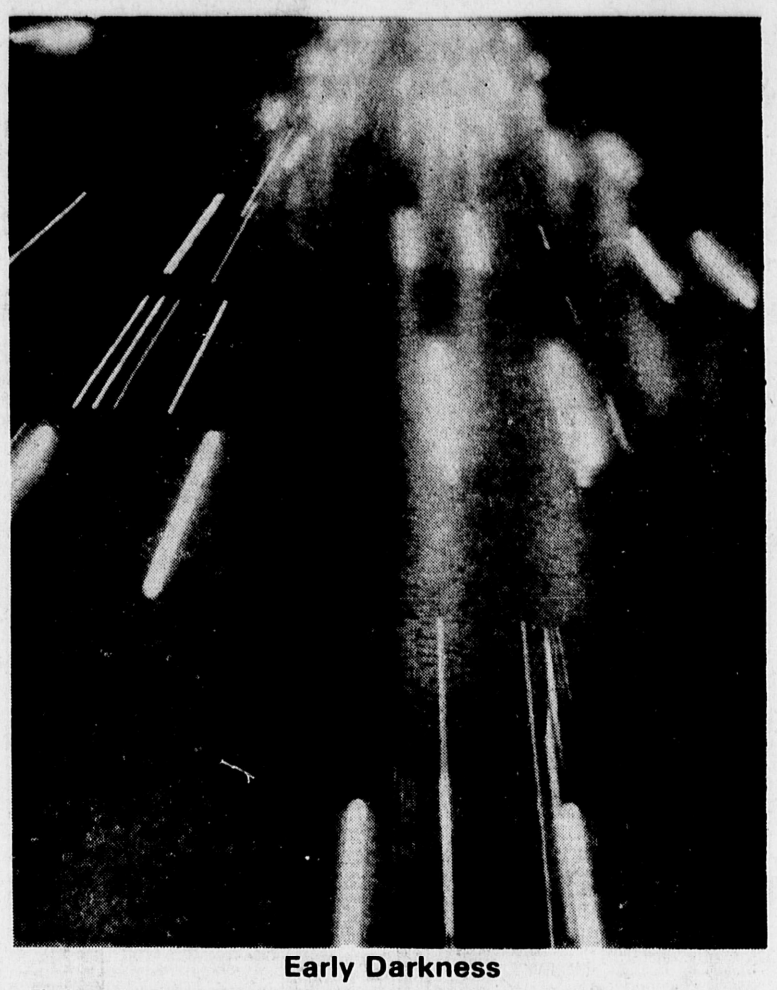

Thomas' expanded duties will include the development of long-range financial plans and policies, the coordination of the activities of the Redevelopment Authority and the Housing Authority, and "the articulation, analysis and review of city policy and program development in a variety of areas," according to the mayor's letter.

The chief budget officer and the chief administrative officer will each gain a secretary, listed in the financial explanation as being paid $7,000 per year. The planning director already has a secretary.

The mayor also plans to have two administrative aides. One of these aides would replace Salter, and one would upgrade the existing position now held by C.M. Miller.

The administrative aides are slated to receive annual salaries of $12,500 each.

The reorganization of the excecutive staff can be done without ordinance changes, and therefore will require approval of only the salary appropriations.

Early Darkness

The forces that play on the harried early morning commuter now include darkness due to the nation's return to daylight saving, as seen in this 7 a.m. photo of Rte. 128. Commuters may also be faced with run-down batteries should they forget to turn off their lights when they arrive at work. (Ken McLean Photo)

The Kindest Cut Of All

Some people throw salt over their shoulders to get good luck. Newton barber Dominic Barisano rubbed shoulders with one of his customes.

Barisano became the Massachusetts Lottery's twentieth million dollar winner last week.

One of Barisano's customers is the state's first lottery millionaire, Joseph Bonica of Newton Centre. "I would ask him to rub shoulders for luck," Barisano said. "It worked."

Barisano is a partner in Frank's Barber Shop, 19 Lincoln st., Newton Highlands, and resides at 18 Grove st., Auburndale.

Three weeks ago the 60-year old Barisano won a $5,000 prize in the New Hampshire Lottery.

When Barisano was announced as the top winner, his wife, Concetta fainted. She revived quickly and Barisano went forward to receive the first of 20 annual $50,000 checks.

Barisano revealed that he buys eight lottery tickets every week. He plans to phase out his work at the barber shop in the near future.

Barisano said that he has been receiving phone calls relating to his recent luck, but the number of calls is probably not as great as those received by earlier winners.

Bonica added that he had read a recent story about a man who won $100,000 in the New York State Lottery. The story described how the man's life was tragically upset by his windfall.

Barisano bought his winning ticket at the Walnut Food Shop. The agent at the store, Rose, will receive $10,000 and her neice, Chickie, as the seller, will receive an additional $10,000.

Rose said that Barisano comes in every Tuesday morning and buys eight tickets.

Rose commented a week and a half after the million dollar drawing that "everyone buys their tickets here now; its the hot spot."

Barisano is not the only friend of Bonica's who has won lottery money. Another friend, Richard McAdams of Framingham reportedly won $290,000 in a recent Santa Claus drawing of The Game.

In the drawing from which Barisano won a million dollars, Bernice M. Brock of Malden won the second prize of $100,000.

No Charge For School Busing

By TOM GRAVES
Of the Graphic Staff

The Newton School Committee voted unanimously this week to provide free school busing for students living one - and - one - quarter miles or more from schools.

The School Committee heard a report from an ad hoc committee which studied busing alternatives.

The ad hoc committee found that Newton can expect approximately $221,242 reimbursement from the state for school busing. This would be based on a different formula than that used in the past. Previously, Newton has received only about $70,000 reimbursement annually.

The ad hoc committee recommended a plan in which all students more than two miles from schools would receive free identification cards. Students living less than two miles from schools would be able to purchase identification cards for $5 per year.

The plan also called for the elimination of all bus stops inside one - and - one - half miles from schools. The cost of the plan was estimated at $73,900 after reimbursement.

School Committeeman Alvin Mandell suggested an alternative. Mandell asked that all students one - and - one - half miles or more from schools be able to ride free with no identification cards. Mandell desired no stops within a mile - and - one - half radius of schools.

Mandell said that the advantages of his plan were that there would be less administration problems and it would save money for parents.

"In the past we were only reimbursed about $83,000 from the state and tickets; now we can get almost $130,000 more," Mandell commented. "We might give city parents a break and save them some money."

School Committeeman Herbert Regal asked that Mandell's busing limit be modified to one - and - one - quarter miles from schools. Mandell agreed and suggested that the School Department be given flexibility of one-tenth of a mile in each direction. Regal made a motion and Mandell seconded it.

It was added to Regal's motion that safety stops should be kept within the one - and - one quarter miles limit where necessary.

Students living inside the limit can walk to a stop and ride free.

After the motion was approved unanimously, School Committee member Mrs. Dorothy Reichard suggested that the School Committee and the School Department give immediate attention to some possible busing factors mentioned in the ad hoc committee's report.

The ad hoc committee recommended study of the feasibility of staggering school schedules, the changing of school district lines in a few specific areas, the steamlining of bus schedules, and the elimination of safety areas through city improvements.

Mrs. Reichard's motion was approved unanimously.

In other action, the School Committee heard a recommendation relating to parking at Newton North High School from a committee formed by the Traffic Commission in May, 1973.

The committee recommended that the School Committee authorize a maximum of 400 on-site parking places at Newton North. The original plan called for a maximum of 300 cars.

Mrs. Reichard said that options for gaining additional spaces included taking land on the athletic fields or acquiring property on adjacent Elm Road.

Several Committee members objected to taking athletic land.

Superintendent of Schools Aaron Fink stated that 500 spaces are probably actually needed, both in on-site and perimeter parking.

After Mandell asked for a 300 on-site limit, Mayor Theodore D. Mann noted that action by the School Committee was not binding.

"What you are doing is telling your needs to the Planning Department," Mann remarked.

New Board Of Aldermen Takes Over

Aldermanic committee appointments, for the past months a source of speculation and some political infighting, were the principal business of this year's first meeting of the Board of Aldermen.

The appointments were pretty much known before this week, there being only one chairmanship, that of the Public Buildings Committee, in doubt.

The new chairman of the Public Buildings Committee, Edward Richmond of Ward 2, was announced by Board President Eliot Cohen, displacing Ward 6 Alderman Ernest Dietz, chairman for the past six years.

The powerful Finance Committee remains the same, with the exception of new member Joan Saklad from Ward 6, taking Sidney Small's place, while Small (who recently moved from Ward 6 to Ward 5) took over retired Alderman Edward Uehlein's Ward 5 seat.

The Land Use Committee's new chairman is Joseph McDonnell, taking over from Alan Barkin, who wished to step down after almost four years.

Land Use Committee members all were reappointed. The new member, Terrence Morris of Ward, replaces State Representative Peter Harrington, who retired from the board.

Major shake-ups occurred in the Public Buildings, Public Works and Street Traffic Committees, all of which have new chairmen.

On the Public Buildings Committee, McDonnell replaces Robert Gaynor as the Ward 1 member, Matthew Jefferson replaces Robert Tennant from Ward 3, and David Jackson takes Richard McGrath's place for Ward 4. New aldermen Susan Schur and Mark White make up the Ward 5 and 7 representation, respectively, while Dietz and Barkin remain.

John Mullen Is A Winner

John Richard Mullen, although he doesn't know it, just won a contest.

He has the honor of being the first baby born this year to Newton parents.

John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mullen of 717 Watertown St. He was born at 2:11 a.m. on New Year's Day at Waltham Hospital and is the winner of the Newton Graphic's "First Baby Contest."

The contest deadline was Friday, Jan. 4, and from the entries submitted, the Graphic's contest editor determined that John was indeed the winner. He beat his closest challenger by more than 12 hours.

This year's winners receive the following gifts:

—A hair styling for Mom and Dad from Russo's Original Coiffures.

—A dinner for Mom and Dad at Bianoco's Boston Fish House.

—A $5 gift certificate from Material World.

—A $5 gift certificate from House of Favors.

Last year's winner was Vincent Simone Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Simone of 26 Barbara Rd., West Newton.

State Rep Race Hinges On Paul Guzzi's Candidacy

By ELIZABETH McKINNON
Of The Graphic Staff

The race for state representative from the new 16th Middlesex District has already begun to shape up, contingent on whether State Rep. Paul Guzzi decides to continue with his candidacy for secretary of state.

The new district, which was laboriously carved out with dissension from almost all of Newton's Democrats last spring, encompasses all of Ward 3, precinct 4 of Ward 2, and precincts 1, 3 and 4 of Ward 4.

Names being mentioned as candidates and possible candidates are Joe DeNucci, Eloise Houghton, Ald. Terrence Morris, Ald. Richard McGrath, and Democratic State Committeewoman Betty Taymor.

McGrath seems to have staked out the strongest claim, although probably none of the aspirants would run against Guzzi if he decides not to run for secretary of state.

Guzzi will not decide until he finds out whether he will be the choice of the liberal caucus meeting the end of March to endorse reform candidates for both attorney general and secretary of state.

Most political observers feel that Guzzi will receive the endorsement of the caucus.

Most of the candidates, except McGrath, are still keeping their intentions if not in the dark, at least hazy.

McGrath said he thinks he has excellent chances, since he has strength in both Wards 3 and 4, and has "good support already."

Ald. Richard Bullwinkle, who at one time was being mentioned as another candidate for state representative, will instead go for state senator, if anything, against Sen. Irving Fishman of Newton. Sen. Jack Backman of Brookline, and Board of Aldermen President Eliot Cohen of Newton.

Mrs. Eloise Houghton, who has been active in Newton community and governmental circles, has not made up her mind yet.

"I want to find out what's involved in being a state representative first," Mrs. Houghton said Tuesday. "It's a complicated decision in many ways," she said.

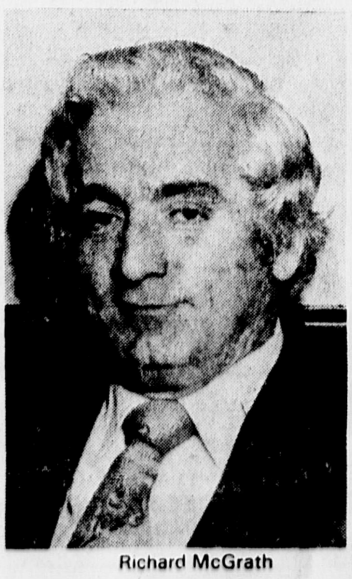

Joe DeNucci confirmed this week that he is seriously thinking about entering the state representative contest, but only if Guzzi becomes a candidate for secretary of state.

Betty Taymor, who ran for state representative in 1964 and 1970, said this week that although she has been urged to run she will not make up her

Inaugural Reception Saturday

Governor Francis W. Sargent and Attorney General Robert Quinn are among the dignitaries joining Newton's residents at Inaugural Reception festivities Saturday evening (Jan. 12) at the Marriott Motor Hotel in Newton.

The event honoring Mayor Theodore D. Mann as he begins his four-year term in office is open to the public with dancing and refreshments featuring the evening.

Taking part are Newton's elected officials, members of the Board of Aldermen and School Committee who took office Jan. 1. They are being joined by their families and friends.

The Committee's Chairman, Ms. Emily Lipof, again urged those wishing to attend and who may not as yet received invitations to call her at 244-5254.

"A cordial invitation is extended to all Newton residents and all are most welcome", Mrs. Lipof commented.

Co-chairman of the committee is James M. Lombard. Henry J. Wilson is honorary chairman.

State Funds For Newton

Governor Francis W. Sargent recently announced the approval of funding assistance for the City of Newton by the Governor's Highway Safety Bureau. These funds will be used for the purchase of traffic counters.

The traffic counters will be used to determine traffic flow on roads through Newton. This information will be used as a basis for determining whether additional raods signs or changes in road design are required.

"The determination of the number of people using Massachusetts roads is essential to the proper erection of traffic signs," the Governor said. "I am pleased that local officials are making every effort to become aware of these necessary changes by purchasing equipment which will inform them of the extent to which their roads are used."

Bicycle accidents in 1972 caused 1,000 deaths and more than 102,000 injuries, according to statistics released by the Travelers Insurance Companies.

Fishman Chairs Committee Investigating Fuel Shortage

In one of its first actions of the 1974 legislative session, the Massachusetts Senate voted to establish a specia five-member committee of the Senate to investigate the causes and conditions which have created the alleged gasoline shortage, to study the issues of fuel and power resources available to the people of the state, and make appropriate legislative recommendations.

Senator Irving Fishman (D-Newton) was appointed chairman. The other members of the bi-partisan committee are: Senators William Bulger (D-Boston), Allan McKinnon (D-Weymouth), David Locke (R-Wellesley), aand John Aylmer (R-Barnstable).

"The people of the Commonwealth have been bombarded with conflicting reports on the scope and nature of the energy crisis in Massachusetts," Senator Fishman said. "They have been inconvenienced, frightened, and undeniably confused."

"Hard information concerning the alleged fuel shortages, both current and anticipated, is scarce and that which exists has not been adquately assembled. We do not know what is fact and what is rumor. We are uncertain as to what meaningful action can be taken on the state level alone. We need more policy research and less political posturing.

"We do not yet have a comprehensive state approach to the energy crisis. Hopefully, the work of this bi-partisan Senate committee, through its public hearings and legislative recommendations, will help move us in that direction," Senator Fishman said.

Bill Would Require Use Of Shoulder Harnesses in Cars

Representative Lois G. Pines (D-Newton) has proposed a bill requiring seat and shoulder safety harnesses and their mandatory use on certain motor vehicles.

The bill states that no person shall sell or perate any passenger automobile or mini-bus after Jan. 1, 1975, unless equipped with seat safety belts for each permanent seating position and two shoulder harness safety belts for front seating positions.

It also states that no person shall operate any truck, bus, or mini-bus unless driver's seating position is equipped with a seat safety belt and a shoulder harness safety belt.

According to Representative Pines, a law requiring safety belts would have these benefits-crash avoidance, avoidance of injuries to other persons and reduction of fatalities and injuries among drivers.

Earlier this year, reports issued by the U. S. Department of Transportation and the White House Committee on Science and Technology stated that if 80 percent of occupants used belts, deaths would be reduced by 42 percent or 18,000 lives per year, and one million fewer injuries would occur.

Representative Pines pointed out that "this estimate projects a reduction of significant magnitude in the demand for hospital, medical, police, and legal services. The economic savings could be staggering and would ultimately be reflected in reduced auto and health insurance premiums."

The savings in medical expenses alone is estimated at $1 billion by the U. S. Department of Transportation and over $3 billion in work loss would be saved.

The U. S. Department of Transportation and the National Safety Council have endorsed this concept. The International Association of Chiefs of Police has endorsed the concept on an experimental basis.

Representative Pines stated, "It is time to look for human solutions to the highway safety problem. People must use safety belts and if they won't, laws are the only answer."

This law has been successfully implemented in Victoria, Canada, and Sydney, Australia. Similar bills are being considered in Colorado, Ohio, New Jersey, Puerto Rico, Georgia, and Wisconsin.

Census And Planning Information Needed

The annual city census form and questionnaire was mailed last week to the 26,669 households in Newton.

The census is required by law and is used for preparation of the residence and voting lists.

Prompt return of the forms is urged by Alan Licarie, executive secretary of the Election Commission, who is in charge of the census.

Forms should have been delivered to all households by the end of last week, Licarie said. If anyone has not received one by then, he should call the Election Commission.

Licarie is encouraged by the fact that more than 4,500 forms had been returned by the beginning of this week.

This year is the second year in which the census data have been collected by mail, at considerable savings to the city.

In 1972, the last time a door-to-door census was taken by the police, the cost of the operation was $37,000, while in 1973 the mail census cost $19,300, according to Licarie.

By law, Licarie pointed out, the city must obtain a 100 per cent return on census forms. Households that do not provide the information after one mail reminder will receive a visit from the police.

A new category in the census is the listing of persons from birth to age 17.

Licarie said this information is being sought to project future enrollment in the city's schools.

The Planning Department questionnaire that accompanies the census form will gather attitudinal information on municipal services, education, health and welfare, recreation, and planning.

The planning questionnaire is immediately separated from the census form when they are received, so that no one's name accompanies the questionnaire.

Guzzi Backs Resolution

Rep. Paul Guzzi of Newton, a former Harvard football star, has joined a bi-partisan group of Bay State legislators with backgrounds in a variety of sports activities in introducing in the Massachusetts General Court a Resolve calling on "the United States Olympics Committee to oppose granting the 1980 Olympics to Moscow."

The resolution, which was introduced at the request of the Jewish Labor Committee, urges "that the International Olympics Committee grant the Olympics games only to a country that is willing and able to assure security and freedom from harassment of athletes and spectators alike."

Recreation Notes

City Basketball Program Underway

The Newton Recreation Department's 39-team basketball program began its thirty-ninth year this week. The program began back in 1935 and has continued to grow over the years.

This year, well over 500 people will participate in the three leagues, Pony, National and the two-Division American League. The Pony League is for junior high boys, the National League for high school boys and the American League for adults.

The teams and managers in the Pony League this year are: the Boys' Club, Dave Sellers; Beginnings, Fred Rosene; Hawthorn A and Hawthorn B, Joseph Siciliano; Sacred Heart, Nick Pasquarosa; Newton Center, Robert Worden; and Newton Catholic, Jeffrey Maley.

In the eight-team National League, the teams and managers are the boys' Club, Dave Sellers; Beginnings, Fred Rosene; The Temps, Alan Indursky; Messina Club, Gregory Messina; Hawthorn, Joseph Siciliano; Newton Centre, Steven Pozzi; and Capitals, Nick Pendergast.

In the American League's A Division, the clubs and managers are: Mary Ann's John Murphy; George's Cafe, Perley Bryant; Centre Pizza, Ron Chiurri; South High, Mark Young; Waban Wonders; Steve Hurley; Stern Club, Howie Miller; Troubadours, Randy Kenyon; Stumbelbums, John Lilly; Boys' Club, Dave Sellers; O'Malley Club, Danny Crane; Verts, Jethroe Mills; and Graduates, Steve Silverman.

B Division: Zepps Cafe, Tom Forte; Stumblebums, Joe Crowdle; Oakley Spa, Cris Totis; Wilcox Cleaners, Bob Wilcox; Upper Falls, John Bibbo; Big Blue Club, Brooks Burlingame; Ziphaels, John Hasson; Hoops, John Arpino; NCR, John Clasby; Stones, Paul Champa; Warriors, Bob Wood, and Lovemen, Andy Johnson.

Pony League games are played Wednesday nights at the Hawthorn gym and Friday nights at the Warren Junior High School. There are three games each night, at 6:30, 7:15 and 8 p.m. The National League plays its games Tuesday and Thursday nights at Warren, one at 7 p.m. and the other at 8 p.m.

A Division of the American League plays at Warren and Day Junior High, Monday, Wednesdays, and Thursdays, Game times are 7 p.m. and 8 p.m.

B Division plays its games Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays at Bigelow and Day. There are two games, the first at 7 p.m. and the second at 8 p.m.

If the weather cooperates a cross country ski session will be held at the Ponkapoag Golf Club Sunday afternoon, Jan. 20. Newton residents may call 969-3171 for further information.

Another new program is being offered by the Recreation Department. The gym facilities at the new North High will be available for informal basketball and volleyball during the hours the pool, indoor track and tennis courts are open to the public, starting January 14.

Newton residents seeking current skating conditions should call the Recreation Department's skating information telephone service at 969-2851, seven days a week, 24 hours a day. Information is also given on this phone about the toboggan chute at Newton Centre Playgound. Authorities urge parents and children who want to go skating to call the number for current conditions. They warn skaters that it is dangerous to skate in unauthorized areas, and people should wait until qualified Recreation Department personnel have determined that the ice is safe.

Newton residents with tennis permits may reserve indoor courts at the Newton North High School weekday evenings from 8-10 p.m. by calling 965-0267 between 7 p.m. and 8 p.m. seven days a week.

Final details are being worked out for the resumption of the Newton Recreation Department's archery class for youngsters between 8 and 15 years of age.

The class, limited to 20 people will be held at the Newton Centre Playground field house, and will be directed by William Baker.

Further information will be released shortly and the program is expected to get underway in a couple of weeks.

Tribute To Frazier Set For Jan. 27

A Tribute to Frank Frazier, who retired on Dec. 31, after 34 years of service as a member of the Newton School Committee, will be held on Jan. 27 at the American Legion Hall, 295 California Street, Newton.

Representatives of the schools and of citizens' groups have formed a committee to plan the dinner and the program.

Frazier has been active in many areas of Newton community life in addition to the public schools, and the tribute committee may not be able to trace all his former colleagues and friends. They therefore urge all those who are interested in attending the dinner to communicate with the committee at 265 Watertown St. telephone number 969-9810.

The chairman of the committee is School Committee member Herbert Regal. The members of the committee are: School committee members Gerald Byrne, Henry Delicata and Dorothy Reichard; Joanne Gannon, of the Newton Teachers Association; Eugene Sweeney, president of Local 454 A.F.L. - C.I.O.; Ruth Morse, president of the Newton Secretaries Association; John Webber, president of the P.T.A. Council; Charles Miller, administrative assistant to the mayor; Ald. Wendell Bauckman; and Lillian Radlo, of the Newton Public Schools Administration.

Inventory Of Ward 3 Property Nearly Done

Paul Reinhard, revaluation supervisor from the firm of Cole, Layer, and Trumble reported recently that the inventory phase of revaluation is near completion in three of the four sections in Ward 3.

Reinhard said that the inventory phase consists of gathering information about properties such as the ages of houses, the number of rooms and bathrooms they have, and data about heating and plumbing.

The revaluation field crew has been increased to 10 people. Approximately 2200 properties had been visited as of Monday. It will be necessary to make about 700 recalls because of people not being at home. Recalls are scheduled for Saturday, Jan. 10.

The sections which have been looked at this far are primarily on the north side of the Mass. Turnpike. The field crew is expected to start on Ward 4 next week. Weather is a factor which could affect the schedule.

Approximately a year is going to be spent gathering information about properties. The actual revaluation process will probably begin next fall.

In the past year, California planted 1,245 acres of trees and shrubs along the 15,000 miles of state highways. The planting will continue to help "take the squint, din and danger out of driving," a highway commission spokesman said.

Democratic City Committee Meets

The Newton Democratic City Committee will discuss the citizens' caucus to select candidates for Secretary of State and Attorney General at its meeting Thursday, Jan. 17.

The citizen's caucus will be held March 30 in Framingham.

At the City Committee meeting the speaker will be State Rep. Paul Guzzi, candidate for Secretary of State. Guzzi has been a member of the Election Laws Committee of the House of Representatives and is co-author of the Bartley-Guzzi bill, which calls for public financing of campaigns for state offices.

The meeting will be held at the Newton Community Service Center, 429 Cherry st., West Newton, at 7:45 p.m.

Legislation Would Aid Young Offenders

A. Joseph "Joe" DeNucci of Newton, a former professional boxer who is a legislative aide and General Court officer in the Massachusetts House of Representatives, has filed a bill to limit the number of children who may be detained by the Department of Youth Services in one detention home or facility.

A second bill filed by DeNucci would establish a second youth forestry camp under the same Department.

In explaining the measures co-sponsored by Newton Representatives David Mofenson and Paul Guzzi, DeNucci said, "It is widely accepted that the smaller the institution the better opportunity there is to devote special attention and care to youngsters in difficulty. It seems to me to be a sensible and logical approach to dealing with what has become a very serious and real national and state concern."

DeNucci, a member of the advisory board to the Newton Youth Commission, said "There is currently a Youth Forestry Camp located in East Brewster, Massachusetts for 14 through 17-year-old adjudicated and court-referred boys. The program has met with great success according to follow-up studies regarding the rate of recividism."

"Although there is no geographical site mentioned in the bill, I feel that our second Forestry camp should be located in the western part of the state. I hope that the Massachusetts Legislature acts favorably on these two bills. I feel they are both sensible and needed pieces of legislation," DeNucci concluded.

Going South

Student Excels In Broadcasting

By ANDY FIELDING

In 1970, as part of an alternative educational program at Weeks Jr. High, student Bill Lichtenstein got a job working as a volunteer at radio station WBCN in Boston. The next year, he left Weeks, and went on to Newton South, where he is now a senior.

He didn't leave WBCN, however. In 1971, he became a regular employee of the station, working in the WBCN news department doing news features, interviews, and occasionally reading the news over the air.

Then, on Jan. 6, 1973, Bill was given his own weekly late night show on the station, undoubtedly becoming one of the few high school students in the city to hold such a job. A year later, the show is still going strong. And so is Bill, in spite of the fact that he must be on the air every Saturday night from 2 a.m. until 6 a.m.

How does he do it?

"I just STAY UP," he says. "Most people really have one thing way off in their heads that they really want to do. And if you have a chance to do that, but it means you have to stay up all night one night a week, you can do it."

The show, he says, is not aimed at any one particular age group or audience, and he has found that his listeners (of which there are some 8-10,000, according to the recent ratings) fall in the 18-30 age group.

On the show, Bill (who uses the name "Little Bill" — not revealing his last name) chats, plays a lot of music, takes phone calls from listeners, and talks with guests (he recently played host to the entire "Grateful Dead" rock group).

"It's fun," he says. "It's a chance to get something across to people that I feel is important. Some people might feel that teaching is one way that they can bring about some kind of change in people's minds. Some people think if they become psychiatrists they can do this, or become musicians and write songs that they think are important. What I do is spend four hours just expressing how I feel to people."

Is he limited in terms of what he can say or do on the show?

"I could certainly read out of the phone book for four hours if I could do it well enough. I can do almost anything, with the only limitations being legal ones, concerning obscenity or libel.

"Most of the time, I choose to play records, but I'm certainly not limited to that."

Aside from being the actual broadcaster, Bill also serves as his own engineer on the show, and holds a third class operator's license.

"It's four hours," he says, "in which time I am in complete control of the radio station."

Unlike many of the local AM music stations, like WRKO or WMEX, or an FM station like Framingham's WVBF, WBCN leans towards a more relaxed and informal approach to broadcasting.

"WBCN is a more human kind of radio station . . . The hard thing about being on that kind of radio is learning to talk just like you'd be talking to somebody on the phone or just like you'd be talking to somebody if you're looking at him."

Though he really enjoys working at the station, he does feel that the radio industry in general (as with the music and television industries) is basically at a standstill, often lacking creativity.

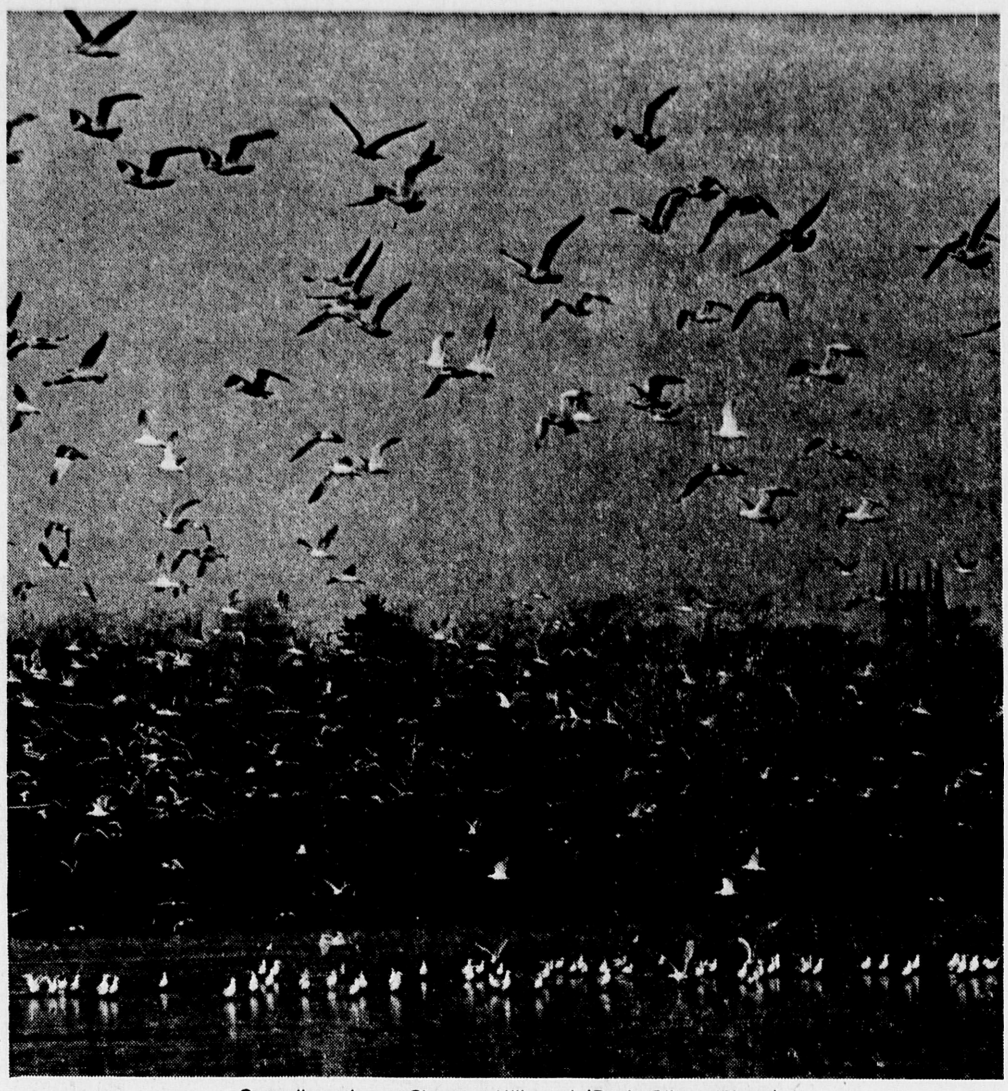

"Radio is basically doing the same things, with a few exceptions, that were being done two years ago. There have been no real breakthroughs."

He feels that if something like local theatre on radio were started, "you could just blow the whole thing wide open."

In addition to his work on his own show, Bill does other work at the station (such as commercials, other tapings). And an album put together by the station last year on which Bill is heard — "The Watergate Primer" — has been selected by the Grammy Awards committee as one of the 35 best Spoken Word albums of the year.

In terms of offering advice to others who may want to break into broadcasting, Bill says, "You should do it through the 'back door.' Go to a station and work there, doing odd jobs, helping out."

Does his age present a hindrance to his work at WBCN? "Not at all," he says, "the subject of my age just isn't brought up."

Oil Depletion Allowance, Tax Credits Caused Energy Crisis, Drinan Says

Congressman Robert F. Drinan (D-Newton) today said last week the consumers of America "should not allow themselves to be persuaded by the Administration that they themselves have been the cause of the energy shortage."

Speaking before the Waltham Jaycees the congressman pointed to two programs in particular which have led to the present energy shortage — the oil depletion allowance, and the system of foreign tax credits.

"The original purpose of the oil depletion allowance was to compensate the oil and mining industries for the decline in their capital assets as the sources they were extracting became gradually depleted," the Congressman explained. "In the past 50 years, it has increased from 5 percent to .22 percent. Since the depletion allowance is calculated at 22 percent of the selling price of crude oil, a producer who increases his selling price automatically raises his depletion deduction."

The congressman cited a recent study conducted by the U.S. Treasury Department which found that there is little relationship between the tax incentive of the oil depletion allowance and an increase in the domestic production of oil.

The Treasury Department's report found that in 1968 the preferential tax treatment amounting to $1.6 billion could account for additional mineral resources valued at only $150 million.

The congressman further explained that "the depletion allowance is applicable to both domestic and foreign production. This feature of the law, when added to the availability of tax credits for royalties paid in foreign nations, constitutes the basic reason why American oil corporations have neglected domestic production and have concentrated their exploratory operations abroad."

"In the United States it has long been the custom for oil producers to give to land owners a royalty or a fixed percentage of the value of oil produced," the Congressman explained. "A traditional royalty has been one-eighth of the amount for which the oil is sold. All of the payments are of course deductible as a cost of doing business."

"In 1951 the oil industry was able to persuade the United States Internal Revenue Service to change royalties paid abroad into taxes," Drinan said. "This tax could be credited, dollar for dollar, against the United States taxes which this corporation would have to pay each year."

"The consequences of this ruling have been catastrophic for the American consumer. The tax credit allowed to American oil corporations for foreign exploration encourages them to go abroad rather than to concentrate on domestic exploration of oil. Foreign tax credits enrich the petroleum companies and the host nations at the same time — while the American taxpayer picks up the bill!"

"The attractiveness of doing business abroad has brought it about that in the years 1964 to 1971 American petroleum companies have invested in foreign operations at a rate that has been almost nine times greater than their domestic investments," the congressman said.

There are many things that the Congress can do to stimulate domestic and world-wide production of oil.

First, the Congress should give immediate consideration to the possibility of imposing an excess profits tax on the oil corporations. In lieu of such new taxes, the oil depletion allowance could be diminished so that the major oil companies will no longer be allowed to have runaway profits derived from the problems and shortages which they themselves in part helped to create.

Second, Congress must insist that funding be made available immediately for research and development of sources of energy other than oil.

Third, prompt action must be taken on S. 2082 — a bill designed to make it illegal for a firm to operate service stations and also engage in production, transportation, and refining of oil products. Senator Jackson's proposals made in S. 2176, "The National Energy Research and Development Act of 1973" will hopefully be enacted soon. This bill would establish a Federally-sponsored program of research into new energy sources with funding in the amount of 20 billion dollars over the next few years.

Fourth, a related bill, H.R. 9266, the Petroleum Act of 1973, also deserves immediate consideration; this bill would require refinery operators to divest themselves of interest in production, transportation, and marketing.

Fifth, similar objectives are stated in H.R. 9632, the Energy Industry Competition Act, by which any firm would be prohibited from engaging in more than one phase of petroleum operation at the same time.

Mann Calls For State Energy Commission

Mayor Theodore D. Mann has filed a bill with the General Court of Massachusetts calling for establishment of a Massachusetts Energy Commission within the Department of Public Utilities.

The bill was originally filed in 1971 by Mann when he was representing the thirteenth Middlesex District in the General Court.

The Massachusetts Energy Commission created under the proposed bill would encourage and promote conservation of water power resources, insure the availability of low-cost electric energy and insure that the citizens of the Commonwealth have an ample supply of oil, natural gas, bottled gas and nuclear energy.

The Commission would be managed by a non-partisian board of five directors appointed by the Governor with the authority to retain employees after financial appropriations by the State Legislature.

The Energy Commission would be authorized to issue negotiable bonds for purpose of financing any physical construction of generating facilities, transmission lines, or storage facilities which would be necessary to produce or deliver energy required in the protection of the public interest.

In refiling his Bill, Mann stated that in 1971, when this bill was originally filed, there was a need to insure that the citizens of Massachusetts would be provided with sufficient electrical energy and other power sources necessary for the welfare of our Commonwealth.

"Now the energy crisis has made it imperative that the Commonwealth not only provide for emergency measures to meet this crisis, but it is also incumbent upon the Commonwealth to formulate long-range plans that will insure that Massachusetts will have the necessary power to meet any contingency," Mann stated. "It is to this end that I am refiling the Bill to create the Massachusetts Energy Commission."

Drinan To Discuss Legislation Jan. 11

The League of Women Voters of Newton has invited Congressman Robert F. Drinan to meet with them on Friday, Jan. 11 from 9:30-11:30 a.m. at the First Baptist Church in Newton Centre.

Congressman Drinan will review the record of the 1973 congressional session and discuss what is anticipated in the 1974 session. He will also discuss some of the issues facing the nation and the Congress today. Time will be allotted for questions and exchange.

The meeting is open and the League encourages any interested citizen to attend. Child care will be available at $1.00 per child. Anyone in need of transportation may call Mrs. Burton Lavine at 969-2953.

Among the current issues which are of particular interest to the League of Women Voters are congressional reorganization and campaign financing.

In 1973, the League completed a two-year intensive study of Congress and has been promoting measures which would make the Congress more open, responsive and effective, such as open committee sessions and changes in the procedures for selecting committee chairmen.

The results of a nationwide League study and discussion of campaign financing are currently being compiled, and the League expects to play an active role in designing and promoting legislation to reform campaign financing and accounting procedures.

Because of the general interest in the progress of the impeachment inquiry by the House Judiciary Committee, of which Congressman Drinan is a member, a discussion of impeachment is expected.

Job Bank Seeks Funds For 'Satellite Stations'

The Job Bank is asking the Youth Commission for $1,400 in its new budget to establish two "satellite stations" to serve the two high schools.

The total budget request for the 1974-75 fiscal year, $11,160, also includes an additional $1,853 increase in current budgeted items.

During 1973 the Job Bank, which serves young people between ages 13 and 22, found 2,345 jobs for 2,369 new applicants, according to Marty Cohen, director.

Of the job placements, 60 per cent were for babysitting, lawnmowing, and similar "odd jobs," according to Cohen, mainly for the younger applicants.

The remainder of the jobs – more than 900–were filled by high-school-age people and older.

Less than one per cent of applicants were not placed in any job.

The need for satellite stations has been voiced by students who cannot get to the Newton Community Service Center or who are involved in after-school activities.

Cohen has proposed that one branch station be located at the Newton Centre library and one near Newton North High School.

Drinan To Speak Honored

On Wednesday Jan. 16 the Newton Coalition for New Politics will sponsor an evening with Congressman Robert F. Drinan at 8 p.m. at the Mason Rice School.

Congressman Drinan's topic will be: "Choose Your Crisis: Impeachment, Energy, the Midwest." There will be a question and answer session following the Congressman's speech. The public is invited free of charge.

N-W Regional Refuse District Head Leaving

The executive director of the Newton-Waltham Regional Refuse Disposal District has been appointed Public Works Commissioner of the city of Beverly.

Phillip Pattison, director of the federally funded district which is studying the feasibility of a two-city disposal operation, said Wednesday that he will be leaving his position within a month after his confirmation by the Beverly city council.

The Regional Refuse Disposal District was funded last year by a $112,500 grant from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

The deadline for the final recommendations from the district is May 1, 1974, although the district has asked for an extension of time.

Pattison said he will be available to the district committee after he assumes the Beverly post, at least until May 1.

Pattison and his committee have engaged the consulting firm of Camp, Dresser & McKee to prepare a report and recommendations for solid-waste disposal for the cities of Newton and Waltham.

Preliminary recommendations are due Feb. 12, with a fuller "draft report" due March 1.

The district committee, composed of five members each from Newton and Waltham, are scheduled to meet with Newton aldermen next Wednesday to bring them up to date on the district's progress.

Saving What?

Daylight saving time, left behind while the rest of us rushed headlong into winter, has returned with a thump in the dark . . . the sound of someone falling over a chair.

It's all part of some grand strategy to save "energy". The savings, according to published reports, will be about 3 per cent of the fuel used to produce electricity. The figure is far from exact.

Was the change worth it? Was the plunge into two years of daylight saving time a frantic and foolish act of haste: The full impact of the switch won't be felt until the middle of next December on the shortest day of 1974.

Meanwhile, almost as much electricity will be used for lighting homes and businesses in the pre-dawn hours as was used at dusk, pre-DST. As spring draws near and the days grow longer the reason for the change will fade as the darkness.

The enactment of year-round daylight saving time did not result in overt trauma among the residents of our four-town region. School officials speculated about changes in starting times. People adjusted to rising in pitch blackness. Some undoubtedly saw the dawn for the first time in years.

Overall, the adjustment was made. The radio went on. The coffee pot percolated. The eggs sizzled on the stove. Life continued . . . well-lighted by Mr. Edison's amazing discovery.

DST may turn out to be a stab at a windmill, not truly efficacious scheme. Like Don Quixote, however, some good may be served.

Tired commuters get to buck the afternoon traffic while the sun is still up. Struggling home at night in the winter has always been a nightmare.

Mothers are a little less worried now that their playful child can be seen by drivers and the like during the late afternoon.

Spring gardners can start work a little early this year, at least the preparations for planting.

There may be considerable evidence to show that the great move back (or ahead) to DST was nothihg more than the act of politicians eager to take credit for saving the nation as well as fuel.

A bust as an energy-saver, daylight saving time still has some merit.

Only the horror of the death of a child walking to school in the dark will prove winter DST a total failure. That is a tragedy we pray will not occur.

New Women's Yellow Pages On Sale

By CYNTHIA BLACK

The second edition of the "Women's Yellow Pages" is now available on newsstands and in bookstores.

Subtitled "the original sourcebook for women," the 159-page directory not only provides information on specific agencies in Greater Boston that deal with child care, medical care, counseling for adults and children, but also background information on women's rights, divorce procedures, consumer protection among other things.

"A woman should be able to obtain help from a source designed to serve her needs," the editors state in the introduction to this edition. "The response to the Women's Yellow Pages is evidence that there exists a community of women seeking information that will help define their needs and actively seek ways to meet them."

Completely Black

The first edition, smaller than this one, came out in July, 1972, the work of volunteers at the Boston Women's Collective. A total of 5,000 copies were distributed in the Cambridge area and the newly created directory was sold out in five weeks.

The first reprint in October, 1972, totalled 20,000 copies, 3,000 of which were complimentary copies to social service agencies and community groups throughout the area.

The first printing of the second edition, 30,000 copies was done in November, 1973.

Services available here in Newton are included in the directory, which not only lists agencies but also gives a brief description and evaluation of services they provide.

The second aim of the authors in this volume was to also provide women with "preventative" information. Feature articles include an in-depth survey of child care centers, counseling disturbed children, why cosmetics can be hazardous, how to start a food coop and a special supplement entitled, "Perspectives on Aging and Agelessness," contributed by the Aging Collective of Boston.

The sourcebook for women has received the endorsements of many of the state's top social agencies and is serving as a model for similar directories in major cities across the country.

The Women's Collective, Inc., is a non-profit organization which produces educational materials for community development. Approximately 60 volunteers researched and wrote this edition.

Copies are $1.50 plus 18 cents postage and can, in addition to newsstand sales, be ordered directly from the publisher: Boston Women's Collective, Inc., 490 Beacon St., Boston, Mass. 02115.

Political Highlights

Fr. Drinan's District Supports Impeachment

Congressman Robert F. Drinan of Newton, who filed a resolution last August calling for the impeachment of President Nixon because of the secret bombing of Cambodia, spent most of a recent 30-minute interview explaining why the House Judiciary Committee, of which he is a member, cannot vote on an impeachment resolve based on a much broader scope of charges against the President before late spring or early summer.

Father Drinan represents a congressional district which is perhaps the most liberal in the United States. It voted overwhelmingly for George S. McGovern in the 1972 Presidential election. The priest-congressman estimated that between 50 and 55 per cent of the people in his district favor the impeachment of President Nixon.

If that appraisal is anywhere near correct—and Congressman Drinan should know the sentiment of his district better than anyone—then a majority of the people of the United States probably are opposed to the impeachment of Nixon.

President Nixon has a coterie of critics who would find something to complain about if Nixon hitch-hiked between Washington and San Clemente, surrendered all his tapes, files and private documents to Judge Sirica, Senator Ervin, Ralph Nader and anyone who wanted to take them to a cocktail party for entertainment—and then resigned.

We are disposed to place Congressman Drinan in the category of those who can see nothing redeeming about President Nixon. But, apparently coached by someone such as Congressional Majority Leader Thomas P. O'Neill, Jr., of Cambridge, Congressman Drinan went through the motions of being fair to President Nixon although he forgot his lines a few times.

Congressman Drinan expressed the opinion that the chances President Nixon will be impeached by the House are "about 50-50." He dodged the question when he was asked what he thought the effect on the nation would be if President Nixon is impeached by a majority vote of the House but not removed by the Senate where a two-thirds vote would be required.

"The House could try another year," he declared at one point. "Nixon obviously would be under great pressure to resign," Congressman Drinan asserted another time.

But still at another turn in his interview Father Drinan said Nixon "Might just fight this out—and he might win. The people like a fighter."

He quoted Majority Leader O'Neill as saying the impeachment issue "is a question of conscience, not a partisan matter."

Father Drinan reported that the disclosure which most "outraged" members of Congress was President Nixon's failure to pay state income taxes in California. Some observers believe that should be a matter between Nixon and state tax officials in California. They don't quite see where Congress gets into the act on that charge.

At the start of his interview Congressman Drinan said the House Judiciary Committee, headed by Chairman Peter Rodino, on which Drinan himself serves, needs more evidence on which to recommend the impeachment of President Nixon. "We need some Republicans," he added.

Later, however, in response to a query as to whether Democratic Congressmen are dragging their feet on the impeachment of President Nixon in order to bring it closer to election, Father Drinan said: "A group of us on the Judiciary Committee are pushing Chairman Peter Rodino." That did not sound as if he felt a dire need for more evidence.

Congressman Drinan voiced the belief that there could be "a real wipeout of Congressmen next fall." He said he felt a tidal wave of public indignation resulting from the feeling over the Watergate mess could wash away a lot of Congressmen.

Father Drinan was one of three Massachusetts Congressmen who voted against the appointment of Gerald Ford to succeed Spiro Agnew as Vice President. The others were Congressmen John Joseph Moakley of South Boston and Michael Harrington of the North Shore, both liberals.

Asked about this, Congressman Drinan said he opposed Ford's appointment as Vice President because of Ford's poor voting record. He said Ford had voted against practically all civil rights legislation and much social and housing legislation.

When an interviewer observed that Congress has not shown much disposition to stand up to President Nixon, Congressman Drinan replied: "History is on the side of the people who say we will not face up to the impeachment of the President."

At another point he remarked that an extraordinary situation would exist if President Nixon resigned or was removed from office, Ford became President and then picked a new Vice President.

"We would have both a President and a Vice President who were not elected," Father Drinan pointed out.

Commenting on a poll which showed Ford the leading candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination and running ahead of Senator Edward M. Kennedy on a straw vote, Congressman Drinan expressed the conviction that Ford will not be so popular when the people know more about his voting record. "The black community would not support Ford," he remarked.

Father Drinan said Congress is opposed to providing public funds to finance Congressional campaigns, he said the oil companies are to blame for the oil crisis. "They have conspired to push up prices and to stifle competition," he charged.

"If the oil companies remain totally resistant, we'll have to nationalize the oil industry. We could make the oil companies public utilities," declared Congressman Drinan who did not seem in as much a rush for the impeachment of President Nixon as he was last August.

GOP Leaders Planning Drive Against Sargent

A group of prominent, influential and well-to-do Republicans will meet shortly to plan a campaign against Governor Francis W. Sargent.

They may be able to set the stage for Sarge's downfall in next November's election, but there does not appear to be any way they can prevent him from achieving renomination even though they apparently have persuaded a strong candidate to stand against him in the Republican primary.

Two highly respected Republican business executives have spoken out against Governor Sargent in recent weeks. They are automobile dealer Peter Fuller of Brookline, son of the late Governor Alvan T. Fuller, and Quintin J. Cristy of Worcester.

Fuller and Cristy reflect the feelings of a very substantial number of Republicans so their statements cannot be brushed off lightly.

Both declared they would support Attorney General Robert H. Quinn against Governor Sargent if Quinn is nominated as the Democratic candidate for Governor.

Cristy said it would not distress him if either Quinn or ex-Representative Michael Dukakis of Brookline toppled Sargent although he made clear his preference for Quinn.

Other Republicans and Independents, however, have asserted that Dukakis is too far to the left for them to support and that they cannot accept some of his extreme views.

Cristy, who has been trying unsuccessfully to persuade Elliot Richardson to run for Governor, has a personal grievance against Governor Sargent.

The Worcester businessman was the Republican nominee against former Governor's Councillor William McManus, also of Worcester, in 1970.

But when Sargent appointed McManus Register of Probate for Worcester County, he ignored Cristy and named Wayne Thomas of Worcester, an unsuccessful Republican candidate for the House of Representatives, to succeed McManus on the Executive Council.

Cristy, who is much more prominent than Thomas in Republican circles, was understandably miffed by the Governor's action and fired with both barrels at Mr. Sargent. In a sharply worded letter he resigned from his posts as a director and member of the Republican Club of Massachusetts.

Other influential sons and daughters of the GOP criticize Governor Sargent for appointing too many Democrats and for not doing enough to build up the Republican party in Massachusetts.

Governor Sargent replies that he could not survive politically in overwhelmingly Democratic Massachusetts on Republican votes alone and that to have a chance of winning reelection he must appoint some Democrats.

In all fairness, Sarge, of course, is right. The same political philosophy was preached and practised by Christian A. Herter and John A. Volpe although Herter and Volpe did a much better job of maintaining friendly relations with the various groups in the Republican party than has Governor Sargent.

Sarge either is not as good a politician as were Volpe and Herter, or his advisers are not as astute as were those of Herter and Volpe who appointed Democrats but did not import out-of-staters almost every time they had a key position to fill.

Governor Sargent's foes in the Republican party apparently have succeeded in persuading Middlesex County Sheriff John J. Buckley to stand against Sarge in next September's GOP primary.

Buckley is a good vote-getter and an excellent campaigner. But Republican voters in Massachusetts are not in the habit of giving the heave-ho to sitting Governors even though Sarge has brought on his troubles by his failure to maintain harmony in his own party.

State's Top Elected Officials Underpaid

Governor Francis W. Sargent is not the highest salaried official in the state government, as you might reasonably assume. He wields the greatest power, assumes the largest responsibility, has the broadest scope of duties but does not get the most pay.

The latter distinction belongs to Edward J. King, the director of the Massachusetts Port Authority, the man in charge of the Logan Airport and of promoting shipping in the Port of Boston.

(One of the reasons members of the business community are disenchanted with Sarge is that they claim his administration has been harassing King, a charge that has some foundation in fact.)

All this proves is that the people of Massachusetts are not generous with their elected officials.

A man in private industry who performed similar duties and assumed responsibilities comparable to those of Governor Sargent would be paid at least $100,000 a year and probably substantially more.

Mr. Sargent draws a salary of $40,000 a year. More than a dozen Governors across the United States are paid higher salaries.

The salary of the Governor of Massachusetts probably will be increased from $40,000 to $50,000 by the legislature this year, re-establishing him as the highest paid state official. But the raise will not become effective until Jan. 1 of next year. So Sarge will have to win reelection to another term in order to overtake King on the salary scale.

Criminal Justice Is Everyone's Problem

Editor, Newton Graphic:

It is a plain, if painful, reality that criminals, crime and the criminal justice system are a part of — and not apart from — the rest of society.

This fact, though, often is ignored when we discuss the problems of criminal justice and propose methods for reducing crime.

Still, each of us has a (however) reluctant willingness to admit that criminals do not materialize out of some vicious vacuum. They are human and carry within them the potential to achieve our brightest dreams and darkest nightsmares.

The degree to which we accept or deny this reality determines, to a large extent, how we react to crime and respond to criminals.

Because we are confused — knowing, but wanting to deny, the human commonality of the "criminal" and the "citizen" — it is not particularly surprising that our attitudes toward criminal justice lack either rhyme or reason.

For example, during 1973, the Massachusetts General Court acted favorably on two antithetical bills designed to deal with crime. A bill (S1976) to re-establish the death penalty passed both branches of the legislature. Only a lonely, last-minute veto by Governor Sargent killed it. Another bill (S1592) would have expanded the proven concept of pre-trial diversion. Supported by the unlikely combination of Senators McCann and Backman, it also passed both branches and then — just prior to enactment — was referred to a study committee where it died in a classic example of capital (hill) punishment.

Senator Backman has re-submitted the pre-trial diversion bill and it appears certain that some version of a death penalty bill will be re-filed.

So the 1974 Massachusetts General Court, and we who they are sworn to serve, will be confronted again with a question of progress vs. panic.

Passing a death penalty bill, aside from being an apathetic cop-out on our ability to correct criminal behavior, would be attacking the problem at the wrong end . . . when it is too late to save the lives of innocent victims. On the other hand, implementing the proven approach of pre-trial diversion would provide early intervention and treatment for those inclined toward crime. It could salvage lives of potential offenders and save the lives of possible victims.

It would be unfair to imply that legislators bear the entire burden to choose: pre-trial diversion or capital punishment; thumbs up or thumbs down; life or death.

For they only represent us. As human beings, with our own dreams and nightmares, what do we value most: our faith in progress or our fear of ourselves?

Energy Questions Need Answers

Dear Editor:

I have today written to Mayor Mann, asking for clarification on three issues. I think, before the hysterical "oh-what-can-we-do"-itus strikes is all useless, that some more practical steps over the looming, impending Energy Crisis should be put into practice. There is much room for improvement.

I asked Mr. Mann . . . and through him his aldermen and committees . . . whether we could not have a positive statement from him as to what he wants to DO about the "crisis."

I asked him whether there really was an ordinance against keeping a horse, if such an animal had appropriate stabling and was to be used as an essential-means-of-transportation (for a trap or cart, as against "family pet").

I asked him whether the city could see its way in the IMMEDIATE future (not to be merely tabled for consideration next fall) to approving a better bus system throughout Newton. It is noticeable that for almost all of us, cars have become the modus-operandi for all our necessities and pleasurers. Neither can we shop at Chestnut Hill, nor go to Watertown without a car . . . unless you take two hours by bus and walk and trolley.

I asked him about some really strong bike-racks for those who may take to those deathly vehicles (no, I don't like bikes. I rode one in England for 15 years, of necessity. Now, I'll walk first!)

I asked him to consider how our children can get back and forth to our high schools, for such events as concerts, after school sports, meets and games without a horrific number of cars being involved as they are now. At present, the alternative for many is a cold walk or the upturned thumb. Liberated womanhood can take a back seat for a moment . . . I cannot appreciate the sight of a 16-year-old thumbing her way across Newton at 10:30 at night!

Finally, I suggested to him that he come out in favor . . . strongly . . . that our young quit hogging the gas and the cars to get to school all alone . . . one to a car. And that the other means of transportation ARE available . . . from horses to bicycles, to golf-carts. I have one of the latter. They are great, such a vast improvement over dinosaur-rated autos and our two feet!

Registry Says Thanks To Drivers

Dear Editor:

Through you I would like to thank all of the people in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts who used the facilities of the Registry of Motor Vehicles during the year 1973. Their patience and consideration for the good employees in the Registry, who handles around 8.1 million transactions, was deeply appreciated by all of us who work in the Department.

Since becoming registrar in July of 1971, I have preached constantly that our primary function is to serve the public. We are seeking constantly to improve our ability to handle our customers professionally — with dispatch — and, hopefully, with a smile.

The Public Works Committee has a new chairman, Michael Antonellis of Ward 5, and four new members, Gaynor, Morris, Tennant and McGrath.

The Street Traffic Committee also has a new chairman, David Cohen of Ward 7. Other new members are Gaynor, Morris, Dietz and Barkin.

The new chairman of the Franchises & Licenses Committee is Michael Lipof of Ward 6. McDonnell, Jefferson, Schur, White, and Eliot Cohen are the new members.

Jackson remains as chairman of the City Planning Committee, with only two changes in the committee membership, Susan Schur taking Uehlein's seat and White filling Crosby's vacated seat.

The Legislation & Rules Committee will again be chaired by Thomas Concannon of Ward 2, with the only membership change being the addition of Joan Saklad of Ward 6.

The vote on the committee assignments was 22 in favor, one opposed (White). Dietz was absent for the entire meeting.

Two special ad hoc committees were also appointed by Cohen.

A special committee to work with the Executive Department, the School Committee, and citizens to come up with recommendation on the energy crisis will be under Dietz' chairmanship. Other members will be Morris, McGrath, Schur, White and Barkin.

The other special committee was appointed to work on the reorganization plan of the city departments before its formal completion and submission by the mayor to the Board of Aldermen.

An amendment to Cohen's reorganization-committee measure, proposed by McGrath, to wipe out Cohen's committee and substitute a committee of the whole (the entire Board acting as a committee) was narrowly defeated.

Cohen had proposed that the committee be composed of himself as president of the Board; Sidney Small, chairman of the Finance Committee; Wendell Bauckman, president emeritus; Richard Bullwinkle, vice-president; and the chairmen of the Public Buildings, Public Works, City Planning, and Legislation & Rules Committees.

After the opposition to the membership in the reorganization committee developed, President Cohen referred the item to the Legislation & Rules Committee for further work.

In other business the Board approved unanimously the reappointments of Arthur Marr as comptroller of accounts and director of finance, Theodore Scafidi as treasurer, Joseph Karlin as city clerk, and Edward English as clerk of the board. All these positions are under the control of the Board of Aldermen.

UNSELD OUT

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Wes Unseld, long troubled by knee problems, will be lost to the Capital Bullets at least until Jan. 17 while his arthritic left knee is placed in a walking cast for the third time this season.

Although team physician Dr. Stan Lavine said that "surgery is probably the ultimate answer," he added that Unseld can't do further damage to the knee by playing on it. The Bullets and Unseld are trying to avoid surgery so that he will be available for the rest of the season.

mind until after Guzzi has decided which post he will be seeking.

Morris, a freshman alderman who also ran for state representative in 1970 and 1972, said, "I don't like to disavow intentions of running because circumstances over which people have no control, often change."

Morris did say, however, that right now he doubts he will be running.

The Republicans have not fielded a candidate. Ald. Robert Tennant, who has run for state representative before, this week gave as his answer about whether he will be a candidate again, "a qualified no, at the moment."

ROOKIE SIDELINED

NEW YORK (UPI) — Rookie defenseman Larry Sarharuk of the New York Rangers will be sidelined for two weeks with a badly lacerated hip.

Sacharuk required 10 stitches to close the wound Tuesday after he broke a shower stall door at his Long Beach, N.Y. home.

DEER LAKE, Pa. (UPI) — Muhammad Ali, in heavy training for his Jan. 28 rematch with Joe Frazier in New York, said Tuesday, "I haven't time for jokes."

"All the talking, all the gimmicks don't count when you lose. I'm just up here to work. No clowning this time at all," said Ali, who is down to 212 pounds.

Frank Wall Appreciation Night To Be Held At Mosley's Feb. 3

An appreciation night for Transcript Newspapers Sports Editor Frank Wall will be staged by his many friends in Norwood on Sunday evening, February 3rd at Mosley's.

The Committee said the evening was being planned "In recognition of his unselfish contributions to Norwood sports programs, contributions which have helped make those programs outstanding in size and interest. Thus the Norwood youth programs have banded together to unanimously express their appreciation and the result is the establishment of February 3, 1974 as 'Frank Wall Appreciation Night.'"

The Committee arranging the affair said: "For the past 20 years the name of Frank Wall has been synonymous with youth and schoolboy sports activities in Norwood. Wall's activities have run the gamut from athlete, coach, organizational founder, sports writer and editor for The Norwood Messenger and now sports editor for the new Daily Transcript and four other Transcript newspapers."

Wall's little league interests have included manager of the Braves for 20 years, public relations director of the program for two decades and long time umpire.

For the past 15 summers he has managed the Colombo little league summer all stars who play 30 games in 30 days in August. He has also managed American Legion baseball team in Norwood for the past three years.

The large committee of friends and well-wishers has planned an evening of entertainment and nostalgia which should produce a heartwarming feeling for young and old that will even overcome the energy crisis. This promises to be, not a stuffy testimonial, but a warm lively night of fun.

Sports Editor Frank Wall
To Be Honored By Friends

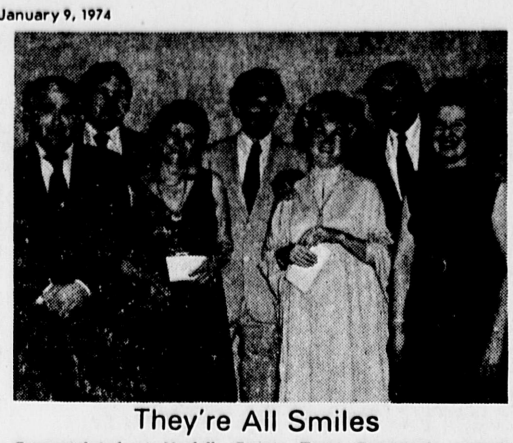

Moseley's in Dedham will be the locale. Cocktails will be available from 6:00 to 7:00. Early evening entertainment will be supplied by the popular Norwood High School Stage Band. A roast beef dinner will head the bill of fare. Then it will be time to sit back, relax, and reminisce as old and cherished memories are revived. There will be something for one and all. Remember the Norwood Mercs? Do you recall the founding of the little league in Norwood? Summer baseball with Columbos? Summer Hockey? Through the years with Norwood High School football, hockey and baseball?

If any of these activities evoke pleasant memories, you don't want to miss this night. A big surprise will be entertainment supplied by the Chisholm Bros., reknown singers and musicians. Those who have heard them, love them. Those who haven't are in for a tremendous listening treat.

Tickets are priced at $7.50 per person. Family groups are encouraged. This is definitely NOT an adults only evening, and should be a delightful night for the youth who've come in contact with Frank through the years. Tickets can be obtained by calling any of the following committee members:

John Chisholm, 762-3729; Paul Byrne, 762-6391; Bob Ivatts, 762-4683; Don MacPhee, 762-3565; Barbara Kinter, 762-8842; Shirley Krohto, 762-3190; Sheila Brown, 762-4779; Jack Walker, 762-1295; Barry Quinlan, 762-7391; Gary Maus, 762-3963; Don Glaser, 769-1851; Jack Adellman, 769-0248; George Carey, 762-6902; Larry Brown 769-3131; Joe Curran 762-6328; Carole Powers, 762-2264; Lenny Capone, 329-2518.

Order your tickets now. The supply is definitely limited and this promises to be a sellout.

New Highs Reported By City Bank & Trust

Rubin Epstein, president of City Bank & Trust Company, Boston, reports increases in deposits, assets, income and earnings for the year ended December 31, 1973.

Net earnings after taxes were $2,058,795.95 which doubled its original capitalization, equivalent to $3.36 per share including non-recurring income of $.09 per share, as compared with 1972 earnings of $1,716,405.02 equivalent to $2.80 per share.

Total deposits for the year ended December 31, 1973, were $90,497,174.42 as compared with $89,136,714.63 for the year ended December 29, 1972.

Total assets at December 31, 1973, were $107,303,404.56 as compared with $103,053,511.72 at December 29, 1972.

Loans and discounts at end of 1973 were $53,621,192.11 as compared with $48,107,933.43 at end of 1972.

Investments in U.S. Government, Federal Funds and other securities as at December 31, 1973, were $40,993,761.08 as compared with $41,140,965.13 as at December 29, 1972.

During 1973, $1,575,000 was transferred from undivided profits to surplus, making capital funds, including reserves, $12,663,193.70 compared with $11,044,817.45 as at December 29, 1972.

At a meeting of the board of directors held November 21, 1973, it was voted to declare a cash dividend of 44c per share to stockholders of record on December 20, 1973, payable on January 10, 1974.

Soccer Talk

By PAUL ELDRIDGE, Jr.

1973 was a year of political turmoil and shortages of all types. But there was some good news in the world of sports, especially for the fans of Soccer.

For in the month of December, the North American Soccer League announced that franchises had been awarded to groups in Baltimore, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle and Vancouver. Then on the morning of December 27, Phil Woosnam, Commissioner of the NASL, came into Boston to say that the newest franchise in the league had been awarded to Mr. John C. Sterge of Boston. Mr. Sterge, who is the President of the An-Car Oil Co., will also serve as the President of Boston Professional Soccer Inc. He became interested in soccer when his two boys began playing the sport in Newton.

Boston Professional Soccer is going to hold a contest to find a nickname for the team. Particulars on the contest will be announced at a later date. They also hope to name a coach and a playing site soon.

Let's hope that the NASL schedule for 1974 will have teams like the Philadelphia Atoms and the Dallas Tornado, so the fans of Boston can watch players like Kyle Rote, Jr. and Bob Rigby.

While in Boston, Phil Woosnam announced that there would be no common International Opponent this year and that the league's experimental offside rule will still be in effect this coming season.

The Connecticut Wildcats of the American Soccer League recently announced the re-signing of superstar Benny Brewster. Brewster, the Wildcats sensational scoring ace, accumulated 11 goals and 4 assists in 14 games, dominating the ASL's scoring race until the last week of the 1973 season when he was edged out of the title by Eddy Roberts of the Cincinnati Comets and Doug McMillan of the Cleveland Stars.

Following the Wildcats' season, Brewster was named to the U.S. National Team, representing the U.S. in its win over Poland and scoring the winning goal against Bermuda.

In mid-September he left the U.S. team to become a guest participant in the training camp of the first division English team, West Ham United of London. "Being selected for the National Team was a great honor," Brewster noted. "But although I knew I could gain a lot of experience playing against international players, I also wanted a chance to develop my individual skills and jumped at the opportunity to go to England. I think the experience I've gained this fall will help me play even better ball for the Wildcats next season."

SOCCER SHOTS

Gus Carias, the Boston Astros great goalkeeper, has undergone a knee operation at the Nashoba Hospital in Ayer, and would like to hear from his many friends and fans.

Leeds United is still undefeated and with every game that they win or tie, they set a new record in the English Football League.

Psychiatrist On Norwood Hospital Staff

Dr. James Krainin has been appointed to the staff of the Norwood Hospital on the psychiatric service. Dr. Krainin is a graduate of Harvard College and the Harvard Medical school. He trained in psychiatry at the Bronx Municipal Hospital Center in New York. The American Journal of Psychiatry has published several of his papers.

Dr. Krainin's specialty is family therapy. He regards problems as a property of the family system, rather than residing in the individual. He sees family groups together, sometimes in their homes.

Dr. Krainin resides with his wife, Jane, and daughter Penelope, 5, in Newton. His office is in Norwood.

Graduate studies in social work were inaugurated at the University of Missouri at Columbia in 1948.

Marh T. Brooks, director of the U.S. Bureau of the Mint, says the last gold coin minted in this country was May 19, 1933.

VA News Letter

An undetermined number of veterans, wives, widows and children eligible for Veterans Administration educational assistance now have greater latitude in working toward standard college degrees.

Administrator of Veterans affairs Donald E. Johnson said new regulations allow trainees to pursue, along with regular college curricula, independent courses or other external study programs away from parent campuses.

During October, 1.4 million persons trained under VA's three education programs, including 851,000 at college level, but there is no estimate on the number of current or future trainees who may take advantage of independent study programs.

"For more than 10 years now," Johnson noted, "many colleges and universities have provided external degree programs which usually include classroom instruction both at parent schools and other schools.

"A typical independent study program consists of study in the humanities, social sciences and natural sciences, with the school setting a minimum and maximum time for completion," the VA head explained. "The student proceeds at his own pace, returning to the parent school campus only periodically for required workshops or seminars."

VA will pay allowances to trainees pursuing independent study if courses are offered by accredited schools approved by their respective state approving agencies. Courses must lead to, or be creditable toward standard college degrees.

The agency determines allowances due trainees on the same basis as other college degree programs, with colleges expected to evaluate external courses in semester or quarter hours or their equivalent, and prescribe program completion dates.

President's Message

We are proud of seventeen years of successful banking and our record of continuous increase in earnings. During this time we have loaned $1,445,210,591 and we have shown one of the lowest loss ratios in the banking business, which speaks well for the professionals in our front line as well as our employees and directors.

According to the 1972 New England Bank Stock Annual Report published by John J. Ryan & Co. Inc., Investment Bankers of Newark, N.J., City Bank once more ranked FIRST in three important categories: Highest Return on Average Net Earning Assets; Highest Profit Margin; Highest Return on Average Shareholders Equity. Out of 125 commercial banks and bank holding companies in Massachusetts, City Bank moved up to 14th place. In the entire New England area, we moved up to 39th place.

Our fine showing and our record of consistent earnings are very gratifying. We are indebted to our loyal friends, directors, depositors and stockholders, and hope they will continue to give us their support so that we can maintain our enviable record of progress in the years to come.

From all of us at City Bank — Our Best Wishes for Health and Happiness in the New Year.

RESTLESS and BORED

Q. Now that my children are in school I would like to go to work. Could you tell me in which career I would be best suited? I am restless and get bored easily. I was born on December 4, 1943 at 1:45 a.m. in Putnam, Conn. I am married to an Aries and we have a good marriage, especially for he doesn't keep me tied down and lets me go just about where I please.

S.M.

A. All through life you have been and are likely to be restless due to an inner search for some secret ideal which seems to elude you. You have a keen imagination, are quite sympathetic and have a feeling for the problems of others.

You are not likely to be contented in the business world since dull routine is apt to bore you. There are possibilities in one of the fine arts if you develop your natural talents and learn to concentrate on it.

Self knowledge and self discipline are essential for your progress and these are likely to come easier later on.

You are inclined to be sensitive to the needs of the unfortunate and underprivileged and rendering some useful service to such is likely to give you a sense of satisfaction. Perhaps a career in nursing or social service work would appeal to you.

You are not an easy person for others to understand since you can be highly independent and individualistic making your own rules and doing more or less as you please.

Deep inwardly you crave excitement and adventure and the search for the same may be another reason for your restlessness.

You also should endeavor to control a temper which could if let go, explode and do a job on your nervous system and waste much of your energy.

For questions to be answered through this column, mail the year, month, day of the month, city of birth, time of day if known and question to Ask Oscar, Box 114, Canton, Mass. 02021. Please sign your name which will not be published. Selected questions can only be answered through this column.

Backyard Frontier

By POLLY BRADLEY

As I sat meditating by the ocean one calm, clear day, much to my surprise a seagull floated quietly down and perched upon my toe, which was resting on a huge boulder.

The gull said, "Polly Bradley, I presume?"

I stared open-mouthed a long time before I could mutter, "Yes."

"I am Jenny Lewis Seagull," she announced.

I regained my composure enough to say politely, "Why, yes, I've read about your famous cousin, Jonathan Livingston Seagull."

"I am of a more mundane mind," said Jenny. "Although I am concerned about matters of meditation and soaring of the spirit, I prefer to address my attention to elements on this earth, or, I should say, to wonders of the waves."

"You mean that Jonathan cared more about the air and you about the sea and earth?" I asked.

"Ah! You understand!" Jenny sighed. "You care about creation!"

"I do work very hard to try to make a better environment for birds, animals, and people," I said modestly.

"Your name is noted in the world of the water," she said. "So I sat on your shoe, to deliver some data from the feathered flock."

"I'd be glad to deliver a message from the seagull population to the human population," I answered.

"We fear for food! People have polluted the multitudinous marshes where sea life survives," she said, flapping her wings angrily. "They have filled so foolishly! They have spilled so sloppily! The oil is so ugly! The garbage is so gloppy!"

Feeling rather embarrassed for the human race, I answered, "I'm sorry to admit we humans have destroyed the estuaries where the young fish grow, and have overfished the ocean, and have polluted the sea with all our waste."

"Your relations must relent!" said Jenny.

"I'll try to get them to stop. But it's a hard battle."

"Another announcement!" she said. "Seagulls suspect that conservationists favor timid terns, not gallant gulls."

"I was annoyed. "If your relatives would leave garbage dumps alone, and live on seafood like the terns, we'd like you just as much. But graceful as you are, you seagulls can be pests!"

"Pestering people! You garbage generators!"

At this I felt guilty for being angry at seagulls. "I'm sorry. Maybe you gulls do live on garbage, but we people are the ones who fill up the dumps with our trash. I guess that's why people and gulls get along so well: like sparrows and squirrels and pigeons, we're pushy and sassy and adaptable and we don't mind noise and confusion. I doubt if a tern would ever work up courage to sit on a human's toe. Yes, Jenny, I will give your message to the world of people."

"Then, farewell, friend!" said Jenny. "But when creatures complain . . . I shall return!"

And with this, Jenny soared into the sky, where she circled up and up and up until almost out of sight she was joined by a large, brightly shining white seagull. I shall always wonder if it was Jonathan.

Region Gets $69,000

BOSTON (UPI) — The New England Regional Commission announced today it has funded four programs costing $69,000 to assist the region in dealing with the energy crisis.

In a joint statement released by Massachusetts Gov. Francis W. Sargent and Russell F. Merriman, federal co-chairman of the commission, it was announced that four consulting firms would develop programs to analyze the impact of gasoline rationing, short term switching from oil to coal, regional air quality standards, and develop a regional energy information system.

The projects funded are: $16,000 to the Charles River Associates of Cambridge to study gasoline rationing; $26,000 to a Washington, D.C. firm to study coal conversion; $5,000 to the Mitre Corp of Bedford to develop an energy information system; and $22,000 to a Maryland company to study regional air quality management.

Richard H. Sullivan, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sullivan, 25 Maple Park, graduated from Military Police School, Fort Gordon, Ga.

He is a Newton South High graduate. His basic training was completed at Fort Dix, N.J. and he is now stationed at Fort Leeves, Washington.

Black Student Union Established At South High

The principal of Newton South High School this week partially granted the request of black students to be allowed to establish a Black Educational-Cultural Center at the school.

Principal Ernest Van Seasholes said that he has approved the recommendation of the Faculty Committee on Racial Issues that the Black Student Union be given permission to use a part of the school building to set up the center, first asked for at the end of November, 1973.

The students had asked for the use of a room in the school where blacks and whites would be able to learn about black culture.

The school administration was hesitant to give its permission, fearing that such a center might separate rather than unite blacks and whites.

According to Seasholes, "Since the program has an educational component, is nonexclusive, and shows a real element of student initiative, I find it very acceptable."

The specifics, including the location, are still to be determined, Seasholes said. He has suggested a section of Wheeler House Commons as a possibility.

The financial commitment and the furnishing and equipping of the center will be the responsibility of the Black Student Union, Seasholes said, although the school will help as much as it can.

The Faculty Committee on Racial Issues has met during the period since late November to ponder the issue. The committee was made up of four members of the faculty senate, four members of the committee on program, the housemasters at Newton South, three department heads, three black teachers, the director of the Enrichment program, and Seasholes.

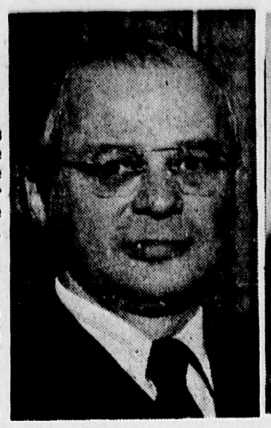

Seasholes said he is now waiting to hear the plans of the Black Student Union.

Stu Perry, a member of BSU said Tuesday that the group hopes to use all of Wheeler House Commons. The meetings of BSU Perry said, would take place only once a week, and the Educational Cultural Center would be open the rest of the time for the use of all students.

The BSU is planning a soul-food dinner as an opening of the center next week, which will also be a celebration of Martin Luther King's birthday, Perry said.

The BSU has $200 in its treasury with which to start equipping the center, and has support from the Black Citizens of Newton, BCON, Perry said.

The Black Student Union has about 40 dues-paying members in Newton South High School.

Dr. Newton

Dr. Thompson

Thompson Heads N-W Medical Staff

Surgeon L. Bradford Thompson has been elected president of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital medical staff for 1974.

Thompson is widely known in this area for his work as medical director of athletics for the City of Newton.

The surgeon will head the 156-member medical group which consists of active staff giving professional time to the hospital and manning its clinics on a partial basis. Medical staff also works via its liaison committee with Newton-Wellesley trustees and adminstration in determining hospital policy.

Moving into the president-elect post is urologist Robert A. Newton, M. D. Orthopedic surgeon John B. McGinty, M.D., has been re-elected to chairmanship of the executive committee, comprised of all medical department heads.

Internist Dr. David Kaufman of Newton continues as secretary of the Newton-Wellesley medical staff and pathologist Dr. John H. Meeker of Wellesley as treasurer.

Thomspon is a diplomate of the American Board of Surgery. A graduate of Dartmouth College and the University of Maryland School of Medicine, Thompson lives in Wayland.

President-elect Newton will automatically assume the top Newton-Wellesley staff post next year. He is a member of the American Urological Association and is chief of that department at Newton-Wellesley. A graduate of Amherst College, Newton received his medical degree from Cornell University Medical College. He lives in Weston.

Executive Committee Chairman McGinty is a fellow of the American Academy of Orthopedic Surgeons. A graduate of Harvard Coolege and Tufts University medical school, McGinty is a Wellesley resident.

Masonic Club Meets Jan. 16

The Newton Masonic Club will meet Wednesday, Jan. 16, at 1:30 p.m.

Charles W. Holland of the Retired Men's Club will present a slide illustrated, tape recorded tour of England and Scotland and a trip to Holland.

The Masonic Music Men will entertain.

'Urban Growth' Topic Norumbega Meeting

The Newton-based Norumbega Association will sponsor a day-long conference on urban growth Thursday, Jan. 10, at Bentley College, Waltham.

The conference, "A Citizens' Policy Guide to Urban Growth" (using the recent Rockefeller Brothers Fund Task Force report "The Use of Land" as background), will run from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Most of the conference time will be devoted to helping citizens learn how they may be effective in determining the character, the visibility, the attractiveness of our metropolitan future.

Sharon Francis, a member of the Newton Planning Board, will moderate a panel on Regional Goals for Conservation, which includes Robert Lemire, chairman of the Lincol Conservation Commission, Charles H. W. Foster, Secretary of Environmental Affairs, and Stephen Ells, Assistant for Intergovernmental and Congressional Affairs, Environmental Protection Agency.

The panel will probe the relationship of the town, the state and the federal government concerning sources of funds, land use legislation and eventual land use policy and control.

A panel moderated by the Rev. W. Seavey Joyce, former president of Boston College and now with the Cheswick Center, will critique the effectiveness of the Citizens' Advisory Committee. The CACs are the 1970s offspring of citizens' protest movements.

John E. Zuccotti, chairman of the New York City Planning Commission, will be the featured speaker at the conference.

Zuccotti will speak on regional responsibility for growth, change, renewal and development, using lessons from Metropolitan New York.

This conference is the second annual conference sponsored by the Norumbega Association, and is open to the public. Call or write the Norumbega Association, 61 Chestnut St., Newton, Ma. 02165, or call 332-1270 for further information.

Diet Workshop Sets Open House

The Newton Diet Workshop has announced it will hold a free Open House week starting Monday, Jan. 14 at the main headquarters at 285 Centre st., Newton Corner.

Other Open Houses will also be held in Newton Highlands, Newton Centre and West Newton in order to present "THE WHOLE FAMILY", a new approach to weight control.

The public is welcome to attend.

There is a need for the entire family to learn sensible eating habits based on sound nutrition.

Therefore, the Diet Workshop has not trained its staff to not only help its group members, but every member of the family (all members of the family need not attend class).

"THE WHOLE FAMILY COOK BOOK" will be offered at a nominal charge in all classes.

It will incorporate recipes everyone will enjoy. In addition, a free guide to family meal planning will be distributed to all in attendance during the week of Jan. 14. It will now be possible for the dieter to cook for the enjoyment of the whole family, and at the same time help their children avoid future weight problems.

Newton Men Participate In Printing Week Events

Three Newton men will participate in the twenty-eighth annual Printing and Publishing Week of New England, to be held Jan. 13-19 in Boston.

Herbert Borden, of Prospect St., West Newton, is past chairman. He is with Hub Offset Co. in Boston.

Paul McDermott, 128 Woodward St., Newton, is executive director of the Boston Ad Club.

Robert Soucy, 34 Oak Terrace, Newton Highlands, of Miehle Co., is vice-president of the Supply Salesmens' Guild.

The annual P&P Week Banquet on Jan. 17 at the Sheraton-Boston Hotel will highlight this year's schedule of events. Eli Cantor, chairman of the Board of Printing Industries of America and former Esquire and Coronet Magazine editor, novelist and scriptwriter, will be the main speaker.

The New England Book Show, sponsored by the Bookbuilders of Boston, will kick off the week's activities on Monday, Jan. 14, at Pier 4. A group of jurors will select the best of the books on display and then discuss their choices at the annual Book Show dinner that evening.

On Tuesday, the Ad Club of Boston will hold a luncheon, and on Wednesday, Printing Industries of New England will sponsor Career Day.

Printing and Publishing Week is held each year throughout the country to observe the importance of the printing and publishing industry.

The New England Press Association is a sponsoring member of the New England Printing and Publishing Week.

Defense Awards Given To Tuscher

A Newton man has been singled out by the Department of Defense for his efforts in support of the National Civil Defense Program.

Vincent J. Tuscher, 19 Craigie terrace, was presented a Certificate of Outstanding Performance, together with a Sustained Superior Performance Certificate, at ceremonies held at the Federal Regional Center in Maynard, underground headquarters of Region One, Defense Civil Preparedness Agency (DCPA).

Tuscher, public information officer, was acclaimed for his "unique leadership and support to the DCPA and to the ten states of its Region One in redirecting DCPA's thrust necessary to assure public understanding and acceptance of the National Civil Defense Program."

The awards were signed by John E. Davis, national director, DCPA, Washington, D.C.

Case Aide Program Recruiting Volunteers

Newton-Wellesley Hospital is once again recruiting volunteers for its Case-Aide Program. The program is one in which a volunteer works on a one-to-one basis with a selected patient for approximately one-two hours per week. In addition to that the Case-Aide meets once a week with the other Case-Aides and with a professional person for supervision.

There are no special educational requirements necessary; the main attribute being a sincere desire to help another person.

If you would like more information regarding this program or other volunteer opportunities, kindly contact Mrs. Irene Freedberg at 1-359-4312 ext. 270.

Money Taking Over Tennis?

NEW YORK (UPI) — There is no longer love in tennis.

Oh, they'll still call politely "love-15" but the word is meaningless.

As the fastest growing sport—from a playing but not a spectator standpoint—continues to expand, the establishment, the new promoters, the hucksters, the players, fight among themselves, and connive among themselves, to control what they think is a motherlode of money.

The players, understandably if greedily, are after all the money they can get.

The promoters want to hustle the fastest dollar around, and think they can get the players to dance to their tune.

The hucksters want to sell everything from cigarettes to ultra-expensive condominiums at tennis worlds.

What they all fail to grasp is that the general public, the people who ultimately pay the freight, doesn't give a damn about the internal problems of the game. All the general public wants is to see the best tennis played by the best players—and if you haven't got the best players, don't bother telling us why.

In this love-less world, the cast of characters—the word "characters' is used not necessarily advisedly—is long—ranging from a multi-millionaire to an obscure second secretary of a remote nation which is a member of the International Lawn Tennis Federation.

There is Lamar Hunt, who once threw a million dollars on the table and told the ILTF in effect: "I'm going my way. Care to join me?"

The ILTF didn't care, and so the 1972 Wimbledon championships had none of Lamar's players.

The ILTF then did care and made peace with Hunt, giving him the first four months of the year to run his million dollar circuit.

But then Wimbledon 1973 found itself stripped of not only WCT players but Association of Tennis Professionals members as well, because the ATP emerged as equal or bigger than Hunt's WCT, although the vast majority of WCT players were also ATP members.

To the chaos, 1973 threw in World Team Tennis. The concept is to have franchises in cities all around the world, playing a variety of the game of tennis up to and including "free substitution" during a match and equality for men and women who play the new game.

WTT came on the scene blandishing promises of much, much money, and money is the language players understand. The new league, whose principal spokesman, or spokeswoman, or perhaps best, spokesperson, is Billie Jean King, has had great success in signing persons of the female gender, but has failed to make major inroads among the male gender. Yet WTT leaders insist their teams will begin play in May of this new year.

The male players want to be sure they have freedom of choice as to where and when they will play. They like the lure of guaranteed WTT money, but not at the expense of losing out on the lucrative WCT tournaments, or the endorsment prestige of Wimbledon and Forest Hills, both of which are controlled by the old establishment of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association and the ILTF.

Hunt, in denying published reports that the WCT and WTT would merge, admitted that there had been serious discussions among his group, the King-led WTT, and the Jack Kramer forces of the ATP.

"I have to dispute the use of the word 'merge' in this situation," Hunt said Wednesday from his office in Dallas. "There has been since May a series of general get-togethers of people interested in professional tennis. None of us want to see a situation arise in which any players are banned. But World Championship Tennis is set for 1974, from January to May, and the talks we are having and will continue to have are only directed to keeping peace in tennis."

Bernstein Hearing Postponed

A hearing on the dismissal of Dr. Norman Bernstein as medical director of the Newton Guidance Clinic, scheduled for Tuesday, has been postponed.

At a Superior Court hearing last Friday, Bernstein was granted a departmental hearing by the Department of Mental Health.

In the meantime, the dismissal action by Dr. William Goldman, State Mental Health Commissioner, has been stopped by the court pending the outcome of the hearing.

Bernstein was dismissed effective Jan. 5 on the recommendation of the Newton-Wellesley-Weston Mental Health Area office after a fact-finding committee gave the opinion that problems in the management of the clinic could not be solved without complete reorganization.

Bernstein is fighting the dismissal on the grounds that he must be given a hearing by both the Department of Mental Health and the Civil Service Commission.

RUSSIA DOMINATES

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — Defenseman Yuri Lebedev scored three goals and added two assists Thursday night as the Russian National hockey team continued its domination of Western Hockey League opponents by trouncing the San Diego Gulls, 11-3.

Forward Alexandr Bodonov added two goals and three assists and Viacheslav Anisin also scored a goal and had two assists.

Kerry Bond, Bernie Gagnon and Jim Shires scored for the Gulls before a crowd of 13,431.

The Russians, who have beaten Phoenix, 3-1, and Portland, 8-3, take on Seattle later this week to complete their play with WHL teams.

ENERGY STUDY

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — City Councilman Francis J. Darigan was named Monday to chair Mayor Joseph A. Doorley's nine member commission studying the effects of the energy shortage on the city and its residents. The blue-ribbon panel is scheduled to report findings and recommendations to the mayor within four weeks.

Busing

Dennis Becker, a member of the study committee, and an Elm Road resident, asked the School Committee to remember safety factors affecting children in the Newton North area.

Becker said that six children have been hit by cars near Newton North. He added that he thought the 400 limit for on-site parking was realistic.

When questioned about how the 400 limit was going to solve safety problems, Becker said that it was better to have cars in a parking lot than on the street. Becker noted that when students park on the streets with one hour limits, they have to move their cars frequently.

It was implied in the discussion that most of the on-site spaces would be intended for faculty and work-study students.

The study committee's recommendation, presented by Mrs. Reichard, was changed after lengthy debate. The maximum number of spaces was kept at 400, but it was not limited to on-site parking. The mayor was asked to try to accomplish this through the Planning Committee without infringement on athletic facilities.

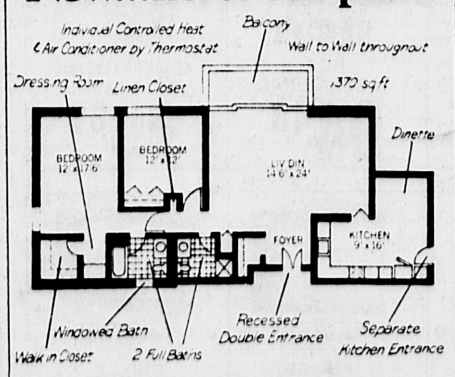

The motion was passed with School Committeeman Gerald Byrne and Mann abstaining.

The School Committee also voted unanimously, with Mann abstaining, to request $648,796 in supplementary funds for salary adjustments from the mayor and the Board of Aldermen.

Salary adjustments are going to cost $1,045,365, but $64,783 is available for transfer from other salary accounts. An additional $331,786 is recommended for transfer from other School Department accounts to help offset the salary adjustments.

Fink noted that the transfers should not result in additional costs in next year's budget.

Fink also said that he does not anticipate a supplementary budget request for fuel price increases.

Innovations In Sound

You've probably never thought of your car as an ideal stereo listening studio. Well, it is! The minute you sit in your stereo equipped auto, you're blanketed in thrilling sound. You'll witness an entirely new perspective in stereo listening; a richness in stereophony and realism of sound reproduction that has never before been possible. Now, with stereo tape cartridges, whether you listen in your car, home, boat, plane or trailer you enjoy an unparalleled sound sensation . . . crisp clarity and maximum fidelity, superior craftsmanship . . . and a wealth of music for every taste from Broadway to The Beatles, from current hits to classical.

Stereo cartridges are carefully engineered to afford maximum reliability and convenience of operation.

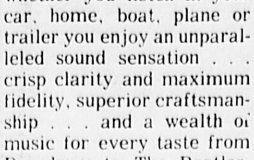

1. You never have to thread or even touch the tape.

2. You may change from one stereo program to another with the press of a button.

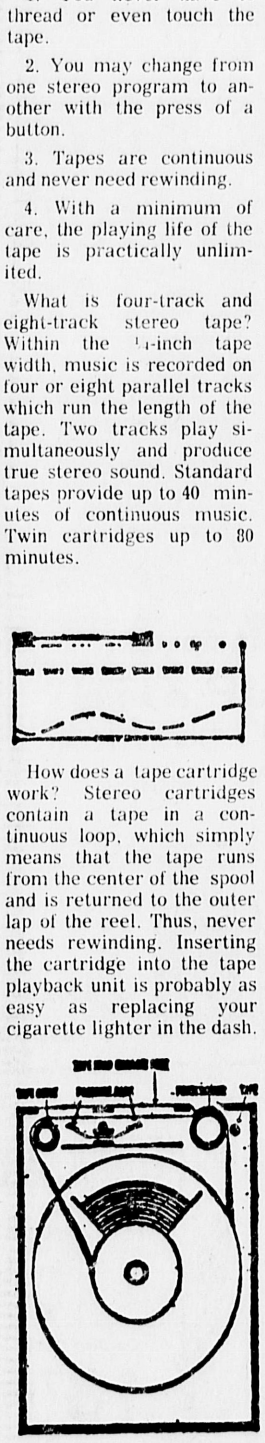

3. Tapes are continuous and never need rewinding.

4. With a minimum of care, the playing life of the tape is practically unlimited.

What is four-track and eight-track stereo tape? Within the ¼-inch tape width, music is recorded on four or eight parallel tracks which run the length of the tape. Two tracks play simultaneously and produce true stereo sound. Standard tapes provide up to 40 minutes of continuous music. Twin cartridges up to 80 minutes.

How does a tape cartridge work? Stereo cartridges contain a tape in a continuous loop, which simply means that the tape runs from the center of the spool and is returned to the outer lap of the reel. Thus, never needs rewinding. Inserting the cartridge into the tape playback unit is probably as easy as replacing your cigarette lighter in the dash.

Seeing is believing, however, and perhaps the least expensive method for you to experience the unusual convenienee engineered into a stereo tape is to visit a dealer and ask for a demonstration.

Realizing that stereo tapes are here to stay, Lechmere Sales of Cambridge and Dedham is now compiling substantial stocks. This foresighted record dealer and department store devoted exclusively to providing the consumer with even a larger and more complete musical selection than previously realized with the more traditional record album departments.

Long recognized as a retailing leader and innovator, Lechmere now features perhaps the largest selection of stereo tape cartridges in New England. It's a certainty that a visit to either Lechmere in Cambridge or Dedham will prove a most rewarding musical experience.

The Slim Gourmet Diet

Meat Facts

By Barbara Gibbons

This is the third in a series of five articles.

+ + + +

"The more meat you eat, the more you lose!" A commonly held misconception thanks to a succession of diet best-sellers over the last decade, all based on the old "Low carbohydrate" concept. All meat and no potatoes has been making a lot of jack for book publishers!

Fact is, just the opposite is true. Too much meat is fattening—particularly fatty, expensive, well-marbled steaks and roasts. Of course, you need meat for protein, but along with the extra meat protein comes the undesired, useless, artery-clogging, flab-inducing animal fat. And fat is the most fattening food there is . . . double the calories of protein or carbohydrate. A rib steak contains nearly four times as many fat calories as protein calories.

Fat diets have Americans clearing their plates of perfectly good foods like potatoes, pasta, rice bread, vegetables and fruit, and filling up instead on animal food.

The foods these fads favor—meat, cheese, eggs, cream, butter and the like—are the chief sources of cholesterol and saturated fat in the American diet. Reason, perhaps, why we have the highest heart attack rate in the world!

Demand for these foods, and disinterest in "grown foods"—grains, fruits, vegetables—also contribute to our high food bills.

If you'd save on calories, cost and your cholesterol count follow these tips:

—Don't overfeed on meat. Six ouces a day is all you really need.

—Choose low-fat poultry, seafood, veal and "variety meats" (liver, etc.) at least as often as you choose beef, lamb, pork and ham. For each pound of beef or ham you buy, pick up a corresponding quantity of chicken or fish. Then cook and serve it. Cheaper, too!

—Don't pay a premium price for extra fat and calories. The fattest cuts and grades also happen to be the most expensive, even though they offer less protein. "Prime" beef has five percent more fat than "choice," which in turn has six percent more fat than "good" grade.

—Brush up on meat anatomy. Cuts from middle of the animal are the fattest and most expensive. (Rib roasts, loin chops, etc.). Front end cuts (shoulder, chuck) cost less in cash and calories, while the "back end" represents the best calorie bargain of all. Beef round, leg of lamb, fresh or cured ham . . . all cut from the hind leg . . . are relatively lean.

—The younger, the slimmer! Veal ("baby cow") has less fat than full-grown beef. Frying chicken has only one-fifth the fat of stewing fowl. A small young turkey has less than half the calories per pound of a fat mature bird.

—Frying adds calories, but baking, broiling and barbecuing reduces them. Less tender meats can be marinated in wine, citrus juice or other acid liquid, or tenderized with commercial tenderizers before going on the spit or rack.

—Stews, ragouts, pot roasts and other slow-simmer dishes should be prepared ahead of time, then refrigerated until dinner time, so the fat can rise to the surface for removal.

—Turn the liquid into fat-free gravy and serve it over vegetables and modest portions of pasta, rice, noodles or potatoes to cut down on meat intake and calories.

TODAY'S RECIPES

Oven-Fried Chicken With "Cream" Gravy

Cut up frying chicken (about two pounds)
6 tablespoons seasoned breadcrumbs
1 undiluted can chicken consomme
½ cup dry skim milk powder
1 tablespoon arrowroot or cornstarch
Parsley flakes
2 tablespoons dry sherry (optional)

Trim all fringe fat from chicken. Shake pieces in a bag with breadcrumbs until lightly coated. Put chicken pieces skin-side-down in a nonstick roasting pan. Add no fat! Bake in a preheated 375-degree oven 30 minutes. Turn chicken pieces and bake an additional 20 to 30 minutes, until tender.

Skim fat globules from consomme. Combine consomme with remaining ingredients in a saucepan. Cok and stir over moderate heat until thickened. Thin to gravy consistency with boiling water. Makes six servings, 198 calories each.

High Protein Cream Cheesecake

2 tablespoons diet margarine
½ cup packaged graham cracker crumbs
8 ounces farmer cheese, low-calorie cream cheese or Neufchatel cheese
4 eggs
4 tablespoons sugar
Sugar substitute to equal ¼ cup
1 tablespoon vanilla
½ teaspoon bottled lemon or orange rind
One-third cup skim milk
Dash of butter-flavored salt

Spread the inside of an 8-inch nonstick round cake pan or piepan with diet margarine. Press crumbs into the surface. Quick-brown in a hot 450-degree oven for six to eight minutes.

Combine all remaining ingredients in blender and beat smooth. Gently pour into crumb crust. Bake in a slow 250-degree oven one hour. Allow to cool in the oven with the door open one hour. Chill before serving. Makes eight servings, 136 calories each, with Farmer Cheese; 152 with low-calorie cream cheese. Top with unsweetened crushed pineapple or low-sugar strawberry jam, if you wish.

TOMORROW: Soothing Your Sweet Tooth.

Across the Kitchen Counter

Ruth Lenson

Sunday dinner. The phrase conveys a wonderful nostalgic picture, and now that Sunday driving is frowned upon, the reward may be more family togetherness. Outside the weather may be cold and blustery, but Mom, Dad and the children will be snug at home.

This is no time for "catch as catch can" meals when everyone eats at a different time . . . no raiding the ice box for cold leftovers. Instead, Dad sits at the head of the table as you serve hot, hearty meals to take the chill out of everyone's bones. Perhaps you'll be looking for recipe ideas that give high nutritional value at a relatively low cost.

Begin the meal with a hot minestrone or a light antipasto. And then how about a large bowl of freshly cooked spaghetti surrounded by a variety of three piping hot sauces?

Or, the tempting aroma of simmering beef stew means good wholesome eating, especially when you have hot rolls ready for gravy sopping. (Amy Vanderbilt may frown upon this practice, but you're with family and so you're forgiven.) What could be more delicious than a golden brown chicken with a rich yam dressing?

For dessert an easy to make Raspberry Cream Charlotte made with toasted bread slices instead of lady fingers. The filling is a rich combination of vanilla pudding combined with cream cheese and topped with a glazing of raspberry gelatin raised to new flavor and freshness with frozen raspberries.

ITALIAN SAUSAGE

1 pound sweet Italian sausage links
2 tablespoons peanut oil
1 cup finely chopped onion
4 cups (2 lb. 3 oz. can) Italian plum tomatoes, sieved
2 cloves garlic, crushed
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons minced parsley
2 tablespoons tomato paste
¼ cup warm heavy cream

Remove casing from sausage. Heat peanut oil in Dutch oven or heavy saucepan. Add sausage and onion. Cook until mixture is lightly browned, crumbling sausage as it cooks. Stir in tomatoes, garlic, salt and parsley. Bring mixture to a boil, reduce heat to low. Cover and simmer for 40 minutes. Stir in tomato paste. Remove from heat. Stir in warm cream. Serve immediately over hot spaghetti. Makes 6 cups.

TOMATO MEAT SAUCE

¼ cup peanut oil
2 cups finely chopped onion
4 cloves garlic, crushed
1 pound lean ground beef round
½ pound lean ground pork
6 (1 pound) cans Italian plum tomatoes, sieved
1 cup grated carrots
½ cup minced celery
1 bay leaf
1 tablespoon salt
2 teaspoons rosemary leaves
1 teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon ground allspice
1 can (6 oz.) tomato paste
Hot cooked spaghetti

Heat peanut oil in Dutch oven or heavy saucepot. Add onion and garlic; saute until onion is transparent. Add beef and pork. Cook until meat loses its red color, crumbling meat as it cooks. Stir in tomatoes, carrots, celery, bay leaf, salt, rosemary, pepper and allspice. Bring mixture to a boil; reduce heat to low. Simmer uncovered for 1½ hours; stir occasionally. Stir in tomato paste. Serve hot over spaghetti. Makes 3 quarts — freeze or refrigerate remaining sauce to be used at another time.

WHITE CLAM SAUCE

1 tablespoon flour
½ cup peanut oil
½ cup (1 stick) margarine
2 large cloves garlic, minced
⅛ teaspoon white pepper
1 can (10½ oz.) minced clams
2 tablespoons minced parsley
6 drops liquid hot pepper sauce
Hot cooked spaghetti

Measure flour into saucepan; gradually blend in peanut oil. Add margarine, garlic and pepper. Heat stirring occasionally until margarine is melted. Stir in clams with liquid, parsley and hot pepper sauce. Heat gently just until mixture starts to boil. Serve over spaghetti. Makes 2 cups.

ROAST CHICKEN WITH YAM STUFFING

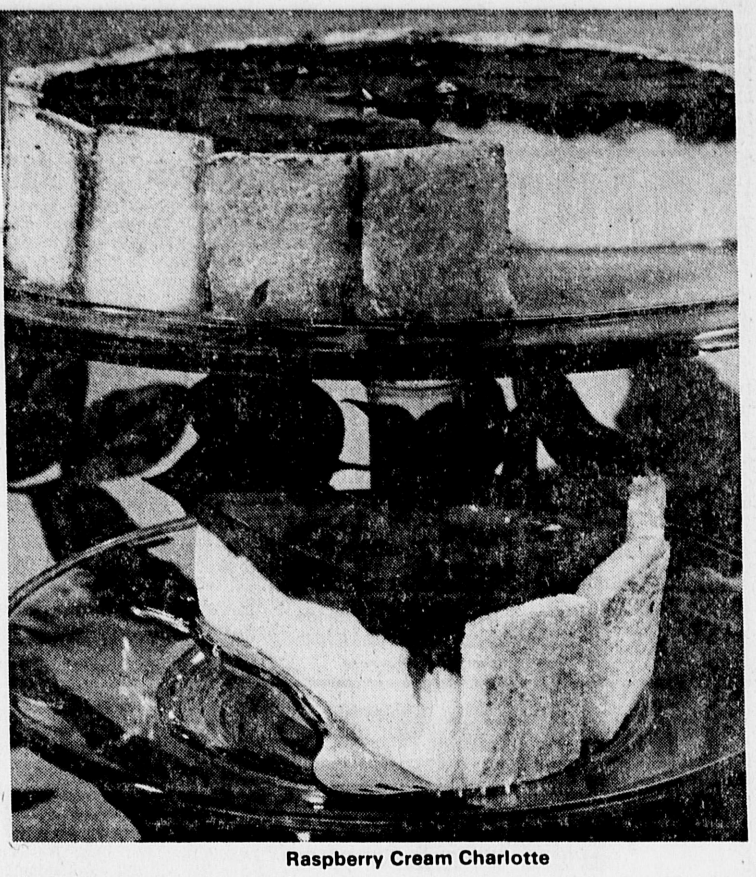

¼ cup chopped fresh onion
¼ cup chopped celery
¼ cup chopped green pepper
3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
2 cups mashed cooked yams
¼ teaspoon salt
Few grains pepper
3½ to 4 pounds roasting chicken

Cook onion, celery and green pepper in butter or margarine until tender. Remove from heat. Mix onion mixture into yams with salt and pepper. Spoon into body cavity of chicken. (If there is any left, place in neck cavity.) Close body opening. Place on rack in shallow baking pan. Sprinkle with salt, if desired. Roast in 375 degree oven about 2 hours or until done. Makes about 5-6 servings.

RASPBERRY CREAM CHARLOTTE

9 slices enriched day-old bread
½ cup butter, melted
1 envelope (1 tbs.) unflavored gelatin
1 pkg. (6 oz.) vanilla pudding and pie filling NOT instant
4 pkgs. (3 oz. ea.) cream cheese, softened
1 pkg. (10 oz.) frozen raspberries, thawed
1 cup boiling water
1 pkg. (3 oz.) raspberry flavor gelatin

Trim crusts from bread. Cut each slice in half; dip in melted butter. Stand strips around edge of 9-inch spring form pan, fitting strips very tightly together. Trim bread to fit evenly around top edge. Toast in preheated 400 degree oven for 15 minutes. Cool. Stir together unflavored gelatin and pudding mix; prepare and cook according to pudding mix instructions. Chill. Beat in softened cream cheese. Pour into bread-lined pan. Cover and return to refrigerator. Drain raspberries, reserving juice. Add 1 cup boiling water to raspberry gelatin, stirring until dissolved. Add reserved juice; chill until mixture slightly mounds when dripped from spoon. Place raspberries on top of pudding. Spoon thickened raspberry gelatin on top. Chill until firm . . . about 2 hours.

A Peak Into Spring

Ruth Lenson

The drop shoulder dress in white polyester sharkskin, belted in leather.

Welcome back the suit for spring! We've been having a lot of fun with separates but it's time for the return of the classic suit.

Too many springs have gone by since beautifully tailored suits and their crisp shirts or softly bowed blouses stepped out amid the tulips and fragrant lilacs.

Designers predict that every fashionable woman will have at least one new suit in her spring wardrobe. Unlike many fashion fads, a suit should be considered a fashion investment meant to be worn more than one season. With the addition of a couple of blouses, a sweater, a string of beads or chains, it's a way of dressing that is free and easy.

Suit jacket styles run the gamut from the reliable blazer to the Norfolk to the smock and with all there is a strong accent on the classic. You'll find everything from the open buttonless jacket to the conventional three-button model with slight padding in the shoulders and wide lapels.

The following are previews of what to expect from designers this spring:

"When a woman buys a new dress she doesn't buy just the hemline. I think it's time to stop all that sort of nit-picking and think of the whole picture . . . my collection reflects my feeling of the way a woman will want to look next Spring . . . healthy, wealthy and a bit unwise, especially in the evening.

"Soft fabrics, fluid lines, every effect to subtly elongate the figure, all make the body very noticeable, and clearly the dictator of the silhouette. Many of the clothes wrap to the side with an open neckline. But it isn't a Dutch effect; the side wrap is anchored, usually with a sash.

"Day clothes are sporty but there is practically no wool at all. There are no "Spring" coats. I think fashion today reflects the winter-to-summer life people like best. Both day and evening colors are strong clear and clean. There are not really that many prints—a few soft printed chiffons with small motifs and small flower prints on crepe.

"For those who insist on nit-picking, all the skirts are below the knee. The variation from just below to longer depends entirely on the shape. Clothes that are meant to float can't be short."

Ilie Wacs: "Spring is no longer a season but rather a time to renew oneself. Periodically one needs new clothes and the fresh start they imply, but the fabrics and colors no longer vary dramatically.

"This collection includes white cashmere and flannel, chiffon, polished denim and cotton twill without any sense of their being "seasonal." His collection contains many simple,easy dresses and pants . . . pants are combined with below the knee length coats and shirts; the suit costumes have shorter jackets and swingy or wrap skirts, and the coat costumes have beautiful neat shirts and narrow skirts.

The raincoat series includes a slicker in double-faced cotton with vanilla silk shirt and poplin pants, also in the double-faced cotton, a narrow trenchcoat, unlined, with four pockets and a silk shirt dress underneath, a cream colored twill coat and a white duck rain outfit.

Soft and fluid is Calvin Klein's idea for Spring. When the winter begins to break, he feels that women will want to get out of their tailored wools and into lightweight, loose-fitting, softly textured fabrics. He has dropped the shoulder line, rounded the neckline and shirred the bodice. His dresses are cut loosely with full cuffed sleeves and tied with their own belt into a blouson look. All lengths are long . . . below the knee for added fluidity.

Coty award winner John Anthony's entire collection is in black, white or black and white. Anthony said, "After so much color, it's the only thing that looks right to me. The only patterns I use are woven stripes or printed dots. The only accent is red. Red to me is also a basic neutral color.

"There is not a synthetic fabric in my collection. Women who look for creative fashion want the best, most supple, most alive fabrics as well. I don't think anything can meet the standards of a beautiful piece of crepe de chine or a fine piece of wool crepe or silk georgette."

John Anthony designs with a certain figure in mind. "Clothes are gently closing in on the figure. The primary effect of my silhouette aims to be skinny, skinny, skinny. Jackets are shorter, moulded and with many buttons. Skirts are slim in effect, but flare by our star pleating or are wrapped over for easy movement."

The suit plays an important part in Anthony's spring showing. "The suit's the thing I believe women will want to climb into this spring. It's a new complete look, very slicked up, rather dressy, yet simple. The jackets are set close, with finely moulded shoulders, and the blouses always move to one side with a crisp bow or a shiny flower."

Kasper for Joan Leslie wishes to eliminate extravagances and excesses and get down to the beauty of clothes that are free from affectation. Kasper focuses on fabrics that are extravagently soft yet richly textured to accommodate basic body lines—with easy, roomy shirt tops, drop shoulders, deep sleeves and voluminous skirts.

There you have it, a random sampling of spring fashions—a potpourri of comfortable, casual completely feminine clothes.

Rodeos grew out of impromptu contests of skills among cowboys in the 19th century.

Three out of four Nebraska farmers raise cattle, which brings in more than $1 billion a year in cash receipts.

Chairman Selected For Women's Division

Mrs. Burton D. Rudnick and Mrs. Robert H. Roberts have been selected to serve as chairman and vice-chairman, respectively, of the Women's Division of the Greater Boston Committee, State Of Israel Bonds. Announcement of the selection of the new Women's Division leaders was made by retiring chairman, Mrs. Phil David Fine.

Although relatively new to the Israel Bond campaign, Mmes. Rudnick and Roberts have a history of activity in the community.

Mrs. Rudnick, who recently returned from Israel as part of the first Israel Bond women's delegation to visit the beleaguered nation since the Yom Kippur War, remarked, "I hope that I will be able to convey my pride in Israel to the women of our community and that we can work together in concert to make 1974 the most successful campaign year for the Israel Bond Women's Division.

"I witnessed first hand the vital need for loan dollars for Israel's continued development," Mrs. Rudnick added. "I know that with the help of Peggy Roberts and the women of Greater Boston community, we will meet the challenges that lie ahead during the difficult months of Israel's reconstruction."

Mrs. Rudnick is a member of the Board of the League School, Technion Women's Division and Beth Israel Hospital Women's Auxiliary.

She is a member of the Sisterhoods of Temple Kehillath Jacob of Newton, Temple Kehillath Israel and the Martha's Vineyard Hebrew Center.

Mrs. Rudnick has worked with retarded children and was active as a leader of the Girl Scouts and Campfire Girls.

Mrs. Roberts is a member of the Board of Advisors as financial chairman of the Jewish Family and Children's Service.

She is a graduate of Boston Teacher's College.

Mrs. Roberts served this past year as co-chairman of the Israel Bond Women's Division Fashion Show and Luncheon.

Camellia Show Set For Boston

The 145th annual Camellia Show sponsored by the Massachusetts Horticultural Society will be held Thursday and Friday, Jan. 17 and 18, at Horticultural Hall in Boston.

Amateur and professional growers from all over New England will exhibit prize plants of many different varieties.

There will also be displays of unique specimen blossoms, many never seen before by New Englanders.

Boston Chapter 17 of Ikebana International will create Japanese flower arrangements featuring camellias, and the society will sell small camellia plants during the show.

Admission to the Camellia Show is 50 cents and hours are: Thursday, Jan. 17 - 2 to 9 p.m.; and Friday, Jan. 18 - 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Zonta Club To Meet Jan. 10

Mrs. Gladys Tynes will be hostess at the Jan. 10 meeting of the Zonta Club of Newton, to be held at her home, 835 Watertown Street, West Newton.

Amelia Earhart night, an annual event of the club, will be observed. The meeting will start with a social hour at 6 p.m. Dinner will be served at 7 p.m. followed by a business meeting and program.

There will be a memorial service for Mrs. Ronnie Brooker, a member of the club, who died suddenly on Dec. 21, 1973. Mrs. Jerry Kotsaftis, president of the club, will preside at the meeting.

Women's Club Pot Luck Supper

The Waban Women's Club will host a "Pot Luck Supper" on Monday, Jan. 14 at 6:30 p.m.

Mrs. William Hadley, the hostess, is accepting reservations for the evening. She should be notified as to the casserole, salad, dessert etc. people plan to bring. The food should be enough to serve six people.

At 7:30 p.m., Mrs. Joseph Morog, president, will hold a business meeting.

At 8:30 p.m., Dr. Don W. Fawcett will present a program entitled "The Wildlife of East Africa." He will show slides and comment on the game animals' and birds' habits and the prospects of their survival.

Reservations must be made by Jan. 11.

Registration Opens For Camp Bauercrest

Camp Bauercrest Director Saul Nechtem announced recently the opening of registration for the summer of 1974. This camp, on Lake Attitash in Amesbury, Mass. has been operated for 42 years by the Jewish Community Centers of Beverly, Chelsea, Lawrence, and the North Shore.

Camp Bauercrest offers campers the opportunity to attend for either one or two months. Camp Bauercrest has a fully equipped waterfront, with 2 motor boats, canoes, row boats, sail boats, scorpions, sailfishes, waterskiing, and swimming.

Two resident registered nurses and a doctor supervise the health and welfare of the boys.

Aiding Retarded

The Fernald League's annual fund raising dinner-dance was held recently in Randolph. Sen. and Mrs. Edward W. Brooke of Newton (standing center) were the honorary chairmen of the affair to raise funds for improved care and treatment of the retarded at Fernald State School in Waltham. Shown above (seated, from left) are: Mrs. Stephen Stepanian, Mrs. Gene G. Falco, chairman; Mrs. Herbert Spellman; financial secretary; Mrs. Harold Pierce, treasurer; and (standing from left) Gene G. Falco, Stephen Stepanian, Herbert Spellman, Mrs. Abraham Ravech, Seen. and Mrs. Brooke; Mrs. David Lilly, Mrs. Bernard Zigman, Bernard Zigman, and Harold Pierce.

Weekly Seminars For Women Slated

A series of five new weekly seminars focusing on contemporary issues is being offered to area women by the Center for Continuing Studies at Newton College on Centre St., Newton.

Covering a broad span of subjects, the new seminars will begin early in February. Those interested may still enroll, and further information may be obtained by contacting the Center at Newton College.

"When I Grow Up: A Study of Maturity" is the title of one of a new group. A descriptive brochure comments "What is 'grown up'? That age alone doesn't necessarily bring wisdom is painfully obvious. We all know fifty year olds who are still immature and children already wise.

"What is maturity? This eight week seminar will explore some aspects of this elusive concept and enviable condition. Maturity — emotional, social, moral, political, religious, and aesthetic."

Leading the seminar will be a group of authorities in the fields of psychology, religion, administration, art, and political science.

"Woo hoo Mae Wilson! A Study in Feminist Films" is the title of a second in the series of new offerings. Mae Wilson is a woman who discovers at age sixty that her husband's plans for the rest of his life don't include her; her reaction to this and the manner in which she triumphs over her situation make an intriguing study.

The seminar will include this and five other films, lectures and discussions.

They provide insights into the new philosophy of liberation. Some of the films are by women, some for women — but all are about women. The course will be led by John Philibert, M.A., filmmaker and assistant professor of art.

A third seminar in the series is titled "Instant Madison Avenue: or, They Laughed When I Sat Down at the Printing Press."

Being taught by Elizabeth Barry, graphic designer for Newton College and book designer for Boston Educational Research, the six workshop sessions are geared for those who want to make their own invitations, greeting cards, etc., or for those who are responsible for but have little or no experience in producing publications for school, church, community or political organizations.

The emphasis will be on the "nuts and bolts" of putting an idea into print, effectively, simply, and inexpensively.

A six session course in "The Novel as Creator of Your Experiences" will be taught by Sister Maguire, Ph.D., professor of English.

The brochure explains about this course, "Basic human problems can only be contained, not solved, not escaped. Imagination, externalized in art, molds experience into shapes we can live with. Novels do this most obviously."

The reading list contains novels that cast the modern experience into a variety of shapes, by a variety of techniques.

"A Career? The Art of Choosing" will again be directed by Bonnie M. Orlin and Judith F. Kugel, directors, Boston Project for Careers.

Family Planning

By WALTER F. ROCHE JR.

BOSTON (UPI) — The Massachusetts Welfare Department has instituted a federally mandated program to provide family planning services to past, present and potential recipients.

The program, according to Geraldine Fitzmaurice of the department, is now in its initial stages and a series of training sessions for staff members is being planned.

"The essential problem now, is to inform staff members of the requirements so they will get the word out to recipients," she said.

She stressed that participation will be voluntary, but the program itself is required by the federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW).

Meeting the federal requirements, ironically, will result in increased reimbursements to the state though overall cost factors are not yet known.

In the past, family planning services have been available to recipients, but now they will extend to some former recipients and individuals or families classed as potential recipients.

Commission Approval

The welfare official said reimbursement for family planning services will now be at 90 per cent of total cost with the state picking up the remainder. Up till now, the federal government paid only 50 per cent.

The department has received approval from the state Rate Setting Commission for payment of set rates for the various types of services provided under the program.

The new family planning regulations were filed in mid-December about a month after they were unveiled. Welfare Commissioner Steven A. Minter said no opposition had been expressed and the rules were not amended.

In an accompanying policy statement required by HEW, Minter described the services as "those medical, educational and social services which enable people to exercise freedom of choice with regard to the size of their family and the spacing of children."

Services include information and referral to private agen-

Sharon Travel Camp Taking Registrations

Sharon Travel Camp has announced that registrations for its cross-country program this summer are now being taken.

A six-week experience for boys and girls, 12 to 16 years of age, will combine elements of a camping program with travel and exploration of major places of interest across the country.

All campgrounds have excellent facilities and were chosen to provide the comforts of civilization, while offering the beauty of outdoor camping. Our past campers enjoyed the most fantastic summer of their lives.

Campers travel on an ultra-modern, air-conditioned bus driven by a fully-qualified professional bus driver. The entire trip will be under the direct supervision of Warren and Dorothy Kline, assisted by a counselor staff and a registered nurse.

Kline has his master's degree in education, has taught high school science and mathematics for 21 years, and is presently teaching mathematics at Sharon High School. He has many years of experience as camp director. Mrs. Kline has had extensive teaching experience on a part-time basis through the junior high school level, in addition to her camping background.

Mrs. Tashjian To Talk About Library Services

The current status of library buildings and services and future building needs will be the topics for discussion when Mrs. Virginia A. Tashjian, library director of the City of Newton, meets with the League of Women Voters of Newton on Wednesday, Jan. 16.

The meeting will be held at the Main Library (414 Centre Street) from 7:30-9 p.m. and is open to anyone interested in becoming better acquainted with the Newton library system.

The meeting with Mrs. Tashjian is part of the "Know Your Newton" series - a series of seminars sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Newton which are designed to familiarize League members and guests with the organization and operation of Newton city government.

Past seminars have dealt with such subjects as municipal elections and the organization, powers and interrelationships of official boards and committees. A seminar on the Board of Aldermen was followed by observation of a meeting of that Board. Future seminars on education and recreation in Newton are planned.

Children's Program Continues At Center

Sunday afternoon programs for children are continuing at the Brookline-Brighton-Newton Jewish Community Center, 50 Sutherland road, Brookline.

On Sunday, Jan. 13, children's films will be shown at 2 p.m. Cartoons, the Three Stooges and a film about a children's farm in Israel will be featured.

On Sunday, Jan. 27, there will be a live performance of "Jack and the Eggplant" by studio 309 theatre group based in Somerville.

Chapter 766 Legislation Topic Of Jan. 16 Meeting

The Newton chapter of the Association for Children with Learning Disabilities (N.A.C.L.D.) will learn about Chapter 766 legislation to aid handicapped children at its Jan. 16 meeting.

Co-sponsor of the bill Representative Michael Daley will join John Cullinane and Gerald Peterson of Newton's Pupil Personnel Services in an explanatory session at the Newton Corner Elks Hall at 8 p.m.

Daley will discuss the background for Chap. 766, including general guidelines for developing the formula for funding to cities and towns. Cullinane, director of Pupil Personnel Services and Special Education for Newton city schools, and Peterson, director of special education, will discuss implementation of the legislation in Newton.

Following the three speakers will be a question and answer period for parents.

Chief aim of the Bartley-Daley bill is to assume the right to education of every child, no matter what his handicap may be. Other major points of the legislation are to end sometimes discriminatory labelling of the child, and to establish the right of the parent to consultation in educational plans for the child.

Learining disabilities (sometimes called "perceptual handicaps" or "dyslexia") affect as many as eight million school children nationwide. These children suffer in varying degrees an inability to deal with letters and numbers as symbols, but they usually have normal or superior intelligence.

N.A.C.L.D. is a group of parents and professionals working to help understand and solve the problems a learning disabilities child faces at home, in school and in the community.

The Newton Corner Elks Hall is located on Centre Street in Newton Corner, across from the main library. Parking is available behind the building. The public is invited to this, and all, N.A.C.L.D. meetings. Coffee and refreshments will be served following discussion.

PARADE POSTPONED

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Chilling rains Tuesday forced the postponement of the 74th annual Mummers Parade up Broad Street until Saturday.

Parade officials voted unanimously to postpone the traditional cake-walking march by 16,000 gaily attired string band players and clowns, drawing the ire of many marchers who wanted to step off at 8 a.m. as planned.

Police said about 100 disgruntled Mummers blocked several South Philadelphia intersections to protest the postponement.

The parade, which normally draws a million viewers along its 2½-mile route, will be led Saturday by Grand Marshal Mayor Frank L. Rizzo.

Weddings

Church of the Messiah Setting for Milgroom -Worcester Marriage

The Church of the Messiah in Auburndale was the setting Dec. 19 for the marriage of Christin Lee Milgroom and Clark Worcester. Rev. Michael O. Shivley and Rev. William C. Lowe officiated at the double ring, evening ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Frederick Milgroom of Daytona Beach, Fla., and Mrs. Frances Lee Milgroom of 219 Lincoln St., Newton Highlands. Mr. Worcester is the son of Dr. and Mrs. John Worcester of 305 Fuller St., West Newton.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Milgroom wore a satin and antique lace gown with seed pearl accents and a veil held in place by a circle of holly. She carried a bouquet of holly and white chrysanthamums.

The bride's friend, Althea Anita Lewis of Naugatuck, Conn., was the maid of honor and Paris DeWilde was the flower girl. Mrs. Ruth Whitney DeWilde, another friend of the bride, was the matron of honor.

Ronald Charles Booth, a friend of the groom's from New Durham, N.H., was the best man. The ushers were Frederick Milgroom Jr. and Carson Milgroom of Newton Highlands, Michael Milgroom of Anchorage, Alaska; Walter Milgroom of Tucson, Ariz., John Worcester Jr. of Wellesley and Joseph R. Rizza Jr. of Auburndale.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother.

Mr. Worcester attended the University of Massachusetts-Amherst before serving in the Army in Germany and is now a computer programmer with Liberty Mutual Insurance Co.

The bride attended Boston College and is now teaching high school in Bridgewater.

After a wedding trip to Bermuda the couple will make their home in Brockton.

Mrs. Clark Worcester

Amy Rotberg Weds Mr. Zullo

Amy F. Rotberg and John A. Zullo were married Saturday, Jan. 5, in a late afternoon ceremony at the Chestnut Hill Country Club.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard H. Rotberg of 22 Fredette Rd., Newton Centre; and Mr. Zullo is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Zullo of Springfield, Vt.

The maid of honor was Miss Ellen Kruger of Newton Centre and Stanton Healy of Sudbury served as best man.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Chestnut Hill Country Club.

The bride is a graduate of Newton South High School and Bay Path Junior College. Mr. Zullo is a graduate of Bentley College.

B'nai B'rith Group Plans Jan. 16 Dinner Meeting

The third dinner meeting for the 1973-74 season of the B'nai B'rith Realty Lodge 2418 will be held Wednesday, Jan. 16 at 6 p.m. at the Colonnade Hotel, Boston.

The subject of the evening's discussion will be "Assessments and Abatements."

Guest speaker for the event is Bernard F. Shadrawy, who will discuss "The True Role of the Assessor and Taxpayer."

Shadrawy is chairman of the Board of Review, Assessing Department, Boston, immediate past president of the International Association of Assessing Officers and was selected as the outstanding assessor in 1970 by the Northeast Regional Assessors Association.

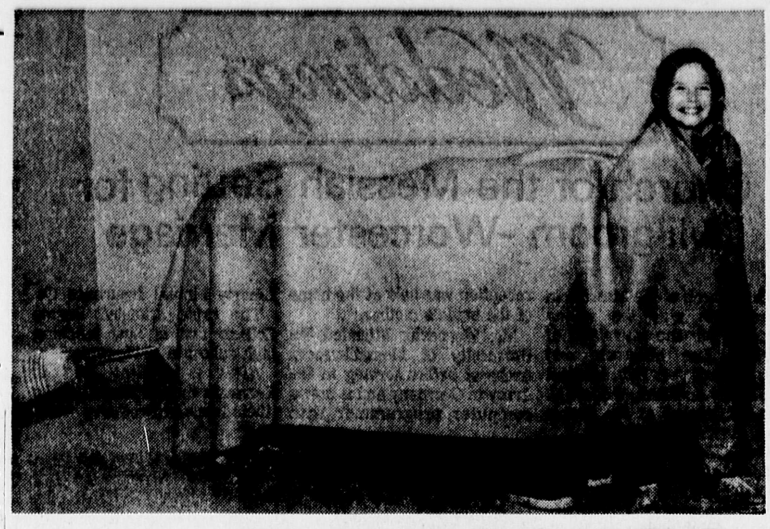

The meeting will be chaired by the lodge's past president Saul Gurvitz.

For dinner reservations please call Marvin Kaplan at 232-6600.

Quote Of The Week

The fact is, I believe, that the Administration is the most regressive in modern times. The gap between rich and poor has widened, and in so doing the stability of American society has weakened. This may be worse for the nation in the long run than Watergate.

A blanket, a broom and four sixth graders make "Mildred the milk cow." Children at the Auburndale Weekday Church School are bringing offerings to support the Heifer Project and get updates via periodic visits from Mildred. The school is sponsored by Auburndale Congregational Church, Centenary Methodist Church and the Episcopal Church of the Messiah. More than 85 children are enrolled.

Israel Bond Campaign Launched

Rabbis and officials from Newton synagogues and temples joined this week with leaders from Greater Boston communities to launch the 1974 Israel Bond campaign.

The planning meeting for the loan funds took place at the Statler Hilton Hotel where campaign leaders reported on observations made during their recent on-site inspection of Israel.

The leaders pledged all-out support of the program, starting, "We are confident that our community will enroll hundreds of new Israel Bond purchasers during 1974 to supply the flow of funds that are essential to assure Israel's economic stability."

Participating in the planning meeting were Harvey C. Krentzman, Bond Chairman Stanley J. Hatoff, Sisterhood President Mrs. Benjamin Maletz, and Executive Director David Singer, Temple Mishkan Tefila; Rabbi Murray Rothman, President Eli Golub, and Sisterhood leaders Mrs. H. Kharfen and Mrs. Lorraine Tobin of Temple Shalom; and Rabbi Philip Kieval of Temple Reyim.

Additional representatives included Bond Chairman Maurice Bell, Congregation Kehillath Jacob; Rabbi Robert Miller and Bond Chairman Melvin Fisher of Temple Beth Avodah; and Rabbi Abraham Koolyk and Irving Drucker of Congregation Beth El-Atereth Israel.

Jeremiah Sundell, general chairman of the Greater Boston Israel Bond Committee, explained, "Since the recent war, Israel's economy has been badly depleted.

"The months of reconstruction that lie ahead will be critical to Israel's survival as a nation," Sundell added. "Israel must revive its domestic economy so that the beleaguered country can continue the outstanding growth it has made these past twenty-five years.

"As Americans, we must do everything within our power to see that the Middle Eastern democracy survives," Sundell commented. "As humanitarians, we must help a nation which is surrounded on all sides by hostile neighbors.

"As people who take great pride in accomplishment, we must help Israel—the only modern nation in the Middle East—maintain its miraculous growth," Sundell continued.

"On my trip to Israel shortly after the October war, I saw Israel's economic needs and witnessed first hand the many vital domestic programs for which Israel Bond loan dollars are used," Sundell said. "If Israel is to maintain its development, it is imperative that Israel's friends throughout the free world support the Israel Bond program."

In 1973, spurred by the crisis brought on by the Yom Kippur war, Greater Boston recorded sales of $11.1 million in Israel Bonds.

Engelmayer To Speak At Breakfast Meeting

The Brotherhood of Temple Mishkan Tefila will hold a combined breakfast with the Brotherhood of Kehillath Israel on Sunday, Jan. 20, at 9:30 a.m. in the Rabbi Luois M. Epstein Auditorium, 384 Harvard street, Brookline.

Guest speaker will be Sheldon Engelmayer, editor of the North American Newspaper Alliance, whose topic will be "U. S. Politics and Israel."

A native of New York, Engelmayer studied in the Yeshiva and majored in political science at Brooklyn College.

A former feature editor of the Jewish Press, on Anglo-Jewish weekly, Engelmayer is editor of Jack Anderson's syndicated "Washington Merry-Go-Round" column. He is co-author of "Martha, The Mouth that Roared," a biography of Martha Mitchell from Pine Bluff, Ark., to Watergate.

A year ago, Engelmayer was on a fact-finding tour of Israel, touring the various defense lines, and met with military and intelligence people, and with Foreign Minister Abba Eban.

Temple Mishkan Tefila's Rabbi Israel Kazis will also speak, as well as Rabbi Mauel Saltzman. Co-Chairmen of the breakfast meeting are William Silberstein of Mishkan Tefila and Sidney Stoler of Kehillath Israel. Reservations can be made with the Temple Mishkan Tefila office.

Breakfast Program At Temple Shalom Jan. 13

Temple Shalom of Newton will sponsor a special breakfast program Sunday, Jan. 13 at 9:30 a.m. at the Temple at which two clergymen and an educator will report on their recent interfaith inspection tour of Israel.

Speakers will include the Rev. Ellis J. Holt, executive minister of the 270-church American Baptist Churches of Massachusetts; Rabbi Murray Rothman of Temple Shalom; and Dr. Bernard H. Shulman of Newton, assistant superintendent of Boston schools. The trio will also engage in dialogue and answer questions from the congregation.

The breakfast event will be co-sponsored by the Brotherhood of the Temple; the adult education committee and the social action committee of the Temple.

Also participating will be Robert Bloom, president of the Brotherhood; Manuel Gilbert, chairman of the program committee and chairman of the adult education group; and Arthur H. Cohen, chairman of the social action committee.

Women of the Temple will be invited as guests.

Campus Note

Carla Nastri of 1667 Centre St., Newton Highlands, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Nastri, has been accepted in the fashion merchandising program for the fall term at Bryant & Stratton Junior College in Boston. Miss Nastri graduated from Newton South High last June.

Retired Sisters Keep Busy

Honored

The Sisters of Charity at Mt. Saint Vincent were honored for volunteer work in Newton. Marjorie Glassman (right), director of RSVP, made the presentation to Sister Theresa Magdalen (left).

Retirement for 25 sisters from religious communities in Newton and Wellesley has meant a continuation of dedication to community service through the Newton, Wellesley, Weston Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP).

Retired sisters from Mount Saint Vincent in Wellesley, St. Bernards in West Newton and Newton College, Sisters of Charity, and Sisters of Christian Education in Newton Centre have contributed their time and talents to local schools, nursing homes, hospitals, and social agencies. Along with community volunteer work, the Sisters have joined local senior citizen clubs.

The Sisters of Charity at Mount Saint Vincent, Wellesley, have received a special citation for the many hours of service they have given at Medfield State Hospital, Wellesley Red Cross, and the Red Cross Blood Bank. The sisters will be involved in the new RSVP Senior Visiting Service which is starting in February.

Sister Theresa Magdalen, Activities Director at Mount Saint Vincent has coordinated the volunteer program for Mount Saint Vincent. Sister has also been active in planning social programs for seniors in Wellesley.

The Dominican Sisters from St. Bernards in West Newton have donated many hours of service to the Newton Lead Screening Program and to clerical work for Newton City Hall.

Sister Mary Constance, 86, also volunteers at Chetwynde Nursing Home as a friendly visitor and serves as cashier at their fairs. Sister Anna Wegal from Newton College teaches a cooking class to residents at Chetwynde. Many of her students are confined to wheelchairs.

Sister Lucienne Jannin, from the Sisters of Christian Education retirement community, is in her second year of volunteer tutoring at Weeks Junior High School's French Department. Sister Catherine Mary from the retirement home of the Sisters of Charity in Newton Centre, volunteers at Heritage Hill nursing home, does friendly visiting in the community, and helps with the Newton Meals on Wheels program.

Most of the sisters that have joined RSVP have retired from successful careers in teaching and educational administration. Volunteer work has become a second career, with the opportunity to learn new skills and develop closer ties with senior citizens in the community.

There are may volunteer opportunties available for retired men and women aged 60 and over in the Newton, Wellesley and Weston area. Assistance with transportation, meals and insurance is provided. Over 200 volunteers are now participating in the program. Further information about RSVP is available by calling Mrs. Marjorie Glassman, RSVP, Newton Community Service Centers, Inc., 429 Cherry Street, in West Newton at 969-5906.

Question: I understand there is a recipe for Eggnog Pie. Do you have one? Thank you very much.--Marion H. Whiteley, Newtonville

Answer: Not one but two eggnog pies for you!

EGGNOG PIE

1 baked 9-inch pie shell, cooled
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
3 tablespoons cold water
2 cups dairy eggnog
1 cup heavy cream
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup salt
3 teaspoons vanilla extract
Ground nutmeg (optional)

Prepare and cool baked pie shell. Soften gelatin in cold water. Heat eggnog in a saucepan over low heat for 3 minutes. Do not allow to boil. Stir in softened gelatin and continue heating until gelatin is dissolved, about 2 minutes. Remove from heat and place in refrigerator to chill until mixture is the consistency of unbeaten egg white. Beat with rotary beaters until smooth. In clean bowl, with clean beaters, combine heavy cream, sugar and salt; whip until cream holds its shape. Stir in vanilla. Fold whipped cream mixture into gelatin-eggnog mixture and pile into baked pie shell. Chill thoroughly. Serve sprinkled with nutmeg if desired.

COFFEE EGGNOG PIE

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
½ cup unflavored gelatin
½ cup sugar, divided
⅛ teaspoon salt
3 eggs, separated
1 cup whipping cream, divided
¾ cup strong coffee (liquid)
2 tablespoons rum or 1 tbs. rum extract
1 9-inch baked pie shell
Shaved unsweetened chocolate, optional

Combine gelatin, one-fourth cup sugar and salt. Beat egg yolks in top of double boiler. Stir in one-half cup whipping cream, coffee and gelatin mixture. Stir over hot, not boiling water until mixture coats spoon. Remove from heat, Stir in rum or rum extract. Chill until mixture mounds when dropped from spoon.

Beat egg whites fairly stiff. Beat in remaining one-quarter cup of sugar. Beat until stiff. Fold in. Whip remaining one-half cup cream. Fold in. Spoon into pie shell and garnish with shaved chocolate. Chill thoroughly.

Mrs. E.O., West Roxbury shares with us two recipes that have always pleased her family and guests. Our thanks for:

BAKED CLAMS

2 cans (7½ oz. ea.) minced clams
3 tablespoons margarine
3 finely chopped green onions
3 tablespoons flour
½ cup liquor from clams
½ cup coffee cream
¼ teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoons dry sherry
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
3 drops Tabasco
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
Buttered bread crumbs

Drain clams, saving liquor. Melt margarine and saute onions lightly. Blend in flour and then ½ cup clam liquor and the coffee cream. Cook, stirring constantly until sauce boils and is thickened. Stir in salt, sherry, Worcestershire sauce, Tabasco, lemon juice and parsley. Mix with drained clams. Spoon into shells or individual bakers and top with buttered crums with a little paprika mixed with the margarine. Bake in hot oven, 400 degrees about 15 minutes, until nicely browned. Makes 6-8 servings.

GINGER-PEACHY OVEN FRIED CHICKEN

1 2½ to 3 pound broiler fryer chicken cut into pieces
two-thirds cup flour
1½ teaspoons ground ginger
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons margarine
2 tablespoons salad oil
1 can (29 oz.) peach halves, drained

Rinse chicken; pat dry. Combine flour, ginger and salt. Dredge chicken in flour mixture. Melt margarine with oil in shallow baking pan. Arrange chicken skin side down in pan. Do not stack pieces. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes. Turn; place one peach half on each piece. Return to oven and continue baking for 15 minutes. Serves 4-5.

Question: I want to tell you how much I enjoyed the bread made with corn meal. It was the best bread I ever tasted! Now I wonder if you have a recipe for bagels and I would like to make different flavors like onion, egg, etc. Thank you very much.--Mrs. Lasserre

Answer: Let's start with the basic bagel and this recipe comes to us from the Lender Bagel Bakery famous for their frozen bagels. After mastering the basic bagel, you can go on to adding sauteed onion and or egg to the batter.

THE BASIC BAGEL

1½ cups warm water (105-115 Fdeg. F.)
1 pkg. active dry yeast or 1 cake compressed yeast
3 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon salt
4½ cups unsifted flour (approx.)

Rinse a large bowl under hot water (to warm bowl). Pour in the one and a half cups of warm water. Sprinkle or crumble yeast on top; stir until dissolved. Stir in sugar, salt and enough flour to make a soft dough. Turn out onto a lightly floured board and knead about 10 minutes (adding flour to board as needed) until dough is smooth and elastic. Cover; let rise in a warm place, free from drafts, fifteen minutes. Punch down dough and roll on lightly floured board into a rectangle about 5x9 inches. Dough should be one inch thick. Cut it into 12 equal strips with a floured knife. Roll each strip till it's only a half inch thick; moisten ends and join together to form bagels. Cover; let rise in a warm place again 20 minutes. Bring one gallon of water to a boil, lower heat and add four or five bagels. Simmer them exactly 7 minutes (longer will cause sogginess). Remove and cool on a towel while you cook remaining bagels. Bake on ungreased cookie sheet at 375 degrees (moderate oven) 30-35 minutes. Cool and eat--or wrap and freeze. Makes 1 dozen.

Question: I'm looking for a good hearty meat dish that will disguise a less expensive cut of beef like chuck. Thanking you in advance,--Mrs. T. I., Norwood Answer: Here's a dish Belgium is famous for—made with chuck and good seasonings, served with hot boiled potatoes, the family will love it!

CARBONNADES FLAMANDES

2 teaspoons Accent
2 cup flour
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 pounds boneless beef chuck, cut in 1-inch pieces
¼ cup butter or margarine
4 medium onions, sliced
1½ cups (12 oz.) beer
2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley
1 bay leaf
¼ teaspoon dried leaf thyme

Mix Accent, flour, salt and pepper. Roll meat pieces in mixture. Heat butter in a large skillet over medium heat. Add onions and cook until tender, but not brown. Remove onions; add beef and brown on all sides. Return onions to skillet; add beer and remaining ingredients. Cover and cook over low heat for 2 hours, or until meat is tender. Serve hot with boiled potatoes. Serves 4-6.

the slim gourmet

Love apple pie? Make it yourself and save . . . on cost and calories. Cholesterol, too!

Our Slim Gourmet pie is made with orchard-fresh apples and home-rolled pastry . . . not canned pie filling and packaged crust. Pies from cans and boxes have a way of tasting no better than packaged pies from the bread counter.

Why should they? They're made from the same short-cut ingredients: more starch and sugar and less fruit than you'd use yourself. And commercial piecrusts and mixes are frequently rich with saturated fats, the kind they choos for their long shelf life!

But out Slim Gourmet piecrust pastry is relatively low in fat. The fat we use is cholesterol-lowering safflower oil. We use lots of apples, and sweeten them partly with honey and partly with sugar substitute, a clever combo of calorie savers that sweetens so well you'll never miss the sugar calories.

The apples we choose are McIntosh, for delectable flavor. (McIntosh apples cook quicker than baking apples, so take note of the shortened baking time.) And we even find use for the leftover apple skins and cores, in our "bonus" rosy apple syrup that's a great topper for low-calorie icemilk or Sunday brunch pancakes!

McINTOSH APPLE PIE
(One-third fewer calories!)
Filling:

5 McIntosh apples
3 tablespoons honey
5 tablespoons granulated sugar substitute
butter-flavored salt
1½ TABLESPOONS ARROWROOT OR CORNST—
1½ tablespoons arrowroot or cornstarch pinch of lemon rind
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
¼teaspoon apple pie spice
Safflower Crust:
1 cup self-rising flour
¼ cup safflower oil
2 or 3 tablespoons water

Pare and core apples: Cut apples in large chunks (don't slice too thin.) Combine apples with all pie filling ingredients and stir well. Set aside while you prepare crust.

Fork-blend crust ingredients together, adding only as much water as needed. (This crust can be rolled immediately, no chilling needed!) Reserve one third of the pastry for the top crust. Roll out the remaining pastry as thin as possible on a lightly floured board. Line an eight-inch nonstick piepan with the pastry and fill with apple filling. Roll out remaining pastry. Cover pie with full crust or, if you wish, cut remaining pastry in strips and make a criss-cross lattice work topping. Bake pie in a preheated 425 degree oven for only 35 minutes. (Add 15 minutes if baking apples are used) makes eight servings, 195 calories each.

BONUS ROSY APPLE SYRUP — Don't waste the apple trimmings! Combine cores and peels with two cups water in a saucepan. Simmer uncovered until most of the water evaporates. Pour into a strainer over a jar and stir apple mixture with a spoon. Makes about one cup. Serve hot or cold over icemilk, or as a topping for waffles, pancakes or French toast. About four calories per tablespoon.

Fill your cookie jar with de-calorized treats; wrap up a gift for dieting friends! For recipes and diet tips send a self-addressed envelope and 25 cents to SLIM GOURMET COOKIE RECIPES, in care of this newspaper, 50 West Shore Trail Sparta, N. J. 07871.

Even Figures Are Changing In Japan

By Solange Bertrand

The traditionally small figure of the Japanese is changing. Even casual visitors to Japan notice the number of tall, slender figures among young Japanese, and the Japanese National Institute of Nutrition confirms the increases in height and weight.

Not that the Japanese have yet equaled American figures. The average Japanese girl of 20 is now about 5 feet tall, whereas the American average is now 5' 6". It will probably take until 1995 for the Japanese average to attain that height.

Japanese in the past were seldom fat, but the same more abundant diet which has increased height and weight has also brought the familiar problem of overweight. Young girls are just as diet-conscious as American girls, while many older women are getting plump.

Result: health centers are opening up, many of them in the shopping complexes the Japanese love. The health centers are just like ours, with exercise machines and saunas.

Some observers claim that the growing use of chairs for seating is also affecting the Japanese figure. In proportion to the torso, the Japanses have always tended to have shorter legs than Americans do, partly, it seems, because of sitting on the strawmat floors. Chair use seems to result in slimmer legs, though no one knows exactly why.

Biggest beauty fad in Japan is probably plastic surgery. Most popular operation is on the eyes, to make them rounder and deepen the typically shallow fold. One surgeon says that wheras in the United States people usually want nose jobs to make the nose smaller, in Japan they usually want it bigger. The fashion used to be for the aquiline, down-curved nose seen in classic Japanese art, but now it's swung toward an upcurve, the tilted nose which in Japan is often considered typically Occidental.

A Look At Aerosols

By SOLANGE BERTRAND

From time to time, complaints about various aerosol-packed products have surfaced, ranging from fears that inhaling hair spray may be harmful to deaths resulting from young people foolishly sniffing the aerosol gas itself.

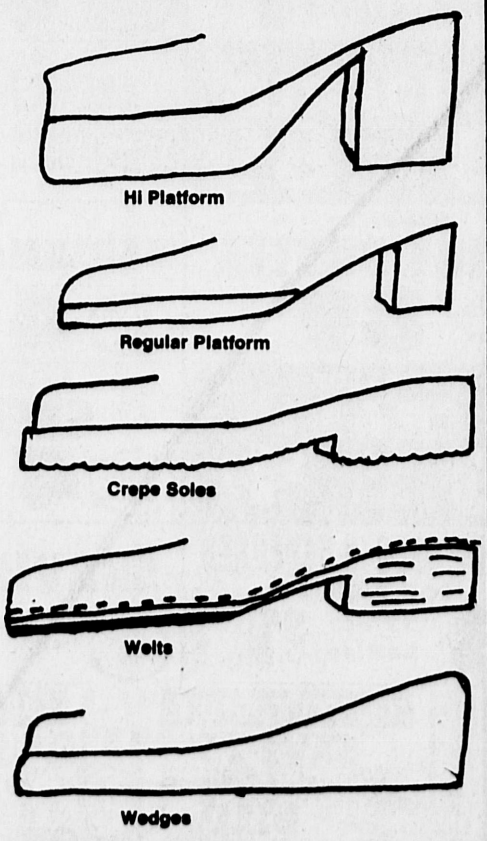

However, data on aerosols has been almost entirely lacking, so the Federal Food and Drug Administration has decided to seek it out. Inspectors are now visiting all manufacturers of what are called "drug" aerosols, including such products as feminine deodorant sprays, anti-perspitant sprays and breath sprays.

The FDA is seeking detailed information on aerosols. Starting with container specifications, valve specifications, the names of designers and suppliers of same, the inspectors are also seeking a complete description of the aerosol delivery system, the quality control systems for both formula and filling as well as a complete rundown of testing systems.

The FDA is particularly interested in testing for safety done by the manufacturer or by outside sources such as professional laboratories. If the manufacturer relies on previously published information rather than tests, the FDA wants to know what studies were used as the basis for the manufacturer's belief that the product is safe for normal use.

In seeking all this information, the FDA isn't implying that there's anything wrong with any aerosol product. The agency is simply seeking enough information in order to be able to evaluate standards for aerosols. Without these, it's not possible even to know whether a complaint is justified or not.

The aerosol investigation is one part of a long-range program the FDA is setting up for various cosmetic and toiletry fields, which should result in a far-reaching set of standards for better consumer service.

National Education Week On Smoking Jan. 11-17

"Non-smokers have rights too!" is the theme of National Education Week on Smoking which will be observed in the Norfolk County-Newton area from Jan. 11 through Jan. 17.

The opening date marks the tenth anniversary of the U.S. Surgeon General's report which linked cigarette smoking with major health problems such as cancer and heart and lung diseases.

The purpose of this year's campaign is to emphasize that non-smokers have a right to breathe clean air and to influence smokers to show greater consideration for those who do not smoke by restricting their habit in public places.

National Education Week on Smoking is sponsored annually by the National Inter-agency Council on Smoking and Health. The Council membership includes 34 national organizations interested in health and medicine. Their state and local units all over the country, as well as local interagency councils, will cooperate in the campaign. In this area, the sponsor is the Norfolk County–Newton Lung Association.

National honorary chairman for the week-long educational campaign is Rep. C. W. Bill Young of Florida, a leading proponent of non-smokers' rights. Rep. Young has introduced a bill into the House (H.R. 1309) requiring separate smoking and non-smoking sections on interstate planes, trains and buses.

President of the local Lung Association, Dr. Marjorie Young, said the Smoking Education Week effort will center on obtaining widespread recognition for a "Please don't smoke" symbol representing the rights of the non-smoker and the introduction of a three-point statement drawn up by the Council, known as the "Non–Smoker's Bill of Rights."

"Non-smokers can protect the health, comfort and safety of everyone," the document states, by insisting on (1) the right to breathe clean air, free from harmful and irritating tobacco smoke; (2) the right to express their discomfort and to object when smokers light up without asking permission; and (3) the right to act through legislative channels or social pressures to restrict smoking in public places.

The "Please don't smoke" emblem is based on an internationally used symbol, part of a series of safety and warning signs. It consists of a crossed-out cigarette within a circle. The symbol is the focal point of posters, table tents and other display materials distributed by the Council.

The harmful effects of smoke breathed in by non-smokers who are frequently a captive audience in close quarters with smokers will be pointed up as part of the campaign. A more recent report by the Surgeon General has stated that tobacco smoke can result in various allergic symptoms and serious discomfort among those who are exposed to a polluted atmosphere caused by smokers. It can be particularly harmful to those already suffering from lung or heart ailments.

During Smoking Education Week, clubs, organizations and medical groups will be asked to endorse the "Non-Smokers Bill of Rights" and to request members to refrain from smoking during meetings or to set aside separate smoking areas. Physicians, dentists and other health professionals will be asked to restrict smoking in their offices. Their influence also will be sought to persuade hospitals and other health care facilities to limit smoking. Cooperation also will be public places and conveyances.

"It is anticipated that the efforts made or initiated during National Education Week on Smoking will serve as a springboard for a continuous program to assert the rights of the non-smoker and to seek the cooperation of the smoker in respecting them," Dr. Young said. "For far too long non-smokers have suffered in silence the discomforts and threats to their health caused by inconsiderate smokers."

"As the educational campaign against smoking has developed, many non-smokers have realized that they constitute a two-to-one majority in relation to smokers," Dr. Young added. "They are now expressing themselves more and more in words and actions to establish that their rights have priority over those of smokers, where these rights conflict."

For information about Non–Smokers' Rights contact your Norfolk County-Newton Lung Association at 326-4081.

Weiner Elected Commodore

The new commodore of the Metropolitan Yacht Club in Braintree, Morton Weiner of Newton, is urging cooperation among boatsmen as they face the "dismal" fuel-short months ahead.

Weiner is currently national vice president of the Home Builders Association and an executive of a Waltham bank.

Weiner was installed as the new Commodore of the Metropolitan Yacht Club by the first Commodore of the 26-year-old club, Isadore Bromfield of Milton, an East Boston shipbuilder.

Bromfield installed all the new line officers of the 170-member club, the oldest and one of the largest boat clubs on the South Shore.

At installation ceremonies attended by more than 200 persons, Weiner warned that boatsmen may have to pool their resources to make maximum use of power boats. The majority of the boats moored at Metropolitan are power boats though there are several sailboats, all with auxiliary motors.

Also, installed as new officers for the 1974 season were Nathaniel Shermon, Quincy, vice commodore; Mac Winer of Randolph, rear commodore; Lawrence Belsky, Weston, fleet captain; Dr. Jerome Wasserman, Braintree, treasurer; and Robert Mitchell, Newton, assistant treasurer. Gabriel Lightman of Newton is secretary.

The officers were elected by the all-male membership, along with the following trustees: Alfred Keene, Newton; Mark Karsh, Milton; Malcolm Fox, Brookline; Philip Zafron, Newton; Daniel Rubin, Randolph; and John Pazyra, Quincy.

A two-story building for meetings and dances, and an Olympic-size swimming pool have been constructed at the club in the last decade.

Weiner said he is confident that the boating season ahead can be a good one if members show the cooperation he is requesting.

Unbeaten South Cagers Top Acton

By BRUCE BOYNICK

The Newton South basketball team remained undefeated through five games by downing the Acton - Boxborough Colonials in a 50-44 nailbiter at Acton - Boxborough last week.

It was the kind of game that Johnny Most dreams of announcing. The atmosphere was tense, resembling that of a seventh game of an NBA championship. Until the Lions called a time-out with nine seconds left in the game and a six point lead, the final outcome was continuously in doubt.

Newton South jumped out to an early lead on outside shots by Mark Jefferson and Mark Aronson.

Acton - Boxborough fought back to lead after one quarter of play, 15-14.

In the second stanza, the South defense stiffened and the Lions hit five of 10 shots from the field, outscoring the Colonials 13-9 to lead at the half, 27-24.

The teams battled to a 14-14 standstill in the third quarter, making the score 41-38.

In the fourth quarter, generally South's weakest defensively opposing teams have averaged 16 points the Lions held Acton - Boxborogh to six points, while scoring nine of their own.

High scorers for the Lions were Rich Spector and Jefferson, with 12 points each. Spector pulled down ten rebounds, five of them off the offensive boards.

Floor general Jefferson orchestrated the tempo of the game. Bob Harris and Aronson hit some key shots, finishing with ten and eight points, respectively. Harris gathered nine rebounds.

The contest was physical as 45 fouls were committed. Steve Korn, Aronson, and Jefferson all had 4 fouls. Jefferson picked up three fouls in the first half, but was ably spelled by junior guard Howie Pinderhughes.

Acton - Boxborough, which committed 25 fouls, had three men foul out, including starters John Olthoff and Kevin Harrington.

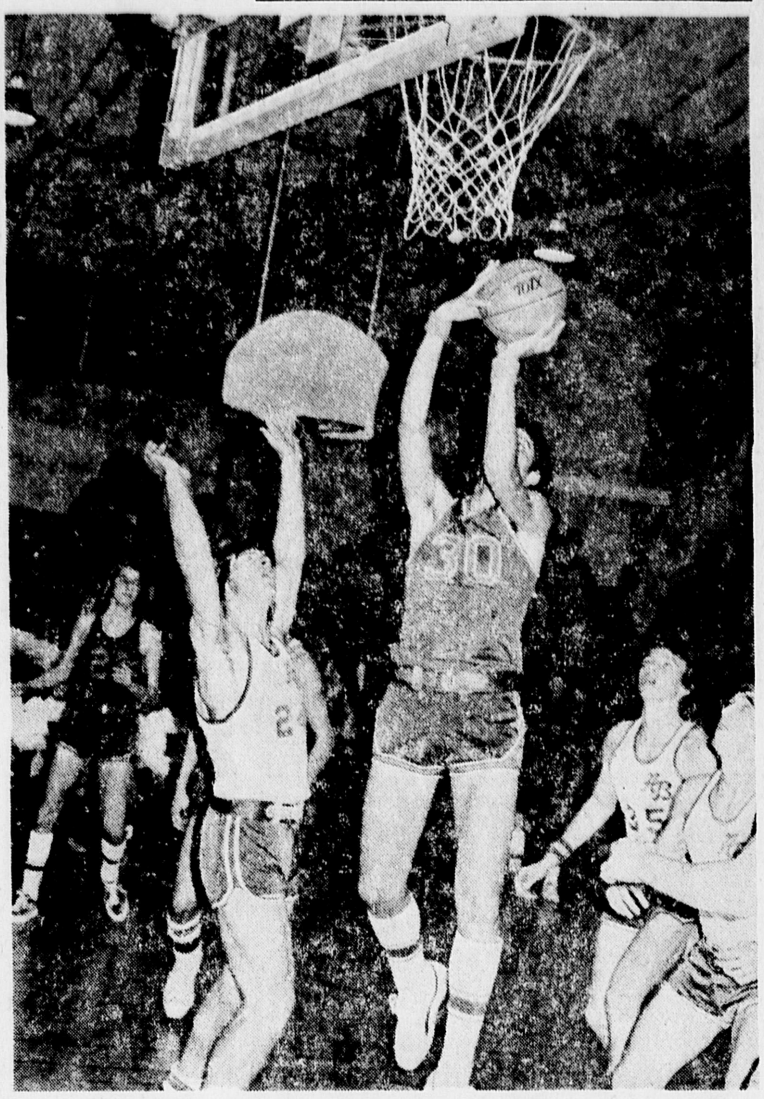

Either team could have won the game handily if it had fared well at the foul line. The Lions shot 13 for 27 (48.1 percent) while the Colonials netted 12 for 28 (42.8 percent). South failed to convert numerous one - and - one attempts at the line.

The Newton South defense deserves much credit. In each contest this year, the Lions have limited their opponents to less than 50 points. South held Acton - Boxborough's leading scorer Joe Harrington to his lowest scoring effort of the season.

Harrington finished with 19 points, a far cry from his 35-point effort versus Malden Catholic. The Lions played a 2-3 zone most of the game, occasionally switching to a man - to - man defense.

The Colonials were the best team that the Lions have faced this season. Lion Coach Dick Walker summed up the victory as "simply beautiful." The win made the Lions 1-0 in Dual County League play and 5-0 overall. Acton - Boxborough dipped to 0-1 in league play, and 2-1 overall.

On Friday, Jan. 11, the Lions host the Lincoln-Sudbury Warriors, who defeated Wayland 66-62, last Friday.

North Skaters Gain First Win

By KEITH GLASSER

Newton North's hockey team finally gave Coach Don Crowley his first victory when it scored a strong 5-0 win over Rindge Tech last week at the Boston Arena. Earlier in the week, Newton lost to first place Arlington, 6-1.

Dave Solomon slammed home a hat trick and Steve Donovan assisted on all three to lead the Tigers over winless Rindge Tech.

Dave Chapman started the scoring at 3:28 of the first period on an assist by Gus Quaranto. Solomon put Newton up 2-0 after a pass from Steve Donovan. Donovan circled the net and fed Solomon at the crease for the score at 11:42.

Solomon at 3:30, assisted by Donovan and Jeff Senior, and Ken Tocci from Frank Bodengraven at 10:16 closed out the scoring for Newton in the third period.

Joe Steele notched the shutout in the goal. He came up with a couple of fine saves in the second period.

The score could have been higher if the Rindge goalie had not made some outstanding stops.

After the game Crowley commented, "We moved the puck well and got some good shots that we were not getting in previous games."

Chapman broke Arlington's shutout streak at four games but it was not enough as the Spy Ponders prevailed 6-1 on Jan. 2. Arlington had scored 33 straight goals.

Arlington scored three goals in the opening period against the Tigers.

Chapman's goal on a rebound at 4:57 of the second period made the score 3-1. Cal Moffie and Ray Valente were given assists.

The goal seemed to lift Newton and it played the tough league-leading Spy Ponders to a standstill until three minutes remained in the game. The Tigers were digging and hustling, and missed three goals in the second period by inches.

Arlington broke the game open when Gary Burns scored his second goal of the game with three minutes remaining.

Summing up the past two games Crowley stated, "Since the first period with Arlington we have been playing much better hockey.

"We've been going in the corners and digging the puck out and getting good shots," Crowley added. "Hopefully it will continue at this level."

Newton tangles with St. Sebastian's Saturday, Jan. 12 at 2 p.m. at St. Sebastians in a non-league encounter.

Newton is now 1-4-1.

Newton South Wrestlers Win; Remain Undefeated

By HOWARD APPELSTEIN

The Newton South wrestling team upped its dual meet record to 4-0 when it defeated Brookline High, 50 to 18, last week.

The Lions gained a quick 18-0 lead when Bob Paisner, Mike Schockett and Capt. Paul Linn all scored pins.

Other South wrestlers who won with pins were Aaron Moynihan, Haskell Kingston and Walt Fatini.

Peter Nathanson, Howie Appelstein, Greg Moan and Peter Maples won their matches on decisions.

The only South wrestlers who lost were Brad Anthony, Art Murphy and Paul Tormey. All three were pinned by their Brookline opponents.

On Dec. 26 the South wrestlers traveled to UMass for a 16-team wrestling tournament. The Lions placed third behind Lowell High and Chelmsford High.

Schockett, Nathanson and Linn all finished with second places. Kingston was the only South winner with a first place finish in the 167-pound class. Appelstein and Maples gained fourth place honors.

Newton South Coach Aredis Kojoyian was pleased about the tournament results.

"I'm very happy that we placed six wrestlers in the tournament," Kojoyian commented. "It shows that we have a good balanced squad."

Newton South will travel to Newton North for a match Saturday night, Jan. 12.

The last time these local rivals met at North, the Tigers scored a dramatic three point victory. The Lions won last year's encounter at South.

Newton North Cagers Improve Record To 5-2

By JACK GREEN

Newton North's basketball team increased its winning streak to five games with victories over Brookline and Cambridge Latin last week.

The Tigers are now 5-2 after losing their first two games of the aeason.

Newton scored a 70-51 victory over Brookline, which had entered the game undefeated in Suburban League competition.

The first quarter contained fast action and ended in a 12-12 deadlock.

Hustling by Newton forced Brookline turnovers in the second period. Steve Forte played well at both ends of the court and the Tigers had a 29-22 lead at intermission.

Guard Kevin O'Boy kept Brookline close with some fine outside shooting.

Newton North expanded its lead to 50-34 in the third period. Junior forward Jack Ryan scored 12 points and played aggressively. Peter Laskaris controlled the backboards and Keith Glasser showed fine shooting.

Both centers fouled out in the fourth quarter. Newton's substitutes finished the game for the Tigers.

Glasser led Newton's scorers with 23 points. Laskaris scored 13 points and Ryan had 13. Forte scored 11 points.

O'Boy topped Brookline's scorers with 23 points.

Newton travelled to Cambridge Latin on Jan. 2 and gained a 79-41 win.

Laskaris scored 17 points in only 16 minutes. Ryan and Glasser each scored 14 points. Newton's bench had a lot of playing time.

South Track Team Still Looking For First Victory

By JEFF KAROL
and CHARLES HORIOKA

Newton South's indoor track team suffered a 68-18 beating at the hands of a powerful Fitchburg squad last week.

The Lions only first place came in the mile run. Junior Chris Capeless outkicked his opponents on the gun lap to win in 5:07.8. Dennis Bauke also finished strong and placed third, but was disqualified by the line judges.

In the other races, Stu Perry and Hal Bennett tied for second in the 40-yard dash with 5.2 clockings, and Jeff Karol finished second in the 1000-yard run with a 2:41.4 effort.

Andy Shulman finished a close third in the 300-yard dash with a 36.9 clocking, Co-Captain Peter Kotzen placed third in the 600-yard run with a time of 1:26.3, and Bob Lein took third place in the two-mile run with a 10:58.5 effort.

In the field events, Neal Zafron placed second in the high jump with a leap of 5'2" and Chuck Bond, who had previously been the Lions only undefeated competitor, missed third place by an inch in the shot put, despite throwing a personal best of 40'8".

Fitchburg swept the 45-yard high hurdles and won the relay race.

Two factors in the loss were the absence of Co-Captain Steve Berger, a consistent scorer in the high jump and hurdles, who was unable to compete due to illness, and Newton South's lack of depth in several events.

Coaches Don Sutherland and Jim Blackburn hope that the Lions, who are now in last place in the Dual County League standings with a 0-4 record, will be more competitive when they face Lincoln-Sudbury Saturday, Jan. 12 at 2 p.m. at the Wayland High School Field House.

Commentary

B. C. Slowdown Attempt Fails Against Maryland

By LEWIS FREEDMAN

Boston College played Maryland recently, and lived to tell about it.

That's Maryland, as in the Terrapins, as in the Maryland which lost to UCLA, 65 to 64 this year.

And the Eagles didn't lose 100-0 either. It was bad enough to let them know where they stand in the world, but encouraging enough to let them know they'll be moving up, too.

Maryland won, 58-37 after BC coach Bob Zuffelato tried to psyche out Lefty Dreisell's bunch with a slowdown. It didn't work.

Maryland, with Len Elmore leading the way, defeated Holy Cross prior to BC and thus captured its own holiday tournament.

LeMoyne loomed next and the now maturing Eagles took that foe apart, 94-75, behind smooth Bob Carrington's 29 points.

The Eagles are 5-3 with a schedule ahead which should fatten that up some. The near future has Villanova, New Hampshire, Harvard, and Boston University listed., - villanova could be tough, but none of these teams are foes BC should lose to.

And then it's on to the iron again and finally a stay in the friendly confines of McHugh Forum with the finals of the Beanpot Tournament and a game versus Jesuit rival Holy Cross.

\+ + +

One thing the Eagles were embarrassed about was being upset in their opener against Canisius. In that game an unknown player named Larry Fagel destroyed them with 40 points.

They needn't have been embarrassed. Fogelis now the leading college scorer in the nation.

Newton South Hockey Team Blanked Again, 5-0

By Mark Cooper

Newton South's hockey team dropped a 5-0 decision to Lincoln - Sudbury in a Dual County League game last week at West Concord Arena.

It was the third straight shutout imposed on the Lions, and the fourth they have suffered this season. South's record dropped to 1-4-1.

The Lions were outshot by Lincoln - Sudbury 31-6. South was pinned in its own end of the rink during most of the game.

At 8:22 of the first period, after a continuous bombardment of South goalie Dave Satter, Lincoln - Sudbury's Steve Leger fired a wrist shot into South's net to open the scoring.

The second period was dominated by Lincoln - Sudbury. Four Newton South penalties within a span of 10 seconds resulted in two Lincoln power play goals. Glen MacKenzie was called for slashing, Jeff Randall for improper equipment, a bench penalty was called for arguing a previous call, and Joe Donlon was penalized for slashing.

Lincoln - Sudbury scored four times in the middle stanza to gain a 5-0 advantage.

The third period was scoreless. South Coach Neil McPhee gave his reserves some ice time.

"Lack of consistency is our main problem," commented McPhee. "We can never put two good games together in a row."

Newton South has scored five goals in its first six games. McPhee has hinted that he may move a defenseman up to offense to attempt to get more scoring.

The Lions scrimmaged Everett High last week and emerged with a 2-2 tie. Both South goals were scored by defensemen. Donlon tallied on a hard slap shot from center ice, and Randall scored from the blue line.

South's next game is against Wayland on Friday, Jan. 11 at 8 p.m.

North Riflery Team Opens With Victory

By KEITH GLASSER

The Newton North High riflery team opened its season with a 847-833 win over Wayland last week at the West Newton Armory.

Newton's top five scorers, who combined for the 847, were Sal Yerardi (173), David Palmieri (173), Tony Rufo (168), Curtis McCool (168), and Matt Berry (165). They all scored below their practice averages, except for Yerardi and Palmieri.

The win made Coach John Meyer's debut a success. He felt the reason for low scores was that it was the shooters first match of the year.

A usual winning score is between 860-890. Last year, when Wayland beat Newton, it shot a 904.

"We didn't shoot up to our expectations and capabilities," Meyer said. "I'm sure the scores will improve with match experience."

Newton's next home match will be on Thursday, Jan. 17 at the West Newton Armory at 3:30 p.m. Its first away match is at the Lexington Armory vs. Bedford at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, Jan. 15.

Whalers Bow 3-2

BOSTON (UPI) — Brit Selby just shot the puck in the general direction of the net, and hoped something good would happen.

And indeed it did. The puck took a bounce off Bruce Landon's pads and rebounded into the Whaler net and Selby had himself a game-winner, as the Toronto Toros rallied for a come-from-behind 3-2 win Tuesday over the New England Whalers.

"I was aiming about a foot away from the net," Selby joked, "and I hoped his (Landon's) stick would be there, and it was."

Selby had fished the puck out of a scramble and scored the goal only 27 seconds after Steve King had tied the game at 2-2 for the Toros at :22 of the final stanza.

Celts Host Bulls Tonight

BOSTON (UPI) — The Boston Celtics will need their fastest sneakers tonight because if they're slow, they could get gored by the Chicago Bulls.

The Celtics, playing only their second home game in a month, have split two other games this season with Chicago—winning at home and losing on the road.

The word to describe the Bulls is "physical" and the way to beat them is to outrun them. The Celtics used their speed Dec. 1 in a 120-98 romp but were caught flatfooted the following week, 112-95.

"A team has to take control of the tempo of the game in order to beat the Bulls," said Celtic coach Tom Heinsohn. "They are a well disciplined team and play hard-nosed defense.

"If you don't make them play your game, you're in trouble," said Heinsohn.

The Celtics won't be in injury trouble, anyway, since both Dave Cowens (knee) and Jo Jo White (thigh) ran freely in Tuesday's practice and were expected to be in top form for the Bulls game.

John Havlicek needs 41 more points to become the eighth National Basketball Association player to score 20,000 points in a career. Havlicek could reach the figure tonight, but more likely will top the 20,000 total in Friday night's home game against the Los Angeles Lakers.

BREWERS SIGN TWO

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — The Milwaukee Brewers announced Tuesday outfielders Felipe Alou and Ken Berry, both in off-season deals, have signed 1974 contracts.

The signings brought the number of Brewers already signed to 10, including 20-game winner Jim Colborn and first baseman George Scott, who finished second in the American League batting race last season.

The Brewers said other players who signed recently included pitchers Bill Travers, Kevin Kobel and Bill Wilson, catcher Charlie Moore, third baseman John Vukovich and outfielder Rob Ellis.

Newton North Swimmers Lose Third Straight Meet

By RICK GORDON

Weston's powerhouse swim team stormed into Newton North last week and fought off a courageous Tiger effort to give Newton its third consecutive defeat.

Few people expected the Tigers to come as close as they did to ending Weston's fourteen meet win streak. The final count was 94-78. Weston's club is the first co-ed team the Tigers have run into this season, although the majority of their swimmers are male.

Kurt Pohlman, Nick Antoniades, John Mescall and John Wish opened the afternoon by placing second in the medley relay.

Gil Pementel earned third in the 200-yard freestyle as he became the first Newton swimmer to finish among the top three in that race since the team's opening double dual meet against Cambridge Latin and Rindge. Marty Waters, a surprise entry, place fifth.

In the individual medley, Scott Eston earned runner-up points for the second time. Eston also has three firsts in the medley this season. Rob Hershfield finished fourth for Newton.

John Volante captured second, Scott Pohlman third, and Dale Syphers fifth in the 50-yard freestyle. After the meet, Tiger coach Benn Merritt praised Volante's performance citing him as a swimmer who is really "coming on."

Newton's three divers against Weston practiced almost every day during vacation and Merritt credited this for the strong Tiger showing. Paul Gentile outdistanced his competition for first, followed in second by teammate Ken Freedberg.

After four straight seconds in the butterfly, John Wish clocked his best time while finally winning the event, In the 100-yard freestyle Pohlman, Syphers and Volante took second, third and fourth, respectively, in one of the day's closest races.

In the grueling 20 lap, 500-yard freestyle, Newton finally managed better than fourth. Merritt commented, "Gil (Pementel) finally decided it doesn't hurt to go it all out," and for doing so Pementel finished second. Mike Nolan and Larry Goodglass placed fifth and sixth in the same race.

Merritt expressed great pleasure over the performance of his 200 and 500-yard freestyle swimmers. He particularly cited Waters, Nolan and Goodglass, each swimming the long events for the first time. He added that all showed, "they want to work," to try to earn a regular spot in those events.

In the 100-yard backstroke Jay Jassett's second was the best Newton finish. Pohlman took second and Eston fourth for the Tigers in the breastroke.

Charles Wu, Pohlman, Syphers and Ed Devine won the meet's final race. the freestyle relay, chopping two full seconds off their best time of the season.

"We did very well" Merritt said after the match. "I was very happy." He also mentioned similarities between his girls' team (2-8 record) and the boys. "They got better and better," Merritt commented.

"I was very happy." He also mentioned similarities between his girls' team (2-8 record) and the boys. "They got better and better," Merritt commented.

"This is a good team," Merritt added.

After trailing Weston by sixteen points with only three races completed, the Tigers swam even with the Wildcats through the final eight events.

Dave Fishkind, who had previously gained a first and two seconds in diving, did not dress for the meet.

Merritt estimated that about two-thirds of the team turned up for every practice session over the recess.

Bruins Face Leaders

BOSTON (UPI) — Coach Bep Guidolin was to put his Boston Bruins through a doubly rugged practice session today to tune the National Hockey League East leaders for a pair of tough home games in the next three days.

The Bruins, unable to practice Tuesday because of continuing problems with the ice surface at Boston Garden, face the Chicago Black Hawks Thursday night and the Montreal Canadiens Saturday afternoon in a nationally televised game.

"We missed a day of practice, so we have to make it up with a stiff workout" today, said Guidolin. "These are two very important and tough games for us.

Guidolin was hopeful Goalie Gil Gilbert, recuperating from a sore back, would be ready for both games but was unsure about the readiness of winger Wayne Cashman for the Chicago game. Cashman has a bruised stomach and a charley horse, incurred in last Saturday night's win over the Islanders in New York.

The Black Hawks, who have gotten seven goals in as many games from Dennis Hull, will use Tony Esposito in goal against the Bruins.

Newton North Gym Facilities Open Soon

The new Newton North High School gym facilities will be added to the Newton Recreation Department's existing program which includes use of the indoor pool, track and tennis courts. The gym facilities will become available Jan. 14.

The gym hours will correspond to the hours the tennis courts and track are being used, weekday evenings from 7:15-10 p.m. On Saturdays and Sundays, the gym will be open from 2-10 p.m. These hours are subject to cancellation for school games and special activities. Recreation Commissioner John Penney, says the program will include informal basketball and volleyball with no league games to be scheduled for the facility.

Weekday evenings will be primarily for adults while Friday and Saturday evenings the facility will be open to teenagers on a co-ed basis. Sunday afternoons, family groups may use this facility.

The program is open to all Newton residents free of charge.

Penney reminds the public that the indoor track is available to joggers from 7-8 p.m. seven days a week and that tennis permit holders may reserve the indoor tennis courts weekday evenings from 8-10 p.m., Saturdays from 2-10 p.m. and Sundays from 10 a.m.-10 p.m., by calling 965-0267 between 7 p.m. and 8 p.m. daily.

HARVEY SUSPENDED

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI) — Right wing Buster Harvey has been suspended indefinitely without pay by the Minnesota North Stars for what Coach Parker MacDonald called ineffective play and insubordination.

"This is something that did not happen in a day," Macdonald said Thursday when he announced the suspension. "I have been very displeased with the quality of Harvey's play for some time."

Tiger Wrestlers Win And Lose One-Sided Matches

By BOB LOW

After scoring an impressive 51-18 win over Lexington, Newton North's wrestling team was given a 50-9 beating by Waltham and came out of last week with an even record.

On Dec. 31, Lexington came to Newton and the Minutemen were the victims of the Tigers' best effort of the season. Newton came up with six straight pins to turn a close match into a rout.

Lexington got off to an early 10-0 lead as Paul Siegenthaler was defeated 12-1 and Mike Annesi was pinned.

Lexington did not win again until 10 matches later.

Mark Siegenthaler registered a pin and George Hebard won 14-1 to tie the score before Steve Rosen tied and Steve Parker gained a 2-1 win to make the score 15-12 in Newton's favor.

Cliff Brown, Bobby Keefe, Bruce McNulty, Donny Keefe, Mark Riley, and Mike Mulcahy then all scored pins to give Newton a 51-12 lead. Riley's pin was particularly impressive, coming only 33 seconds into the match. Lexington took the last match on a pin to make the final score 51-18.

Five days later the result was reversed, as Waltham pinned a 50-9 defeat on Newton. The Tigers were able to come up with only two wins and a tie in the one-sided match and suffered their second loss of the season.

Waltham took a quick 15-0 lead. Ron Thibideau pinned Paul Siegenthaler, Paul Bernardi defeated Mike Annesi, 11-5, and Mark Siegenthaler was pinned.

George Hebard injected some hope in the Tigers with a solid 12-0 win, but Waltham opened its lead again when Newton's Steve Rosen lost, 7-3. Cliff Brown tied with Joe Chiasson before John Monahan and Bruce McNulty lost and Bobby Keefe was pinned.

With the match out of reach for Newton, Donny Keefe scored a 7-4 win over Paul Mabardy in the hardest fought battle of the day.

Waltham then closed out the afternoon with three pins, the last by Fred Smerlas in just 22 seconds.

The loss dropped the Tigers' record to 2-2 under first year Coach Pat Coleman.

Longevity Milestone For Whalers' Don Blackburn

They call this man Blackie.

No, this Blackie is not the scraggily-faced, ornery hombre who robbed the Wells Fargo stagecoach each week on the old television serials. Nor is he the cunning detective of the 1940's, who earned the tag of Boston Blackie from those seedy movie gangsters.

No, this Boston Blackie is left winger Don Blackburn of the New England Whalers, who will reach a magic milestone in Toronto at Thursday, Jan. 10. Barring injury, the 35 year old Blackburn will skate onto the ice that evening for the 1000th time as a professional.

"Believe me, never in my wildest dreams did I ever think I would ever play in 1,000 games as a pro. "Blackburn said with the kind of sheepish Robert Mitchum grin that has won him a top spot on the Whalers' totem pole of popularity at Boston Garden.

The 16-year veteran credits conditioning and good old-fashioned enthusiasm as the reasons for his longevity. "I just love this game," enthused Blackburn, "and I've been relatively injury free.

"I work hard in practice to keep in good shape and I love playing with the Whalers," Blackburn added. "They're a great bunch of guys, and Boston is the best hockey city to play in.

"Plus, my wife teaches in the Attleboro area. What more can a guy ask for?"

You could fill a closet with the number of team sweaters Blackburn has worn on his long and winding hockey road. Originally drafted by the Boston Bruins in 1956, Blackie has ridden the roller coaster of a hockey journeyman.

From the exhaustion of endless minor league bus rides to the euphoria of scoring a Stanley Cup overtime goal, Blackburn has skated for 13 different clubs of varying descriptions before joining the Whalers this season.

"People are playing longer now," Blackburn said, "and I think there are several reasons why.

"For one, I credit Punch Imlach, (former coach and general manager of the Toronto Maple Leafs and Buffalo Sabres) with establishing the concept that older players are valuable to a hockey club," Blackburn commented. "When I first broke in, general managers would start phasing you out when you reached 30 years of age. But when Imlach started winning Stanley Cups with players 35, 36, 37 years old, people in hockey realized that an experienced player can help a club." This is precisely why the Whalers signed Don Blackburn last June.

"We were looking for experience on the left side," said Whaler coach Ron Ryan, "so we went after Blackie and signed him.

"He has more than exceeded our expectations," Ryan added. "He's got great puck sense and works in the corners very well. And he also checks the better right wingers in the league. Guys like Danny Lawson and Gordie Howe."

As quick with a one-liner as he is with a wrist-shot, Blackburn has amassed 311 goals and 503 assists in his professional career to date. His 811 career points give him an average of a point in every four of five games in which he has played. Blackburn's two goal and three assists game against Winnipeg on November 7 is the highest single game production of a Whaler this season.

Does Blackburn have any thoughts about retirement? "Right now, I still have a season left on the two-year contract I signed with the Whalers last June," Blackburn said. 'So ask me again after next season. But as long as I can stay in shape and play this game. well . . . ."

Maybe detective Boston Blackie is still playing on the Late Late Show. But by the sound and fury of this Boston Blackie, Don Blackburn will be featured in prime time for years to come.

MCGINLEY RETIRES

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — Arthur Bosworth "Art" McGinley, 84, dean of Connecticut sportswriters and sports editor of the Hartford Times for more than 50 years, announced his retirement Tuesday.

McGinley worked at almost a dozen other newspapers including the Washington Post, the Hartford Post, Hartford Courant and the Providence Journal before he came to the Times on Sept. 20, 1920.

North Track Team Gains Second Win

By RICH RAUM

A rare sweep in the 600, and two spots in the 1000 helped Newton to a 55-31 victory over Waltham last week.

The win upped Newton's record to 2-2. Waltham has a 2-1 mark.

The Tigers have had trouble with the 600 and 1000 for the last couple of years, but they scored 13 out of a possible 18 points in the two events against Waltham.

Ken Tocci, Rich Raum and Joe Delorenzo finished one-two-three in the 600, Gary Tutungian and Brian McCallion placed second and third for Newton in the 1000.

Newton's Bob Meek ran a 36.8 to win the 300, Mike Auciello, also of Newton, took third.

Jim Averback wound up in a tie for first place in the shot put, heaving it 46'1½". John Cardillo grabbed third place for the Tigers.

Tom Hightower and Dave Kingsbury gave Newton a second and third in the two-mile, while Bill Seaward and Bill Fulton took first and second in the high jump. Seaward's winning leap was 5'10".

Waltham won the dash, but Newton's Pete Waxman, and Hugh Caplan took second and third, respectively.

The relay was won by Newton, in the time of 3:06.3.

National Education Week On Smoking Jan. 11-17

"Non-smokers have rights too!" is the theme of National Education Week on Smoking which will be observed in the Norfolk County-Newton area from Jan. 11 through 17. The opening date marks the 10th anniversary of the U. S. Surgeon General's report which linked cigarette smoking with major health problems such as cancer and heart and lung diseases.

Purpose of this year's campaign is to emphasize that non-smokers have a right to breathe clean air and to influence smokers to show greater consideration for those who do not smoke by restricting their habit in public places.

National Education Week on Smoking is sponsored annually by the National Interagency Council on Smoking and Health. The Council membership includes 34 national organizations interested in health and medicine. Their state and local units all over the country, as well as local interagency councils, will cooperate in the campaign. In this area, the sponsor is the Norfolk County-Newton Lung Association.

National Honorary Chairman for the week-long educational campaign is Rep. C. W. Bill Young of Florida, a leading proponent of non-smokers' rights. Rep. Young has introduced a bill into the House (H. R. 1309) requiring separate smoking and non-smoking sections on interstate planes, trains and buses.

President of the local Lung Association, Dr. Marjorie Young, said the Smoking Education Week effort will center on obtaining widespread recognition for a "Please don't smoke" symbol representing the rights of the non-smoker and the introduction of a three-point statement drawn up by the Council, known as the "Non-Smoker's Bill of Rights."

"Non-smokers can protect the health, comfort and safety of everyone," the document states, by insisting on (1) the right to breathe clean air, free from harmful and irritating tobacco smoke; (2) the right to express their discomfort and to object when smokers light up without asking permission; and (3) the right to act through legislative channels or social pressures to restrict smoking in public places.

The "Please don't smoke" emblem is based on an internationally used symbol, part of a series of safety and warning signs. It consists of a crossed-out cigarette within a circle. The symbol is the focal point of posters, table tents and other display materials distributed by the Council.

The harmful effects of smoke breathed in by non-smokers who are frequently a captive audience in close quarters with smokers will be pointed up as part of the campaign. A more recent report by the Surgeon General has stated that tobacco smoke can result in various allergic symptoms and serious discomfort among those who are exposed to a polluted atmosphere caused by smokers. It can be particularly harmful to those already suffering from lung or heart ailments.

During Smoking Education Week, clubs, organizations and medical groups will be asked to endorse the "Non-Smoker's Bill of Rights" and to request members to refrain from smoking during meetings or to set aside separate smoking areas. Physicians, dentists and other health professionals will be asked to restrict smoking in their offices. Their influence also will be sought to persuade hospitals and other health care facilities to limit smoking. Cooperation also will be requested of business and industry to limit smoking among employees. State and local legislation will be sought to restrict or separate smokers in public places and conveyances.

"It is anticipated that the efforts made or initiated during National Education Week on Smoking will serve as a springboard for a continuous program to assert the rights of the non-smoker and to seek the cooperation of the smoker in respecting them," Dr. Young said. "For far too long non-smokers have suffered in silence the discomforts and threats to their health caused by inconsiderate smokers. As the educational campaign against smoking has developed, many non-smokers have realized that they constitute a two-to-one majority in relation to smokers. They are now expressing themselves more and more in words and actions to establish that their rights have priority over those of smokers, where these rights conflict."

For information about Non-Smokers' Rights contact your Norfolk County-Newton Lung Association at 326-4081.

Scholarships Announced By Labor Council

All seniors in public and parochial high schools in Massachusetts are invited to participate in the scholarship awards program conducted by the Massachusetts State Labor Council, AFL-CIO.

There are over $20,000 in scholarships, including a $1,000 scholarship in memory of the late President John F. Kennedy and a $1,000 scholarship named in memory of Francis E. Lavigne, former director of the Department of Education and Research of the Massachusetts State Labor Council. Other awards given by affiliates of the Council are in amounts ranging from $100 to $1,000.

High school seniors must file application in their respective high schools prior to March 15, 1974. The examination is comprised of a series of questions dealing with the subject of labor in the United States. The two-hour examination will also include an essay dealing with Labor and related matters.

John A. Callahan, director of COPE and Education for the Massachusetts State Labor Council, is expecting substantially more senior boys and girls to participate in the 1974 awards program than have in the previous years. Callahan noted a greater interest on the part of young people seeking financial aid to help defray the costs of higher education.

Examination study kids will be forwarded to high schools throughout the state during the month of January and all senior contemplating participation should notify the proper authorities at their school.

"Pulmonary Disease" Film On Channel 2

On Monday, January 14, "Pulmonary Disease: The Hidden Enemy"—the third program in "The Killers" medical documentary series—will be broadcast from 8 to 9:30 p.m. over Channel 2, the Public Broadcasting Service.

The Norfolk County-Newton Lung Association urges anyone interested in learning about emphysema, bronchitis, lung cancer, occupational lung diseases and other lung ailments to tune in on that evening. Pulmonary disease is responsible for the deaths of more than 150,000 Americans each year, according to the Association.

Christmas Seal contributions received by the association are used to help combat these diseases through research and educational programs for the public, such as "The Killers."

Faulkner Director Going To St. Elizabeth's

John A. Blanchard, president of the Faulkner Hospital, announced today the resignation of William J. Skerry, director of the Faulkner Hospital for the past eight years. Skerry will become executive director of St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Brighton effective Feb. 15, according to a statement by St. Elizabeth's trustees.

Associate Director of the Faulkner James V. Kerrigan will begin to serve as acting director at that time.

Skerry was instrumental in getting the Faulkner's building program under construction. He was also active in developing a comprehensive plan for the delivery of health care to the community, developing and organizing new services at the Faulkner and working to merge the Faulkner Hospital, Doctors Hospital and the Adams Nervine Clinic.

WILLIAM J. SKERRY

Under Skerry's leadership, the Faulkner established a Department of Community Medicine to work with community health care committees in meeting the health needs of the community. Innovations in nursing education have also been developed, and a division of Personnel and Educational Services has been created to coordinate the Faulkner's training programs.

"Skerry leaves," Blanchard said, "at a time when the Faulkner's construction program is going forward rapidly, its financing package is completed, and the desperately needed new building is assured. We are sorry to lose Bill, but the position offered to him represents a substantial opportunity."

The Faulkner is currently in the midst of a $29.5 million construction program, completion of which will result in the entire replacement of its present 40- to 70-year-old facilities. A 580-car garage has been completed and is fully operational. Presently under construction is a new hospital which will contain 240 medical-surgical beds, 15 short-term psychiatric beds, and office space for 40 physicians. The new building has been designed to enable the Faulkner to meet the drastically and dramatically changing concept of community health care delivery.

Before coming to the Faulkner, Skerry was an administrator at Somerville Hospital and the assistant director at Malden Hospital. He is a past president of the Massachusetts Hospital Association, a trustee of the New England Hospital Assembly, a member of the American Hospital Assocation, a past member of the board of directors of the Greater Boston Hospital Association, and a Fellow of the American college of Hospital Administrators. Skerry received a master's degree in hospital administration from St. Louis University and a bachelor of arts degree from Tufts University.

As executive director of St. Elizabeth's, Skerry will again be involved in planning for construction — this time of a proposed $10 million, seven-story structure below St. Elizabeth's present hospital complex.

"My decision to accept the offer of St. Elizabeth's Hospital," Skerry said, "was motivated by my hope that I can use the knowledge and experience gained at the Faulkner to make a greater contribution there to the health care field."

A native of Massachusetts, Skerry, his wife and five children live in Newton Centre.

Grant Wants Vikings To Get Mad

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Editor

HOUSTON (UPI) — Next to football, Bud Grant loves hunting best, and what he's hunting most now is for some way to motivate his Minnesota Vikings, get them so mad, so fired up, that they'll come charging out there in the Super Bowl Sunday and demolish the Miami Dolphins.

He may have found a way.

Basically, it's an old chestnut, a very old one, but it still works more often than it doesn't, and if it does again once more this time, the Vikings blow town Sunday night richer by better than a million bucks and Bud Grant comes out looking like a full-fledged genius.

He began Operation Fire-Up Monday.

That was the day the media members got to visit Miami's and Minnesota's local training facilities for the first time.

The Dolphins are using the Houston Oilers' practice facilities and Miami Coach Don Shula says they're "nice." The Dolphins had first crack insofar as training quarters are concerned because this is an AFC city and they are the AFC's representatives in the Super Bowl.

So nothing was said by Shula abtut the Dolphin facilities when they were inspected Monday.

Plenty Said Later

There was plenty said though a couple of hours later when the people from the media visited the Vikings' quarters.

To begin with, Grant and the Vikings were a half hour late. They were due 1:30 p.m. and didn't get there until 2.

Grant gave a reason for that, but nobody paid much attention.

"Miami can walk from their hotel to their (practice) field," he said. "We have to take a 20-minute bus ride to get to ours."

The next hour or so was given over to picture-taking and interviewing the Viking players.

If Grant was upset over the team's dressing quarters at James. M. Delmar Stadium, a typical high school facility likely to be found in this part of the country, you'd never know it. Bud Grant is another Ed Sullivan. The Great Stone Face. He never lays his emotions on the table.

At the end of Monday's session though, he trotted out the old chestnut.

"What do you think of the facilities here?" someone asked the Vikings' coach.

That was the question Grant was waiting for. Some even thought he purposely set up the question, but he didn't.

"The field is all right, but ...," he said.

But what?

He Lets It All Hang Out

Bud Grant then let it all hang out.

He never raised his voice, but he got his message across perfectly. The field was okay but the dressing quarters were terrible.

"Just take a look in the locker room," Grant said. "No lockers, no place to hang your clothes. The league has had a whole year to make these arrangements."

Well, who was the one responsible?

"The league is responsible," said Grant, "and Pete Rozelle runs the league."

Reporters immediately headed for the Vikings' dressing room. Jim Hefferman, the NFC's director of information, said no newsmen were permitted inside. Those were his orders.

"Bud Grant says it's okay to go inside," someone said to Heffernan, and seconds later Grant appeared coming in from the field.

"Go in and take a look," he instructed newsmen assembled at the door. "Bring your photographers in with you. Let 'em take pictures."

Inside, the sight was one you'd never believe.

There was football equipment all over the floor.

There were no lockers, as Grant had said. Only makeshift silver bars on rollers with wire hangers supended from them. Those were for the players' street clothes.

Tables Used as Lockers

The Viking coaches "lockers" were simple wooden tables.

A basketball backboard hung at the far end of the room, and one of the Vikings' equipment men called attention to the shower stalls. In one of them a pair of sparrows were perched atop the shower head.

"You don't look that upset," one newsman said to Grant. "I only get upset about those things I'm responsible for. I'm not responsible for this. Someone else is."

Bud Grant made it plain that someone else was Pete Rozelle, the football commissioner. Word was relayed to Rozelle about Grant's remarks and he sent word back here he wasn't pre-judging Grant because he didn't have all the facts, but there might be a fine.

The maximum fine for remarks "detrimental" to football is $5,000. That's potato chips compared to what the Super Bowl winner winds up with.

Maybe Pete Rozelle will find Bud Grant, and I have a hunch Bud Grant is hoping he will because he fanned the flames a bit Tuesday when he heard Rozelle's statement. He certainly showed no misgivings over what he had said Monday.

"You think it was worth it?" one reporter asked him.

Grant smiled thinly.

"Well you know where we were yesterday," he said. "Look where we are today!"

Obituaries

John J. DelMonte

John J. DelMonte, 69, of 475 Boylston St., Newton Centre, died Tuesday, (Dec. 25) in the Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

Newton police rushed DelMonte, the former state labor commissioner to the hospital at about 10 p.m. following an automobile accident in which his car struck a utility pole on Floral Street, Newton Highlands.

DelMonte, with his wife as a passenger, had been driving east when his car smashed with the pole in front of 89 Floral St., according to reports.

Officers Harold J. Travers and Francis Barrett reported apparent injuries to the couple were minor, but that DelMonte seemed to suffer some form of illness.

A lifelong resident of Newton, Mr. DelMonte was a past president of Massachusetts Federation of Labor, past president of the Central Labor Union, former business agent of Local 379 of the Treasurers Union, a member of Newton Lodge of Elks, and a member of Crozier Council, Knights of Columbus, and past president of Fillippo Corsi Society of Newton Centre.

He was appointed state labor commissioner by Gov. Paul A. Dever and served from 1949 to 1953.

He leaves his widow, Florence (Colograntе); one daughter, Mrs. John (Claire) Carroll of Ntick; three sisters, Mrs. Celia Cichetti of Newton, Mrs. Ernest Osgood of Fla.; Mrs. Raul Pallazolla of Medford; a brother, Anthony, of Newton; and nine grandchildren.

The funeral mass was Friday, (Dec. 28) in Sacred Heart Church. Burial was in St. Joseph's Cemetery in West Roxbury.

Bertha P. McDonough

Funeral services for Miss Bertha P. McDonough were held Tuesday (Jan. 8) with a mass in Sacred Heart Church.

Miss McDonough, 89, of 53 Paul St., Newton Centre, died suddenly at her home Saturday (Jan. 5). Formerly a hairdresser, she had been retired for 35 years.

Burial is in St. Joseph's Cemetery, Manchester, N.H.

George W. Gray

George W. Gray, 58, of 7 Lind Rd., West Newton, died Saturday (Jan. 5) in Newton-Wellesley Hospital after a brief illness.

He had lived in the West Newton-Waltham area for the past 20 years and was employed as an elevator operator.

Mr. Gray is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Charlotte G. Cookingham of Hopkinton and Mrs. Rhona Dearborn of Washington, N.H.; and an aunt, Mrs. Florida Michaud of West Newton.

Funeral services were held Tuesday (Jan. 8). Interment is in Newton Cemetery.

Gerardo Tocci

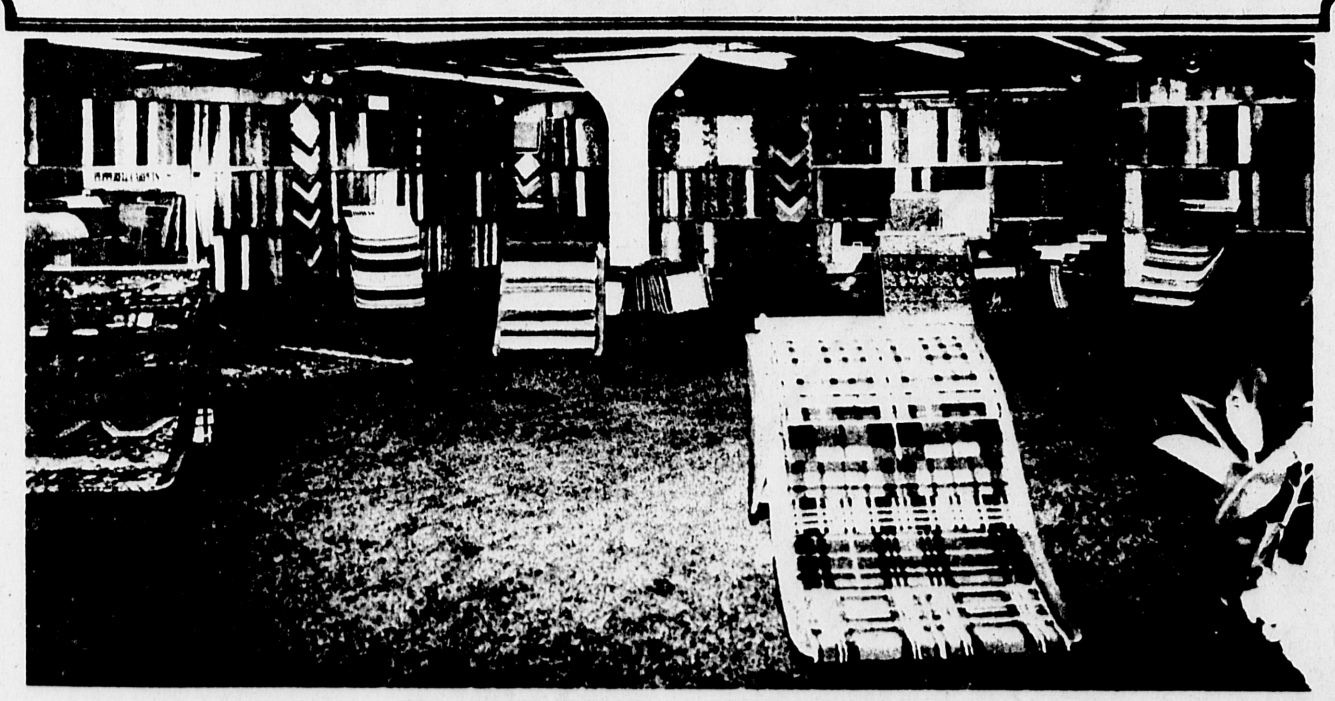

The funeral of Gerardo Tocci, a resident of Newton for more than 60 years, was held Monday (Jan. 7) with a mass at the Church of Our Lady.

Mr. Tocci, 91, of 18 West St., Newton, died Thursday (Jan. 3) at St. Elizabeth's Hospital after a long illness. Before his retirement, he had worked as a mason-foreman.

Husband of the late Gerarda Tocci, Mr. Tocci is survived by three daughters, Miss Anna Tocci of Cambridge, Mrs. Rose Riley of Arlington and Mrs. Lucia Ross of Washington; six sons, Loreto of Newton, Domenic of Everett, Joseph of Mashpee, Anthony of Lunenburg, Daniel of Auburndale and Robert of Newton; 25 grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren.

Burial is in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

Number Of Apartments Being Renewed By Church Group

The Cooperative Metropolitan Ministries, a Greater Boston organization dedicated to improving the quality of life in the inner city, is using the resources of its member churches and temples to sponsor the rehabilitation of housing in Boston's South End.

Through its wholly-owned subsidiary, Worcester Street Trust, C.M.M. has closed a loan of $570,000 with the Massachusetts Housing Finance Agency to rehabilitate 31 apartments for low and moderate income people. The four buildings are at 149, 153, 155 Worcester street and 3 Columbus avenue, a key location in the South End, according to William J. White, MHFA Executive Director, who announced the loan today.

According to C.M.M. Executive Director Charles H. Harper, the interior demolition work has been finished and the buildings are now well into the construction stage.

From its 45 member churches and temples in the Greater Boston area, C.M.M. has gathered together a group of professional people and technical experts to guide the housing rehabilitation program.

The trustees of Worcester Street Trust include Earl P. Stevenson, a specialist in corporate management; George M. Dallas, an attorney with the firm of Gaston, Snow, Motley and Holt; R. Courtney Whitin, a financial expert with the Urban National Corp.; Richard S. Willis, financial expert with the R.M. Bradley and Co.; William J. O'Connor a real estate developer with Equivest, Inc.; Edward P. Breau, a financial expert with the Pioneer Fund; and George Macomber, construction and development expert of the George B. H. Macomber Company.

The development team includes the architect, Pard Team, Inc., and the general contractor, James O. McFarland, Inc. Two Boston law firms contributed their skills to the nonprofit venture, Gaston, Snow, Motley and Holt and Rackemann, Sawyer & Brewster. The finished apartments will be managed by Greater Boston Community Development Inc.

The rehabilitation plan is in keeping with the Boston Redevelopment Authority's South End Project Area Committee.

The MHFA loan includes funds, to develop a vacant lot of 3500 square feet into a landscaped park as part of the rehabilitation project.

Funds provided by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development through Section 236 of the National Housing Act make possible rents ranging from $140 to $168 for moderate income people. Twenty five percent of the apartments will be leased by the Boston Housing Authority for low income people.

This is the third housing development to be sponsored by C.M.M., a group that was formed in 1966 to be the social action arm of a group of urban and suburban churches and temples.

Their first project was conceived in 1967 as a way to ease the problem of dislocation of many long-term South End residents. Thirty apartments were rehabilitated with conventional financing and were then leased to the Boston Housing Authority.

Also in 1967 C.M.M. established a revolving loan fund to be used as front-end seed money for subsidized housing development. The Emergency Tenants Council was initiated when C.M.M. provided its principl funding. E.T.C. subsequently sponsored the development of rehabilitation and Turnkey housing.

Although housing and related community development have been their primary concerns, C.M.M. also is active in educating its constituent churches and temples in current social welfare legislation and its implications for urban communities. C.M.M. also recruits volunteers to work in social welfare activities.

They also engage in the support of minority training and employment programs and in putting together venture capital for minority businessmen. C.M.M. congregations are participating in Project Equality, an effort to use the purchasing power of local congregations to encourage their suppliers of goods and services to follow equal opportunity policies in employment.

The member churches and temples of the Cooperative Metropolitan Ministries in this area are:

Dedham - First Church in Dedham.

Dover - Dover Community Church.

Needham - Congregational Church, St. Bartholomew and Christ Church Episcopal.

Newton - Auburndale Congregational Church, Eliot Church, First Unitarian Society of Newton, Sacred Heart Church, St. Bernard's Church, Second Church in Newton, Temple Emanuel, Temple Shalom and United Methodist Church.

Norwood - First Congregational Church and United Church of Norwood.

Westwood - First Parish United.

Sundell Chosen Bond Chairman

The selection of Jeremiah Sundell of Newton as general chairman of the Greater Boston Israel Bond Committee has been announced by outgoing Chairman George Shapiro.

Active for several years in the Israel Bond Campaign, Sundell was a member of the first official American delegation to tour Israel on a fact-finding trip immediately following the Yom Kippur War in October. His observations on the economic depletion caused by the war gave impetus to the Israel Bond campaign in this area.

"Having witnessed the virtual standstill of industry, trade, tourism, and all the vital elements that make up Israel's domestic economy," Sundell stated, "I have a fuller understanding of Israel's needs and what we here in Boston must do to infuse vital funds into their domestic development programs.

"George Shapiro has done an outstanding job in leading the Boston Bond Committee to record heights," Sundell added.

"In the months to come, however, Israel's needs will be even greater and I will need the continued support of the Boston Bond leadership and of the Greater Boston community."

"I am confident that together we will raise the massive amounts of loan dollars so vital to Israel's continued growth and survival," Sundell concluded.

As Chairman of the Country Club Division for the Greater Boston Israel Bond Committee, Sundell was instrumental in instituting the country club effort in Greater Boston.

Sundell is a partner in the national accounting firm, Clarence Rainess & Co. He also serves as chairman of the board of Guaranty First Trust of Waltham and New England Bankcorp.

Sundell is a life member of the Greater Boston Brandeis Club; treasurer of the Stadium Club, Inc.; director of the Massachusetts Health Research Corporation; and a member of the Board of Solomon Schechter Hebrew Day School.

Sundell has begun to enlist the support of leading members of the Greater Boston community to serve with him in a variety of capacities in the Israel Bond program.

The new chairman and his committee have begun to formulate plans for the 1974 Israel Bond Drive, including the annual High Holy Day appeal and functions sponsored by synagogues, country clubs, industry, organized labor and fraternal organizations.

WILLIAM H. KILMAIN, executive secretary of the State Association of Independent Insurance Agents and Brokers, recently addressed the Newton group at its monthly meeting.

Conference Planned On Retarded Persons

The first annual conference on "Retarded Persons in Community Residences" will be held Monday and Tuesday, Jan. 28 and 29, at Barnum Hall, Tufts University. The conference is co-sponsored by the Massachusetts Association of Private Residences for the Mentally Retarded and the Developmental Evaluation Clinic of Children's Hospital.

David Slater, president of The Community Group and the president of the Association, has been named chairman of the two-day conclave.

The conference will bring together administrators, program staff, teachers, volunteers and parents of the mentally retarded, in a series of nine in-depth "how to" workshops, covering all aspects of community residential care for the mentally retarded.

Additionally, there will be a special symposium on community relations and a presentation by The Mohawks, previously institutionalized mentally retarded adults who are currently living independently in the community.

Guest speakers at general assemblies will include Francis Lynch, director of the Division of Developmental Disabilities, United States Office of Health, Education and Welfare; Washington, D.C.; Thomas H. Browne, assistant director, Massachusetts Division of Special Education; and George Naddaff, president of the Living and Learning Schools.

Attendance is limited to 250 participants. Additional information is available from David Slater, conference chairman; The Massachusetts Association of Private Residential Facilities for the Mentally Retarded, 120 Wells Avenue, Newton, Massachusetts. Telephone 969-0400.

Hindman Promoted

The Board of Directors of New England Merchants National Bank has promoted Newton resident Arthur D. Hindman to corporate trust officer. Hindman is a member of the corporate trust department, credit and loan division.

A graduate of Northeastern University, Hindman joined the Bank in 1968. He and his family reside on St. Mary's Street in Newton.

ADA Hits State On Fuel Crisis

The Massachusetts Chapter of Americans for Democratic Action has expressed its regrets that politics seemed to have prevailed over the urgencies of the energy crisis over the past few weeks.

According to an ADA statement, the governor was guilty of grossly underestimating the cost of a fuel-coupon system and the legislature retaliated equally irresponsibly by refusing to give the governor authority to hire needed personnel; the public lost both ways and lost more respect for government.

Before the springlike weather gives way to a cold snap, ADA asks that political leaders and other interested and knowledgeable people get together to prepare for the crisis with both immediate and more long-term plans.

Conservation Commission Meets Jan. 16

The Newton Conservation Commission will meet on Wednesday, Jan. 16, 8 p.m., in Room 220, City Hall.

Included in the evening's agenda will be a presentation by William Giezentanner, Charles River Planner for the commission and the Planning Department, on the section of the River Reservation near the Bridge Street bridge.

Residents in the neighborhood lying between the river and California Street and Nevada Street may be interested in hearing and seeing Mr. Giezentanner's talk and slides and contributing their comments.

Commission meetings are open to the public.

Lipson Challenges Life Insurance Companies

A leading Boston insurance broker has issued a challenge to the country's life insurance companies to "join in an intensive research effort to work with the Federal government to drive out the three major causes of morbidity and mortality – heart disease, cancer and mental illness."

Benjamin Lipson of Newton, head of an insurance firm bearing his name, said that "life insurance companies spend millions of dollars each year on physician's examinations, electrocardiograms, x-rays, blood tests, glucose tolerance tests and other costly laboratory routines.

"This data involves tens of millions of individuals and has accumulated for many years," Lipson commented. "Our computers might recycle this immense amount of data, working in joint cooperation with the Federal government, and get into the hands of doctors and researchers to analyze and sift it."

Lipson, writing in the current issue of "National Messenger" magazine, criticized the insurance industry for what he called "tokenism" in the health research area. He recognized the efforts of many companies in the support of research but pointed out that these programs are essentially scattered and uncoordinated.

Lipson asserted that "the time has come to spend a little less for brick and mortar. Now is the time for the life insurance business to invest in life."

Kohoutek — Where Is It?

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI)— Comet Kahoutek, somewhat of a fizzle as far as celestial displays go, will best be viewed this week, scientists say.

Dr. William Deutschman, astronomer at the Smithsonian Astrophysical Laboratory here, said the original predictions of brightness failed to materialize.

"It really is fainter than we expected, probably by one and a half or two magnitudes," he said. "Why? We're not really sure right now. You never really know how bright they're going to get."

Deutschman said even the brightest comets "are not that spectacular." Though Kahoutek has been a public-viewing disappointment, "It's a success as far as scientists are concerned" because of data obtained during its trip around the sun.

Best bet for viewing the comet will be around Wednesday or Thursday when the evening sky gets dark, he said. It will be located in the southwest about 15 degrees above the horizon about a half-hour to an hour after sunset.

Viewing will be best with a small pair of binoculars, he said.

Donald LaSalle, a director of the Talcott Mountain Science Center in Avon, Conn., said the comet won't be as low in the sky at sunset or as close to the moon as it was last week.

These conditions, he said, should present the best viewing of the comet's cycle.

Garden City Trust And University Trust Merge

The merger of the University Trust Company and Garden City Trust Company has received approval from the Commissioner of Banks of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. The effective date of the merger is Dec. 31, 1973.

The resulting bank will be University Bank and Trust Company with its main office located at 232 Boylston St., Chestnut Hill, Mass. 02167. Additional banking offices are in Bedford, Cambridge, Maynard, Newton Corner, and Woburn.

A new office will open in Waltham in January, 1974.

John J. Nyhan will serve as chairman of the board. The president and chief executive officer will be T. William Fitzgerald, Jr.

North Atlantic Bancorp., Inc., a registered bank holding company, presently owns a majority of the stock of both banks.

New, Family Ski Program Scheduled For Jan. 20

Newton Recreation Commissioner, John Penney recently announced a new program. The Recreation Department is sponsoring an introduction to cross country skiing session in cooperation with "Wilderness Trips" at the Metropolitan District Commission's Ponkapoag Golf Course.

The program is presently tentative, depending on weather and snow conditions. Plans call for a session from 12:30-3 p.m. on Sunday afternoon, Jan. 20 at the Golf Course.

The City of Newton's bus will transport skiers from Newton to Ponkapoag. A $3.00 charge for each skier will cover the rental of boots, skis and poles, instruction and the bus trip. Adults and school age children (six years old and up) accompanied by an adult may participate in the program. No children under 16-years of age will be accepted for the program on an individual basis.

For further information on registration, call the Recreation Department at 969-3171.

Penney is looking for adult volunteers with their own equipment to accompany the group at no charge as aides to the "Wilderness Trip" instructors.

The M.D.C. clubhouse facilities at the Ponkapoag Golf Course will be the headquarters for the "Wilderness Trips" program.

A complete stock of cross country ski equipment will be available at the Clubhouse. Approximately a half hour of the session will be devoted to waxing techniques and the remaining two hours to skiing on the golf course terrain.

EDITOR FOUND DEAD

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — Hal Brown, 34, sports editor of the Lincoln Star, was found dead in his apartment Tuesday.

Brown joined the Star in 1961 as a University of Nebraska student and became sports editor May 1, 1963. The cause of death was undetermined.

The newspaper said the two coworkers went to Brown's apartment after he didn't show up for work either Monday or Tuesday.

14th Annual Lincoln Day Dinner Preparations Enter Final Stages

Newton's 14th Annual Lincoln Day dinner, being held Thursday evening, Jan. 24, in the ballroom of Nonantum Post 440 is well on the way to being fully subscribed, according to Mrs. G.M. Swift, general chairman of the committee.

With National Republican Chairman George Bush announced as the speaker, ticket subscriptions came in promptly and indications are that the event will enjoy a record turnout.

Guest speaker George Bush became National Chairman after serving as U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations. He is a former member of Congress. Many feel that his coming to address the dinner in Newton has special significance and there is speculation on the speech he is to deliver at the gathering.

Tickets for the dinner will not be available after Jan. 17 it was disclosed in a report made by Charlotte R. Thornbury, Ticket Chairman.

Augmenting the several names previously listed are the following new patrons who are subscribing for tables at the dinner: Miss Adelaide B. Ball, Mrs. Harry Brenner, Mrs. Maudyea Campbell, Mrs. Edwin F. Cave, Mr. and Mrs. William I. Cowin, Eric H. Jostrom, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Lipof, Mayor and Mrs. Theodore D. Mann, Massachusetts Republican State Committee, Otto Wahlrab, chairman;

Also, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Medaglia, Jr., Newton Women's Republican Club, Mrs. G.M. Swift, president; Republican Club of Massachusetts, Albert M. Fortier, Jr., President; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Smerling, Francis A. Tambascio, Ward Four Newton Republican City Committee, Women's Republican Club of Massachusetts, Paula Llewellyn, president.

Local Republicans will be honored with special citations at the event. The Committee on Annual Citations, chaired by Henry J. Wilson, is meeting this week to make its final decisions as to those to be designated.

Details of the evening's program are now being settled, according to Mrs. Maudyea Campbell, program chairman, and the full program will be announced shortly.

The Annual Lincoln Day Dinner, moved to an earlier date this year so that Bush could be its speaker, is sponsored by the Newton Republican Club, John L. DiSabato, president, with the cooperation of the Newton Republican City Committee, Julius L. Masow, chairman; Newton Women's Republican Club, Mrs. G.M. Swift, president; Newton Italian Republican Club, Francis A. Tambascio, president and the Newton Young Republicans, Mrs. Thomas Bruce, president.

Joe Levine

Boston-born Producer Lived Where Mass. General Stands

Joe Levine, of the rubicund face, the expensively tailored clothes, the amiable, friendly manner, obviously didn't get to know the star mentioned in the title of his new production, "Day Of The Dolphin."

But in the ghetto like environs of 5 Spring Street Boston where Joe was born (and where the Massachusetts General Hospital now stands proudly, with Spring Street only a vague memory) there would not have been room for a whale or for much else. Once when the successful, prosperous film tycoon came back to Boston in connection with "Hercules," his great financial hit (it was not received with huzzas artistically) enthusiastic publicity men from New York wanted a touching picture of him standing outside his old, broken down birthplace.

Shocked at such an idea Joe said, "I don't think it is still standing and if it is I will personally pay the money needed to burn it down." And this came from a man who has done much for charity, and whose art collection has been growing gradually under the supervision of his wife, Rosalie. Joe's wife is an unpretentious, thoughtful, pretty and very artistic woman, and I have always thought that Joe still feels that his marriage has given him far more happiness than all the business honors paid to him. The list of awards given to this former resident of a Boston slum area is so long it takes more than three full pages. Among the citations, and the trophies mentioned are "producer of the year" and also "showman of the year" back in 1960. A golden citation from the State of Massachusetts for his film contributions and honorary degrees from Emerson College; Bryant College, Providence College and St. John's University in New York are among his favorite mementos of a life spent following the fortunes of the motion picture industry.

He has been received by the Pope in private audiences (they talked about films, naturally); he has headed a film campaign for the American Red Cross and he has been made honorary colonel and aide-de-camp to Gov. Carl Sanders of Georgia. There are so many other awards and citations and honorary titles (even Gov. John McKeithen of Louisiana got into the act and made him an honorary colonel) that you couldn't shake a stick at all of them put together. But he had to admit he didn't even try to be palsy with the dolphin players of "Day of the Dolphin."

Joe and director Mike Nichols have worked together before and it was Joe's production, "The Graduate," which earned Mike the honor of two "best director of the year" trophies. It was after that that Mike went on to such triumphs as "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" and "Carnal Knowledge."

Scott has not been with Levine before-but he thinks highly of the independent star.

Yet the producer couldn't care less about his dolphin stars, who play the roles of Alpha and Beta, and address each other as "Pha" and "Bee."

He says they and their standins eventually swam off to the freedom of the seas and he was not on hand to say goodbye. They were caught off the coast of Florida, named Buck and Ginger, and trained to portray talking (very little), personalities. Like authentic Hollywood stars, they became "emotionally involved" during the course of the filming.

The two leading players had four other companions and stand-ins. They were all trained in the Florida Keys, housed in special sea-pens and finally taken to the Bahamian Island of Abaco, where the principal photography began in January, 1973. Peter Moss and his assistant Kathy Trout lived and worked with the animals for the better part of two years. There was only one male-Buck. The others were Ginger, Big Mama, Candy, Paddlefoot and Lulu.

The dolphins had to be taught tricks to be done on command, and received fish rewards. But after they learned to do back flips and tail walks they enjoyed their accomplishments and performed for their own pleasure, with no one around to give them fish.

George Scott spent hours in the water with them and learned to use an aqua lung for undersea camerawork.

Two of the six dolphins deserted the picture when they were making scenes in the open sea. Buck and Ginger waited until the last scene was made. Then, as if they knew they were no longer needed, they set off in the sunset, ignoring their trainers with a flip of their tails. The other two, liking film life, elected to stay but were herded out to a place many miles away where they were told to go find pals in a nearby school of dolphins.

Meanwhile Levine is at work making plans for his delayed picture based on the life of Ghandi. He hasn't yet decided who will play the title role-it might be the young actor who was Richard the Lion Hearted in "Lion in Winter," which was Levine's first large scale attraction.

It was also the first picture to be released under the Avco Embassy banner.

"Day of the Dolphin," he says, ends his Avco Embassy contract. What comes after that he is at present unwilling to disclose.

Joe's name is usually better known than those of his stars even if he has nothing to do with the creativeness of his presentations. But his genius for "show business," his ability to sell to the public, his assurance in spotting stars and stories which will make motion picture history is his own unique talent.

Recent productions include "Sunflower" with his beloved Sophie Loren; "Soldier Blue" with Candice Bergen and Peter Strauss; Romain Gary's "A Promise at Dawn" with Melina Mercouri and Assaf Dayan and "Carnal Knowledge" with Jack Nicholson.

He also released "A Touch of Class," "Night Watch" with Elizabeth Taylor and the late Laurence Harvey and the current "Happy New Year."

CINEMA UPDATED

"JONATHAN LIVINGSTON SEAGULL"--Beautiful seascapes, views of rolling waves and limitless oceans, rocky cliffs whose starkness appears close to perfect art - these are the outstanding values of the philosophical "Jonathan Livingston Seagull." It is an entrancing experience to watch the grace of flocks of seagulls in flight. The skies furnish enthralling backgrounds.

But when it comes to seagulls mouthing trite remarks which have to do with the human condition as well as the plight of selfish, dirty, aggressive birds, then the Paramount production drops to earth with a thud. The picture is one to look at, not to hear, and consequently audience interest dies long before the film's 114 minutes have ended.

Since the book by Richard Bach was an overwhelming success, one is led to the decision that bird philosophy should be left between hard covers and not allowed to spill over on the screen. Actually, there's only one underlying idea. Instead of groping in the garbage piles of materialism people should perfect their idealistic motivations. Learn to fly higher, faster, and straighter-above the offal of befouled beaches

Beware

Superglue Ordered Removed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Consumer Product Safety Commission is attempting to remove from the market thousands of tubes of a superglue that is so strong it can cement fingers and hands together.

The government agency said there may be more than one million tubes of the glue on the market. It was developed originally for use during surgery in place of stitches.

The firms manufacturing ten brands of it have been asked to halt shipment and to recall outstanding stocks, with the threat of a possible seizure by the government if they fail to comply.

"It has the feature of gluing almost anything to anything," Commission Chairman Richard O. Simpson told reporters Monday. "It's a good, all-purpose glue. The problem is maybe it's too good."

Simpson said the commission began investigating the glue, known by the general name "cyano-acrylic," after Consumer's Union told the agency the glue could stick peoples' fingers together or to other parts of the body, requiring medical help to free them.

Simpson said the commission discovered that two brands of the glue, "Krazy Glue," the largest selling, and "Permabond 102" did not have label warnings that the glue could cause eye irritation. He said washing the eye with water would make the glue set faster.

Researchers found the same lack of eye warning in eight other brands and are telling their manufacturers or distributors that they are in violation of the law on that count.

A hearing will be held on the overall hazards of the glue, but no date has been set.

The other brands and their manufacturers or distributors are "Rapid Set," from Aran Dee Assoc. Ltd., Warwick, R.I.; "Zip Grip", from Devcon Corp., Danvers, Mass.; "Superbonder," from Loctite Corp., Newington, Conn.; "Eastman 910" from the Eastman Co., Kingsport, Tenn.; "Super Three Cement," from Three Bond of America Inc., Los Angeles; "Zip Bond," from Tescon Corp., Minneapolis; and two brands from Oneida Electrical Mfg. Co., Meadville, Pa. — "One Drop" and "Oneida Instant Weld."

Our Local Mayors

Stephen Erickson, 22, just completed his undergraduate college education and has wasted no time embarking on his career.

Erickson, the youngest of the mayors inaugurated in many Massachusetts cities and towns Monday, told residents of Gardner he would involve them in the workings of their local government. Erickson completed his studies in biochemistry last month at the University of Massachusetts in Amherst.

Two new mayors warned in their inaugural speeches that they might withdraw from regional vocational schools because of insufficient financial support from the state.

Peabody Mayor Nicholas Mavroules said the state was "shortchanging cities and towns," and pursuing "a policy of fiscal irresponsibility."

Chelsea Mayor Philip J. Spelman pledged to pursue funds for urban renewal in that city where a conflagration leveled a large area last October.

"It is my desire to be remembered as a mayor who brought the city together in time of need," Spelman said.

Brockton Mayor David Crosby called his city's downtown a "wasteland." He said he would try to bring new industry to Brockton, which has one of the highest unemployment rates in the state.

Lynn Mayor David L. Philips, whose city has one of the highest property tax rates in the state, said Lynn "is on the very brink of financial disaster." He detailed a 10-point program which included extension of rapid transit to the city and requests for more federal and state aid.

Jean LeVesque, mayor of Salem, said he would hold down the cost of government and continue the "resurgence of business and economic activity that has started to occur in the last few years."

Many other mayors mentioned the need for economy in government and for attracting new businesses.

In Cambridge, where the City Council elects the mayor, members were unable to agree Monday after six ballots. They will try again tonight.

Boston Mayor Kevin H. White, who did not face an election last year, told a newly elected City Council that he wanted the state to reimburse the city for tax exemptions granted to colleges and other institutions. He also said he wanted to end the tax exemptions of "private, profit-making enterprises located on lands controlled by the Massachusetts Port Authority." He endorsed a proposal to repalce the currently elected at-large school committee with 35 neighborhood councils.

Predict More Private Colleges Will Close

BOSTON (UPI) — State Educational Affairs Secretary Joseph Cronin said Sunday there is a "very real possibility" that some private colleges and universities in Massachusetts could close within the next five years because of financial problems and lack of students.

"We have been building up the state colleges and universities while the private colleges have empty spaces and while they have some real problems in hanging on to what they have now," Cronin said in a broadcast interview.

Unless the trend changes, Cronin predicted between five and 10 private schools could be forced to shut down.

"If we continue the way we've been going in the last three or four years it's a very real possibility," he said. He did not name the schools.

Cronin cited proposals to increase state scholarship aid and the use of private facilities by public institutions as ways to help meet the problem.

"Low tuition isn't the only factor (hurting private higher education)," Cronin said.

Brevity

May Be Highlight Of 1974 Session

BOSTON (UPI) — The first formal meeting of the Massachusetts Legislature this year indicates that the 1974 election-year session will be short, possibly ending by July 4, and highly political.

The July 4 target date for adjournment was forecast Monday by Speaker David M. Bartley, D-Holyoke, as the House completed its first official act—passing an order calling upon Gov. Francis W. Sargent to submit a special $69 million local aid budget for 1974.

"I anticipate that the 1974 session will be noted for its brevity," Bartley said. "Any date set for prorogation would have to be entirely speculative, but I would hope that we would be able to spend the Fourth of July at home."

The order asks Sargent to submit a 1974 supplemental budget containing: $35 million for aid to cities and towns in the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority District; $11.4 million for state payments in lieu of taxes to communities; $12.7 for local school busing costs and $10 million for state elderly programs.

A spokesman for Sargent said the governor has taken the order under advisement.

Response To Sargent

The order was passed on an overwhelming 199-2 vote, but only after 90 minutes of highly partisan debate during which Republican minority members questioned the motives of the Democratic leadership in submitting the proposal.

TOM CONNELLY PONTIAC HAS IT ALL!

Economy,

It may surprise you to find that Pontiac makes economy cars . . . Pontiac Venturas, LeMans & Firebirds. They cost very little to buy and very little to operate, because they have economical six cylinder engines that use regular gasoline, and get great gas mileage.

Comfort,

Pontiac designs cars with your comfort in mind. Inside, deep, foam-padded seats are upholstered in beautuful fabrics and Morrokide, or all Morrokide. Underneath, computer-selected coil springs insure a smooth, comfortable ride. If comfort is important to you - Pontiac is for you!

Room,

Pontiacs are built for people who like room. Even the smallest car in the Pontiac line - Ventura - has room for six passengers. Pontiacs have larger interior dimensions for more head, shoulder and leg room so you can stretch out and enjoy the ride. One test drive in the '74 Pontiac of your choice will convince you that it's the car you want.

Safety.

Smart people want good gas mileage. To get it, they might compromise their comfort, or they might settle for less room, but they draw the line when their safety is involved. Safety features are built into every Pontiac so you don't need to worry. Pontiac builds cars with a wider track for greater stability and a chassis built with your protection in mind. economy - Comfort - Room & Safety - Pontiac has it all!

The Mid-Size Economy Car!

New '74 Pontiac LeMANS

The advance styling of the mid-sized LeMans is just one of its good points - some of the others are beautiful interiors, roominess, and economy. BRING ON THE FAMILY!

CATALINA SAFARI WAGON

The Pontiac Safari Wagon is a double duty car. It's like having two cars for the price of one. It has room for all the packages from a big shopping spree, building supplies or whatever you need to carry—and it's so good-looking that it goes anywhere in style. If you need a car like that, Safari is for you.

SPORTS CAR FLAIR, MID-SIZE ROOM, LOW PRICE!

PONTIAC LeMANS GT

LeMan's GT is a mid-sized sporty car that's big on luxury, performance and beauty — everything in fact, EXCEPT price. This one has a 350 V-8 engine, GT option which includes blacked out grille, white-lettered tires on Mag-type Rally II wheels, body colored mirrors, stripes and decals. It also has deluxe 2 spoke steering wheel, cut pile carpeting, coil-spring suspension and much, much more!

Today In Education

By DR. WILLIAM H. HEBERT
Executive Secretary, Massachusetts Teachers Association

Watergate, according to the National Education Association (NEA), has invaded the nation's classrooms, and despite the fact that it is a controversial subject, teachers cannot pretend it doesn't exist.

The subject of Watergate is a natural for stimulating student thinking and making government, history and other subjects come alive. But how does a teacher deal with a hot topic like Watergate without getting burned?

NEA asked the advice of Professor Philip B. Kurland, professor at University of Chicago Law School, and considered by many experts to be one of the nation's outstanding authorities on the constitution.

Kurland emphasizes particularly the need to take Watergate out of the realm of personalities and to deal with it factually, comparatively, institutionally, and historically because "current events cannot be isolated as if they have no antecedent!"

Among his many suggestions the Chicago law professor urges teachers to compare the intentions of the Founding Fathers to where this country is now in terms of Watergate. Important issues raised by Watergate, according to Kurland, will not be dealt with in the courts. He specifically points to the undue accumulation of power in the executive branch of government because of a willing surrender of authority by the legislative branch and the subsequent abuse of that power.

When Kurland was questioned as to how he treats Watergate on the college level, he answered that "his effort is to bring undergraduates some concept of how legal rules are applicable in practical situations. Watergate," he said, "gives a backdrop for dealing with a large number of constitutional questions — and such a popular subject assures student interest."

As to dealing with Watergate in the elementary-secondary classrooms where teachers have less leeway than college professors, Kurland suggested that the issues of separation of powers and impeachment be emphasized.

He recommends a factual basis and an historical and comparative government approach as likely to be the most productive of real analysis; and that teachers must make it a point to confine themselves to facts.

Kurland fears that the real danger is that Watergate will be a sensational, short-lived affair. Then apathetic students really do have something to worry about, he said. 'But, teacher–student concern at the moment," he added, "should be to see that Watergate does not die, that Watergate becomes a symbol to this country to the same extent that the Dreyfus case was a symbol to France in the late 19th century.

"The best way to see that the legislative branch does its duty (supervise the executive) is for the people to keep themselves informed and to let their legislators know what they want done," says Kurland.

Teachers frequently come under attack for bringing controversial issues to the classroom. However, Watergate can and should be aired, not from the point of view of personalities, but from the framework of American institutions, of history, the law, current events or whatever might be relevant. One of the primary functions of the teacher is to teach students to raise questions, and in that context Watergate can serve as a formidable learning tool.

Bodily Defense Intrigues Many

Our bodies have a defense system almost as complicated as our country's. How our cells send out defense alerts and fight off invaders is a subject captivating medical researchers.

What happens when we breathe in invaders like TB germs, cigarette smoke, cold viruses, pollutant particles? One researcher — Dr. Richard W. Leu of the University of Oklahoma, whose work is supported by the American Lung Association — is investigating the activities of one major line of defense in the lungs, the macrophages.

Macrophages are scavenger cells that literally eat germs, viruses and other assaulters. Dr. Leu is trying to find our exactly how they spring into action and why they often fail to digest and conquer.

Another researcher, Dr. N. Mark Richard of the University of Illinois Medical Center, is exploring how the macrophages fight off TB germs in particular. When the macrophages alone gulp down the TB germs, the germs simply keep on multiplying inside the macrophage. But when the macrophages join forces with smaller, white blood cells, then the macrophages develop the power to digest the TB germs and keep them from reproducing.

Dr. Richard's research suggests that the joint defense action is triggered by some kind of chemical messages or cell-to-cell contact.

"If you can determine by cellular structure which people will have trouble fighting off TB," Dr. Richards says, "you can single out those people ahead of time as high risks

Next time you see someone polluting, point it out.

It's litter in the streets. It's air that smells. It's a river where fish can't breathe.
You know what pollution is.
But not everyone does.
So the next time you see pollution, don't close your eyes to it.
Write a letter. Make a call. Point it out to someone who can do something about it.
People start pollution. People can stop it.

Christmas Cards Mailed Earlier This Year

Americans mailed their Christmas greeting much earlier this year than in 1972, the U. S. Postal Service said today.

Comparative figures that show the volume of Christmas cards and letters mailed between December 1 and December 12 are up nearly 18 per cent over last year, while mail cancelled between December 13 and December 18 this year was down 13 per cent from last year.

The total volume of Christmas mail cancelled from November 27 through December 18, 1973, is 2,127,746,000 (b) 3 per cent higher than the 1972 figure of 2,055,386,000 (b). The increase is about what Postal Service officials predicted.

"The high volume of mail cancelled early this month is hard evidence that the public responded dramatically to our 'Mail Earlier' campaign."

Soccer Talk

By PAUL ELDRIDGE, Jr.

1973 was a year of political turmoil and shortages of all types. But there was some good news in the world of sports, especially for the fans of Soccer.

For in the month of December, the North American Soccer League announced that franchises had been awarded to groups in Baltimore, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle and Vancouver. Then on the morning of December 27, Phil Woosnam, Commissioner of the NASL, came into Boston to say that the newest franchise in the league had been awarded to Mr. John C. Sterge of Boston. Mr. Sterge, who is the President of the An-Car Oil Co., will also serve as the President of Boston Professional Soccer, Inc. He became interested in soccer when his two boys began playing the sport in Newton.

Boston Professional Soccer is going to hold a contest to find a nickname for the team. Particulars on the contest will be announced at a later date. They also hope to name a coach and a playing site soon.

Let's hope that the NASL schedule for 1974 will have teams like the Philadelphia Atoms and the Dallas Tornado, so the fans of Boston can watch players like Kyle Rote, Jr. and Bob Rigby.

While in Boston, Phil Woosnam announced that there would be no common Inter- that the league's experimental offside rule will still be in effect this coming season.

The Connecticut Wildcats of the American Soccer League recently announced the re-signing of superstar Benny Brewster. Brewster, the Wildcats sensational scoring ace, accumulated 11 goals and 4 assists in 14 games, dominating the ASL's scoring race until the last week of the 1973 season when he was edged out of the title by Eddy Roberts of the Cincinnati Comets and Doug McMillan of the Cleveland Stars.

Following the Wildcats' season, Brewster was named to the U.S. National Team, representing the U.S. in its win over Poland and scoring the winning goal against Bermuda.

In mid-September he left the U.S. team to become a guest participant in the training camp of the first division English team, West Ham United of London. "Being selected for the National Team was a great honor," Brewster noted. "But although I knew I could gain a lot of experience playing against international players, I also wanted a chance to develop my individual skills and jumped at the opportunity to go to England. I think the experience I've gained this fall will help me play even better ball for the Wildcats next season."

GARRETT TO BUCKS

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — The Milwaukee Bucks, in an effort to bolster their injury-riddled roster, signed veteran guard Dick Garrett Tuesday.

The Bucks said the decision to sign Garrett, who was waived Dec. 22 after playing 25 games with the New York Knickerbockers, has prompted by a decision to operate on Russell Lee's knee.

Lee suffered cartilege damage Dec. 30 in Detroit and will undergo surgery Friday. The Bucks placed him on the injured list and also reserve center Dick Cunningham who is recovering from ankle surgery in November.

Branch Library Activities

The Newton Free Library's (NFL) branch programs start the new year off with a flurry of activities aimed at the wide interests of NFL patrons.

Current fiction and old favorites will be reviewed at a coffee hour-book review at Newtonville Branch on Wednesday, Jan. 16 at 10:30 a.m.

Branch librarian Velda Model cordially invites new faces to join the regulars for coffee and an informal book talk. Refreshments will be served.

Also at Newtonville, patrons can view an exhibit of photographs by Egon Egone. Egone, who has taught photography for the past 33 years for the Mass. Department of Education, Bureau of Adult Education, is exhibiting photographs in a retrospective show spanning 60 years of photography. The show is a representative selection from more than 1,000 photographs taken over the past 60 years.

At the Waban Branch, Everett C. Blake presents "Adventuring in Turkey," a coffee hour-slide show on Thursday, Jan. 17 at 10:30 a.m.

Miss Arlene Lynde, Waban branch librarian, invites travel enthusiasts to come for coffee at 10 a.m.

"Looking at Your Windows" a discussion of window decorations is scheduled for the Newton Centre Branch Library, Friday, Jan. 18 at 10 a.m.

Branch librarian Ann Harbison invites all interested homemakers to meet Mary I. Mulvey, a home economist from the Middlesex County Extension Service, whose special interests are in the areas of clothing, textiles and consumer education. Miss Mulvey is a graduate of the University of Connecticut and recently completed several courses at Michigan State University.

Auburndale branch librarian Marie Simpson hosts a coffee hour-book review on Thursday, Jan. 31 at 10:30 a.m. Miss Simpson welcomes all interested book lovers to join her for a friendly and informal morning get-together of information and refreshments. Participants at the coffee hour-book review are invited to borrow books, including brand new ones.

Oil paintings, primarily landscapes and seascapes of New England by Richard Lee of Newtonville, will be on view at Auburndale Branch for a month beginning Jan. 15.

All Newton Free Library programs are free and open to all.

Hunter To Meet With Local Art Association

The Newton Art Association will have Robert Douglas Hunter as guest artist demonstrator on Thursday Jan. 17, at 7:45 p.m.

The meeting will be held at the Newton Highlands Women's Workshop, 72 Columbus Street. Refreshments will be served by hospitality co-chairpersons Mrs. Leona Monto and Mrs. Elvira Suitor and by their committee, Mrs. Joyce Kolodny and Ms. Janet Chudnow.

Hunter is a realistic oil painter, who renders his work mostly in an impressionistic manner. He has won many awards, including the Jordan Marsh Company Annual Award, which he received several times.

One of Hunter's paintings, which was awarded the Richard Milton Gold Medal, is on exhibit at the Guild of Boston Artists.

Hunter teaches art at Vesper George School of Art. His paintings are on exhibit at M.I.T., Boston University Hospital, Tufts University, Northeastern University, Phillips Andover School, museums and in private collections.

Hunter is president of the Guild of Boston Artists, a member of Copley Society, Provincetown Art Association, Allied Artists of America and American Artists Professional League.

Hunter will demonstrate the "Impressionist Point of View," painting with oil paints. Interested artists and non-artists are welcome.

Medical Series On Channel 2

On Monday, Jan. 14, "Pulmonary Disease: The Hidden Enemy" - the third program in "The Killers" medical documentary series - will be broadcast from 8 to 9:30 p.m. over Channel 2, the Public Broadcasting Service.

The Norfolk County-Newton Lung Association urges anyone interested in learning about emphysema, bronchitis, lung cancer, occuptaional lung diseases and other lung ailments to tune in on that evening. Pulmonary disease is responsible for the deaths of more than 150,000 Americans each year, according to the Association.

Christmas Seal contributions received by the Association are used to help combat these diseases through research and educational programs for the public, such as the "The Killers."

Chess Chatter

By ANDREW SCHMIDT

As promised last week, this column contains three games from the Newton YMCA tournament, held in late December. All are played by local players with some interesting "off the board" items pertaining to each one. The first two are from the rated tournament, and the last game is from the novice elementary section, won by the winner of this game, Bryon Snodgrass of Newtonville.

Complete tournament winners and other details may be found in last week's Chess Chatter.

The first game is played by Andy Schmidt against Steve Wood of Worcester, who won the unrated prize. In the first round, with White against a nine-year-old, I reached the same position as in the game presented here at 11 moves deep! A nine-year-old! Benny Evans of Allston, whose father was a co-director of the tournament.

Schmidt-Evans continued 11, P-N5 12 P-Q5 N-R5 13 PxP NxB 14 QxN R-N1 (threatens P-QR4). In the game Wood-Schmidt, Black loses the thread of the game with 16, K-R1. White's 18 Q-Q3 and Black's blunder of 18 PxP sets up a mate at Black's KR2, and to prevent that, Schmidt had to give up material and resigned shortly there after. Wood went on in the final round to lose to Danny Shiman of the Highlands and give Shiman a perfect 4-0 score to become co-winner.

The second game is Arbeiter-Goodrow, round 4. Both players are local, Arbeiter from Newton Centre, Goodrow from Watertown, and both were undefeated at the time. In 7, QN-Q2 loses (perhaps gambits) a pawn, but the fine 17 P-B5 wins it back. If White plays 18 NPxP (18 KPxP QxQ) then Black gets a wicked attack with 18 NxBP, 19 Q-B3 N-Q6, 20 Q-K2 Q-B4, followed by B-R5 and ganging up on the poor White KBP.

After 23, White's position looks shaky at best, but Arbeiter has calculated all variations and holds on until he blunders on 27 BxRP. Shades of Fischer-Spassky, match game number one! Fischer also took a rook-pawn with the Bishop on 29 BxRP and, like Fischer, Arbeiter's Bishop got trapped. A fitting finish!

The final game is Bryon's best game from the tournament. Unknown to him, his opponent is a student of Arbeiter's at the Oak Hill Community School, where Arbeiter teaches chess. And both student and teacher lost critical games! Bryon won this on his way to a 4-0 sweep, and Goodrow beat Arbeiter to score his 4-0 win of the rated section.

In Schlossman-Snodgrass, White is way down in development by move 9, but Black also makes a mistake with 13 P-KR4, where the simple 13 N-K4 is fine. Note that the interposition after 14 B-N5ch 15 P-B3 fails to 15 BxPch 16 K-Q2 N-K4 17 R-B1 RxBch 18 K-B2 B-N5 and Black is better than in the text. Of course, taking the bait at 17 NxP loses, but White was 'busted' anyway. Enjoy them!

60 Years Of Photography Displayed At Branch Library

A retrospective exhibition of 60 years of photography is on display at the Newtonville Branch Library, 345 Walnut St., Newtonville, through Jan. 31.

The photos are the work of Brighton photographer Egon Egone and represent his 48th exhibition in the United States.

Egone's photos range from his first shot of the main street of Trieste, taken in June, 1914, to a photo taken last month in his Brighton studio of a model.

The 40 pictures in the showing are displayed in chronological order.

Egone, a native of Trieste, got his master of photographic chemistry degree from the Vienna Institute of Technlogy in 1919. In 1923, he won his first award, a grand silver medal in an international exhibition in Turin, Italy. He has, over the years, received a total of 17 gold, silver and bronze medals.

His first exhibit in this country was at the Doll & Richards Gallery in Boston in 1941. Also in that year, he was appointed an instructor in photography and has taught two courses at Harvard for 33 years.

In 1962, Egone was made an "excellence" of the Federation of Photographic Art, Bern, Switzerland, and is the only American ever to receive this honor.

The Newtonville Library is open Monday through Thursday from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., Friday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Grant Approved For Volunteer Program

Anthony J. Bibbo, executive director of Newton Community Service Centers, Inc. (NCSC) announced recently that he has been in receipt of correspondence from C. Edward Graydon, deputy regional director for Domestic & Anti Poverty Operations reporting that the NCSC's application for an action grant to assist in continued operation of the Newton, Wellesley, Weston RSVP has been approved.

The correspondence cited the effort of the local program which resulted in a significant expansion of volunteer opportunities for older adults in the three communities included in the grant application.

Headed by Project Director Mrs. Marjorie Glassman and assisted by Mrs. Barbara Ireland, the program enlisted the aid of over 200 individuals during its year of operation.

The current fiscal year will run from Nov. 30, 1973 through Nov. 29, 1974. Under the terms of the agreement, the program will junction on a $42,402 budget, with $31,869 being provided by the federal government.

The Newton, Wellesley, Weston Program, administered by the NCSC Inc., functions with its own advising committee, which includes representatives from the three communities.

On the committee are representatives of the Council of Aging, mayors and selectmen. A number of volunteers are also included on this advising committee to ascertain consumer participation at the policy level.

For information on NWW RSVP, contact the office at 969-5908.

SANTO SIGNS ?

CHICAGO (UPI) — Ron Santo, moving crosstown after 14 years with the Cubs, has signed a two-year contract with the Chicago White Sox.

The star third baseman was acquired by the White Sox several weeks ago after he rejected an earlier Cub bid to trade him to San Diego.

Newton Couple Sponsors Child

Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth E. Fellows, 55 Farlow Road, Newton, are sponsoring Junior, a 6-year-old boy from Appalachia, through Save the Children Federation (SCF) of Norwalk, Conn.

Sponsorships make funds available for social welfare and education projects designed to raise the income level and provide schooling opportunities for the young people.

Sponsorships may fund family projects or be used to supplement the facilities of day care centers or schools, to enrich the child's environment. Parents, in consultation with SCF field workers, decide how to spend the money for the maximum benefit to the children, perhaps purchasing books, science and art materials, or playground equipment.

Sponsorships can help families and cooperative groups who need additional income to achieve adequate standards of living. Sponsorships may also provide professional counseling for the families of sponsored children.

Sponsorships may provide interest-free loans to families who need additional income to achieve an adequate standard of living.

Besides urgently-needed material aid, sponsorships are an important source of encouragement to children and their families, giving them the assurance of the sponsor's personal concern. An exchange of letters and an annual progress report from SCF field workers enable the sponsor to share the family's achievement.

Founded in 1932, Save the Children Federation aids children, their families and communities in the Southern Appalachian Mountains, on American Indian reservations and in many countries overseas.

The Federation is registered with the U.S. State Department Advisory Committee on Voluntary Foreign Aid, is a member of the International Union for Child Welfare and the American Council of Voluntary Agencies for Foreign Service and of the International Council of Voluntary Agencies.

An individual, school or group interested in helping a child should write Save the Children Federation, Norwalk, Connecticut 06852.

OPTION COMMITTEE

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (UPI)— A fledgling political group began a direct mail campaign Sunday which urges "new blood" to run for the Rhode Island Legislature on the Republican ticket in 1974. The Republican Option Committee was organized to help the GOP "in their reorganization attempts" to gain ground in the November election, said Director Richard E. Chamberlain of East Providence.

Beekeeping Course Set

The Norfolk County Beekeepers' Association will start its course in beekeeping for beginners at the Norfolk County Agricultural School, 460 Main Street, Walpole, Massachusetts on Monday, Jan. 14, at 7:30 p.m.

This course is open to all who are interested in beekeeping, especially the hobbyist. Subesequent sessions are scheduled at 7:30 p.m., on Jan. 28, Feb. 11 and 25, March 11 and 25, and April 8 and 22 at the Norfolk County Agricultural School which is located one-half mile north of Walpole Center on Route 1A. A registration fee of $5.00 per family will be charged for this eight session course.

Topics will include: starting with bees, beekeeping equipment, spring and summer management of the hive, swarm control, honey production, wax rendering, local nectar and pollen plants, diseases and enemies of bees.

The final session will feature a demonstration of installing live bees into a hive. A certificate will be awarded to those satisfactorily completing the course.

Winter Strikes

Residents of this Commonwealth Avenue home looked out Friday morning and saw that Mother Nature had fashioned a series of free-form snow sculptures on their lawn. The first storm of the season of any merit dumped a foot of snow on Newton and laced it with a glaze of ice, creating the shards of frozen snow in this yard. (Paula Gilman Photo).

VOL. 104 NO. 3 — NEWTON, MASSACHUSETTS, THURSDAY, JANUARY 17, 1974 — PRICE FIFTEEN CENTS

Recommend $29M School Budget

By TOM GRAVES
of the Graphic Staff

A 1974-75 school budget of $29,381.612 was recommended to the Newton School Committee by the school administration this week.

According to a lengthy budget document presented by the administration, the budget proposal represents a 7.8 per cent increase over the budget for 1973-74.

The 1974-75 budget is for the fiscal year which begins on July 1, 1974.

Superintendent of Schools Aaron Fink gave a general overview of the proposed budget. Fink attempted to explain the major reasons for an increase of $2,130,612 over 1973-74.

Fink said that cost increases in five areas accounted for most of the overall increase in the budget.

According to the administration, negotiated salary increases will cost an additional $1,172,611 in 1974-75. This takes into consideration staff reductions and anticipated turnover.

Fink claimed that there would be a staff reduction of 25.5 professional positions and four aide positions.

The additional personnel and transportation costs required to meet a state mandate on special education under Chapter 766 adds $332,066 to the budget, according to Fink.

Fink noted that a study group recommended adding 13 professional positions for special education. An addition of 6.5 positions is expected.

An additional $335,266 will be needed in 1974-75 for increased heat and utility costs, according to the budget proposal. This figure assumes a 15 per cent reduction in fuel use because of the energy crisis.

Fink said that the increased cost of student transportation (excluding additional requirements from Chapter 766) will come to $64,332 in 1974-75.

The final major item Fink noted was the cost of equipment for Newton North High School. The budget report said that "as of September, 1973 the total needs for equipment were estimated at $445,227."

Fink proposed to spread this cost over the next three years. The administration recommended spending $150,000 for equipment in 1974-75.

The budget report noted that the cost of these five items came to $2,054,275, or $76,337 less than the overall increase in the budget. The remaining $76,337 is needed for books, supplies and equipment.

Fink explained some of the procedure used in compiling the budget recommendation. He said that people from the personnel department visited every school and sat down with principals to talk about needs.

Fink said that the previous budget period was 18 months, from Jan. 1, 1973 to June 30, 1974. Administration officials calculated $27,250,858 to be the amount allocated for the period July 1, 1973 to June 30, 1973 from the overall 18 month budget of $43,039,781. The claim of a 7.8 per cent budget increase for 19733-74 was based on the 12 month figure.

Several members of the School Committee noted the decline in school population in recent years.

"I understand the school population is going to be below 16,000 for the first time in some years," School Committee Chairman Emeritus Manuel Beckwith commented.

Beckwith said that the budget would require some "surgery" to ease the tax burden of Newton residents.

School Committeeman Alvin Mandell remarked that the present school enrollment is close to what it was in 1957. Mandell asked for an explanation of the distribution of the additional personnel added since that time.

Fink replied that the services provided by the schools now are substantially different from those provided in 1957.

Fink said that in 1957 there were three art teachers while now there are 13; there were two reading teachers in 1957, now there are 16.8; there were five special education per-

BUDGET — (See Page 28)

Big Plans For Building Dept.

New Buildings Commissioner Gene Larson is full of plans for his department, which he discussed informally with the aldermanic Public Buildings Committee last week.

To bring the department up to snuff, Larson is asking for a staff increase of 16 people in the 1974-1975 budget.

Describing the Buildings Department before he came to work for the city as a "hip-pocket operation," Larson outlined to the committee what he sees as the deficiencies of the department, proper operation, and the staff necessary to run the department as it should be run.

Most of the additional personnel Larson will ask for are to beef up the maintenance staff. For example, he would add six "craftsmen" and two general workers to the roster. The increase, he says will not only save money by avoiding the use of so many outside contractors but also willmake for a more efficient operation by providing faster repairs when they are done by the city.

The city currently employs no in-house electricians; Larson would have three. He would increase the number of plumbers from two to four and add one person for heating-ventilation-air conditioning.

Zoning inspection, an area which many aldermen and others have considered neglected over the years, would under Larson's proposal gain three inspectors solely for code enforcement and issuance of certificates of occupancy.

The zoning inspection staff including the new personnel Larson wants, would still be short of ideal, Larson said, by about three inspectors. A city the size of Newton should have 15 inspectors, he said, while his department now has nine.

Larson will recommend a $500,000 five year plan for upkeep and maintenance of Newton's 110 public buildings.

Any estimate on costs for school buildings, which are included in the 110 and are maintained by the Buildings Department, must be uncertain until the definition of "maintenance and repair" according to the city charter is cleared up.

The charter gives the School Department a maintenance budget of not more than 4 per cent of the previous year's budget to be used by the department to have some of its own repairs made.

Firefighter Injured In Fall From Truck

A Newton firefighter remained in the intensive care unit of Newton-Wellesley Hospital in critical condition early this week because of a fall from the rear of Engine Nine while it was returning from a fire call.

James Feeley, 52, of 10 Emerson St., Newton, fell from the engine early Monday morning. He was reportedly in poor condition and unconscious at Newton-Wellesley Hospital Tuesday.

Feeley was returning from a fire at the Trinity Church parsonage, 1091 Centre St., when he fell at Hammond Street and Commonwealth Avenue. He was taken to Newton–Wellesley Hospital by police.

Hospital officials were reportedly unable to determine whether Feeley had a heart attack which caused him to fall, or whether he was injured by the fall.

Feeley has been with the Newton Fire Department for 20 years. He is married and has four children.

Inaugural

More than 2,000 well-wishers attended the Inaugural reception honoring Mayor Theodore D. Mann (center) Saturday night, among them Governor Francis Sargent (left) and Waltham Mayor Arthur Clark (right). Along with the mayor, members of the Newton Board of Aldermen and School committee were the honored guests. The mayor's aide, James Salier, was the master of ceremonies at the event marking Newton's first four-year mayoral term. (Lupo photo).

Residents Return For New Hearings

It appeared to be encore night at the Land Use Committee this week as residents in the area of two proposed developments returned to voice opposition.

A new hearing was held Monday on the proposed "Life Care Center" sought in Ward 4 at Stanton Avenue and Washington Street because the 90-day time limit for aldermanic action has elapsed.

A new proposal for land on Washington Street and Neshobe Road also produced 50 residents opposed to development. Last year, this core of concerned area people had appeared to speak against the proposed construction of an insurance office building on the land at Rte. 16 and Rte. 128. This year, a developer plans an office building for 27 doctors.

Stanton Avenue people returned to state their objections to the Life Care development, citing traffic problems, the size of the project and the number of people as their reasons.

The six-story project would contain about 200 housing units for the elderly and a long-term nursing care facility.

People on Stanton Avenue also objected to the fact that when they purchased their houses, the land in question was zoned for private residences and some said this was a factor in their purchases.

As Richard Heldt of 157 Stanton Ave., said, "It's ridiculous for property to be rezoned across four classifications."

The Auburndale Community Association went on record as supporting the concept of a life care center, but said it was against this project because "the present plan is too large and the intensity of the use too great for the site."

The Newton Planning Department has recommended the project be approved.

Emotions Surface In NCDF Hearing

By ELIZABETH McKINNON
Of The Graphic Staff

Accusations of "blackmail" and threats of rescinding the gift of the Vale to the city were among the significant points in last week's hearing on site plans of the Newton Community Development Foundation (NCDF).

NCDF's presentation was made by NCDF President Rev. Gilbert S. Avery, who asked that the Board of Aldermen approve 50 units of housing in 25 townhouses, to be clustered on the Hamlet St. site.

Avery said the clustered townhouses were chosen because they would provide more open space and leave more of the trees now on the site.

The clustered arrangement of the housing would result in a density of six units per acre, the lowest density for apartments or townhouses in the city, Avery said.

Twenty of the 50 units would be for rental to the Newton Housing Authority for its subsidized housing program.

NCDF has been actively trying to build low and moderate income housing since 1970, when it proposed a 500-unit plan on 10 sites scattered throughout the city. It failed to get rezoning and permissive use petitions for the proposal through the Board of Aldermen and took its case to the state Housing Appeals Committee, where hearings were conducted for more than a year.

At the hearing last week, Avery announced NCDF has withdrawn its appeal to the state and is concentrating its efforts on the Hamlet Street site, which it owns outright. (Most of the other sites have been lost by attrition.)

The NCDF Hamlet Street housing would be for low and moderate income families, according to Avery, because NCDF is opposed to a concentration of low-income families in any development.

Construction quality, design, management and tenant selection all would be subject to the Massachusetts Housing Finance Agency, if MHFA agrees to finance the project.

Avery said NCDF has made the Phase I application to MHFA, and MHFA was "interested."

Rental of the moderate-income units would be in the $300-$400 range, Avery said.

Representative and former Alderman Peter Harrington, one of the original supporters of NCDF, spoke in favor of the petition for site plan approval, as did Miriam Erlich, president of the Newton League of Women Voters.

Charges of a "blackmail deal" were made by Dominic Taglienti of 350 Langley Rd., who said five members of the

Improved Status Of Children Goal Of New Backman Legislation

Seven pieces of legislation designed to improve the economic and social status of children have been filed by Sen. Jack Backman of Brookline.

The major thrust of Sen. Backman's legislation is the first of the bills, which establishes a Children's and Family Rights Act.

The object of this legislation is to recognize the right of every child in the Commonwealth to grow up and develop in an environment where he or she is able to develop full potential in life.

The main feature of the legislation provides a 10 per cent benefit increase in financial benefits to children's families now on welfare in March of 1975, as well as a cost of living increase every July. The goal of the proposal is over a period of time to reach the United States Department of Labor Bureau of Labor Statistics low standard budget for a family of four.

The bill parallels the increases in benefits in 1973 to the Elderly, Blind and Disabled. Also incorporated into the bill is a Commission to Study the Status of Children with regard to basic human rights such as nutrition, clothing, housing, health and special needs.

A day-care bill authorizes the Office for Children to provide day care services to pre-school children of families who desire it, on a sliding-scale basis. Payments for full day, five-day-a-week day-care services would be provided on a sliding-scale basis for a parent who works full time or participates in full time training or education program.

Another bill authorizes the Office for Children, in cooperation with the Department of Education, to establish demonstration day-care programs in cities and towns throughout the state, to be used to educate and encourage communities to establish their own centers.

The Model Newborn Children's Insurance bill is a concept gaining national recognition. Today many insurance policies exclude newborn children for varying periods of time or exclude newborn children with medical problems. This legislation states that a child under family health insurance shall be insured from birth against injury and sickness. Congenital defects and birth abnormalities would also be covered.

In the area of child health, an act establishing a statewide program of research, public information and individual screening and diagnosis has been filed. This legislation seeks to promote the health of children through early identification of preventable health hazards and handicapping conditions in potential and expectant parents. The Public Health Department would provide these services on a sliding scale basis in accordance with the recipient's ability to pay.

Another bill established a commission to study the feasibility of state funding of the full cost of public school education, thus ending the inequities of the property tax now used to fund school systems. This would also automatically alleviate the ever-increasing property tax burden.

Jitney Service Proposed

A 10-route jitney service, crisscrossing the city north of Route 9, has been proposed by Alderman Terry Morris to improve intracity transportation.

Under Morris' proposal, which has been submitted to the Board of Aldermen the jitney service would be operated by Newton's existing cab companies, which have a total of 60 taxis.

The proposed jitney service would provide transportation during the peak hours to and from MBTA stops with a walk of five minutes or less.

The hours of operation of the service are suggested as 7:30-9:30 a.m. and 4-7 p.m.

Morris' proposed routes and fares would be as follows:

No. 1 — Woodland to Commonwealth Ave. via Washington St., 20 cents; Commonwealth Ave. to West Newton Sq., 20 cents.

No. 2 — Waban Sq. to Commonwealth Ave. via Chestnut St., 20 cents; Commonwealth Ave. to West Newton Sq. via Washington St., 20 cents.

No. 3 — Newton Highlands Sq. to Commonwealth Ave. via Walnut St., 20 cents; Commonwealth Ave. to Washington and Walnut Sts., 20 cents; Washington and Walnut Sts. to Newton Corner Sq., 20 cents.

No. 4 — West Newton Sq. to Walnut St. via Watertown St., 20 cents; Watertown and Walnut Sts. to Watertown Sq., 20 cents.

No. 5 — West Newton Sq. to California St. via Cherry, Waltham and Crafts Sts., 25 cents; Crafts and California Sts. to Watertown Sq., 20 cents.

No. 6 — Newton Centre Sq. to Commonwealth Ave. via Centre St., 20 cents; Centre St. to Newton Corner Sq., 20 cents.

No. 7 — Boston College and Grant Ave. via Commonwealth Ave., 10 cents; Grant Ave. and Commonwealth Ave. to Newton Corner Sq. via Waverley Ave., 20 cents.

No. 8 — Boston College to Centre St. via Commonwealth Ave., 20 cents; Centre St. to Chestnut St., 20 cents; Chestnut St. to Auburndale Sq., 20 cents.

No. 9 — West Newton Sq. to Walnut St. via Washington St., 20 cents; Walnut and Washington Sts. to Newton Corner Sq., 20 cents.

No. 10 — Waban Sq. to Walnut St. via Beacon St., 20 cents; Walnut and Beacon Sts. to Newton Centre Sq., 10 cents.

The proposal for a jitney service will be presented to the Mayor's Transportation Task Force at is Jan. 22 meeting, Room 220, City Hall at 7:30 p.m.

Clinic Director Fights Dismissal At Hearing

Dr. Norman Bernstein, recently dismissed medical director of the Newton Guidance Clinic, was this week presenting his case against dismissal at a hearing before top-level members of the state Department of Mental Health.

The hearing began Tuesday and at noon Wednesday was still in progress.

Bernstein was dismissed as director of the Guidance Clinic by the Mental Health Department as of Jan. 5. His dismissal was effected, according to Newton - Wellesley - Weston Mental Health Area Associate Director Edward Sahatjian, so that a complete reorganization of the staff might take place.

The clinic has been in upheaval since the departure of former director Dr. William Stone last spring.

The hearing, which was granted after court action by Dr. Bernstein, will determine whether his performance as director has fulfilled the requirements of the Mental Health Department, according to Shirley Bayles of the department.

No witnesses from the clinic have testified, Ms. Bayles said, but there may be such testimony later.

The Mental Health Department will decide on Bernstein's case within 48 hours after the conclusion of the hearing, Ms. Bayles said.

If the findings are against Bernstein his dismissal will be upheld, but no further proceedings will take place against Bernstein.

Keep Cars Off City Sidewalks

Chief William F. Quinn announced that the Newton Traffic Bureau reports that cooperation on the part of motorists getting their cars off Newton streets during the night has been extremely good.

With the number of cars per household, many are parking on sidewalks, and this poses an additional problem on sidewalk plowing routes.

School routes cover nearly all sidewalks and any car parked on a sidewalk during a snow storm will have to be towed. In the interim they will be tagged for parking on the sidewalk. Quinn hopes these drivers can find a more suitable place for their cars.

Fire At Stearns School

A fire at the Stearns School administration building caused an estimated $5,000-$7,000 damage this week.

According to senior custodian Gene Sweeney, the fire broke out around 6 p.m. Tuesday because of a short circuit in an electric heater.

The fire was in the support services office on the first floor. The office had to be closed down afterwards because of damage.

A priest at a nearby church reported the fire. A heat detector in the ceiling also brought notice to the fire.

Firefighters took approximately 20 minutes to put out the fire according to Sweeney.

"They did an excellent job, Sweeney commented.

'Sweeney said that there was no one in the building at the time of the fire.

Creativity

Recreation Notes

Playground Toboggan Chute Opens

The Newton Recreation Department's toboggan chute at the Newton Centre Playground opened on Jan. 5 following the first measurable snowfall of the season and accompanying cold weather.

As long as weather conditions permit the slide will be open from 2 to 5 p.m. in the afternoon and 7 to 10 p.m. in the evenings on weekdays, and Saturdays and Sundays from 9 to noon, 1 to 5 p.m. in the afternoon, and 7 to 10 p.m.

Newton skaters almost got a break last week when authorities estimated the Ware's Cove ice needed only one more day and the ice at Bullough's Pond and Crystal Lake would be ready in a couple of more days. Then came the snow, setting the opening back at least a few days, again depending on the weather.

The Recreation Department equipment is used with the rest of the city equipment in plowing throughout the City. It is usually at least two days following a storm before it can be diverted to clearing snow from ice surfaces for skating.

The situation is further compounded by the fact that the ice was not strong enough to support the plowing equipment before the snow came, so this means further delay.

Skating conditions at any of the Recreation Department's supervised areas are constantly updated. Newton residents may call the special skating information number, 969-2851, seven days a week, 24 hours a day. Skaters are warned not to venture onto the ice until an area has been established as safe by Recreation Department officials.

The children's ski program at Waltham's Prospect Hill is a victim of the energy shortage. Because of the scarcity of fuel, the snow-making equipment cannot be used to its full potential.

The program, for children in grades three through six, will be transferred to the Blue Hills Ski Area and will be conducted there for five weeks with the first class beginning Thursday, Jan. 17, filled to capacity.

The open gym program at the new Newton North High School also began recently. The gym facilities at the school will be open to the public 7:15 to 10:15 p.m., Monday through Friday, Saturday, 2 to 5 p.m. and 7:15 to 10:15 p.m.; Sundays 2 to 5 p.m.. The program will emphasize informal basketball and volleyball, for adults week-day nights, co-ed teens, Friday nights and Saturdays; and families Sundays.

There are still a few openings in the swim classes being held at the North High pool. Late comers may check with Staffer Austin Moore at the pool for further information regarding registration.

Figure skating classes for girls in grades one through six are being held at the MDC's Cleveland Circle Rink and there are still some available spots. For further information, call the Recreation Department at 969-3171 and ask for Fran Towle.

Registrations for the indoor tennis courts at North High may be made by calling 965-0267 between 7 p.m. and 8 p.m. seven days a week.

The tennis program is limited to Newton residents holding current tennis permits available from the Newton Recreation Department. Doubles games may be scheduled from 8 to 10 p.m. weekdays, and Sundays from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. and 8 p.m. to 10 p.m. Joggers may run on the Newton North track from 7 to 8 p.m. every day Monday through Sunday.

Winter indoor programs are being held five nights a week from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Carr, Hyde and Burr Elementary Schools. Call 969-3171 for further details.

Other programs are held five nights a week at the Emerson School from 7 to 9 p.m. and at the Lincoln-Eliot School three nights each week during the same hours. The Franklin School is also open from 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesdays for junior high boys, Wednesdays for senior high boys and Thursdays for junior and senior high girls. The Hamilton School from 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesdays are reserved for junior and senior high boys, Wednesdays for junior and senior high boys and Thursdays for junior and senior high girls.

The co-ed program at Warren Junior High has been shifted from Friday to Saturday night because of the basketball league program. Hours are from 7 to 10 p.m. on Saturday nights.

Another change announced by the Recreation Department is the shift of the West Newton drop-in center from the Unitarian Church to the Community Center on Cherry Street. Instead of being held Saturday nights the center program will be open Friday nights from 7 to 11 p.m. Plans are being made for a monthly dance to be held at the Unitarian Church.

The co-ed gym program at Sacred Heart in Newton Centre is open to junior and senior high school students Friday nights from 7 to 10 p.m., and Saturday nights for senior high school age people, also from 7 to 10 p.m.

Youth Center Director Rick Williams and Recreation Supervisor Robert E. Doherty, are working with a group of students at Meadowbrook Junior High on plans for a gym program at that school one night a week. Details will be announced shortly.

There is also an open gym program at the junior high schools from 1 to 4 p.m. Saturdays. The program is open to boys at Bigelow, Warren, Meadowbrook and Weeks, and a program for girls is held at Day Junior High.

Doherty recently announced the resumption of the special class swim program at the Sidney Hill Country Club Pool. The program is for junior and senior high students. Students from the Peabody School will attend the 12-week program Tuesday afternoons through April 10. High School and Meadowbrook students are scheduled Monday afternoons through April 8, and Thursday afternoons through Feb. 20, a group from Oak Hill will complete its program.

Young people from the Countryside and Hamilton Schools will swim on Thursdays for six weeks, March through April.

Gilbert Champagne will continue as instructor, assisted by Recreation Leader Ralph Hamilton.

Archery classes at the Newton Centre Playground Field House began recently and will last for ten weeks. The classes for boys and girls eight to fifteen will be held each Wednesday from 7 to 8:30 p.m. The instructor is Bill Baker. Classes are limited to 20 people and the registration fee is $1.00. For details call 969-3171.

RSVP Needs Aides For Senior Programs

Senior volunteers are needed immediately to participate in several new programs to aid senior citizens.

A new drop-in center will begin the middle of February under the auspices of the Newton Council on Aging. The drop-in center will offer a variety of social activities and will be open every other Tuesday. A program coordinator and several hostesses are needed.

Coordinators are also needed to help develop a telephone reassurance line for seniors.

Additional volunteers have been requested by local nursing homes to serve as activity aides and friendly visitors, and volunteer drivers can be used by the Traveling Meals program.

These are some of the many interesting volunteer opportunities available for retired men and women aged 60 and over through the Newton-Wellesley-Weston Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP). Assistance is provided with transportation, meals, and insurance. Join the RSVP program by calling Mrs. Marjorie Glassman, RSVP, Newton Community Service Centers, 429 Cherry St., West Newton, at 969-5900.

Traffic Impact Affects Approval Of Towers

By ELIZABETH McKINNON
Of the Graphic Staff

Approval of the revised site plan for the Towers at Chestnut Hill may depend on review of a statement on the traffic impact on Hammond Pond Parkway which is expected to be submitted to the Planning Department this week.

According to a representative of the Towers, the traffic consultants' report is expected to say that the Towers traffic, about 800 cars a day can easily be controlled by the new traffic light now being installed on Hammond Pond Parkway at the Towers entrance.

Also due for review are plans for sewage and storm drainage, and plans for underground electric and telephone wires.

None of these plans were ready for last week's public hearing on revised site plan, but should be in the hands of the appropriate city departments before next week's working meeting of the Land Use Committee.

The Towers' permissive use was extended Nov. 5, but no building permit can be issued to begin construction again until after the site plan, which includes utility and sewage plans, has been approved.

The Towers was issued a cease-and-desist order in September by Buildings Commissioner Gene Larson because the original permissive use granted by the Board of Aldermen in 1966 expired in 1971.

The $42 million condominium project, consisting of 428 units of luxury housing ranging in cost from about $70,000 to $250,000, has been at a standstill since September.

Irrevocably tied in with the Towers are 50 units of low and moderate income housing to be built by the Newton Community Development Foundation with $137,500 of Towers money, offered by the Towers as a means of fulfilling the "10 per cent" requirement of the Board that all developers make available 10 per cent of their units to the Newton Husing Authority for lease to low-income families.

Instead of leasing units in the Towers buildings, the Towers offered to help NCDF build the housing on adjacent NCDF-owned land.

At the hearing it was brought out that the original financer of the Towers, the First Pennsylvania Bank, had withdrawn its mortgage commitment at least two months ago, during the time when codeveloper (with Mario DiCarlo) Albert Goodman of Detroit was arguing for prompt renewal of permissive use to prevent the loss of that financing.

Ald. Richard McGrath objected to this turn of events, but Chairman Joseph McDonnell pointed out that the financing is not before the Board of Aldermen, only the approval of the site plan.

The Towers site plan was opposed by Judy Beram, president of the Newton Committee for Fair Housing and Equal Rights, who felt the developers should not be allowed to build the Housing Authority's units away from the development.

Ms Beram also objected to the fact that only 20 units would be available to the Housing Authority, pointing out there should be 42.

Mark Budnitz, also of Fair Housing, spoke about correcting the internal procedures at City Hall to prevent the unnoticed expirations of permissive uses.

Alice Wilson, former candidate for alderman from Ward 7, and president of the Newton taxiowners' association, opposed approval of the site plan because the city will be "paying too high a price for the traffic" generated by the Towers plus the NCDF housing.

New City Salaries Cut By FinCom

The first phase of Mayor Theodore Mann's governmental reorganization plan, the restructuring of the executive staff, has already run into financial difficulty.

The mayor spent more than an hour last week at the aldermanic Finance Committee meeting trying to get the $60,000 additional salaries needed, but came up somewhat short of that.

Much of the meeting was held in "executive session" (closed to the public) because of the discussion of specific persons involved in the salary increases.

The mayor had requested $25,000 annually for the new position of chief administrative officer, to be filled by present administrative assistant, James Salter, and $22,500 each for the new planning and programming officer who will be Planning Director Charles Thomas, and the new chief budget officer, not yet named.

The Finance Committee agreed only to Salter's salary and cut the other two positions to $20,000 each.

Also requested was $12,500 each for two administrative aides, which the Finance Committee cut to $11,500.

The mayor of Newton's salary is $27,500, which figure cannot be increased while the present mayor is in office.

Mann has just begun a four-year term.

Police Nab Highlands Suspect

By TOM GRAVES
Of The Graphic Staff

A combined investigation by Newton and Waltham police resulted in the arrest this week of an 18-year-old Waltham man who has been charged with kidnapping, armed assault in a dwelling, and using a motor vehicle without authority.

Steven C. Grubbs was arrested by Waltham police at 25 Cross St., Waltham, on three Newton warrants Monday. The charges related to an alleged hold-up at 281 Upland ave., Newton Highlands Jan. 8.

A live-in baby sitter at 281 Upland Ave. called Newton police via 911 on Jan. 8 to report that she had been help up.

According to police, the door bell rang at 281 Upland Ave. at about 11:58 a.m. on Jan. 8. A nine-year old girl answered the door and was confronted by a man who said he was supposed to meet her father at the house.

The girl said that her father was not there, but that she would call him. The man stepped inside the house and followed the girl 20 feet into the kitchen.

When the girl started to dal the phone, the man pushed the button down, police recounted. He allegedly pulled a knife out of his belt and asked the girl where the "money was". The girl answered, "I don't know."

At this moment, a live-in babysitter walked into the kitchen. The man grabbed her arm and pushed the knife towards her. He asked her for money.

The babysitter handed the man $122 in ten, twenty, five and one dollar bills, police said.

The man allegedly took the babysitter into the master bedroom and ransacked drawers, taking cash, jewlery and a checkbook.

The man then took the babysitter back to the front of the house and out the front door with the knife still at her side. He walked her down the street to where a red motor vehicle was parked, police said.

The man told the babysitter not to move until he was out of sight. He drove up Upland Avenue toward Dedham Street.

Investigation reportedly discovered that the car was reported stolen in Waltham on Jan 7.

In other police action, two men were arrested Tuesday in connection with a robbery of Langley Pharmacy, 431 Langley Rd., Newton Centre.

Newton police officers George Brennan and Paul Ginnetty responded to a wall alarm at the Langley Pharmacy. They reported a break at the drug store, and informed other police units that a car passed them heading down Langley Road toward Beacon Street.

Officers William Dargon and Harold Hollie observed a two-tone car come out of Langley Road at a high rate of speed and head east on Beacon Street.

The police put on their roof light and siren, but the car did not stop.

The car hit a Boston Edison pole at Reservoir Avenue and Beacon Street. Two men jumped from the car, police said.

The men started running toward the reservoir. Dargon apprehended one man, later identified as William J. Hurd of Scituate. a second suspect, later identified as Barry Brennan of Brighton, was apprehended by Hollie and Officer Charles McLean.

Sidney Black, the owner of Langley Pharmacy, reported to police that drugs had been taken from his store.

Hurd and Brennan were charged with breaking and entering in the nighttime with intention to commit a felony, possession of burglarious instruments, and larceny of a motor vehicle.

Recreation Operation Examined

While the reorganization of city departments is still being considered informally, the Law Department is looking into what the Recreation Department and the Recreation Commissioners are required to do under the ordinance governing the commission.

According to the plan for reorganization proposed by Mayor Theodore Mann, the Recreation Department will no longer be responsible for maintenance work on city playgrounds.

The Recreation Department will be left principally with planning recreation programs for the city, which it has been felt for some time could stand improvement.

Rumors have been circulating that Recreation Commissioner John B. Penney might not remain as the head of the department. He was not reappointed to the commission after his term expired late last year.

One question being studied by the Law Department is whether the department head is in fact an executive director or is more responsible to the eight-member Recreation Commission than has been true heretofore.

Several aldermen have expressed dissatisfaction with the operation of the Recreation Commission, going so far as requiring the commission to schedule a public meeting in each ward so that it may learn at first hand from citizens' groups what is wanted in the way of program.

Several members of the Recreation Commission are reportedly restive under Penney's leadership.

A City Hall source has indicated that Penney may continue as head of the department indefinitely without being reappointed, as a holdover appointment.

NHA Housing Plans Reviewed By State

Revised drawings for the Beaconwood Road low-income family housing planned by hhe Newton Housing Authority have been submitted to the state Department of Community Affairs, according to NHA Executive Director Frank Quinn.

New plans were drawn after the DCA disapproved bids received last falls for housing on three sites.

Revised engineering plans will be submitted to DCA next week, Quinn said.

After review of plans by the DCA, the agency will announce the date for new bids to be invited.

Instead of bids being invited for all three sites at one time, as was done the first, Quinn said, each housing project will be bid separately.

Changes made in the plans by the architects, Architects Collaborative of Cambridge, are extensive, including the elimination of basements, clerestories, and cathedral ceilings.

Construction will be on a cement slab, which will facilitate the installation of electric heat, now found to be less expensive than the originally planned gas heat.

Instead of two bathrooms, the new plans call for 1½ baths.

The Housing Authority and the architect expect that the revisions will bring the construction costs to within allowable guidelines of the DCA, the state funding agency for the housing.

The three sites and number of units each are: Beaconwood Road, 20 units of family housing; Thurston Road, 50 units of elderly and four units of family housing; and California Street, four family units.

Pick New Personnel Director

Arnold Kublin, new director of the city's Personnel Department assumed his post Monday, replacing Alfred DiBenedetti, who has taken a job in private industry.

Kublin, whose salary is $20,000 per year, will automatically be confirmed in his position unless disapproved by the Board of Aldermen within 60 days.

The Personnel Department was created last year by ordinance at the urging of Mayor Thoedore Mann.

The duties of the personnel director will be to complete the centralization of personnel files and records, screen applicants for city jobs, advise personnel on insurance and Civil Service matters and participate in grievance procedures.

Kublin has been for the past 11 years corporate personnel director of the Garland Corp. of Brockton.

He is a 1951 graduate of Suffolk University and has taken additional courses in personnel management and labor relations through the American Management Association and at Northeastern University.

Kublin is a former member and chairman of the Sharon Personnel Board. He directed a revision of the personnel bylaws and a job-evaluation study for personnel in Sharon, and negotiated clerical and administrative salaries for the Sharon school department.

Kublin lives in Sharon with his wife and two children.

Spaulding & Slye Get Approval

Newton Redevelopment Authority (NRA) Executive Director Gerald Earley reported this week that he had received a letter from the state Department of Community Affairs indicating approval of Spaulding and Slye as the developer of commercial parcels in Newton Lower Falls.

The NRA voted at a special meeting on Dec. 15 to designate Spaulding and Slye as developer of commercial parcels C and B1.

The next NRA meeting is scheduled for Jan. 24.

NAIA COACH OF YEAR

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Larry Korver, whose Northwestern College (Iowa) Red Raiders produced a perfect 12-0 football season and the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) Division II title, was named Tuesday the 1973 NAIA Coach of the Year.

The NAIA Football Coaches Association made the selection of Korver who has had six consecutive winning seasons with Northwestern.

Backward And Forward

The old Greeks and Romans, we are told, were strong on resourcefulness. When an idea came to them and they wanted to perpetuate it, they simply invented a god to hold sway over that particular area.

Some of these gods symbolized concrete, everyday acts; others were set up to reign over more abstract things. For instance, Janus with his twin faces could see both ways at once and thus was the tender of doorways, looking both forward and backward at the same time.

It is from the name Janus that our January is derived because it marks the doorway from the old year into the new.

If Janus was suddenly to appear today as a modern man, he could look back over 1973 to review the sorry happenings of those twelve months and thus with the knowledge gained from that experience he could hopefully look forward to 1974. Here his work would be cut out for him but he could see the pitfalls and by dint of courage and hard work avoid the mistakes of the past year and gradually get this country back on the track.

If we were ascribed the fate of 1974, there are many things which we could hope for our fellow men.

We'd like to see an early return to respect for those in high places, and confidence in government restored, as a first step.

We'd hope that American initiative and industry which made this country great could now come up with the answers needed to solve the most pressing of all problems, the energy crisis with its portents of doom.

We'd like to be able to leave our car parked and our business places left at night without fear of finding them stoned or torched by vandals.

In a time when we seem to be running out of just about everything, we'd like to see how it would be in 1974 not to experience one shortage after another.

We'd like to see our high standard of living spread equally over the land to assure a decent existence for our poor, and proper medical care for all who need it.

We could hope for equal educational opportunities for all our people, not just those wo can meet today's exorbitant costs.

We're even old-fashioned enough to wish for a return to the love of country, where every man, woman and child would feel the surge of patriotism next Fourth of July when Old Glory is carried down the town's main street and the bands in the parade blare forth the National Anthem.

Like the ancient Romans and Greeks, we can't name a god to watch over our new year. But one thing we can do is to pay closer attention to those we name as our public servants in the government to strive to put our hopes into action.

If most of your resolutions for the new year have now been broken, it may be time to make another — to get involved in your government, through the ballot, and help make this country one we can look to with pride and confidence.

TO BE OR NOT TO BE . . .

Political Highlights

By JAMES G. COLBERT

Majority Are Against Impeachment Of Nixon

A telephone poll directed by the writer in an area extending from Forest Hills to Dover and including such other communities as West Roxbury, Roslindale, Dedham, Needham, Westwood and Norwood, indicated that a majority of the residents in that sprawling section are opposed to the impeachment of President Nixon.

They apparently are not so much worried about President Nixon and what will happen to him as they are about what would happen to the country during the period of strain and stress when Nixon was under what amounted to indictment and was waiting to stand trial in the U.S. Senate.

On the basis of their thoughtful answers, comments and observations, this obviously is a matter to which many people have given a great deal of thought and about which they are deeply concerned.

Not everyone was willing to reply to the questions put to them. Some of those called told the pollsters it was nobody else's business how they felt about the possible impeachment of the President. A few expressed resentment at being asked such a question. But most were willing to talk.

One man in Norwood, who emphasized he was no great admirer of President Nixon, pointed out that Nixon might be impeached by Congress in May or June and then be tried in the Senate in January of February of next year.

"What would happen to the country in the period between May or June and the conclusion of the Senate trial some time next year?" he asked. "We might be in a crisis of chaos and confusion for almost a year. I don't think Nixon is devoting enough time and attention now to the job of running the country."

A housewife in Dover, mother of five children, said she was much more worried about the heating oil and gasoline shortage and the rising cost of living than in whether President Nixon knew about the Watergate break-in before it happened or tried to cover it up afterward.

"I read in one of the daily newspapers that Governor Sargent told the Massachusetts Congressmen that he wasn't worried whether school children would have to wear their overcoats in their classrooms but that he was worried about people being thrown out of work if industrial plants don't have enough oil to operate," she declared.

"He may not be worried about cold classrooms, but I am. I don't think he has any children attending Dover schools. I have five. We are living in a period of great problems–problems that affect our lives and those of our children," she continued.

"I think Congress should stop playing politics on impeachment and try to work with President Nixon to give us enough oil to heat our homes, enough gasoline to operate our automobiles and keep the price of food within limits so we will have enough money left to meet the mortgage payments," she asserted. "That's what I'm interested in."

A total of 400 telephone calls were made, exclusive of those where the residents declined to answer the questions–60 each in Roslindale, West Roxbury, Dedham, Needham and Norwood; 50 each in Westwood and Dover.

The totals were: 148 for impeachment; 227 against impeachment and 25 undecided. The question was: "Do you believe President Nixon should be impeached?" The answers by communities were:

West Roxbury: Yes-24; No-32; Undecided-4.
Roslindale-Yes-25; No-32; Undecided-3.
Needham: Yes-18; No-37; Undecided-5
Dedham: Yes-25; No-32; Undecided-3.
Dover: Yes-15; No-32; Undecided-3.
Westwood: Yes-16; No-29; Undecided-5.
Norwood: Yes-25; No-33; Undecided-2.

The telephone poll left several clearcut conclusions:

1. The problem uppermost in the minds of the people is the economy.

2. They are worried about the heating oil and gasoline shortages, inflation, rising prices, the high cost of living, cold homes and schools, a possible recession, loss of jobs and living conditions generally.

3. The Watergate scandal is now of secondary importance to them when compared to those things which make an impact on their day-to-day lives.

4. Any Congressmen they believe plays politics to the extent of neglecting these problems will have a difficult time getting their votes next September and November.

5. The average person would be happy to see President Nixon resign and retire to write his memoirs although most people are not at all convinced that Vice President Gerald Ford would be as good a President as Nixon or is anything more than a loyal political workhorse.

6. But he is fearful of what the effect would be on the country, its economy, on him and his general well-being if President Nixon were impeached by Congress next spring or summer and then forced to stand trial in the Senate some time next year.

7. If that happens and the nation is in a state of turmoil and chaos next September and November, the number of Congressmen swept out of office probably would be staggering.

8. Members of Congress must realize this and the political risk to themselves if they impeach President Nixon and plunge the nation into a period of chaos and turmoil which would extend through next fall's primary and election. The more one considers it, the less likely it seems that President Nixon will be impeached.

Ted And Elliot Could Be Opponents In 1976

Both the Democratic and Republican Presidential nominees for President might just be from Massachusetts in 1976. It could come down to an election fight between Senator Edward M. Kennedy and former Attorney General Elliot L. Richardson, both Bay Staters.

A person very close to Ted Kennedy, who was with him during the Christmas-New Year's holidays, was asked this week by the writer if he thought Ted would run for President two years from now.

"I hope he won't, but I'm afraid he will," was the unusual reply. He went on to explain that he was certain Ted could win the election but that he was fearful he might be assassinated, as were his two older brothers, John and Robert, if he runs.

"Ted is very fatalistic about the possibility of an assassination," he added. (He is in a position to know Ted Kennedy's thinking.)

Elliot Richardson has rejected all overtures that he come home and stand for election to the Massachusetts Governorship this year.

He has done so because he is a candidate for the Republican nomination for President in 1976, and he does not believe his election as Governor would be the best springboard to that nomination.

Prominent Republicans have gone hat in hand to Elliot Richardson to urge that he challenge Governor Francis W. Sargent in next September's Republican primary. They have offered him substantial support and a big campaign chest of money.

Richardson has turned them away, not because he was all that reluctant to run against a distant cousin or because he was fearful he could not win the nomination or election.

His dominant reason is that he wants to be free to campaign for Republican Congressional candidates across the United States next fall and not be tied down to a campaign in Massachusetts.

Drinan Quizzed On Oil, Impeachment During Trip Home

By CYNTHIA BLACK

Congressman Robert F. Drinan, who has been home visiting his district, paid the Newton Graphic a visit at the end of last week.

I'm sure it will come as no surprise to anyone that the questions he's been hearing most often on this trip are about the energy crisis and the possible impeachment of President Nixon.

"I'm asked why the price of oil keeps going up and when we're going to impeach the President," he said.

The Congressman returns to the Capitol Monday to take up these matters.

Since he is a member of the subcommittee of the Judiciary Committee that is working on the impeachment question, and is the man who first filed a resolution in the

Completely Black

House of Representatives on the issue, I asked him for a first hand report.

Drinan said he has not seen much support for the President on this trip home.

"If support is there, it's very 'soft,' " he commented, saying he means signs of vocal, active support of the President are quite scarce here.

The congressman also, with a politician's finesse, delivered broad hints that a case against Richard Nixon is taking shape and suggested the matter might be ready to come out of committee in "early May."

"We want to bring out a case that will overwhelm the country," he said. He also still maintains his original position that the secret bombing of Cambodia is Nixon's "highest crime," alluding to the fact it says in the Constitution that a President can be impeached for "high crimes or misdemeanors."

—o—

While we're on the subject of the Congressman's visit and in view of the fact that journalists always delight in discovering silly typographical errors in each other's newspapers, I want to add that Congressman Drinan pointed out a typo in the Graphic to me last week that's rather amusing.

On page 3 of last week's paper, we reported that Drinan was going to speak Jan. 16 at the Newton Coalition for New Politics.

His topic was: "Choose Your Crisis: Impeachment, Energy, the Mideast."

It came out in the paper: "Impeachment, Energy, the Midwest."

Let me assure you, there is no crisis in the Midwest.

—o—

For all of you who have been wondering what ever happened to Graphic reporter Len Bateman, I've been meaning to tell you that he was named editor of the Norfolk County Press, another Transcript newspaper.

Now I see that his name is in the news and, I know what Bateman is doing down there in Norwood.

This item appeared Tuesday in the Daily Transcript under the headline: "Editor Thwarts Burglary":

NORWOOD—A burglary attempt was thwarted last night by Norfolk County Press Editor Len Bateman, who was working in the Norwood office on Washington Street, when he heard glass breaking and the piercing sound of an alarm.

Bateman ran out the door in time to find two boys about 15 years old in the doorway of a clothing store he said.

As the reporter yelled at the thieves, they fled up Vernon Street and escaped before the arrival of the police.

Bateman noted one of the youths was carrying some clothing articles under his arm when he fled from the store at 675 Washington St.

Sgt. John Flaherty is investigating the incident.

As a result of the publicity he received from the so-called Saturday Night Massacre, when Archibald Cox was fired and Richardson resigned, Richardson today is better known throughout the nation than almost any Governor.

He will be in great demand as a Republican speaker in next autumn's campaign, and the Republican Congressional candidates he helps are not likely to forget his assistance. Congressmen almost always are delegates to national conventions, and they often pick the other delegates from their districts.

Richardson understandably wants to woo them next fall when many of them will need his help because of the political burden Watergate has thrown on them.

Sarge Plans Financial Legerdemain In 1974

Governor Sargent apparently is planning some financial legerdermain in 1974. Either that or he intends to slip some of the state's bills under the tablecloth and pay them some time in the hazy future.

In his state of the state address to a joint convention of the Legislature, the Governor announced plans for increasing socialized state spending but at the same time holding the line of state taxes.

This policy, according to the Governor will enable "more citizens to keep more dollars" although it is not clear how this desirable development will come about any place except in Mr. Sargent's imagination since he also spoke of the worsening economy and the increasing signs of a recession which, of course, would mean a smaller income for the state from its present tax schedule.

Governor Sargent in the same address went through the motions, at least, of holding out the olive branch to the Legislature.

This came rather late in political life both for the Governor, who in the past has made it a practice of running against the Legislature rather than the candidate opposing him, and for the law-makers, most of whom already have felt the whiplash of Sarge's criticism.

So a substantial number of legislators, expecting more insults rather than a Sargent bearing peace offerings, didn't bother to show up to hear the Governor's talk on the state of the the state.

Mr. Sargent pledged more clout for Massachusetts in Washington. This seemed a bit of wishful thinking since Sarge is not popular either with President Nixon or the Massachusetts delegation in Congress.

From Governor Sargent's answers to questions put to him during a televised panel show it also appeared to come through clearly that he is seeking some powers on the energy crisis which he either already has or doesn't need. Could good, old Sarge possibly be playing politics?

An Open Letter To Mayor Mann

Dear Mayor Mann:

After sitting through the first aldermanic meeting of the Public Works Committee last Thursday night and listening to Public Works Director Richard Dudman boast about how well prepared the city was and what a wonderful job Newton did in clearing snow resulting from the first storm of the season, I just cannot stop from letting you and the public know what my feelings are.

As you well know, way back in December, 1971, you and I discussed the desperate need to improve Newton's methods of clearing snow. We both agreed that the practices of removing snow before you became mayor were wasteful, inefficient and resulted in a poor job done at a high cost to the taxpayer. You promised then and have consistently stated since then that new and exciting improvements in snow clearing were being discussed, planned and implemented.

Fortunately for Newton, the last two years have been mild and we have been spared from any significant storms. This blessing gave Newton ample time to develop the new procedures and purchase any new equipment needed without pressure.

The recent storm, although it was an easy storm to plow, did give us our first opportunity to see the new plan in action.

I am very disappointed and extremely discouraged in what I saw.

Although it has been 25 months since my first plea for improvement and your first promise to improve, I found Newton less prepared yesterday to handle a serious storm than it has been in any previous year in my memory.

Thank God this storm was light, fluffy and easy to plow.

If you think that my reasons for criticism are not based on fact but are only politically inspired, let me offer to you one of the many example that have contributed to my discouragement.

Last March, you requested and the Board of Aldermen appropriated funds to purchase new sanders we all agreed were desperately needed by the city. As of Dec. 1, 1973, four weeks into the 1973-74 snow season, not one of the 10 sanders were in the city yards; as a matter of fact, they were not even in the state.

When I discussed the problem with you early in December, you told me the reason the sanders were not here was due to a slip-up by the director of Public Works, but you expected them to be in our yards ready for work by the middle of December, 1973.

Well, here we are approaching the middle of January, 1974, and where are our sanders?

Six out of 10 of our new sanders are in Weston sitting out the 1973-74 snow season in the supplier's yard. True, four brand-new sanders have been delivered to Newton; but even before the first storm hit, two had to be returned to the supplier for repairs. To make matters worse is the fact that six other snow-fighting vehicles which happen to be the newest and best snow-fighting vehicles that Newton owns are also sitting out the 1973-74 snow season in Weston because they are needed to carry the new sanders.

There is absolutely no reason why this equipment could not have been ready and operational in our city yards on Nov. 1, 1973. It quite clearly points out a serious problem of management, and an inability to follow through on the part of the administration.

This example is only one of many that I can describe and substantiate that demonstrate a regression rather than an improvement of Newton's snowplowing policies during the past two years.

Although it is again probably too late to do anything substantial to improve our snow-clearing dilemma for the 1973-74 season, I plead with you to begin.

Finally, I hope that you will accept this letter not as blind criticism of you and your administration but more as a serious and honest attempt to persuade you that something must be done now to improve Newton's methods of clearing snow.

I am still willing and eager to cooperate with you in any way you want me to in accomplishing this goal.

Controversy At The Mental Health Clinic

To The Editor:

I am submitting my own statement on the present issues surrounding the Newton Guidance Clinic and the Newton Mental Health Association so that I will not be misquoted, misinterpreted or misunderstood, and attempt to place the current controversy in some kind of perspective.

It was with full knowledge that everything was not well at the Newton Guidance Clinic under its former director, and that the board of directors had not been exercising its responsibility for the overseeing of the clinic for the past few years that the present administration took over the office two years ago. It was the intent of the association, and still is, to become a more responsive voice to the needs of the community, assume accountability to the mayor and taxpayers of Newton for the money allocated towards the operation of the clinic, improve and expand already existing services and initiate badly-needed community outreach programs. This was an ambitious goal for a clinic of only five full time and four half-time staff — and change comes slowly and not without pain.

Early in its administration, the association initiated an outside evaluation of the clinic through the Office of Prevention, Dept. of Mental Health, and the Laboratory of Community Psychiatry from Harvard University, one of the first of its kind to be done in the state. Some of the practices revealed at that time no longer exist today and some are currently under examination, however, many were, and still are accepted practices in varying degrees in the many mental health clinics throughout the state which were established under the unclear guidelines of the 'Partnership Agreement' between local citizen associations and the Department of Mental Health. Many of them are also now going through similar redefinition and re-examination. Newton is not unique!

The most recent factual and documented data compiled as of December 18, 1973, by Dr. Elizabeth Herman, sr. psychiatrist and director of clinical services at the clinic, is available for scrutiny and will be shared with Dr. John C. Athans, commissioner of public health.

One of the most interesting facts revealed is the answer to the question most frequently asked, 'What segment of the population does the clinic serve in this middle-class suburban community?' Seventy-four percent of the total clientele of 236 individuals presently being seen as of this date pay under $5 per week, per family, with many paying nothing or 25c or 50c per week.

This generally includes at least three members in any given family involved in any one or more of the therapies offered. There is currently no waiting list either for diagnostic evaluation or treatment (which is also true in some other clinics), and almost all of the clinic staff are engaged in some form of community consultation or educational program in addition to their regular responsibilities of treatment and teaching.

I would be remiss if I give the impression that all is well with the Newton Guidance Clinic and the Newton Mental Health Association, but it is against this background of change that many of the old criticisms surfaced and some of the current problems of administration are trying to be resolved. This also includes the larger picture of the relationship of Newton to the Newton-Weston-Wellesley Area and the complete state network. Many changes have already been made, are currently being made and will continue to be made as part of an ongoing process. We have a long way to go to reach our stated goals, but we have begun!

I am currently serving on an Ad Hoc Committee in cooperation with executive directors and presidents of mental health associations from all over the state who are presently working with the Department of Mental Health and Dr. William Goldman, commissioner, in an attempt to clarify the respective roles and responsibilities of the local citizen groups vis-a-vis Department of Mental Health personnel, and it is becoming very clear that the citizen voice should and is becoming stronger and clearer.

The Association has no vested interest to serve except as a representative of the community in which we live and, therefore, at a meeting of the Executive Committee on Dec. 10 it was voted to take a non-partisan position in this present controversy - neither for nor against anyone, any group or anything."

FANS WILL PICK

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — Fans of National Basketball Association teams will get a chance next season to pick the players for the 1975 All-Star game to be staged in Phoenix, Ariz.

NBA Commissioner Walter Kennedy said Tuesday that the association had decided to follow a fan-balloting plan similar to that used to pick participants for the major league baseball All-Star game.

Players for this year's game were selected by two sources. Basketball writers covering the pro teams selected the first eight players on each team and the All-Star coaches added the final four on each team.

Campaign Reform Should Be Congress' First Business

To the Editor of Letters:

With Congress soon to be reconvening, I feel that the first order of business should be for it to write and pass legislation which would have the campaigns of all elected government officials paid for by the American people so that we will know that whatever advice they give to their peers, their superiors, and their constituents, and whatever way they vote will be for the benefit and welfare of only those who pay their salaries, we the people of the United States.

Special interest groups have every right to lobby, to persuade, and convince, but not to bribe! The competitive, capitalistic system is good, but only if the governing elected officials respond to the interests of the people, can we ever return to a democracy. And should Congress fail to enact such law, I for one, and all else that I can persuade, shall vote the incumbents out.

I have always been firmly against capital punishment, but I now make one exception: An elected public official who violates his oath of office shall be tried, and if convicted, be labeled "traitor" and thus electrocuted.

This should be attached to the legislation above and be voted into law. All honest and dedicated Congressmen and Senators would have no reason for a negative vote. Such legislation should pass quickly and unanimously. Those who are now committed to special interest groups through campaign contributions, but wish to remain in office, must have the "guts" to admit to and cancel the deal and run their campaigns with the same advantages and disadvantages as the would-be elected official.

Shirley B. Lang
Waban

P.S. Regarding the public's seemingly lessened desire for the impeachment of the President, I believe it is less vocal now only because it, as I, is trusting that the processes by the House Judiciary Committee will continue to fruition.

Warmth In The Snow

To the Editor:

Freezing temperatures and two heavy snowfalls notwithstanding, Newton's streets were cleared with admirable speed and thoroughness. And there was the bonus of rubbish pickups within a day or two. A warm word of praise is due the men of the city departments and our city officials.

Thanks Firefighters

(The following letter was sent to Fire Chief Frederick A. Perkins and a copy was forwarded to the paper).

My dear Chief Perkins:

We know we not only speak for ourselves, but also for our parents when we say thank you to you and your men for their performance in fighting the fire at their home in such adverse weather conditions. Their kindness and consideration in helping us secure objects important to them will always be appreciated and never forgotten.

And to the fire fighters who brought us bundles of Christmas presents at the height of the fire, a special thank you from 12 happy grandchildren who had special reasons to smile this year.

STASIUK TO DENVER

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — The St. Louis Blues named Vic Stasiuk coach and general manager of their Denver Spurs farm club in the Western Hockey j earue to replace Bob McCord, who was fired Tuesday.

Stasiuk said McCord may stay on as a player and assistant coach with Denver, although "that decision is up to him."

Stasiuk has been serving as assistant coach of the Blues since the beginnning of the season.

Wall Night

Appreciation Night, Sunday, February 3 for Sports Editor Frank Wall

A trio of major leaguers are among the many who have indicated that they will be in attendance at the Feb. 3 Appreciation Night being held for Sports Editor Frank Wall.

The tribute to Transcript Sports Editor Wall, originally planned by youth leaders and friends from Norwood, has grown in scope and size since the surprise announcement.

"The reception to date has been most enthusiastic. We never appreciated Frank Wall's popularity outside of Norwood," the planning committee said.

"We've already had ticket requests from Dedham, Westwood, Needham and Walpole, from everywhere. Frank has friends throughout the Bay State League and Parkway Areas," according to the committee which is planning the first event ever held for Wall. The evening affair is scheduled for Sunday, Feb. 3, at Moseley's in Dedham.

Both Norwood and Walpole High Schools have asked to be included among the organizations making individual awards.

Top figures in the sports world and public officials are planning to attend. They include Joe Morgan, recently appointed manager of the Red Sox farm team at Pawtucket, Ferny Flaman, former star Bruins defenseman and now Northeastern University hockey coach from Westwood and Richie Hebner of Norwood, standout Pittsburgh Pirate third baseman. State Representatives Alan Danovich and Dave Ahearn will be at the affair along with numerous other town officials.

The committee said today that seats are going quickly. Reservations, either on an individual basis or for a table of ten, should be made immediately to assure good seating.

A roast beef supper and an evening of entertainment and dancing are all included in the ticket cost of $7.50 per person.

Tickets can be obtained by calling the following committee members.

John Chisholm, 762-3729; Paul Byrne, 762-6391; Bob Ivatts, 762-4683; Don MacPhee, 762-3565; Barbara Kinter, 762-8842; Shirley Krohto, 762-3190; Sheila Brown, 762-4779; Jack Walker, 762-1295; Barry Quinlan, 762-7391; Gary Maus, 762-3963; Don Glaser, 769-1851; Jack Adellman, 769-0248; George Carey, 762-6902; Larry Brown 769-3131; Joe Curran 762-6328; Carole Powers, 762-2264; Lenny Capone, 329-2518.

In addition to being a sports editor for Transcript Newspapers and the new daily newspaper, The Daily Transcript, Wall is regarded by many as the number one local sports fan in the area. He has also served as Little League coach for 20 years and a manager in American Legion baseball.

The appreciation night will start with cocktails from 6 to 7 p.m.

PARKER WITHDRAWS

CLEMSON, S.C. (UPI) — Clemson head football Coach Red Parker said Monday he was "officially withdrawing" from consideration for the head coaching job at the University of Mississippi.

Parker's statement came following weekend reports that he was one of five persons interviewed for the head coaching job to replace interim Coach Johnny Vaught.

Medfield Sextet Tips Foxboro 4-3

MEDFIELD — Medfield High School, self supporting hockey team, recently received their 72-73 Tri Valley Championship Trophy before the Foxboro game and then proceeded to show Foxboro they still are champions with a thrilling 4-3 win. With 20 seconds to go and a 3-3 deadlock Strittmatter led a rush with Forsythe whose blazing slap shot won the game. Cowan, Gallagher and Murphy getting the other goals and Strittmatter having 3 big assists. Next in line for the high flying Warriors was Holliston, this was a must game for the Blue and White for two reasons, the Big Red had held Medfield to a 2-2 tie in the last game they played and the Big Red Basketball team had given Medfield basketball team their only loss to date. Revenge was in order and once again Medfield hockey team was up to the challenge. For two periods both teams skated back and forth with no scoring, then in the 3rd stanza Medfield skating 3 lines against 2 for Holliston tired the Red team and banged in 4 goals. Forsythe, Cowan, Costas and Gallagher getting the goals and the basketball loss was avenged. Forsythe a converted 3rd line wing from last year has made the change to defense with such success that he is classified as another Doug Rogers by Lee DeSorgher. George Ciota and Peter Good improving every game help shape up the Blue defense that is firmly anchored by the Captain Paul Strittmatter.

G - Hanners, L.D. - Strittmatter, R.D. - Good, C - Gallagher, R.W. - Constas, L.W. - Cowan, Spares - Vliet, Colt, Kenney, Hutt, Chisholm, Ciota, McLaughlin and Forsythe.

School Hockey Notes — Gallagher up from the Soccer team filling the shoes of Steve Moore as first line center — but good. Old reliable Charley Hutt and Chisholm back after injuries, doing a great job. Freshman goaltender Mark Melea always ready when called upon and doing a great job when he takes over for "Smooth" Steve Hannes in the Medfield cage.

George Constas the "old Pro" and Rawson Cowan roaring up and down the wing lanes keeping the opposition honest and banging in the big goals. Peter Kenney, Rivers School gift to Medfield and Larry Murphy working real hard as centermen. A real pleasant surprise, Steve Colt and Jeff Vliet second line wings, both seniors playing for the first time, a BIG assist to the team. Two big defense men Dave McLaughlin and George Ciota doing a bang up job. Ciota, a bruising tackle on the football team, feeling right at home in the rough, tough ice game.

Winner of the December Raffle drawing for $100 was Linda Laakso of 8 Summer St. Drawing held at the American Legion Hall, New Years Eve, drawn by Leo Shiels Commander of Beckwith Post.

Mary Mulvey To Speak At Library

Home economist Mary I. Mulvey, from the Middlesex County Extension Service, will discuss "Looking at Your Windows," as part of a consumer education program at the Newton Centre Branch Library on Friday, Jan. 18 at 10 a.m.

Miss Mulvey, a graduate of the University of Connecticut, recently completed additional courses at Michigan State University.

Miss Mulvey will discuss fabrics and design, and will offer suggestions for different window treatments.

Ann Harbison, Newton Centre branch librarian, invites interested Newton people to come for the meeting and to remain for simple refreshments.

Buildings

The Board of Aldermen and the School Department have been quibbling ever since the new charter went into effect in 1971 about what constitutes "charter maintenance", to be paid for by the schools, and what should be considered capital outlay, to be paid for from the city budget.

The Public Buildings Committee seemed largely sympathetic to Larson's hopes for the department, having for years pressed the former department head for more detailed information on the department operation.

The meeting, chaired by Ald. Edward Richmond, was attended by five of the eight members of the committee, who elected new Alderman Susan Schur vice-chairman.

Ald. David Jackson arrived late, Alan Barkin left early, and Ernest Dietz, Richmond and Schur were present for the entire meeting. Ald. Joseph McDonnell, Matthew Jefferson, and Mark White were absent.

Contact Health Department For Tuberculin Test

It has been the custom of the Norfolk County-Newton Christmas Seal Association to distribute the area's hospital and clinic x-ray schedules for the purposes of tuberculosis detection.

After these familiar slips of paper were distributed, the Massachusetts Department of Public Health shifted gears for tuberculosis control. Now area residents must contact their town's health department for tuberculin tests.

If a tuberculin test is positive, a person can contact the appropriate hospital or health center and make an appointment for a free chest x-ray.

For further explanation of this new procedure contact your local health department or the Norfolk County-Newton Lung Association.

FIGHT SCHEDULED

BOSTON (UPI) — Emile Griffith, the former middleweight and welterweight world champion, will meet Joe Licata in a 12-round middleweight fight Feb. 5 at Boston Garden.

Licata, 22, is unbeaten in 37 fights with three draws.

NCDF

Land Use Committee had "blackmailed the Towers for Money — I don't know what else you'd call it."

(The Towers is giving NCDF $137,500 toward the costs of preparation and construction of the Hamlet Street housing, to avoid being caught by the aldermanic policy requiring developers to set aside 10 per cent of their units for the Newton Housing Authority.)

Land Use Chairman Joseph McDonnell denied any "deal." "There was nothing in the nature of blackmail," he said. Mr. Taglienti is referring to this: In the Land Use Committee we were engaged in a discussion at which the Towers voluntarily submitted an agreement with NCDF."

"This was all done in public. The agreement was before the Land Use Committee at several meetings," McDonnell went on.

Taglienti responded, "Do we have to hang out our clothes for everybody to see? You have an alderman who called us up and said, 'You want a swimming pool, tennis courts? Now's your chance. You can have anything you want.' "

Taglienti turned to Ald. David Cohen and asked, "You know about the money that was exchanged."

McDonnell asked, "You mean the Towers money?"

"I don't know what I mean. You people baffle me," Taglienti replied.

Letitia Angelone, who also opposed the Towers petition, said, "Our mothers and fathers worked hard all their lives to live here. It will not help to bring people in here. You have to teach these people how to live." She felt that the lack of transportation would be detrimental to the Hamlet Street location for housing.

Robert Cohen, owner of the Vale, threatened to rescind his deeding of the major part of the Vale to the city, unless steps are taken to protect the Vale ecology.

"There is nobody here from Save the Vale, the Newton Conservators, or the Conservation Commission," Cohen said. "Ald. David Cohen and the Save the Vale people nitpicked over the drainage from one car on one of my lots, but no one is objecting to the drainage from 76 cars" (the number estimated for the NCDF housing).

(Cohen retained land for four house lots at the rim of the Vale and deeded 4.6 acres to the city. He plans to build a house for himself on one lot which projects into the Vale.)

"Unless there are safeguards against drainage into the Vale, I will take steps to rescind the gift of the Vale. I want the Vale to be preserved."

Ald. Alan Barkin asked Cohen what safeguards will save the Vale, to which Cohen answered that a detailed study on the flow of surface and underground water will be necessary.

"I told NCDF that if the only thing standing in their way was drainage across my land, I'd not stand in their way," said.

NCDF had proposed through its engineering firm to use natural drainage as mush as possible, which would flow into the Vale. The sanitary sewer would go through a proposed dike system.

No inorganic fertilizer would be used at the housing developemnt, according to NCDF, and the use of salt for deicing would be limited.

A show of hands at the conclusion of the hearing showed 20 persons opposed to the NCDF petition and 40 in favor.

The NCDF proposal will probably be discussed at a working meeting of the Land Use Committee Jan. 23.

Nature's Ways

By WAYNE HANLEY
Mass. Audubon Society

The fact that birders set a new record of 143 species of birds on the Cape Cod Christmas Count interests some of us less than the fact that among all those birds was one improbable puffin.

The record is surprising enough. Ordinarily the count on Cape Cod rests somewhere around 120 and the previous record, equalled a couple of years, was 128. Whatever the Cape Cod count is, one always can be assured that it is the highest for all New England. For there the birds of the extreme north mingle with the southern winterers who have lingered.

Actually, we would hesitate to bore an audience with the Cape Cod count except that we have the feeling that the Cape and its waters belong to all of New England, except for tax collection purposes. And, this year we mention it because of that puffin.

We say "improbable" puffin, not because there is any doubt that it was there. It's just that when one first sees a puffin, one doubts that such a bird exists, despite the eyeball evidence. For the puffin, as the late E. H. Forbush remarked, is "a solemnly comical Mr. Punch among birds." The Punch Forbush knew was the Punch of Punch & Judy, a mildly deformed and grotesque puppet who flourished at carnivals and fairs for about 5000 years before the flicks and the TV tube did in such simple pleasures.

The old folk name of "sea parrot" may help one visualize the puffin, whose enormous parrot-like beak seems almost as large as its over-sized head. While the Cape Cod puffin was swimming, a standing puffin is far more interesting. It reminds one of a pompous, fat man standing in a tuxedo with his arms behind his back.

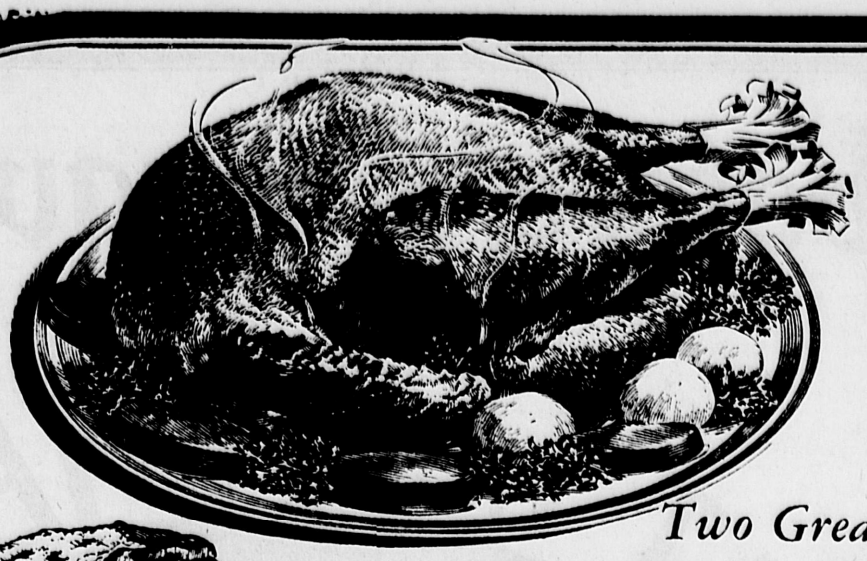

In spring, the puffin's huge bill becomes a rainbow of red, oranges, yellows, and blues. In winter, it sheds the outer layer of the bill and, while quite colorful for most birds, becomes more somber for a puffin.

Although puffins sometimes reach Long Island Sound in winter—and at least once touched the Delaware River—the birds actually prefer the far north at all seasons. While a few may be seen from the Maine coast in an average winter, it is a rare year-end that finds them in Massachusetts waters.

The most reliable site for puffins in spring off the Maine coast is Machias Seal Island, which Canada claims. Maine's Matincus Rock is a possible nesting island, for adult puffins often sun there in the spring. But otherwise, one may think of western Atlantic puffins as nesting largely on Greenland or Ungava Bay and along Nova Scotia.

In spring the puffin exhibits a fishing skill that baffles humans. It can catch six or seven small fish while on one fishing trip and arrange them neatly side-by-side in its bill. The question is: how does it hold the earlier fish while catching the next one?

Dr. William H. Drury, research director for the Massachusetts Audubon Society, recently completed a survey of sea birds in the western Atlantic. He found that the puffins remain comparatively scarce, even though most sea birds recovered after protection began in the early 1900s. The survey is a base line on bird populations prepared before oil extraction begins in the region.

Innovations In Sound

You've probably never thought of your car as an ideal stereo listening studio. Well, it is! The minute you sit in your stereo equipped auto, you're blanketed in thrilling sound. You'll witness an entirely new perspective in stereo listening; a richness in stereophony and realism of sound reproduction that has never before been possible. Now, with stereo tape cartridges, whether you listen in your car, home, boat, plane or trailer you enjoy an unparalleled sound sensation . . . crisp clarity and maximum fidelity, superior craftsmanship . . . and a wealth of music for every taste from Broadway to The Beatles, from current hits to classical.

Stereo cartridges are carefully engineered to afford maximum reliability and convenience of operation.

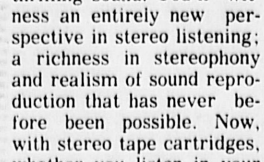

1. You never have to thread or even touch the tape.

2. You may change from one stereo program to another with the press of a button.

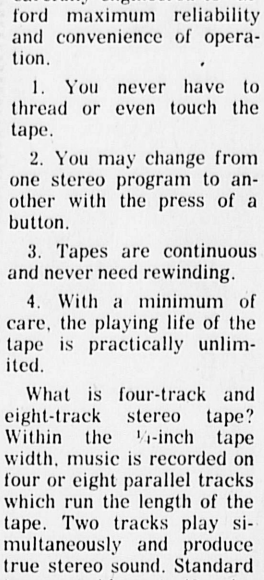

3. Tapes are continuous and never need rewinding.

4. With a minimum of care, the playing life of the tape is practically unlimited.

What is four-track and eight-track stereo tape? Within the ¼-inch tape width, music is recorded on four or eight parallel tracks which run the length of the tape. Two tracks play simultaneously and produce true stereo sound. Standard tapes provide up to 40 minutes of continuous music. Twin cartridges up to 80 minutes.

How does a tape cartridge work? Stereo cartridges contain a tape in a continuous loop, which simply means that the tape runs from the center of the spool and is returned to the outer lap of the reel. Thus, never needs rewinding. Inserting the cartridge into the tape playback unit is probably as easy as replacing your cigarette lighter in the dash.

Seeing is believing, however, and perhaps the least expensive method for you to experience the unusual convenience engineered into a stereo tape is to visit a dealer and ask for a demonstration.

Realizing that stereo tapes are here to stay, Lechmere Sales of Cambridge and Dedham is now compiling substantial stocks. This foresighted record dealer and department store devoted exclusively to providing the consumer with even a larger and more complete musical selection than previously realized with the more traditional record album departments.

Long recognized as a retailing leader and innovator, Lechmere now features perhaps the largest selection of stereo tape cartridges in New England. It's a certainty that a visit to either Lechmere in Cambridge or Dedham will prove a most rewarding musical experience.

Snip . . . Snip . . .

This is the sound being heard in beauty salons everywhere as skilled hands put an end to years of grooming long hair.

The result is a gamin look - short coquettish hair, a small head look with lots of pretty young face showing. Most often there's a mouth that is attempting to smile despite the radical surgery of her beloved crowning glory.

Is it a traumatic experience? Of course it is. as one girl put it recently, "It's like cutting off a part of you. . . but," she added quickly, "I'm not sorry. I should have done it sooner because you become a slave to your hair and it becomes a nuisance. Now all I need is a towel after I wash it and my hair practically 'shakes' into place. I really love it!"

Today most women, especially teen-agers, want an easy-care hair style, one that does not require weekly or biweekly visits to a beauty salon or hour long sessions under the hair dryer at home. With the proper haircut, a woman can shampoo and blow dry her coiffure and be ready to go in no time at all, the way men have been doing for years.

Fashion experts generally endorse the short-hair look (somewhere between super short and shoulder short) maintaining that today's fashions are not stiff and unbending as they were in the 60's when teased bouffant hair was "in".

But how short should you go? One designer recently showed his models sporting a two-inch cut brushed back style, well off the face. Does this cut demand mannequin-beautiful faces? Not at all, claimed one hair stylist, but it does call for beautiful clothes because a gal brave enough to go all the way with a startling haircut will be noticed and if her clothes are tacky she'll look weird - if her clothes are very lovely she'll be admired for her all-round good taste.

Finding the right hairdresser is a quest many women pursue relentlessly year in, year out. . . looking for the perfect operator who will do the best job possible.

The following are suggestions on how to go about finding the right hair stylist:

1. If you see somebody with an attractive hairdo, go right up to her (if the occasion is correct) and ask who does her hair. She'll probably be quite flattered and eager to share the information.

2. Arrange your first on a day when the stylist will not be rushed. Never, never on a Saturday. At this time discuss the kind of life you lead, your social or business interests. There should also be a frank discussion of any physical sensitivities - like a prominent nose, too high forehead or thinning hair.

3. The health of the hair should also be taken into consideration, and if indicated an outline of needed treatments.

4. Often times the concerned hairdresser will take pains to demonstrate to his client the proper method of shampooing, setting and blow-drying her hair. There is also a correct method of brushing or combing the hair after a shampoo. This added bit of attention often wins the operator complete devotion.

5. When a woman admires the short hairdo but is afraid to take the "plunge," the hairdresser can suggest she try on one of the new short synthetic wigs and then make the judgment.

6. For the woman with long hair, it is a good idea to have her hair cut in two stages - to the collar the first time and then, if the style is still not as desired (and the spirit bolder) a shorter haircut may be indicated.

Along with this unusual cut, the main body of the hair is dark with the longer hair framing the face a much lighter shade - it is the two-toned affect which the stylist calls "angel's wings" because they resemble a butterfly.

Mala Rubinstein, neice of the famous Helena Rubinstein, writes in her Book Of Beauty of the "All-Importants" for pretty hair.

"Style and color may draw raves - but they won't mean a thing unless your hair is enjoying good heath. Here are some building blocks on which to base hair beauty:

The Fundamentals: First on the list is a well-balanced diet, with enough vitamins (vitamin A is especially important for good hair) and minerals. Get sufficient sleep. And exercise for good circulation.

Brushing: Daily brushing stimulates the scalp, distributes oils from the scalp along the full length of the hair, removes dust and loose strands, and adds glisten and gleam to your whole beautiful mane. If your hair has been teased, brush tenderly until all the snarls are out and then proceed with long, sweeping strokes.

Massage: To loosen tense muscles in the scalp and to improve circulation, massage your scalp before every shampoo - or whenever you have a few private moments. Place your hands at the back of your head and, using the complete flat hand, palms as well as fingers, rotate slowly and gently. Move the hands up the sides of the head, the crown, the front, continuing the rotating action. Be sure the scalp is moving, not just your hands. Be gentle.

Shampoo: If hair is normal, oily, or heavily coated with spray, repeat application of shampoo for a second lathering. If hair is dry or brittle, use only one lathering. After the final lathering, rinse, rinse, rinse. Be sure every last soap bubble has been washed away from the scalp, hairline and every strand of hair. Use cold water for the grand finale. Wrap your head in a towel and blot dry. Vicious rubbing is not necessary and can damage sensitive hair.

Whatever your hairstyle, remember that 90 per cent of the look is in the shape and cut.

Across the Kitchen Counter

This is the time of winter when the fashion news is all about spring. It's time to take off those extra pounds that accumulated during holiday partying and what better method than turning to fish and seafood.

Though the price of seafood has spiraled along with meat and other foods, more value per food dollar is realized from fish than from almost any other type of high protein food. Usually you pay only for what you eat.

Fish and shellfish have high nutritive value. Especially important, they do not contain hard, saturated fats which contribute to higher blood cholesterol levels. Fish fats are soft, polyunsaturated, and if eaten several times a week will neutalize the harmful effects of saturated fats from other foods in the diet.

An average serving of fish or shellfish provides nearly all the animal protein you need each day to help build and repair body tissue. In addition, marine fish are valuable sources of dietetically valuable minerals such as iodine, calcium, iron, copper, and phosphorus. Fish also contain many vitamins required for good health.

But most important, serve fish because it's delicious and easy to prepare. Because fish swim effortlessly, they develop no tough muscles and so they are cooked only long enough to develop their flavor and to soften the small amount of connective tissue present, and to make the protein easier to digest.

The following recipes are meant to woo those who would shun fish to the enjoyment and fine delicate flavor they've been missing

LOW CAL SCROD BAKE

2 pounds scrod fillets
1 cup thinly sliced celery
1 cup thinly sliced onion
1 tablespoon corn oil
1 teaspoon curry powder
1 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
¾ cup skim milk
Paprika

Place fillets in a single layer in a greased baking dish, 12x8x2-inches. Cook celery and onion in oil for 5 minutes; add seasonings and milk. Spread over fish fillets. Bake in a 350 degree oven for 30 minutes. Sprinkle with paprika. Serves 4 (approximately 140 calories each serving.)

SPANISH SMELT

1 pound cleaned smelt
4 tablespoons margarine
1 sliced onion
1 carrot, diced
¼ cup chopped pimiento
3 cups tomato juice
Salt and pepper

Combine all ingredients except smelt and simmer for 10 minutes. Pour sauce over cleaned fish in greased baking dish; bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Serve on a bed of fluffy hot cooked rice.

BROILED SMELT

1 dozen smelt
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons flour

Wash and wipe cleaned fish. If desired, leave heads intact. Melt butter or margarine with lemon juice, salt and pepper. Dip fish in seasoned butter and roll in flour. Broil fish 3 to 4 inches from heat, about 4 minutes on each side. Serve with lemon wedges, parsley or watercress garnish. Serves 3.

COQUILLES ST. JACQUES

7 tablespoons peanut oil
1 pound sea scallops, cut into quarters
1 cup sliced mushrooms
1 tablespoon minced shallots
5 tablespoons unsifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon white pepper
1¼ cups light cream
one-third cup dry white wine
2 teaspoons catsup
4 (6 inch) scallop shells, lightly oiled
4 tablespoons shredded Gruyere cheese
4 parsley sprigs

Heat 3 tablespoons peanut oil in a skillet over medium heat. Add scallops and stir to coat with oil. Simmer, uncovered, for 10 minutes or until firm. Stir occassionally. Remove scallops and set aside. Cook liquid until reduced to ½ cup and set aside. Heat remaining 4 tablespoons oil in saucepan. Saute mushrooms and shallots until tender. Blend in flour, salt and pepper.

Remove from heat and gradually blend in reserved stock and light cream. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and stir in wine, catsup, and scallops.

Divide prepared mixture evenly into the scallop shells. Top with cheese. Broil for 5 minutes or until bubbly and lightly browned. Garnish with parsley sprigs. Makes 4 servings.

HEARTY FISH CHOWDER

5 tablespoons margarine
2 large onions, sliced
5 medium potatoes, peeled and diced
3 carrots, sliced thinly
2 teaspoons salt
3 cups boiling water
½ teaspoon pepper
1½ pounds fresh or frozen fish fillet thawed
1 can cream of mushroom soup
4 cups milk
Paprika

Melt margarine in a deep kettle. Add onions and cook until tender but not brown. Add potatoes, carrots, salt, pepper, water. Cut fish into two-inch pieces, add. Cover and simmer for 30 minutes or until fish is tender. Add cream of mushroom soup and milk and continue cooking for 15 minutes (do not allow to boil). Sprinkle with paprika. Serves 6-8.

BOURBON BROILED SHRIMP

1½ pounds large raw shrimp with shells
¼ cup bourbon
1 tablespoon salad oil
1 clove garlic, mashed
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Split unpeeled shrimp lengthwise, to tail. Leave shells on. Rinse to remove vein in back and pat dry. (Or use shelled shrimp and leave whole.) Combine remaining ingredients. Dip each shrimp in bourbon mixture and arrange on broiling pan. Pour over remaining mixture.

Broil 6 inches below heat in preheated broiler for 7 to 10 minutes, depending on size. Makes 4 servings.

There's a new cake going the rounds and it's called Mandarin Coffee Cake and it's the easiest cake to prepare and is truly delicious! Our thanks to N. W. of Walpole for sending it in.

MANDARIN COFFEE CAKE

2 cups sugar
2 cups all purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
2 eggs
2 cans (11½ oz. ea.) mandarin oranges, well drained
1 orange, rind and juice
½ cup sugar

(We did not forget to include shortening — the recipe does not call for any. Also, please be sure to drain the mandarin oranges — do not put liquid in recipe)

Into large mixing bowl place sugar, flour, baking soda, salt, eggs, well drained mandarin oranges and allow to beat at medium speed for 5 minutes. Pour batter into greased 9x13-inch pan and bake at 350 degrees for 30-35 minutes. In the meantime combine the grated rind of oranges and strained juice with sugar. While cake is still hot, spoon orange mixture over cake. Serve warm.

Question: I would appreciate your publishing a recipe for the Chinese method of preparing meat and broccoli. Many thanks.

E. W., Roslindale

Answer: Otherwise known as "Guy Lon Ngow," from The Easy Way To Chinese Cooking, here it is!

BEEF WITH BROCCOLI (GUY LON NGOW)

1½ pounds flank steak
4 cups fresh broccoli (1 lb.)
1 wedge ginger size of quarter
2 teaspoons cornstarch mixed with 2 teaspoons water ½ teaspoon monosodium glutamate
dash pepper
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup chicken stock or water

Marinade for Beef

1 teaspoon cornstarch
1 teaspoon soy sauce
2 teaspoons sherry
¼ teaspoon sugar
¼ teaspoon vegetable oil

Slice beef thinly on bias and add marinade and set aside. Wash broccoli and peel off tough outer layer. Slice broccoli stems diagonally into paper thin slices and divide flowerettes into 3 or 4 small sections, depending on size. Smash wedge of ginger. Mix cornstarch, water, monosodium, and pepper. Set beside pan. Using a high flame, heat pan and add 1 tablespoon oil, salt and ginger. Add broccoli and stir. Add stock and cover for 6 minutes, stirring occasionally. Uncover, stir, remove and set aside mixture in another bowl. Heat pan again and add remaining tablespoon of oil. When pan is red hot, add beef and flatten against sides of pan. Chow (fry) for 45 seconds until beef is three-quarters cooked. Add broccoli and stir in cornstarch mixture. Cook until gravy thickens. Serves 5.

We welcome contributions from all readers — here is an offering and a request from a little girl named Emily who writes for her mother: "We are sending you a recipe for a salad we all love and would you please print a recipe for a fish chowder that can be baked in the oven — if you have one, please." (Thank you for your zippy salad and following you'll find your chowder. Enjoy!)

SEAFOOD CHOWDER (BAKED IN THE OVEN)

2 pounds thick fish fillets, fresh or frozen
2 cups sliced carrots (½ inch)
2 cups cubed raw potatoes, (1-inch pieces)
2 cups sliced onions
2 teaspoons sliced onions
2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon dill weed
2 whole cloves
1 small bay leaf
¼ cup butter or margarine
2 cups boiling water
½ cup dry white wine (optional +)
1 cup half and half (half cream, half milk)
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons chopped parsley

Thaw frozen fish. Cut fillets into 1½ inch pieces. Refrigerate. Combine carrots, potatoes, onions, salt, dill weed, cloves, bay leaf, and butter or margarine in a 6-quart oven-proof Dutch oven. Add boiling water; cover tightly. Bake in a 375 oven 40 minutes or until vegetables are tender. Add fish and wine; cover and cook for an additional 20 minutes or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Combine half and half, flour; blend until smooth; add to chowder; stir carefully until hot and slightly thickened. Sprinkle with parsley. Makes 10 cups chowder. (+ Milk may be substituted for wine.)

Question: I am looking for an unusual dessert to be served at a coffee get-together for a bridge group. Something that would serve 8 people would be very good. I appreciate your help.

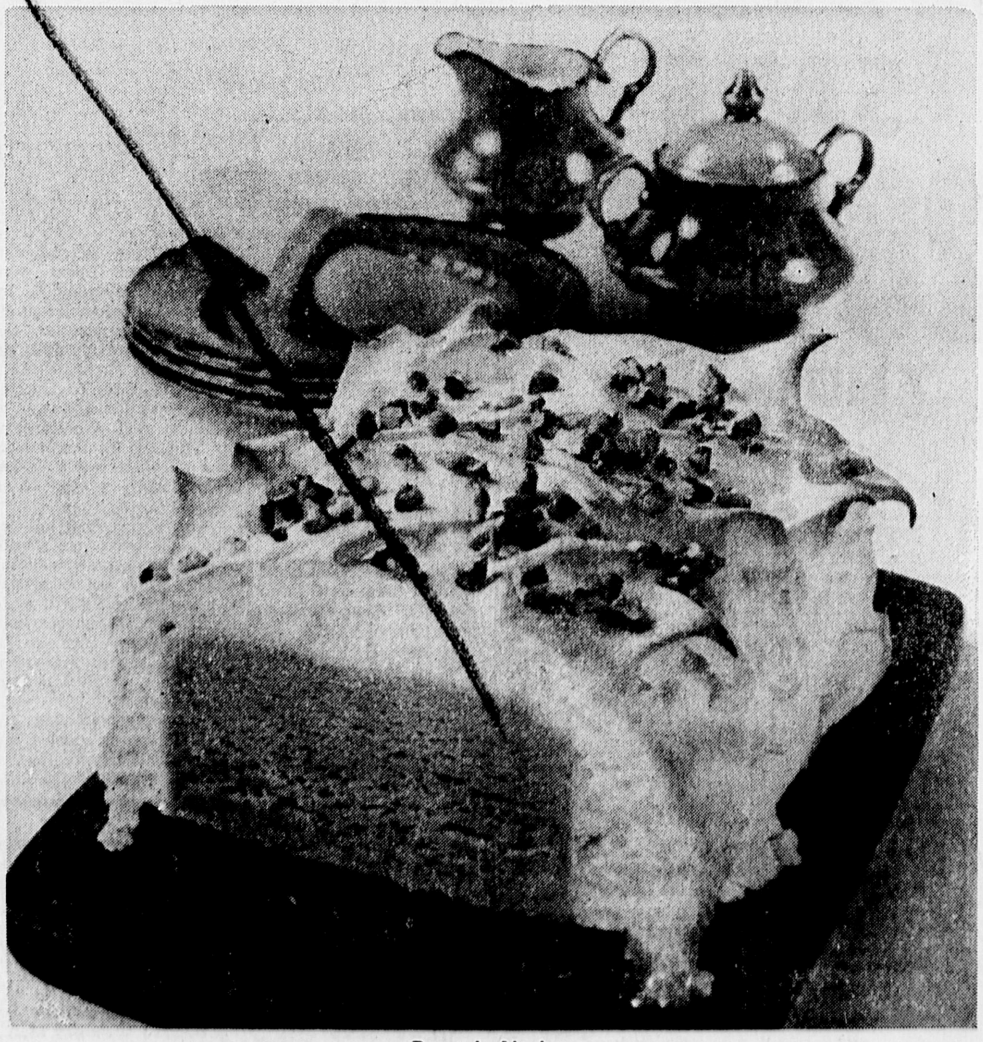

Mrs. C. F., W. Roxbury

Answer: How about an easy Baked Alaska — a magical blending of fluffy meringue, rich coffee ice cream and a delicious brownie base — something you can fix ahead of time and store in the freezer! At serving time, bake it quickly in a very hot oven until meringue is browned. From Better Homes and Gardens Dessert Cook Book ($1.95, Meredith Corp.) here it is:

BROWNIE ALASKA

¼ cup butter
1 cup sugar
2 egg yolks
¼ cup milk
½ teaspoon vanilla
2 1-oz. squares unsweetened chocolate, melted and cooled
two-thirds cup all purpose flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
2 stiffly beaten egg whites
one-third cup chopped pecans
5 egg whites
two-thirds cup sugar
2 pints coffee ice cream
¼ cup chopped pecans

In mixing bowl cream together butter or margarine and 1 cup sugar till mixture is light and fluffy. Add egg yolks, milk and vanilla; beat well; stir in melted chocolate. Thoroughly stir together flour, baking powder and salt; add the creamed chocolate mixture in bowl. Mix well. Fold in 2 stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn mixture into greased and waxed paper lined 9x9x2-inch baking pan. Sprinkle top with one-third cup chopped pecans. Bake at 350 degrees till done, 20-25 minutes. Remove from pan and cool on rack. Trim brownie layer to a 9x5-inch rectangle. Beat the 5 egg whites until soft peaks form. Gradually add the two-thirds cup sugar; beat till stiff peaks form. Set meringue aside. Place brownie rectangle on a wooden board; top with coffee ice cream, leaving a little of the brownie uncovered on all sides. Spread evenly with meringue, sealing carefully to brownie layer. Sprinkle top with remaining ¼ cup chopped pecans. Bake at 450 degrees till meringue is lightly browned, about 5 minutes. Serve immediately. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Ski Program Thursdays At MDC Blue Hill Area

The Newton Recreation Department is shifting its ski lesson program to the MDC Blue Hill this year since its snow-making machinery is working and Waltham's Prospect Hill is not, this winter.

The program will be on Thursday afternoons starting Jan. 17 for five weeks. The program is open to children in grades three to six.

A one hour lesson by professional instructors of the ski school, the use of the ski area lifts for another hour, and bus transportation is included in the $15.00 series price.

Participants must provide their own ski equipment - with safety bindings and run-away straps.

Because of the change in school hours, the program will begin and end later than last year. The bus will leave Newton Centre Playground at 1:50 p.m., and from Albermarle Playground at 2:10 p.m. Return bus will leaave Blue Hill by 5 p.m., returning to Newton Center Playground at 5:30 p.m. and Albermarle by 6 p.m.

All skiers must be registered and have paid ahead of time at the Recreation Department office, 70 Crescent Street, Auburndale. Limited enrollment. Telephone 969-3171.

Mrs. Mansfield Elected By Woman's Auxiliary

Mrs. Eleanor J. Mansfield of Hawthorn Road, Milton, was elected president of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Baptist Home of Massachusetts, at the eighty-third annual all-day program held at the Home, 66 Commonwealth Ave., Newton.

Representatives of nearly 300 Baptist churches attended the event. The Home is one of the oldest and largest aof its kind in the state, and has just dedicated a new 74-unit Retirement and Residence Center in Kingston, Mass.

Mrs. Mansfield has been a member of the Baptist Home Auxiliary for thirty years, and a member of the corporate board, and a Trustee of the Home. She is also a former president of the Woman's Baptist Social Union of Boston.

Active at Tremont Temple Baptist Church in downtown Boston for many years, Mrs. Mansfield has twice served as president of the Women's Missionary Union, is a long-time member of the church choir and has served on many committees.

Her husband, Murray N. Mansfield, has served as deacon for nearly 30 years. Their son, Dean, is a member of the church executive committee and choir.

Born in Medford, Mrs. Mansfield is a graduate of Colby Junior College, New London, N.H., class of 1933, where she received an associate in music degree; and Boston University's School of Fine & Applied Arts, in 1935, where she was awarded a Bachelor of Music degree. Earlier, she graduated from Quincy High School.

The family has been long-time summer residents of Meredith, N.H.

Family Services Directory Is Out

According to a newly published directory of family planning services there are many family planning clinics in Boston and suburban areas.

The directory, jointly prepared by the Massachusetts Department of Public Health and the Planned Parenthood League of Massachusetts, is available for local distribution from the League of Women Voters of Newton. Listed are names, locations, appointment schedules and services available at all clinics providing family planning services in the state.

Clinics serving Newton and adjacent suburbs include: the Newton-Wellesley Hospital, Washington Street, Tel: 244-2800, ext. 381; Waltham Hospital, Hope Avenue, Tel: 899-3300, ext. 244.

The League of Women Voters supports wide distribution of information concerning family planning services in order to assure that all Massachusetts citizens who want such services be able to obtain them.

For further information, or to obtain copies of the directory please write or call Mrs. Albert S. Kahn, 59 Reservoir Ave., Chestnut Hill, 02167, Tel: 232-6263.

Auburndale Garden Club Opens Year

The Auburndale Garden Club held its January "Members Meeting" at the home of Mrs. A. G. Asaff. By tradition, the first program of the new year is presented by garden club members themselves.

A trio of topics was explored — Mrs. Richard L. Kenney reporting on organic gardening and sharing some of her personal Cape Cod garden experiences; Mrs. Asaff exhibiting greenhouse specimens and discussing greenhouse techniques; Mrs. Robert G. Fisher sharing conservation facts and presenting an up-date on the Vale.

Refreshments were prepared by hospitality chairman, Mrs. Lansing Shepard, assisted by Mrs. William E. Biddle, Jr., and by Mrs. Robert G. Reed.

KIDNEY REMOVED

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — Gene Williams, All-Southern Conference safety at Virginia Military Institute last season, was listed in fair condition Tuesday after removal of a kidney that was damaged in the American Bowl Game Jan. 6.

Williams, 22, underwent surgery Monday night at Tampa General Hospital for removal of the kidney.

Flaschner Speaks On Legal Rights Of 'Mentally Handicapped' People

"Trial courts must be prepared to rely less on the testimony of qualified experts and to assume greater discretion in making their own determinations on commitability of mental patients," according to Judge Franklin Flaschner.

"The predictability of dangerous behavior," he added, "would seem best to depend not on that hospital physician whose contact with the patient is mostly fleeting, let alone limited, but rather on witnesses who have closely observed the patient, people like hospital attendants and social workers, prison guards, even fellow patients and inmates, friends, and neighbors."

Judge Flaschner made his remarks before the Practicing Law Institute's seminar, Legal Rights of the Mentally Handicapped, in Pittsburgh.

Attended by over 150 practicing lawyers, mental health professionals and law students, the seminar is the first large-scale attempt to train a mental health bar. Over 600 professionals have already attended sessions in Dallas and New York City, and the final meeting will be held January 31 - February 2 in San Francisco.

The seminar is especially timely because half of all hospital beds are presently filled by mental patients, and there are more people in mental institutions than in prisons.

In the past few years more and more people have awakened to the fact that many persons have been committed involuntarily without any semblance of due process to live without treatment under inadequate conditions.

In addition to Judge Flaschner, the seminar will feature attorneys leading the legal vanguard in the reform of mental institutions, the chairman of the American Bar Association's newly-formed Commission on the Mentally Disabled and the director of the National Association for Retarded Children who will examine such topics as the constitutional right to treatment, restrictions imposed by courts on psychosurgery and shock therapy, and the exploitation of patients in institutional work programs.

In 1972 the U.S. Supreme Court held for the first time that mentally retarded inmates of a state institution had an absolute constitutional right to adequate treatment (Wyatt vs. Stickney).

Following this landmark decision, other federal courts have since held that the retarded also have a right to publicly-supported education and to the benefits of minimum wage legislation. Other courts have held that state mental institutions must insure the physical safety of their mentally retarded patients and that the constitutional rights of a mentally retarded person involuntarily confined in a mental institution prohibit certain types of dangerous psychosurgery.

The Supreme Court's decision in the Stickney case opened the door on a completely new area of constitutional law and a specialized bar is beginning to emerge. Attorneys who have litigated and won verdicts acknowledging the rights of the mentally handicapped, including counsel for the Stickney case, will participate in the PLI program.

Bruce Ennis, of the New York Civil Liberties Union, and Paul Friedman, of the Mental Health Law Project in Washington, D.C. will co-chair the program. Mr. Ennis is the author of "Prisoners of Psychiatry," a leading work in the field.

Course materials, consisting of a three-volume book to which all 20 panelists contributed and published by the Practising Law Institute, is the first comprehensive set of litigation material on mental health law. The panelists, lawyers, judges and mental health professionals, collectively have probably dealt with more cases in this field than any similar group appearing on the same platform.

Medical-Legal Authority Speaks

Dr. Elliot L. Sagall of Newton, author, lecturer and physician, will address the Brookline Hospital Associates at a dinner meeting Tuesday, January 22 at 6:30 p.m. at Brookline Hospital, 165 Chestnut St., Brookline.

Acclaimed as one of the leading authorities in the medical-legal field, Sagall has 20 years of experience in courtroom battles, representing both plaintiff and defendant in the medical aspects of legal problems.

He is author of two widely discussed books: The Law and Clinical Medicine and The Heart and the Law and is also the medical editor of TRIAL magazine.

In 1972, he served as president of both the Massachusetts Society of Law and Medicine and the American Society of Law and Medicine.

An instructor in medicine at Harvard Medical School, Dr. Sagall also lectures on legal medicine at Boston University School of Law and is a member of the Brookline Hospital medical staff in the department of medicine.

Talk On Bilingual Students Given

Sister Frances Georgia, advocate for linguistic minorities of the Bureau of Equal Educational Opportunity, recently spoke to the faculty of Aquinas Junior College, Newton.

Sister Frances Georgia spoke on the plight of the Boston minority groups, giving special attention to the needs of the Puerto Ricans. Today in Boston, there are 91 schools with a bilingual program.

Sister Frances Georgia suggested several ways in which Aquinas could be of assistance. The offering of the Spanish language within the program would be helpful for those who might choose to become bilingual secretaries.

Facility with the language would also be useful to the young women who are planning to become medical assistants or to work in the field of Early Childhood Education.

Volunteer service on the part of faculty and students in a tutorial program was also encouraged.

High School Parking Topic Of Meeting Mon.

The Newton North High School Neighborhood Association will meet Monday, Jan. 21, at 8 p.m. at the high school.

Parking will be the topic of discussion as members review the latest plan to use some athletic space for vehicles.

Everyone is invited to attend and give their views.

Special Service Saturday Night At Our Lady's Church

In observance of the Week of Prayer for Christian Unity, Rev. Arthur F. Gouthro, S.A., director of the Graymoor Ecumenical Institute, an agency operated by the Atonement Friars from their Graymoor, New York, motherhouse to promote Christian unity, will speak at all the masses Saturday evening and Sunday in Our Lady, Help of Christians Church, Newton.

A special service will be held during the 7:30 p.m. Mass Saturday evening when members of the Grace Episcopal Church, Newton, will join Our Lady's parishioners in worship and prayer for Christian unity.

Rev. Arthur F. Gouthro

Rev. Francis V. Strahan of St. John Seminary, Brighton, will be the celebrant of this Mass. Following the service, members of both parishes will meet Fr. Gouthro in Our Lady Parish Center for informal discussion. Refreshments will be served. All members of both parishes are invited to this Mass and social.

The Week of Prayer, originally called the Church Unity Octave, was begun in 1908 by the Friars of the Atonement. Observance of the eight-day period (Jan. 18-25) of prayer for unity has continued over the years, and today is observed internationally by Christian churches. The principal work of the Friars is the restoration of visible unity among all Christians.

Born in Glace Bay, Nova Scotia, in 1938, Father Gouthro was licensed by the Nova Scotia Teachers College at Truro, and taught for two years in the Nova Scotia public schools. He entered the Atonement Friars in 1959, received a B.A. degree from St. Pius X Seminary in 1965, and a M.A. degree from Catholic University, Washington, D. C. in 1969. He was ordained this same year.

In 1970, after completing a major in ecumenical studies, he was awarded a master's degree in theology from St. Paul's College of the University of Ottawa. Prior to being named director of the Graymoor Ecumenical Institute last November, Father Gouthro served for three years in Indiana, first as director of the Council of Churches of St. Joseph County and later as ecumenical secretary of the United Religious Community of the County, the Council's successor organization. He is a member of the Commission on Regional and Local Ecumenism of the National Council of Churches.

The committee planning the Saturday evening service includes members of both parishes. It is led by Rev. Leroy Owens of Our Lady's and Rev. Thomas H. Lehman of Grace Church. It includes Sister Jeremy Horgan, C.S.J., Margaret Hinkle, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce MacDonald, Joseph H. McPherson, James W. Mogan, Mrs. Ann Rogers, Betty Shorton, Mr. and Mrs. Caleb Wallace.

Rabbi Antelman To Talk On 'Anti-Zionism'

Rabbi Marvin S. Antelman will address the Eastern Massachusetts Chapter of Americans for Constitutional Action on Monday, Jan. 21 at 8 p.m. at the Newton Community Center, 429 Cherry Street, West Newton on the subject: "Anti Zionism is Anti Semitism."

Rabbi Antelman, national coordinator of the Jewish Survival Legion, and a resident of Newton, has been active in Jewish causes since his teens. Holder of two Rabbinical degrees, he is both a Rabbi and a Decisor. In addition, he holds a Ph.D. degree in physical chemistry and a D.Sc. degree in polymer chemistry.

The author of the "Encyclopedia of Thermoplastic Materials," he has distinguished himself in the rabbinic field through his many articles dealing with Talmudic and Judaic studies, and his new book on the Bible, "A Matter of Interpretation," which is now appearing in serial form in the "Jewish Journal."

Rabbi Antelman will discuss the current Middle Eastern situation and the recent Israeli elections. As one who has visited Israel twice in the last three years, he speaks with the authority of an insider, since the Jewish Survival Legion is part of Hercut, which formed the Likud Coalition under Menachem Begin.

Rabbi Antelman will preface his remarks with a discussion of the persecution of Boston Jewry by Marxist-Leninist extremists and Third World subversives.

Rabbi Antelman's talk will be illustrated with slides. The public is invited to attend.

World Religion Day Jan. 20

The Baha'i community of Newton is preparing to observe the twenty-fifth anniversary of World Religion Day, Sunday, Jan. 20.

World Religion Day is sponsored by the United States Baha'i community, and is intended to proclaim the oneness of all the great religions, and to emphasize that religion is the motivating force that will eventually prompt the establishment of peace upon the planet.

The event is now celebrated in the more than 5,000 communities throughout the country where Baha'is currently reside.

In Newton, the Baha'is will provide an opportunity for interfaith prayer and fellowship.

Film maker Mark Sadan, winner of several international film awards and one of the original producers of films for "Sesame Street," will show and comment on several of his films about the world-wide Baha'i movement. The presentation will be held at 12 Cotton Street, Newton (off Centre St. near Waverly St.) on Jan. 20 at 8 p.m. People of all religious persuasions are invited.

Concert For Women At Unitarian Church

"Honor Thy Womanself," a concert by women for women, which celebrates the liberation of all individuals, will be presented Friday, Feb. 15 at 8 p.m. at the Unitarian Church, 1326 Washington St., West Newton.

In its first public concert, the Arlington Street Church Women's Caucus, a group of 21 women, will perform labor, civil rights, and feminist songs, to benefit the Newton Women's Cooperative.

The Cooperative is a group of Newton women seeking to establish a resource center for childcare, counseling, educational, legal and other needs of women.

The Arlington Street Church Women's Caucus recently recorded an album, also entitled "Honor Thy Womanself," and has appeared on Boston radio and television. Although its performances are sparked by the original words and music of one member, Carolyn McDade, its purpose is to support and enhance the talents of each of its members.

Aided by a grant from the Unitarian-Universalist Federation, the group hopes to disseminate through music its conviction that the essence of the women's movement is the support of self-development: the liberation of creativity, vitality and wisdom.

Ehud Luz To Speak On "Israeli Youth" Jan. 19

Israeli historian and philosopher Ehud Luz will be the featured speaker at an "Israel Night" to be held at Congregation Beth El-Atereth Israel, 561 Ward Street, Newton Centre, on Saturday, Jan. 19 at 8 p.m. under the auspices of the Newton Chapter NCSY.

Professor Luz, who is presently a doctorial candidate at Brandeis University in Waltham, and a member of the faculty of the Hebrew College, Brookline will discuss "Israeli Youth's Jewish Identity Crisis". The evening will also feature entertainment by "Hakolot" and refreshments in the form of falafel and other Israeli foods.

Luz is a native of one of Israel's oldest kibbutzin, Degania Bet, of which his parents were among the founders. His father, the late Kaddish Luz, was the first speaker of the Knesset (Israel's parliament) following establishment of the State of Israel.

Luz served as an officer in the Israeli Army during the 1956-57 Sinai War. Following the war, he studied at the Hebrew University in Jerusalem, receiving degrees in Jewish history and philosophy; he taught Jewish history and Jewish thought at Bar-Ilan University in Tel Aviv and at the University of Haifa.

Esther Greenburg of Newton is president of the Newton Chapter NCSY and chairman of the evening.

Students Are Finalists

The mathematics department of Newton South High School recently announced that of 18 Newton South participants in the tenth annual Olympiad Prize Examination in mathematics, sponsored by the Massachusetts Association of Mathematics Leagues, six Newton South students are finalists and four additional students are certificate of merit winners.

The six finalists are Eric A. Ziering, Philip A. Kramer, Ittai Kan, Michael R. Kosowsky, Eric C. Cyker, and Michael A. Gennert. These finalists will participate in the level two examination to be given in April and have the opportunity of winning not only recognition for themselves but monetary prizes for their achievement in mathematics.

The certificate of merit winners are Scott H. Wayne, Elizabeth S. Kent, Lynn K. Feldman, and Jason R. Arbeiter. These students will receive a certificate for their achievement in mathematics.

A total of 5,889 students, representing 158 schools in the Massachusetts area, participated. There are 88 finalists and 352 certificate of merit winners. Top Newton South scorer Eric A. Ziering ranked sixteenth among all those who participated.

Andover-Newton Hosts Four-Day Conference

Loomis Patrick, senior partner in the law firm of Weston, Patrick, Willard & Redding, was one of 10 participants in an intensive workshop entitled "Management in Ministry" sponsored by Andover Newton Theological School, Newton Centre. The conference took place at the school January 14-17.

The workshop, sponsored by the department of church and ministry at Andover Newton, explored the concept that the parish ministry can be made even more effective by the use of contemporary concepts in management.

Patrick, who is a member of the board of trustees of Andover Newton, discussed "The Church's Responsibility to and for the Community." He is a former member of the Massachusetts House of Representatives (1941-45), and was Legislative Counsel to the Governor in 1946-47. From 1948 to 1958 he was public administrator of Middlesex County.

Patrick is a graduate of Amherst College, Harvard Law School, and Emerson College (L.L.D.), where he also held the position of chairman of the board. Active in several community affairs, he and his wife reside in Newton.

Organ Recital Planned For Auburndale Church

The second in a series of organ recitals will be held Sunday, Jan. 20 at 8 p.m. at the Auburndale Congregational Church in Auburndale.

Lois Regestein, the Church's organist and choirmaster, will present a program including works by Couperin, Frescobaldi, Buxtehude, Bach, Mendelssohn and Handel.

Mrs. Regestein is a graduate of Oberlin College and holds a master's degree in organ from the Yale School of Music. She is also presently a harpsichordist with the Elizabethan Dance Ensemble in Boston.

The historic organ at the Auburndale Church was built by the Boston firm of E. & G.G. Hook in 1870. The organ was completely restored, enlarged and moved to Auburndale from a church in South Boston in 1972.

Future programs in the series will feature organists Carolyn Skelton on March 24 and Thomas Murray on May 19.

Musical Slated Sun. At Church

Fifty young people from the Newton Presbyterian Church will present "Come Together," a musical, Sunday evening, Jan. 20, at 6:30 p.m.

Many people in the Boston area have enjoyed performances by this group in various churches and also on Channel 5, WCVB-TV. Two years ago, the young people presented "Tell It Like It Is" by Ralph Carmichael and last year they presented "Life" by Otis Skillings.

Composers Jimmy and Carol Owens described "Come Together" as, "an opportunity for young people to lead an experiment in worship; to establish the unity of all God's people as the whole church is invited to worship and minister together."

All are invited to come and participate Jan. 20 at the Newton Presbyterian Church, Park and Vernon Streets in Newton Corner. Admission is free, an offering will be taken.

Radio

broadcasters have addressed themselves to such topics as furloughs for lifers, behavior modification, and the need for prison reform.

The tone of the program is underscored by its subtitle — "Walk Within Walls, Talk Within Walls."

"These are fluent writers, poets, creators," Wheatman says.

Accordingly the show has often dealt with what it's like to try to be creative behind bars, and has spotlighted the work of various prison groups, like Astro-Infinity Plus One, a jazz band, and the Norfolk Choral Group.

WBUR has also nominated "RFN" for the 1973 UPI Award, a broadcasting honor its "American Indian" series won last year.

Baptist Women Plan Meetings

Seeking to cope with the gasoline shortage, Baptist women representing some 270 churches in the state will conduct two mid-winter annual programs, Jan. 19 and Jan. 26 at east and west locations, instead of the customary one meeting.

Bus accomodations will also be available from various parts of the state.

The program will be the same at both meetings, one to be held Saturday, Jan. 19 at Central Baptist Church, Westfield, and the other Saturday, Jan. 26 at First Baptist Church, Westwood.

Announcing the sessions, Mrs. Paul Ferrin of Greenfield, president of The American Baptist Women of Massachusetts, said the day-long programs would concentrate on expansion of programs to serve lonely people and combat loneliness for people inside and outside the church.

Workshops under the direction of the Rev. Rollin Karnehm, First Baptist Church, Bellingham, will be a feature of both meetings.

Mrs. Gladys Romeyn of Newton will speak at the Westwood meeting.

Documentary On Israel Jan. 21

The American Technion Society — Israel Institute of Technology is sponsoring the movie "Out of the Wilderness", a documentary examining the development of the land and the people of Israel.

The movie will be shown on Monday evening, Jan. 21, at 8 p.m., at Temple Kehillith Jacob on 858 Walnut Street, Newton Four Corners.

Joseph Paley of Newton, who toured Israel this past month, will give a report on Israel today, and the role the Technion plays.

There will be no charge for this meeting, but future membership is invited.

Weekly Discussions

Beginning Thursday, Jan. 17, at 7:30 p.m., the Newton Highlands Divine Light Center, 1601 Walnut St., will hold weekly discussions on the knowledge of Guru Maharaj Ji. These Thursday evening discussions, called "satsang" are free and open to the public.

Temple Emanuel Group Plans Jan. 20 Breakfast

On Sunday, Jan. 20, at 9:30 a.m., the Brotherhood of Temple Emanuel, Newton Centre, will hold its annual Salute to Israel Breakfast in conjunction with the Brookline–Brighton-Newton District of the Zionist Organization of America.

The featured speaker will be Ziedan Atashi, the Consul of Israel in New York and the only non-Jewish member of the Israel Foreign Service.

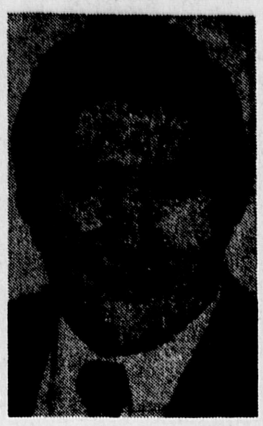

Atashi, a Druze, a sect which shares common interests with Arabs, with the exception of religion, will speak on "Peace With Israel's Neighbors."

Atashi, who was born in 1940 in Osifiya, one of the two Druze villages on Mt. Carmel, near Haifa, has served as deputy director general of the Arab and Druze Workers Youth Movement. Atashi obtained his Bachelor of Arts Degree in 1969 from Haifa University, where he specialized in Arabic studies and political science.

Before his appointment to his present position in August 1972, Atashi taught in the political science department at Haifa University and was also in charge of Arabic television for the northern area of the Haifa District.

Atashi and his wife, Zahieya, have two daughters and one son.

Chairman of the breakfast is Harold Glickman, and Philip Goren is in charge of reservations. Ben Lofchie is in charge of preparing the breakfast.

Ziedan Atashi

Brotherhood President, Dr. Louis Kassler, advises early reservations so that adequate preparations can be made for what he expects to be a large turnout.

Community Residence Program Topic Of Two-Day Conference

The greatest concentration of experts ever assembled in Massachusetts to discuss problems of community placement for the mentally retarded will meet at Tufts University, Monday and Tuesday, Jan. 28 and 29 in a conference entitled "Retarded Persons in Community Residence."

The two-day conclave, sponsored jointly by the Massachusetts Association of Private Residential Facilities for the Mentally Retarded and the Children's Hospital Developmental Evaluation Clinic will be open to directors and staff members of group residence facilities for mentally retarded, physicians, psychologists, social workers and therapists in the field of mental health, teachers and parents.

David B. Slater, president of the sponsoring organization, who is serving as conference chairman, announced that the program will include 12 workshops, including three presentations by the Mohawks, a group of fomerly mentally retarded and institutionalized male adults who are currently serving as consultants in community programming to parent and professional organizations.

Keynote speakers at the general assembly sessions will include Francis X. Lynch, Director — Division of Developmental Disabilities Rehabilitation Services Administration; Thomas H. Browne, Assistant Director — Massachusetts Division of Special Education; and George Nadaff, President — Living and Learning Schools.

A special symposium on Community Relations will feature Philip R. Scheier, Executive Editor of the Malden Evening News, Medford Mercury and Melrose Evening News.

Newton Man Named Edgerton Professor

The names of the first MIT faculty members to be appointed Esther and Harold E. Edgerton assistant professors have been announced by Provost Walter A. Rosenblith.

Among those named is Michael D. Schroeder, assistant professor of electrical engineering.

The appointment is for two years.

The Edgerton professorship was established by the MIT Corp. in February to honor Institute Professor Emeritus Edgerton and his wife, who have been associated with the Institute community nearly 50 years.

Corporation Chairman Howard W. Johnson and MIT President Jerome B. Wiesner said in February that the fund named for the Edgertons will be used to provide "new horizons in research and career development for younger faculty." Concurrently, it will also provide funds needed by the faculty members to involve undergraduate students directly in their research.

"There is no more fitting way for us to honor this man and this woman for the devotion, affection and warm friendship they have given freely to young people at this university over a period of nearly half a century," Johnson and Wiesner said.

Professor Schroeder, 28, was a teaching assistant in the Department of Electrical Engineering for two years and instructor for another two years before becoming an assistant professor in September, 1972.

Michael D. Schroeder

He received his B.A. in mathematics from Washington State University in 1967, his S.M. in electrical engineering and his E.E. degree from MIT in 1969 and his Ph.D. in computer science in 1972 from MIT.

Schroeder has not only gained an excellent reputation as a teacher, but has also made significant contributions to the development of the Computer Science and Engineering core curriculum. Most of the educational effort and contributions have been directed to the subject on Information Systems. His students regard him as among the very best young teachers in the department.

His contributions to MIT's educational program are paralleled by equally significant contributions to the research program of the Computer Systems Research Division of Project MAC. In addition to his master's and doctoral research, he participated in the development of the MULTICS operating system, in the evaluation of its performance, and in the design of the new central processor which is now in service. In particular, he was the primary designer of the hardware protection mechanisms.

His home is at 277 Woodward St., Newton.

Workshops Planned For Greater Boston Educators

The Greater Boston Regional Education Center is hosting two series of workshops for Greater Boston teachers, administrators, parents, students, and paraprofessionals.

The first series will be for persons involved in early childhood education and the second will address itself to secondary education.

Jan. 23—Early childhood education—a curriculum workshop where over 100 classroom ideas in math, art puppetry and parent involvement will be available with veteran teachers on hand to demonstrate. This meeting will be held from 3:45-5:45 p.m. with similar follow-up meetings with new topics on Jan. 30, Feb. 7, Feb. 13.

Feb. 6—Open campus—3-5 p.m.—Administrators, teachers, parents, students, and community resources people involved in open campus programs will share past experiences and get ideas for future plans to develop programs. On March 7 from 3 to 5 p.m. those interested in designing and initiating an open campus program will receive assistance from experienced open-campus coordinators, students, and regional center staff.

Jan. 31—A session with Dr. Cheryl Ochs, 3:30-5:30 p.m., for teachers and administrators interested in developing their skills in analyzing the teaching-learning process for purposes of teacher self-analysis and-or teacher supervision. A follow-up meeting on Feb. 26, 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. will provide those who will have participated on Jan. 31 with a similar training to others throughout their school districts via resource teams. For those who cannot attend these two meetings, a second two-day series will be held on March 27 (3:30 p.m.) and April 29 (3:30 p.m.).

All workshops are free and open to the public and will be held at Greater Boston Regional Education Center, EDC, 55a Chapel street, Newton, Mass., off Rte. 16. To obtain further information and to register call the Center at 965-2405.

Noted Musician To Play With High School Bands

Phil Wilson, a native New Englander and chairman of the trombone department at Boston's Berklee College of Music will perform in concert with the Newton North High School concert and stage bands on Thursday, Jan. 31 in the school's auditorium.

Conductor of Berklee's Thursday Night Dues Band, Wilson has directed the 16-piece ensemble and members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra in the world premiere performance of his jazz-symphonic composition "The Earth's Children." He has authored numerous music texts and lectured at many college campuses and music educators' conferences across the country.

One of the nation's leading trombonists, Wilson has been a soloist and arranger for many notable jazz orchestras, including those of Lionel Hampton, Woody Herman and the Dorsey Brothers. His recorded arrangement of "Mercy, Mercy, Mercy," written especially for the Buddy Rich Band, was nominated for a Grammy Award. In addition he has appeared with Marion McPartland, Clark Terry and Louis Armstrong.

Wilson, a veteran Berklee educator, is responsible for organizing the college's 14-piece Trombone Jazz Choir.

Mrs. McNeil Appointed

Mrs. Ingrid Anne McNeil of Newton, has been appointed a member of the American College of Nursing Home Administrators (ACNHA), in the first step toward becoming a fellow of the college.

The ACNHA is a professional society for men and women who administer facilities for long-term health care, and facilities designed to promote, preserve and sustain the well-being of the aged.

Membership is awarded to licensed administrators in health care who meet stringent educational and experience requirements.

Mrs. McNeil is assistant administrator at Heritage Hill Convalescent and Retirement Home, Newton. She received her B.A. degree from Jackson College, Medford, class of 1971, and has completed post-graduate work in Nursing Home Administration from Babson College, Wellesley.

Her husband, Richard J. McNeil is a graduate student for a master of business administration degree at Babson College.

Mrs. McNeil has traveled to Germany, Austria, France, Switzerland and Holland. Her favorite hobbies are sailing, swimming and crewel.

Rosenberg Promoted

Murray H. Rosenberg of 21 High St., Newton has been promoted to project leader in the electronic data processing department at John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co.

The announcemeent was made by George E. Wallace, vice president.

In his new position, Rosenberg will be responsible for systems maintenance of individual variable annuities; a subsidiary, John Hancock Distributors and bank reconciliation, as well as the development and maintenance of several insurance statistical systems.

A graduate of Boston University, Rosenberg joined the John Hancock in 1970 as a programmer and progressed through various levels in the electronic data processing department prior to his recent promotion.

Hearing

built on the Washington and Neshobe Road site, reiterated their oft stated objections to an office due to traffic and density increases in the area and because it would disturb the residential character of the neighborhood and might upset its ecology.

This particular project differs from its predecessors in that the developer recommends traffic not enter and exit from Washington Street at all and Neshobe Road should be used instead.

The Planning Department has recommended approval of the permissive use needed for the development subject to conditions including the improvement by the developer of Neshobe Road, the expansion of the storm drain system and the hiring by the developer of a traffic officer at least temproarily.

The Land Use Committee has scheduled a meeting Wednesday, Jan. 23, to deliberate several matters before it. A followup meeting will be held Jan. 28 if it is necessary.

Budget

sonnel in 1957, now there are 31.5; the number of secondary school counselors has increased from 11.5 to 41.9.

"It is not the same school system that it was in 1957," Fink commented. "There is a different distribution of pupils and services,"

There was talk about how the school budget will affect the Newton tax rate. Mayor Theodore D. Mann spoke at the end of the meeting and mentioned the possibility of an eight dollar increase because of the school budget.

Mann's estimate was challenged by members of the School Committee, and he changed his figure to "approximately six dollars."

It was noted that the proposed school budget did not include reimbursements the School Department may receive.

"The City is running abreast of the School Department in some cost increases," Mann said. "State legislators are pessimistic about getting relief from the state."

School Committee Chairwoman Eleanor Rosenblum said that the state Department of Eduation is hoping to initiate action to shift the base for education costs from the property tax to the state sales and income tax.

Old Houses Under Study By City

By THELMA FLEISHMAN

The Newton Historic District Study Committee was appointed towards the end of last year to examine the possibility of creating historic districts in Newton and thus affording at least some measure of protection to the few remaining areas of architectural and historic significance in the city.

The procedure to be followed in creating these districts is laid down in Chapter 40c of the General Laws, and the backbone of the process is compiling an inventory of buildings which appear to be worthy of protection.

Where a significant number of these are found to be contiguous, a historic district is possible, and may, in due course, be designated.

Although the nature of Newton's early settlement has resulted in the absence of any single, old historical center, the Historic District Committee had little difficulty deciding where to begin the inventory.

The Upper and Lower Falls were obvious priorities. These nineteenth-century mill villages played a significant part in not only the history of Newton but also in the textile and paper manufacturing industries of Massachusetts.

Unfortunately it seems that plans for the redevelopment of Lower Falls are too far advanced to be changed now, and several of the former homes of old mill-owning families are to go. Washington Street will be the poorer.

Anyone interested or able to help should either call the chairman, Sheldon Drucker (office phone 723-6800), or the secretary, Thelma Fleishman (244-5598).

Council Appeals For Support At Upcoming Children's Rally

The Newton-Wellesley-Weston Council for Children has issued an appeal to all parents and children's service workers in the area to attend a Rally for Children at the State House in Boston on Jan. 22.

The focus of the rally, set for 10:30 a.m. at Gardner Auditorium, is support of the 1975 Children's budget.

At 1 p.m. members of the N-W-W Council for Children will meet with Newton-Wellesley-Weston area senators and representatives in Sen. Irving Fishman's office to discuss the need for services to children and the details of the 1975 Children's Budget.

"The Office for Children 1975 Budget, included as part of the comprehensive Children's Budget, is based on area allocations, with $150,000 slated for the Newton-Wellesley-Weston area," Chairman Tom Holtey of the N-W-W Council for Children explained.

"Most of these funds would pay for services approved by the Council for Children, programs for special-need children which no state agency is providing," Holtey added.

The Children's Budget of $26 million includes a wide range of new and expanded children's services, including day care, counseling and other community programs; foster care and residential programs for special-needs children; and special allocations to fund children's programs approved by Councils for Children and Mental Health and Retardation Area Boards.

The rally will run until approximately noon. Persons wishing to bring children or classes from schools are urged to attend the morning session.

In conjunction with the focus on the Children's Budget, the Newton-Wellesley-Weston Council for Children will hold an open meeting Jan. 22, 1974, 7:45 p.m., at St. Mary's Church, 258 Concord St., Newton Lower Falls.

The Council for Children is now arranging transportation to the State House by carpools. All persons wishing to take part and needing transportation or more information should contact Region V Office for Children at 965-4470.

Saltonstall To Be At Lincoln Day Dinner

Former United States Senator Leverett Saltonstall will be among the head table guests at Newton's fourteenth annual Lincoln Day Dinner being held Jan. 24 in the ballroom of Nonantum Post 440, according to an announcement by Mrs. G. M. Swift, General Dinner Chairman.

Other head table guests, in addition to the guest speaker, George Bush, include Mrs. William L. Bruce, state committeewoman; Mrs. Thomas Bruce, president, Newton Young Republicans; Mrs. Morgan Campbell, program chairman; John L. DiSabato, president, Newton Republican Club; Mrs. H. Dunster Howe, National Republican Committee member from Massachusetts, who will present the guest speaker; Dr. David B. Kreider, Minister of the Auburndale Congregational Church, who will give the invocation.

Also, Mayor Theodore D. Mann, Julius L. Masow, chairman, Newton Republican City Committee; Mary B. Newman, secretary of manpower, Commonwealth of Massachusetts, representing the Governor; State Committeeman Robert Semonian; Mrs. G. M. Swift, general chairman of the event; Francis A. Tambascio, president, Newton Italian Republican Club; Otto Wahlrab, chairman, Massachusetts Republican State Committee; Henry J. Wilson, chairman, citation committee.

Five hundred people are expected to attend and hear Republican National Chairman George Bush speak. Bush became National Chairman after serving as a member of Congress and as the U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations.

The event is sponsored by Republican groups in Newton. Miss Charlotte R. Thornbury is ticket chairman.

Consumer Council Policy Legal?

BOSTON (UPI) — The Massachusetts Consumer Council is considering adopting a unit pricing regulation which the attorney general's office believes is illegal.

The proposed regulation would require listing of unit prices in newspaper, radio and television advertisements. Assistant Attorney General Walter H. Mayo said Dec. 13 it was his legal opinion that the law on unit pricing did not allow such a regulation.

Barry Wax of the council said, "We may go ahead with the regulation, but in any case the attorney general's ruling not affect our decision."

The controversial regulation was originally approved by the council in November but implementation was delayed indefinitely when supermarket owners questioned its legality. Mayo later issued the opinion at the council's request.

"I do not believe the regulation in question would survive a judicial challenge," Mayo wrote.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Hacking, anyone?

Chronic coughing may be a possible warning of coming cancer or emphysema, says the Health Insurance Institute. Coughing is nature's way of getting irritants out of the nose, sinus, trachea and bronchi linings. At the same time it represents a clear warning of trouble if it persists for more than a week. If you hack that long, says the Health Insurance Institute, better see a doctor — whether you feel ill or not.

Nature Gives Notice

NEW YORK (UPI) — No simple cough that hangs on should be simply glossed over as cigarette cough, says the Health Insurance Institute.

"Cigarettes can cause you to cough and when they do it is nature's warning that your respiratory system is being irritated," says the Institute.

Oldsters Reap Benefits

NEW YORK (UPI) — Persons in the United States over 65 years of age received a record of nearly $470 million in insurance company health insurance benefits last year.

Detectives Trip Arsonists

By ROBERTA GOOTMAN

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A piece of charred rubble, a pile of ash—these are sometimes the only clues left that tell a fire's story.

But it is just such clues that lead arson investigators to their suspects.

According to Capt. Robert Dove of the Los Angeles Arson Squad, only five per cent of all fires are caused by mechanical means such as electrical failure and lightning. The other 95 per cent are caused by people.

When investigating fires, Dove said, the Fire Department first tries to prove that it was an accidental fire, looking for signs of electrical failure, overheated engines, etc. When no mechanical explanation can be found, arson investigators begin their search.

The Los Angeles Arson Squad relies on the police crime lab for much of its evidence. Among the equipment used is a gas detector to determine foreign vapors and an infrared test that gives a "fingerprint" of the compound.

Firemen Don't Tell

Some of the signs of an intentionally set fire include the presence of flammable vapors, strange fuel loads and some type of fire ignitor, but Dove would not elaborate on other arson indicators.

"It's a part of our trade that we don't put out," he explained. "The fire setter is an enemy of society and naturally you don't tell the enemy about your plans against his activity. We keep our indicators to ourselves—that's part of our armament."

The 22 firemen of the Los Angeles Arson Squad always work in pairs, "just like a pair of detectives," Dove said. "That's what they are, fire detectives. It's just good old hard police work.

"The Police Department and the Fire Department work extremely close (in arson investigations). We don't duplicate any police-offered service. We have the expertise in determining cause, location and motive. They have the technical lab."

Dove said that between 43 and 55 per cent of all fires are intentionally set. Children, he added, are guilty of roughly half of these. Most fires started by children result from playing with matches or are accidental, experimental or pyromanical.

Spite and Fraud

Other common causes of set fires are spite-grudge types and fraud fires set to collect insurance money. Dove said that the Fire Department is affected greatly by current social problems.

"Whenever there is a downturn in business, there is also an increase in fraud fire," Dove said. "A person thinks that he will lessen his losses by a fire. We're ready for that."

Out of the $11.4 billion yearly cost of fire to the nation, Dove reported $1.75 billion stems from arson. Although arson incidents have increased, Dove said the increase is not as noticeable as it was a few years ago during the "social unrest" stemming from the Vietnam war.

"And before that," he said "we had a problem with all the exotic fuels being brought into the city in preparation for the space program."

Special Training

There are about 200 felony arrests for arson each year, according to Dove, and of those cases that go before a jury, about 85 per cent end in convictions.

Sometimes the fire may destroy any evidence of crime. But Dove said this was more the exception than the rule.

"Our investigators have been at it so many years they can usually come up with the cause. And if the cause is criminal, they can usually identify it."

Arson detectives receive special training. They must know all the laws of arrest, evidence and fire arms, and need expertise in the causes and properties of fire.

"But above all," Dove said, "they must be good firemen, first."

High Hospital Costs

NEW YORK (UPI) — The national average of hospital charges is more than $100 per day. In big cities, sometimes the charges go up to $150 a day and higher.

Aldermen Pass Resolution To Hire Lighting Consultant

A resolution submitted by Rep. Lois G. Pines "to hire a qualified lighting consultant to assess the city of Newton's over-all street-lighting needs with a view to long-range future planning" was passed by the Board of Aldermen Dec. 17.

Rep. Pines recommended that the consultant take into consideration the interrelationship between the other public utilities; namely, New England Telephone, Boston Edison, and the owner of any proposed cable television company, in determining the feasibility of an underground power system.

Rep. Pines cited new legislation which permits cities and towns to borrow money for public lighting installations, including the cost of an underground power system. She also stressed that in order to make the city safer for its inhabitants, adequate lighting is an absolute necessity. She pointed out that federal funds are now available for the specific purpose of improving present lighting systems.

According to the comprehensive 50-page report submitted by Representative Pines with her resolution, Newton currently contracts with the Boston Edison Company for the use, maintenance, and service of the city's lighting system. Under the rate structure on file with the Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities, over 50 percent of the lights in Newton are eligible for replacement, free of charge, by Boston Edison because of age.

Mrs. Pines states, "Due to Boston Edison Company policy and inefficient planning by the city, the present rate of replacement will take many more years. Replacements or conversion are now being made from incandescent to mercury-vapor lamps without the benefit of a lighting expert to advise the city. Since we are converting to a system that is already outdated, Newton is prolonging an existing problem while exacerbating the problem further by its inaction."

She has advocated the use of the new high-pressure sodium lamps on certain heavily trafficked roads. This type of lighting provides greater illumination and uses significantly less energy. The high-pressure sodium lamps now being used to light the streets of New York City, Washington, D. C., Chelsea, and numerous other cities, uses five times less energy than incandescent lamps and two times less energy than mercury.

"Bold and imaginative new initiatives are called for. With such issues as communications, energy, safety, and environmental factors at stake, one should give careful consideration to the current situations and future solutions," Representative Pines stated.

Obituaries

Alan Katz

Services were held Monday (Jan. 14) for former Newton resident Alan Katz who died Friday (Jan. 11) in New York City.

Mr. Katz, a candidate for alderman in Ward 8 before his move to New York last year, was the son of Louis and Ruth Katz of Newton.

He is also survived by his wife, Mrs. Barbara Katz; his brother James of Newton and his sister Judith of Newton.

Memorial week is private.

John O'Rourke

The funeral of John O'Rourke was held Wednesday (Jan. 16) with a mass in Our Lady's Church. Interment is in Newton Cemetery.

Mr. O'Rourke of 153 Harvard St., Newtonville, died Saturday (Jan. 12) at his home. Born in County Leitrim, Ireland, he had been a Newtonville resident for many years and was employed by the Walsh Body Corp. until his retirement in 1963.

A World War I veteran, Mr. O'Rourke was a member of the Chaplain William J. Farrell Chapter of the DAV of Newton and the Holy Name Society of Our Lady's Church.

Husband of the late Ellen O'Rourke, Mr. O'Rourke is survived by two daughters at home, Mary E. and Helen C. O'Rourke; two sons, John P. of Waltham and William J. of Sudbury; four other daughters, Mrs. Dorothy F. Lyons and Mrs. Barbara A. McCarthy, both of Holliston; Mrs. Teresa A. Boardman of Ashland and Mrs. Margaret S. McBride of Burlington; two sisters, Mrs. Mary A. Smith of Ipswich and Mrs. Margaret Garvey of Ireland; and 20 grandchildren.

Rocco J. Antonellis

A funeral mass was celebrated in Our Lady's Church Wednesday (Jan. 16) for Rocco J. Antonellis.

Mr. Antonellis, 61, of 40 Dalby St., Newton died Saturday (Jan. 12) in Newton-Wellesley Hospital after a brief illness.

A native of Newton, Mr. Antonellis was a lifelong resident of the city and had been employed by the Haartz-Mason Co. in Watertown.

Mr. Antonellis was a member of Umberto-Primo Lodge of the Sons of Italy; the Newton Knights of Columbus No. 167 and the Ushers Club of Our Lady's Church.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Marjorie Antonellis; two daughters, Mrs. Elinor Bove of Newton and Miss Ann Antonellis of Waltham; two brothers, Benjamin and John of Newton; two sisters, Mrs. Christine Schmitt of Auburndale and Mrs. Ann Muse of Newtonville; and five grandchildren.

Burial is in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

Exhibit Of Michael Wynd Paintings At Main Library

Michael Wynd

"I think of this work as landscape. . . places to go. . ." explains artist Michael Wynd, whose first one-man show of paintings is on view at the Newton Free Library, 414 Centre Street, Newton Corner, Mass. through Feb. 3.

The impact of these bold, vibrant, abstract paintings is felt immediately. Only after careful observation is the viewer aware of the strenuous formal restrictions imposed on the paintings by the artist, and of how well the paintings work within these constraints.

Each painting is done on a 4'x4' canvas; the use of color is thoughtfully controlled; and the choice of acrylics defines the amount of change possible in any single canvas.

The most interesting restraint of all is the artist's insistance on a horizontal line through the center of each canvas. It works in most of the paintings because of Wynd's ability to define the problem and to then work it out successfully.

Paintings such as "Dakota Snow," "Antigua," and "Peterson Park" demonstrate the excitement and energy that exists because of the tension between the self-imposed restraints and certain impulses.

As for the impulses, in "Antigua" where a narrow gently curved line suggests the hot beach with vast expanses of sky above and sea below, Wynd explains, "It came to me whole. . . clearly in my mind. . . I put the lines where I was told to put them. . ." and he does not mind the mystical implications of such a statement.

"Anyone who does anything inventive has to have some way of handling the unconscious," Wynd said.

"The Lake Back of Coye's Barn," "Leaving Point Reyes" and "North Slope" reflect an exciting interaction between abstraction and pictorial representation. Wynd creates a feeling of weaving back and forth between dream and reality.

Paintings such as "Fairbanks" and "Fairweather At Red Beach" reflect an attempt to reach beyond landscape, to reach the unknown.

Wynd's paintings are uncluttered, stark in the positive sense. For the most part they convey a feeling of silence and space.

Titles are an important part of Wynd's work. He believes they define the world of objects and thus increase the viewer's understanding and involvement with the paintings.

Now painting almost full-time, Wynd has been a chemist in Paris, a fisherman in Alaska, and most recently a group vice-president of Addison-Wesley Publishing Company in Reading, Mass.

Wynd lives in Newton with his wife, Sharon, a weaver, and their three children; Joshua, ten, Raphael, eight, students at the Underwood School, and Civia, four.

The exhibit, along with a complementary selection of art books, remains on view through early February. Main Library hours are 9 a.m.-9 p.m., Monday through Friday, 9 a.m.-5:30 p.m. Saturday, and 1-4 p.m. Sunday.

Free Children's Concert By Symphony Orchestra

On Saturday, Jan. 26, the Newton Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Michael Sasson, will present its annual free children's concert, at Meadowbrook Junior High School, Newton Centre.

The concert, which will be given at 1:30 p.m. and 3:00 p.m., will feature short selections geared to interest young people in grades two through nine. The selections will range from the last movement of the "Brandenburg Concerto No. 2" by Bach, performed on an unuaual old baroque trumpet, to the modern "Fanfare for the Common Man" by Aaron Copeland.

There will be two original compositions conducted by their composers, Timothy Thorman and Susan Greenberg, both students at Newton High School.

For free tickets, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope stating the amount of tickets required to Mrs. Martin Schreibman, 64 Great Meadow Rd., Newton Centre, Mass. 02159 or Mrs. Marvin Wool, 653 Chestnut St., Waban, Mass. 02168.

Duo-Pianists Appearing

Marlys Saltzer And Linda Maranis

The Friends of the Marlborough Public Library will present duo-pianists Linda Maranis and Marlys Saltzer in a program of music for piano.

T e program will be given in Bigelow Auditorium, Marlborough Public Library, Marlborough, on Sunday, Feb. 3, at 4 p.m.

Ms. Saltzer received a B.A. degree in music from the University of Idaho and a Master of Music degree in Research from the New England Conservatory of Music, where she was a student of Lucille Monaghan. She is secretary of the New England Piano Teacher's Association and of Sigma Alpha Iota music fraternity. She has given concerts in Idaho and Massachusetts and teaches piano in Newton.

Ms. Maranis studied with Sascha Gorodnitzki at the Juilliard School of Music, where she received bachelor of science and Master of Science degrees in piano. She is a graduate of the University of Arizona where she was a concerto soloist with the University Orchestra, and received a bachelor of music degree. She has appeared in recitals in Michigan, Arizona, California, New York and Massachusetts. She has also been a staff accompanist at the National Music Camp at Interlochen, Michigan, a faculty member o the Bronx House Music School in New York City, a music consultant in the Newton Public Schools, and she is presently a teacher of piano in Newton.

The program includes music of Mozart, Brahms, Dvorak, Debussy, and Poulenc: There is no admission charge.

$10,000 Per Inch

Last week's snowstorms and ice storm cost $140,000, according to Street Commissioner Edmund Bolduc.

Included in the snowfighting effort were Newton's 300 miles of streets, which were plowed at least twice, 180 miles of sidewalks leading to schools, 47 municipal parking areas, and parking areas for 56 public buildings.

All streets were also sanded at least once.

Bolduc estimated that the first snowstorm amounted to eight inches. It was followed by another four inches of snow and topped off by an inch or more of ice.

Bolduc attributed some of the good results in the plowing to the fact that the outside contractors responded right away with their equipment. In the past there were often waits of several hours, he said.

Slide Show At Waban Library

View Ankara, Istanbul, and Izimir; walk on the irregular cobblestones of Roman road-builders to Aphrodisias, Ephesus, and Didymus; and enjoy scenes of the sparkling Agean, dotted with white-washed Greek Islands, as seen through the camera lens of Mr. Everett C. Blake, a teacher and resident of Turkey for 33 years, during a coffee hour-slide talk, Thursday, Jan. 27 at the Waban branch of the Newton Free Library.

"Adventuring In Turkey" is one in a continuing series of slide talk presentations arranged for the enjoyment and enlightenment of the armchair traveller as well as for the adventurer planning a trip.

Miss Arlene Lynde, Waban Branch librarian, invites Newton residents to come for coffee at 10 a.m. and to remain for the slide program at 10:30 a.m.

Festival Founder Honored

George Wein, founder and producer of Newport Jazz Festivals for the past 20 years, will be honored by Billboard Magazine, the show business weekly, with the 1973 Trend-setter Award "for expanding the market for Jazz Festivals in the United States and internationally."

The formal presentation will be made at a dinner at the Lotus Club, in New York City, Thursday, Jan. 17.

Wein is an accomplished musician, born in Lynn and educated in Newton schools and was graduated from Boston University. He opened his Storyville nightclub for Jazz in 1950 in Boston, initiated the first Newport Jazz Festival at Newport, R.I. in 1954, moving it to Manhattan two years ago. He has conducted other Festivals throughout this country and around the world annually.

His parents, Dr. and Mrs. Barnet Wein, live in Newton.

Transit A map of transportation available in Newton has been prepared for distribution by the League of Women Voters. It is available at libraries and fire stations and can be used in conjunction with the complete bus schedules provided on page 8 of this issue of the paper.

Transit Proposal Centers On Cabs

Two proposals for demand-response transportation were presented at the first meeting of the Mayor's Task Force on Transportation Tuesday night.

As practical matters, both were met with more negative than positive response, although the need for such supplementary transportation was agreed on.

The Transportation Task Force was appointed by Mayor Theodore Mann to study methods of providing additional intracity transportation to and from major MBTA transit nodes.

Dewey Mollomo, treasurer of the Newton Taxi Association and president of the largest cab company in the city, at the request of Mayor Mann drew up a plan for one system.

Mollomo's plan covered most of the city by 1-mile intersecting circles, but would require a coalition of all four taxi companies in the city, with a communications network serving them all, which would represent an investment of about $100,000.

"The idea of the taxi companies taking on any such operation is out of the question," Mollomo said.

"I'm proposing this system, but fighting it at the same time," Mollomo explained.

"If you want to subsidize us, fine. With money we can accomplish anything," he continued.

Mollomo's plan would cost "a dollar per head," he said, for a ride within a mile radius; would require riders to call a central taxi number, which would then dispatch the nearest cab to the address; and would take sometimes 20 minutes or more to answer a call, because the same cab might pick up four passengers in the area.

Mollomo saw "certain disadvantages" to his plan. Riders could call a taxi company direct and get faster service, often for the same dollar rate.

Don Levitan, director of intergovernmental relations for the city, and the mayor's transportation expert, would not be dissuaded by Mollomo's bleak picture of the possibility of a variation on the dial-a-ride system used with various (usually poor) results in a few communities in the country.

Levitan said, "I am only concerned with moving people."

"My immediate thinking on a demand-response system is that there is needed a marriage of public and private enterprise. We cannot allow the MBTA to abdicate its responsibility to provide public transportation, but we are trying to provide a supplemental method of intracity transportation on a regular basis," Levitan said.

Levitan's flight of thought for transportation extended to exploring the use of the wateerways surrounding Newton (Task Force member Alice Wilson offered Levitan the rental of her canoe) and examining the school-bus network for possible use during off-peak hours.

School Committee Considering Three Plans To Cut Personnel

Members of the Newton School Committee asked for more time this week to review possible personnel cuts in the Newton School System.

The School Committee received three different plans for reducing staff from Assistant Superintendent for Personnel James Laurits.

The first plan, submitted originally in a $29,381,470 1974-75 budget recommendation from the school administration, would reduce professional staffing by 25 positions.

This recommended reduction was based on projected enrollment changes on a school-by school basis. According to the administration, this plan would raise the overall pupil-staff ratio at the senior high level. It would also increase some class sizes and increase the loads of some teachers. Ten of the 25 reductions were recommended for the senior highs.

The other plans for eliminating staff positions were submitted by Laurits after members of the School Committee emphasized the need to be economical, and the fact that pupil enrollment has been decreasing in recent years.

The second plan would eliminate 30.8 staff positions. With this reduction, the pupil-staff ratio and the pupil-weighted staff ratio would be the same in 1974-75 as it is in 1973-74. It would match the projected drop in enrollment with a decrease in positions.

The effects of this plan would probably be an increase in class sizes in all major departments in the secondary schools, and the loss of some positions in guidance, art, music, home economics and industrial arts.

Also, in one or two elementary schools, some grade levels would have to be combined if this reduction were to be approved.

The third plan called for the elimination of 42.3 professional positions. This would come about by increasing the pupil-teacher ratio from 18.7 to 19.0. It would create a pupil-staff ratio of 14.2 in 1974-75.

This plan would necessitate alliminating some K-1 combinations and the return to separate kindergarten classes in these schools. Two or three schools would have to combine grade levels.

In the junior high schools, the reductions would cause a general increase in class size, and one or two schools would have to drop an entire team at one grade level.

There would be a general increase in class size in the senior highs and a shrinkage in smaller departments, according to the administration.

It was estimated that the first plan, eliminating 25 professional positions and four aide positions, would save $365,580.

The second plan, eliminating 30.8 positions and four aide positions, could save $447,494.

The third plan, eliminating 42.3 professional positions and eight aides, could save $625,083. Two aides are the equivalent of one full-time staff member in terms of salary. These figures do not include any possible reductions at Newton Junior College.

"We need to be more specific about who, what and where we cut," said School Committeeman Gerald Byrne. "We might make a step backward."

The School Committee gave tentative approval to some parts of the budget offered by the administration. It approved an administration budget of $1,675,711. This $821 less than originally recommended by the administration, because of an estimated reduction in Blue Cross-Blue Shield costs. School Committee Chairwoman Eleanor Rosenblum called the vote, "a sense of the meeting vote."

The School Committee also gave tentative approval to parts of the instruction budget. Among major items approved were $72,900 for summer curriculum, $92,615 for tutoring emotionally disturbed children, $292,560 for a learning disabilities program, $111,045 for the work-study program, $654,456 for books and supplies, and $84,848 for special allowances for the Division of Program. Some of these costs are reimbursable.

On Wednesday, Jan. 16, the School Committee discussed the work load and roles of teachers whle examining the personnel budget. The administration has recommended $22,541,623 for salaries in 1974-75.

Clinic Director Out

The resignation of Dr. Norman Bernstein from his post as medical director of the Newton Guidance Clinic last week brought to an end a hearing on his performance as clinic director.

The hearing, before members of the State Department of Mental Health, was won by Bernstein in a court action, after he refused to accept dismissal from the clinic by the Newton-Wellesley-Weston Mental Health Area Board.

According to the associate director of the area board, Edward Sahatjian, Bernstein's dismissal was felt necessary in order to effect a badly needed reorganization of the clinic.

Still in doubt is the amount of city funding to be given the clinic. Last year the city gave the clinic $74,000 as its share of the operation of the facility, which treats emotionally disturbed children and their families, most of whom are referred by the school system.

According to Mayor Theodore Mann last week, Health Commissioner Dr. John Athans is reviewing the clinic's performance to determine whether the city "is getting its money's worth."

Following a public hearing at Newton-Wellesley Hospital on community mental health, sponsored by the N—W—W Area Board, Mrs. Barbara Rubin, president of the Newton Mental Health Association that acts as an advisory board to the clinic, reportedly said that she and members of the clinic's board of directors, some of whom are ? ? ? ? who are also members of the Newton Mental Health Association, had talked with Dr. Athans and Health Department Administrator Paul Moan, who both agreed that the clinic should continue its services.

According to Gershon Rosenblum, state Region V mental health director, the clinic staff will be on probation for six months and ordered to correct its record-keeping methods.

The appointment of new director will wait until the staff has been stabilized and the amount of funding from the city is known, according to Sahatjian.

Dr. Bernstein took over as medical director of the clinic last spring from Dr. William Stone, who moved to Texas. Bernstein's efforts to make reforms in the clinic's loose operation caused a rift between the staff and the board of directors that apparently could not be breached.

Bernstein, 46, is an assistant professor of psychiatry at Harvard, a staff psychiatrist at Massachusetts General Hospital, and the author of many scientific papers.

His resignation is effective Jan. 26.

Director Selected For Human Resources Dept.

Mrs. Jane Hanify Pitt of Brighton has been appointed new director of the Department of Human Resources, Mayor Theodore Mann has announced.

Mrs. Pitt will assume her duties around the end of January.

The new director most recently has been an advocate for mentally retarded persons in Alabama under a federally sponsored program to assure civil rights protection.

Previously Mrs. Pitt was a social scientist for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in Washington, D. C., and did field research in the planned community of Columbia, Md., for her master's thesis in sociology and community planning.

Mrs. Pitt is 27 years old. She received a B.A. from Newton College of the Sacred Heart and an M.A. from George Washington University in Washington, D. C., where she also was a graduate research assistant.

Mrs. Pitt was selected from 20 applicants interviewed. A total of 120 applications were received.

The recommendation to employ Mrs. Pitt was made by a selection committee, consisting of Sr. Mary Gorman of the Community Rehabilitation Committee; Rev. Charles Coyle, Youth Commission chairman; Stephen Holmes of the Council on Aging; William Ramsey, Community Relations Committee chairman; Ald. David Cohen, and C. F. Miller of the mayor's office.

Junior College Fate Uncertain

The possibility of Newton Junior College becoming an interim campus for Mass. Bay Community College in September, 1975, remains uncertain after recent statements by state officials.

Administration and Finance Secretary William Cowin reportedly said recently that the only expansion of public colleges provided for in the next budget will be for Roxbury Community College and Bunker Hill Community College.

This may not directly affect Newton Junior College. Funding for shifting Mass. Bay to Newton would probably come from the budget after this forthcoming one.

Secretary of Education Joseph Cronin said that the possibility of using Newton Junior College as a site for Mass. Bay is "still a very live possibility."

Cronin added that "the idea of merging schools is very compatible" to present discussion.

"The general signs are that it is going to be tough to get any proposition through," commented Newton Junior College President Charles W. Dudley.

Dudley added that money has already been appropriated for building a new campus for Mass. Bay at Elizabeth Seton in Wellesley. A current proposal for Newton Junior calls for it to serve as an interim campus for Mass. Bay until construction is completed in Wellesley aroung 1980.

Investigate Plowing

Snowplowing policies and procedures will be investigated by the aldermanic Public Works Committee, following a vote of approval by the full Board Monday night.

In presenting the report of the Public Works Committee Chairman Michael Antonellis said, "There appeared to be some reason for Ald. McGrath's request. We approved it not in specific response to the last snowstorm but in a spirit of investigation that might contribute something to the city."

Ald. Richard McGrath has for some time been critical of the "snow policies" under which the city operates. He had hoped to have Board President Eliot Cohen appoint a special committee that would provide representation from the entire Board.

McGrath's amendment to that effect failed.

Antonellis commented that the investigation "will be no snowball-throwing contest, but a specific discussion of specific issues."

One specific issue will be the fact that six jet sanders ordered early last year are still in Weston being installed on city vehicles.

The Board also voted to deny (17 in favor, 4 opposed, two absent, and one excused) a petition to store flammable chemicals at 59 Chapel St.

A recommendation of the Newton North High Parking Study Committee that Blithedale Rd. and Kimball Terrace be closed to through traffic during school hours was approved.

A proposed amendment to city ordinances to set the salary for the Clerk of the Board at $18,000 was reported ap-

Going South

What Do I Hear For This Napkin

By ANDY FIELDING

A napkin containing all of the signatures of the Boston Bruins . . a portable television set . . . a dinner for two at Principal Seasholes' house . . . albums . . . comic books . . . mountain climbing lessons . . . artwork . . . lessons in balckjack . . . an ample supply of apple strudel—all of these items and more were up for bid and were sold at last week's Newton South Aucition, an event sponsored by the school's Environmental Aspects Committee.

The event, attended by about 100 students and teachers, only lasted a couple of hours but brought in $214.56; money which will go towards the beautification of the school (specifically, for the renovation of Cutler Commons).

Everyone who attended, it seems, got wrapped up in the excitement of the aution at one time or another, bidding and outbidding friends and enemies, even for items which were not that thrilling.

One of the students at the auction later said, "Personally, I was sort of skeptical as to how successful the whole thing would be. But a lot of people did show up, even though it was after school, and it was a lot of fun."

In one of the more interesting bids of the day, Ms. Toni Nelson of the school's library put up $23 of her own money for an easy chair which as already been placed in the library. The Bruins napkin went for $6 and the portable TV brought in $14.

Student Roger Cibella coordinated the project, with help from people like Dennis Johnston, Nancy Latner, Jimmy Cohen, Jon Schwartz, Fred Albert, and Stephanie Tarratino.

Rev. Charles Coyle helped out from the faculty.

The auction will undoubtedly be remembered as one of the most enjoyable and productive events of the school year—everyone who was there, at least, seemed "sold" on it.

Newton South is, this week, in the midst of a week long Enrichment Program symposium entitled "The Changing Roles of Men and Women," featuring a number of speakers and discussions on the subject.

So far this week, guests have included Sec. of Education in Massachusetts Joseph Cronin, who spoke on "Education for men and women"; Ms. Rita Formica, a senior editor of Ginn & Co., on "The change in children's textbooks"; two of the authors of the book "Our Bodies, Ourselves"; Mary and Larry Wakefield of Walpole High School, who sahre teaching and home responsibilities; Dr. Waldo Fielding (who I happen to know very well) on "The Individual Responsibility of Conception and Contraception"; Professor Betty Useem—"Why do women play a subordinate role in our society?"; Dr. Nan Forbes of the Mass General and M.I.T., on "The Biological Differences and Similarities between Male and Female"; and a discussion of the film "Masculine and Feminine—Your Role In Society", led by a group of Boston University interns who work at Newton South.

The program is continuing today and tomorrow with more speakers and more discussion groups and is open to the public.

Recycling Tips For Residents

For newcomers to Newton, and even those who have lived here for a while, the Mayor's Advisory Committee on Environmental Affairs has listed the recycling possibilities offered by the city and tips for saving energy.

At present, there is a curbside collection of newspapers once a month. To find out which is the collection day in your neighborhood, call 969-3920. Papers must be tied in bundles weighing under 50 pounds and are to be placed on the curb, separate from the trash. The city is currently receiving $20 a ton for this sorely needed resource.

Other materials may be recycled at the Rumford Avenue (Auburndale) or Elliot Street (Newton Highlands) incinerator sites. Glass, separated by colors, is accepted, as are metal cans. Cans should be clean, flattened and with labels removed.

Aluminum should be kept separate from tin and steel (the production of aluminum takes large amounts of electricity; recycling requires only five percent as much.)

The Rumford Avenue and Elliot Street sites are open from 7 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays.

While recycling is a useful and desirable first step in solving the many problems connected with solid-waste disposal, conservation of energy is still very much in order, the committee points out.

The following steps can be helpful:

1. Use a cloth or string bag for marketing; if this is not possible, reuse paper bags as often as possible.

2. Avoid buying throw-away aluminum containers; seek glass or metal instead.

3. Buy napkins, tissues, paper towels and writing paper made of recycled paper. (Pulp made from recycled paper uses only about 30-40 percentof the energy needed to make pulp from wood).

4. Avoid buying paper plate and cups.

5. Resist buying items packaged in polyvinyl chloride containers. This plastic, when burned in the incinerator, gives off hydrochloric acid which can corrode the interior of the incinerator. Buy returnable glass instead.

6. Teach children the value of conservation and recycling by your example.

Mayor Mann's Advisory Committee on Environmental Affairs has been working during the past year on improving the Elliot Street recycling yard and the leaf composting site in Newton (where compost should be ready for distribution in April, 1974), and on setting up a paper recycling program in the City Hall and the public schools.

In the coming year it is hoped that curbside collection of glass and cans will be started in Newton.

The committee also hopes to set up a speakers' bureau on solid waste and recycling to serve elementary and high schools in the area.

Mofenson Files For Better Protection For Firefighters

Two legislative measures designed to provide added protection for Massachusetts firefighters have been filed by Rep. David J. Mofenson (D-Newton).

One measure relates to research for firefighters' equipment, particularly gas masks and protective clothing; the second calls for flammability standards for firefighters' c.othing and equipment.

In explaining the bills, Rep. Mofenson said the protective equipment firemen use today is virtually the same as that in use 40 years ago.

"In fact," Mofenson adds, "firefighters' clothing offers less protection against fire than much of the children's clothing on the market today. While safety standards have been set for children's clothing, no such standards have been set for firemen." Establishing a temperance tolerance level will, Mofenson claims, provide firefighters with the necessary protection against the extreme heat of the fires they fight.

"Obviously," Rep. Mofenson said, "when firemen enter flaming buildings, they should do so with the best equipment modern technology has to offer, rather than using outdated equipment which endangers their lives and the lives of fire victims."

There have been problems in a toxic environment, Mofenson explained, with each of the two types of protective masks now available and in use by Massachusetts firefighters.

"One device, similar to a skindiver's tank, is heavy, bulky and only lasts for 15 to 20 minutes. The other tpe, known as a rebreather, while in some ways better, suffers from many of the same problems as the tank and charcoal filter devices. Still another, the use of which has recently been discontinued, is the simple charcoal filter type. It has proved to be dangerous in basements and attics where there is little oxygen, and the mask is useless against some fumes from modern plastics," Mofenson said.

"Imagine rushing into a flaming high-rise apartment with 70 pounds of equipment," Mofenson said, "then running up several flights of stairs, since the elevators cannot be used, rescuing someone from a smoke-filled room, and running back down the stairs, all within the time limit of his oxygen supply. It would seem to be a near-impossible task, but it is the kind of task we call upon our firefighters to do."

Mofenson's second bill provides for the establishment of a special commission of legislators and firemen to supply the needs of firefighters and propose specific legislation to meet those needs. They will investigate current firefighting technology and encourage research and development of new equipment both by legislation at the state level and by obtaining available federal grants.

Among the areas which would be considered by the commission, which will have at least one firefighter, one fire chief, and one individual from the National Fire Protection Association, will be breathing devices, protective clothing, and helmets.

Pines Takes Non-Smokers' Cause One Step Further

"Nonsmokers have quietly endured the irritating and harmful effects of smoke-filled rooms for too long. It is time that nonsmokers, who comprise two-thirds of the population, assert their right to breathe clean air," stated Representative Lois Pines, an active proponent for the past two years of the rights of the nonsmokers.

Rep. Pines' bill, H.1688 is co-sponsored by the American Lung Association of Massachusetts, Dr. Richard Overholt, Professor David Wilson, Prof. Arnold Reif, Dr. Paul J. Kalis, Dr. Rdulph Muto, Rep. Peter F. Harrington (D-Newton), and others.

Similar legislation which was co-sponsored last year by the late Dr. Paul Dudley White was reported favorably by the Social Welfare Committee but died in the house Ways and Means Committee.

Rep. Pines' bill would prohibit smokeing in public areas of public buildings, including museums, libraries, theaters, and public areas of hospitals, except in designated areas set aside for smoking lounges. Smoking would also be prohibited in elevators, the MBTA and buses.

Under the proposed legislation noncriminal "tickets" would be issued by the enforcing authorities to offenders. Fines could not exceed $50 per offense.

According to studies conducted by the American Lung Association of Massachusetts and the National Council on Smoking and Health, 58 percent of adult men and 70 percent of adult women are nonsmokers. The American Lung Association pointed out that "this majority of nonsmokers is subjected to dangerously high levels of carbon monoxide by smokers. In smoke-filled rooms carbon monoxide levels often exceed air pollution standards, causing eye irritations, nasal symptoms, headaches, coughs and sore throats. Reports from the Surgeon General indicated that exposure to a smoke-polluted atmosphere can cause allergic symptons, and harm those with lung or heart ailments."

Rep. Pines praised Beth Israel Hospital's new policy which attempts to place smokers with smokers and nonsomkers with nonsmokers in hospital rooms.

Brigham's chain of ice cream stores recently announced a new policy under which no-smoking sections will be established in some of their restaurants for their customers.

Rep. Pines stated, "these new policies suggest that the rights of the majority nonsmokers are being recognized in constructive ways. The passage of H.1688 by the Massachusetts Legislature would represent a substantial step forward in protecting the rights and health of the nonsmoker."

He received his bachelor's master's and doctor's degrees in electrical engineering from MIT.

Northword

South African Student Here

By PAULA BARRY

Anyone studying the attendance list of the Senior Class of N.N.HS would see nothing different about the name, Colleen Butcher except that she owes her allegiance to South Africa.

Colleen is spending the year with the Frank Howard family of West Newton as a member of the American Field Service Exchange Program.

Newton does not have an active American Field Service Chapter and last year the previously weak and pathetic A.F.S. Club at the High School completely collapsed so that when Colleen arrived she had a lot of organizing to do.

Right now, the A.F.S. Club is in the infant stage; a number of American and Foreign students turned out at the first meeting and at the Christmas Party which followed soon after but a lot must be done before a strong foundation has been laid.

The goal of the American Field Service is to have students of the world walking and talking together but how can that goal be achieved without knowledge? So to tell people about the world, Colleen has planned to have a film shows on different countries the first of which was of course, Africa.

During the question and answer period that followed the show, someone asked; Are there cities in Africa?

Yes, and schools and stores and movies too, but no television and very few jungles. In South Africa, the children start school at age six, spend two years in primary school, go on to secondary school for six years and then to High School which they finish at age 18. At that point, they are expected to take a national examination of matriculation in six subjects including Afrikaans and English for which they have prepared two years. If they pass, they are free to further their education in a three-year university or to go out and work as most South Africans do.

South Africans don't sit in with their books at night or on weekends; they go to parties where they hear British or American music or to see British and American films or to see friends. After school, they go to see interscholastic rugby or soccer games.

I asked Colleen what she'd be doing if home now and she responded, "I'd be lying on the beach."

During the warm season, people head for the beach on the South Shore where resorts have sprouted up or to campsites in game reserves. For the most part, animals don't bother you in game reserves with the exception of baboons who sometimes jump on your carr," Colleen said.

When she arrived, Colleen was surprised at the "abundance of motorcars on the street and the abundance of material goods in the stores" and at "the way we swim in lakes and rivers."

In South Africa people cannot swim in lakes and rivers because of the presence of the parasite Bilharzia which can be lethal if absorbed by the human system.

Colleen has often been asked if she's ever seen a lion or a tiger to which she responds in good humour "Yes, I have a pet lion."

Though lions and tigers cannot be found in a South African home, perhaps Boere Wors and Pap; a spicy sausage and porridge dish can. And if not, perhaps most South African students would be shocked to discover that we don't have ragtime, a week set aside by the universities to raise money for charity.

Students publish magazines of jokes and build floats which they adorn with paper flowers for display in parades.

Colleen became interested in the American Field Service when a girl from New Jersey came to her school last year and told people about the exchange. Colleen figured all she could do was to try, and Newton knows the results.

Colleen said that if she could bring anything back to South Africa it would be our "great educational system" and she had better bring back pride in the thought that she successfully "walked and talked" with students at Newton North.

Mann's Reorganization Runs Into Opposition

By ELIZABETH McKINNON
Of The Graphic Staff

The Board of Aldermen Monday night failed to suspend the rules to take action on Phase I of the mayor's reorganization of the executive staff.

Mayor Theodore Mann had asked the Board to approve $64,000 in pay and pay increases to implement his staff reorganization.

First to object to taking the matter up Monday night was Ald. David Jackson, who was quickly seconded by Ald. Ernest Dietz.

"There are many, many questions I want to ask. There are many peoole in the city who do not want to move in the direction fo a city manager," Dietz said.

Dietz continued, "In charter discussions it was decided not to go to city manager, but to retain the strong-mayor system."

(In the 1969 municipal election, a revision of the charter was voted and a charter commission elected; the commission spent 1970 revising the charter, and in 1971 the electorate approved the new charter.

Ald. Alan Barkin and Louis Egelson disagreed with Dietz, maintaining that the charter specifies that the executive and administrative powers are vested in the mayor and that any deviation from that arrangement would require a charter change.

Ald. Sidney Small argued there is "no purpose to be served by delaying this another two weeks," and Ald. Joseph McDonnell countered with his opinion that the mayor's request should be related to the entire reorganization plan.

Phase 2 of the Mayor's plan is reorganization of the structure of the rest of the city departments.

The vote on suspension of the rules to allow a vote was 13 opposed, 11 in favor. To suspend the rules, 18 affirmative votes are required.

Since suspension of the rules failed, the item remains in the Finance Committee, where it will probably be discussed at the FinCom Jan. 29 meeting.

Commenting the day after the Board meeting, Dietz said he was glad the Board had not waived the rules and that the item is back in the Finance Committee.

Dietz said that in his opinion the mayor is "delegating too much responsibility," and questioned whether the mayor can delegate the "authority."

The charter says: "The executive and administrative powers of the city shall be vested solely in the mayor, and may be exercised by him either personally or through the several city agencies under his general supervision and control". . .

"To aid him in his official duties he may appoint one or more assistants, fix their salaries, and define their duties."

Opponents of the first phase of the reorganization feel that the mayor's "delegation" of powers is not quite the same as "exercising powers." They feel further that an assistant, as allowed by the charter, is not the same as the creation of position which appears to them only slightly less powerful than the position of mayor.

Mayor Mann, in a Tuesday interview, said that he feels that the reorganization of his department has been either misunderstood by some of the aldermen who have read it or not read at all by other aldermen.

Mann said, "The final responsibility will still be mine. I am still the one who has to sign all the warrants. No matter what authority I delegate, the ultimate responsibility is mine."

The mayor said his reorganization of the executive department is another effort to get the city on a businesslike basis. "Can you imagine the president of General Motors trying to keep all the authority to himself?"

Mann's reorganization plan for the executive department calls for the creation of three new positions — chief administrative officer, planning and programming officer, and chief budget (or financial) officer.

The salaries for the new positions asked by the mayor are $25,000; $22,500; and $22,500, respectively.

The Finance Committee approved the $25,000 for chief administrative officer (to be filled by mayoral assistant James Salter), but cut the others to $20,000 each.

Also requested are two additional secretaries at $7,000 each, and two administrative assistants at $12,500 each. The FinCom cut the assistants' salaries to $11,500 each.

The matter may be voted on at the Feb. 4 meeting of the full board.

Financial Troubles Plague Center

Financial troubles continue to plague the Community Center for Children with Special Learning Disabilities, despite the governor's signing the supplementary budget in late December which would provide funds for the school.

The school, on Prince Street in West Newton, teaches 35 children with dyslexia to read.

The children, from ages five through 12, come from communities all around Boston. When they "graduate," they have been taught to read at their correct grade levels and can move on into regular schools.

The Center, school has been given a budget from that state of $34,000 to cover the period from September, 1973, through Jan. 31, 1974, but the only state money received so far is $3,000 partial tuition for the seven children paid for by the state.

Another $4,000 was received from the state Division of Child Guardianship, which had owed the Center that amount for almost a year.

To save money, Mrs. Roselyn Scott, director of the school, has closed the school on Fridays, although the school will fulfill its state obligation of 900 hours of school per year.

So far, Mrs. Scott said, teachers have been willing to go without pay in anticipation of eventual receipt of the money due the school.

The school owes the Internal Revenue Service and the state Department of Corporations and Taxation for money not withheld from salaries during the year, but Mrs. Scott said they have both agreed not to press for the money yet.

State funding after Jan. 31 is supposed to pay for all but four children, Mrs. Scott said, but at this point does not count on anything until she sees it. The remaining four will be paid for by the children's parents on a sliding-scale basis.

The actual cost of each child's tuition is $4,500 per year.

Chapter 766, the state law requiring cities and towns to integrate handicapped children into the regular school system and to pay for those that must attend special schools, "will be confusing," Mrs. Scott feels.

Since the children who attend the Center School come from many different communities, some of the funding will come from each community, and each community will be computed on a different formula.

Mrs. Scott is looking forward to getting the state red tape cut so that she can spend time fundraising. Even with state-paid tuition, there will still be need for money.

Free Concerts For Kids Saturday

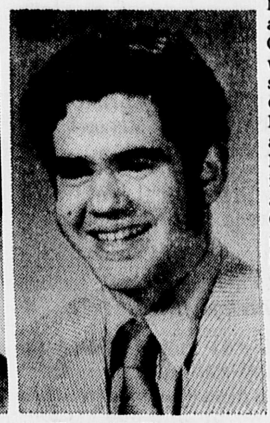

The Newton Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Michel Sasson will be presenting two free concerts at Meadowbrook Junior High for children on Saturday, Jan. 26, at 1:30 and 3 p.m.

Included in the program of works by Copland, Mozart, Beethoven, Bach, and Gliere will be two original compositions, "Convictions" and "Humaresque," selected by the awards committee.

These will be conducted by the composers, Susan Greenberg and Timothy Thorman, respectively.

Susan Greenberg

Timothy Thorman

Composing and orchestrating "Convictions," then conducting it at the annual student composition concert last May at Newton North High School was a totally new experience for Ms. Greenberg. These opportunities were available to her when, as a sophomore, she was a member of Henry Lasker's Theory of Music I Class. Presently, she as a junior, is in the Theory of Music II and Independent Study in Composition Classes. She is also a member of the Concert Choir, and has been studying piano for the past six years. Susan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark J. Greenberg.

Throughout his years at Newton North, Thorman, now a freshman music education major at the University of Redlands, Cal., was most active taking the Theory of Music and Independent Study in Composition Classes under Lasker, and was a participant, pianist, piano accompanist, and student conductor of the choral groups. "Humoresque," his Opus III, one of two pieces written during his senior year at Newton North, he conducted last May at the student composition concert. Thorman toured Europe with the Concordia Youth Chorale in the summer of 1971, was a member of the Tanglewood Chorus in the summer of 1972, and also has worked with the Newton Country Players. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Thorman.

Consumers Here Cynical On Energy, Senator Says

State Senator Irving Fishman (D-Newton), chairman of the Special Senate Committee to investigate the Fuel Shortage in Massachusetts, told Maine Senator Edward Muskie's U.S. Senate Subcommittee on Intergovernmental Relations last week that many Massachusetts consumers are seriously questioning whether or not the fuel shortage is real or contrived.

"Public cynicism, nurtured by the various post-Watergate revelations, has hardened on the issue of the fuel shortage," he commented.

"The people of Massachusetts have been inconvenienced and asked to make personal sacrifices," Fishman said, "while at the same time they hear reports of refineries and storage tanks bulging with supplies, of price gouging from dockside to fuel pump, and of oil companies reaping windfall profits."

"Secretary of Consumer Affairs John Verani told our committee that the voluntary cooperation of the public and the unseasonably warm weather have resulted in a fuel savings of about 16 per cent to date," he noted.

"It now looks like we'll make it through the winter with an adequate supply of home heating oil."

"At this time, fuel availability is no longer the issue. Prices and profits are. Indeed, the issue of price is so critical as to make available fuel supplies unavailable."

"In the maze of new federal regulations, it appears to be the average homeowner who, having voluntarily complied with the various state and federal fuel conservation measures, now feels that he or she is the forgotten person in the great energy dilemma."

"The oil industry appears to be the only segment of the nation which has yet to make any visible sacrifices to meet the problem. In fact, the oil companies profits for 1973 are staggering. The situation, however, is too complex to blame only the companies."

"For too long, federal policy has encouraged the non-cooperation and condoned the non-compoiance of the oil giants with even minimum voluntary conservation measures."

"Only now is the federal government reassessing its blind acceptance of the petroleum industry's totally inadequate reporting system."

Fishman warned not to take the situation lightly. He explained that preliminary information gathered by his committee did indicate that the long term trends were toward an enduring fuel problem.

"Our demand for oil is increasing faster than our ability to find more fossil fuels or convert to alternative energy sources."

"Given its extreme reliance on foreign oil and its lack of energy self sufficiency, New England will be in an exceptionally vulnerable positionfor some time to come."

NRA Will Get Appointee

It is expected that a new member will be added to the Newton Redevelopment Authority in the near future.

The appointee, who will be named through the state Department of Community Affairs (DCA) and the governor's office, will replace Lawrence Sullivan. Lawrence, who has been absent from recent meetings, has reportedly indicated that he does not wish to be reappointed to the Authority.

Edmund Mangini, DCA assistant commissioner for urban renewal, reported this week that five or six people or still be considered as a replacement for Sullivan.

Mangini said that it is hoped that a replacement can be named by the end of this week.

Unjust To The Unborn

To The Editor:

Certain dates are significant and we learn from history our mistakes of the past.

December 7, 1941, was described as, "A DAY OF INFAMY." Yet, today Japan and West Germany have eschewed their totalitarian dictatorships and attempt at violent domination of their neighbors and have both become democracies and allies of the United States.

March 6, 1857, was the date on which the United States Supreme Court declared black people to be non-persons as far as constitutional quarantees were concerned. The 14th Amendment rectified that horrible decision. Today, Jan. 15, is the birthday of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., who did so much to minimize the more subtle but still discriminatory consequences of that earlier unfactual and barbaric view.

Jan. 22 will mark the first anniversary of the date on which seven Justices, still sitting on the United States Supreme Court, distorted the clear teaching of biology, history and common law and thus overturned without citing any constitutional language to support them, those statutes proscribing or limiting abortions in 46 of the 50 States. The humanity and intelligence of the American people will some day blot out that bloody distortion, but how many of their innocent brothers and sisters must be relegated to violent extinction in the meanwhile? How quickly will we learn?

Big Brother, Sister Interviews At South

What is a Big Brother or Big Sister? How old do you have to be to participate? These and other questions will be answered by Mrs. Claire Burnell, social worker for the Newton Guidance Clinic and the Newton Public Schools.

In the spring of 1972, under the auspices of Newton South's Enrichment Program, the Volunteer Opportunity Program for students began. This year, there are 14 students that are volunteering their time with Big Brothers and Sisters learning as they share and give. Many of the students have decided to explore the opportunities in the helping professions because of this exposure.

On Monday, Jan. 28 at noon Mrs. Burnell will meet with students at South who would like to become Big Brothers or Sisters.

Karas On Authority

Leo Karas, 75 Great Meadow Rd., Newton Centre, has been appointed to the Newton Housing Authority by Mayor Theodore Mann, effective Jan. 18.

Karas' appointment must be approved by the Board of Aldemen.

Karas replaces Anthony J. Medaglia, Jr., whose term expired last fall. Medaglia has cited personal business as his reason for his recent resignation from the Authority.

Karas is in the glass business and is a graduate of Harvard University, where he studied architectural sciences.

Still Number 1

Remember when television sets came into vogue? It was generally predicted that the wonder of the age would replace reading as a means of information and source of enjoyment, that books, magazines and newspapers would become obsolete.

That was more than 25 years ago and we're happy to observe that things haven't worked out just that way.

The February issue of Christopher News Notes just arrived, observes that we are not becoming a society of non-readers. Even with 94 percent of all households owning television sets, the consumption of reading material is booming.

Here are some interesting figures:

— In a single year, more than 18 billion pounds of newsprint were used.

— There were 4,225 newspapers, and 2,037 periodicals. New books numbered 21,877.

Did you know that by the time you are 70, you will have spent some three years of your waking hours reading? That's the same amount of time as devoted to talking and also to being educated. (Compare this with 11 years of working, six years eating, and one half year worshiping).

Thus it is gratifying to know that the printed word is not going out of style. Indeed, as leisure time increases, there is more opportunity for reading.

With this in mind, The Christophers offer some guidelines. They suggest that you ask yourself these questions:

— Do I read with a critical eye, trying to distinguish between fact and fiction?

— Do I remain open to new insights? Or do I limit myself only to newspapers and periodicals with which I agree?

Do I support and make use of the public library in my community.

— Do I back worthwhile publications with my purchasing dollar, or do I merely complain about the lowering standards of reading material?

Of course it's gratifying to us to know that people still look to their local newspapers as their major source of day to day information. We recognize our responsibilities in this respect and will take every precaution to assure that the news as we publish it shall have the ring of truth.

As the late James Strohn Copley, publisher of more than 45 daily and weekly newspapers throughout the country, observed: "The newspaper is a bulwark against regimented thinking. One of its duties is to enhance the integrity of the individual which is the core of American greatness. . .The written word ultimately finds out all venality, all inefficiency, all phonies, all mistakes. The greatest tyrant, in capital city or county seat, looks with dread upon the honest reporter."

Copley has been described as a true patriot who believed in our country and who loved our country. He was proud to be an American, and he never apologized for it. Journalism, to him, was more than a career; it was a mission.

THE ABOMINABLE SNOWMAN

Political Highlights

By JAMES G. COLBERT

Ted Says He Intends To Remain In Senate

Senator Edward M. Kennedy, who never does anything slowly, was chatting animatedly before he rushed to the Logan Airport to take a plane back to Washington.

He told how moved he was by the expressions of sympathy, the well wishes and especially the prayers for his brave young son whose leg was amputated.

His voice broke once with emotion as he mentioned the great recovery by his son and how well he was coming along. "It was the prayers," he added simply.

This was not a press conference in the true meaning of the words. It was a personal conversation between Ted Kennedy and the writer, with no one else in attendance. Finally, we popped the question everybody asks.

What about 1976, Ted?

"I haven't changed at all," he replied. "I have every intention of running for reelection to the Senate."

He said he probably will issue a statement about the middle of next year. The writer gathered the strong impression that if the statement were made today, it would say that he will not be a candidate for the Presidency.

Ted pointed out what he had been doing during his visit to Massachusetts. He had addressed the student bodies of some high schools. He had visited a school for mentally retarded children and had talked to business groups about the energy crisis.

This observer recognized the point. Those are not the sort of things that are done by a candidate for the Presidency of the United States.

At this stage in 1958, two years and nine months before the 1960 Presidential election, Ted's late, great brother, John F. Kennedy, was seeking delegate support in all parts of the nation. Ted is not doing that.

As we listened to Ted Kennedy and his cogent comments on the great problems of the day, we couldn't help but look back on his public career and marvel at the political distance he has travelled in a little more than a decade — a career that has been saddened by one terrible tragedy after another.

Ted Kennedy is a more astute politician and a better Senator than either of his brothers although he himself might contradict that statement.

Twelve years ago, at this time, Ted launched his campaign for the Senate seat which had been held for eight years by his oldest brother. He toppled two strong vote-getters along the way to achieve that office.

He defeated former Attorney General Edward J. McCormack both at the Democratic State Convention and in the Democratic primary. He prevailed over George Lodge, son of Henry Cabot Lodge, in the final election.

Ten months after Ted assumed his place in the Senate, his oldest living brother was assassinated in Dallas. Four and a half years after that, his only other living brother was assassinated in a Los Angeles hotel while seeking the Democratic nomination for President.

Ted himself, of course, suffered a broken back when a plane flying him to the 1964 Democratic Convention crashed on its way to West Springfield. Life has not been kind to Ted Kennedy during his years in the U. S. Senate.

Another indication that Senator Kennedy, presently at least, does not plan to become a candidate for President is that he is making no effort to stage a show of strength at the midterm Democratic National Convention to be held in Kansas City next December.

Senator Henry M. (Scoop) Jackson is pressing his Presidential bid, and Alabama Governor George Wallace, paralyzed from the bullet of a would-be assassin, is seeking the election of pro-Wallace delegates in order to test his strength for another Presidential drive in 1976. His cause is virtually hopeless because of his physical condition.

So far Ted has displayed only polite interest in the convention.

Agnew Still Provided Services By Public

When newspaper and television reporters sought out former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew to obtain his reaction to the recommendation of a three-judge panel that he be barred from the practice of law, he was in a Washington office still provided for him by the federal government.

The newsmen were greeted by a secretary whose salary is paid from federal funds. A Secret Service agent on duty in the office told them they were wasting their time and that Spiro would have nothing to say.

This writer has an aversion for kicking anyone who is down, but it does seem that President Nixon is overdoing things a bit in still providing an office, secretarial help, Secret Service bodyguards, a limousine and chauffeur for Spiro Agnew at public expense.

Instead of reflecting on his good fortune that he was able to escape going to prison, Spiro is still living as high off the hog as if he had just returned from a heroic and history-making flight into outer space and is still savoring things provided by the government which are denied the ordinary law-abiding citizen who rarely gets to ride in a limousine except at a funeral and is never guarded by a Secret Service agent — not even when he is walking at night on a dark, lonely street.

The charge by the three judges that Mr. Agnew was guilty of "deceitful and dishonest conduct" and that he failed to report nearly $30,000 in taxable income on his 1967 federal tax return, "which he knew the law required him to report and pay taxes on," hardly jibes with Spiro's claim of innocence in his televised speech after he resigned from the Vice Presidency.

And we do think it's a bit much to be providing him with an office, secretaries, Secret Service bodyguards, a limousine and chauffeur at this point in time, as some ex-Nixonites would say.

Cocktail Party Tape Quoted Against Nixon

You might think that William Dobrovir would have had the good taste to resign as Ralph Nader's attorney in the suit challenging the Nixon administration's 1971 increase in milk price supports and that if he didn't, Nader would have the good judgement to fire him.

Dobrovir is the lawyer who took home a tape of a White House dairy meeting and played it for the entertainment of his guests at a cocktail party. This disturbed both the judge sitting on the case and the Washington Bar Association which is investigating Dobrovir's conduct.

But Dobrovir apparently considers himself some kind of folk hero, and Nader evidently concurs in the opinion.

Dobrovir has surfaced again as Nader's attorney in the milk price suit and has quoted from the very tape he played at the cocktail party, maintaining that it cast doubt on President Nixon's account of a dairy meeting and that a part of the tape was recorded on March 23, 1971. The guests at Dobrovir's cocktail party thought the tape did not prove anything. Based on the part quoted by Dobrovir, we would agree.

What is intriguing about this controversy is that Nader and Dobrovir evidently feel they can do no wrong. The tape which Dobrovir played at the cocktail party for the amusement of his guests was turned over to him on a court order. It would seem that Dobrovir at the very least was guilty of contempt of court.

If one of the Watergate defendants did that and came before Judge Sirica for punishment, he probably would get life imprisonment. While you may not think much of the judgement of Nader and Dobrovir, you must marvel at their incredible gall and conceit.

If the tape quoted by Dobrovir is the only evidence against Nixon in the milk case, we can forget it.

How Much Is That Banjo In The Window?

By CYNTHIA BLACK

Everyone needs a hobby.

I've always been fascinated by the banjo; fascinated because it contains so many elements in its sound that I feel are important.

A banjo is happy, sprightly, lively. A banjo never says goodbye; it always says hello. It just hasn't got a farewell sound. Every note says "come join me . . ."

Well, we've been in our Walnut Street office for the past few months; and during all that time, there's been a beautiful banjo in the window of the J. M. Music Corp. across the street.

And I've been looking at it from afar.

It kept reminding me that I've always wanted to learn how to play the banjo.

Completely Black

Now it's not there anymore.

I'VE GOT IT.

It's MINE.

Every once in awhile, I used to see one of J & M's frequent customers come and lay hands on that banjo; and I used to say inside: "no, don't buy it."

This week, I stood there saying: "Get your hands off my banjo."

Yes, everyone needs a hobby. But if you take up making things, macrame, painting, needlepoint, you inevitably wind up with THINGS. Things all over the place!

No one thought I'd really buy a banjo. It's one of those: "they laughed when I sat down to play stories . . ."

"I'm going to learn how to play the banjo," I'd say. Hysteria measurable in minutes would follow. Just wait until I have my recital . . .

This week, after much organization and many phone calls, we present a complete bus and train schedule for Newton.

A reader, mindful of the energy crisis, called and suggested we provide mass transit schedules for people who are trying to cut down on the use of autos.

The bus schedules appear on page 8 of this issue and we hope our readers will keep the listing for future reference.

WORD GETS AROUND: In this category, we have the saga of Newton Public Buildings Commissioner Gene Larson. In last week's Graphic it said that Larson was going to ask the Board of Aldermen for funding for three staff electricians. By Friday three people had already called him for a job!

\+ + +

And, as my parting shot this week, I have a reminder.

This week, we have in our possession two letters to the editor that are unsigned.

Our neespaper, as is true of most others, does not publish letters we receive that are unsigned.

Sometimes, when writers request we omit their signatures from the letter, we do.

The only letters we do not publish are those not signed at all.

Gov. Sargent Admits He Played Politics

Governor Sargent, who is as disarming a politician as you will ever watch on television, admits, in his boyish manner he adopts at times, that he may have played a bit of politics when he appointed two Democratic Governor's Councillors to court jobs and replaced them with two Republicans who had staged unsuccessful campaigns for election to the House of Representatives.

When it was pointed out to Sarge that he did this during the only week in 1973 when the Legislature was out of session (the Legislature would have chosen the two new Councillors if it had been in session when the vacancies occurred), he replied that the Legislature would have picked "two of the boys" in such a turn of events.

Sarge grinned like a small boy caught with his fist in the cookie jar when he was asked if he also had not appointed "two of the boys." He conceded that he had played politics but then in a round-about way proceeded to justify his action to his own apparent satisfaction.

He plans to announce his candidacy for reelection some time in the latter part of the spring, expects that Lieutenant Governor Donald Dwight again will be his running mate and believes that he and Dwight may run together with deputy Governor William Cowin who will seek the Republican nomination for Attorney General.

"If you had it to do over again, would you still appoint John Boone as state corrections commissioner?" Governor Sargent was asked.

"Yes, I would," was the prompt and firm reply. The Governor reviewed Boone's accomplishments, including the introduction of the furlough system, and disclosed that he had anticipated everything which happened under Boone except the terrible violence at Walpole State Prison.

Sarge observed that the most repugnant thing about being Governor is raising the funds to finance a campaign for reelection. "I don't like to go around passing the hat," he declared.

Leslie King Original Name of Gerald Ford

In response to those who have written in and asked, Vice President Gerald Ford did not begin life with his present name. The story is a rather unusual one and perhaps worth telling.

The original name of the man who would become President if Richard Nixon should resign or be removed from office was Leslie King, Jr. His father was Leslie King, Sr.

His mother and father were divorced. His mother subsequently was married to Gerald R. Ford, Sr., who adopted her son, Leslie King, Jr., and named him Gerald R. Ford, Jr.

Jerry Ford's real father moved to Wyoming, married again and had another son by his second wife whom he also named Leslie King, Jr. Jerry didn't meet his real father until he was a senior in high school and was working part-time in a restaurant.

When Vice President Ford recently was preparing to make a speech in Tennessee, his half-brother, the second Leslie King, Jr., showed up and bought a ticket to hear the speech.

Where's Hockey

To the Editor:

Do you know about the game of hockey?

Hasn't anybody told you that in Newton at least 600 boys play on teams?

But I still keep seeing only stories and pictures about wrestling, basketball, and gymnastics in your paper. The Newton Youth Hockey Association has about 15 teams that play regularly. We'd like to know how they're doing. Then, there's the All-Star teams too.

The junior high and high schools all have their teams too, both traveling and intramural.

Why do we have to read about BC and BU wrestling and basketball when we have so much sports activity in Newton (i.e. hockey) going unreported?

Campaign Legislation Crucial

To the Editor:

A recent column by James Colbert described the Bartley-Guzzi Public Finance Bill. This piece of legislation is potentially one of the most important of the upcoming session.

Unfortunately, campaign fund raising can be the basis of influence peddling and hence public cynicism. Passage of this model legislation would substantially reduce the opportunity monied interests presently enjoy in exerting undue pressure on the most important elected official of the Commonwealth— the governor.

I must, however, disagree with the comment that there is little indication of public "clamoring" for this type of measure. A recent Gallup poll released on Sept. 30, 1973, pointed out that 65 percent of those polled favored public financing. This, coupled with the strong positive reaction my office has received, leads me to believe that public financing is an idea whose time has come.

The fact that the campaigns of third parties may be financed may well seem to be a weakness until one understands that a third party, in order to qualify for financing, would have to receive 10 percent more of the vote cast in the most recent election.

An independent candidate, on the other hand, would have to collect signatures totaling 5 percent of the average vote cast in two previous elections. This would total approximately 100,000 signatures. These safeguards would eliminate any frivolous candidacies while insuring the access of any candidate willing to make a serious effort.

While there will be many questions raised, both in terms of what the bill does and doesn't, I feel that it represents a realistic and important beginning: a starting point in dealing with the influence which privately financed campaigns have produced in our government; a starting point in restoring public confidence to our political institutions; and a beginning of political campaigns based on issues and merit, rather than money and fund raising.

Paul H. Guzzi.

Commotion In Newton Corner

Dear Editor:

Why is it that ordinary every day law abiding citizens cannot get their rights protected, when an inmate in prison can write conditions and demand a television interview and get it?

Where does the fault lie? Are the police afraid of doing their job or has the written law tied their hands?

Why must we be subjected to bear drinking, foul mouthed young people on our front porch, and in our yards raising havoc until 2 or 3 in the morning?

We are law abiding people. We have to get up in the morning to go to work, but, you don't get much sleep if you are sitting on the porch with a tennis racket and a baseball bat chasing the kids away so that you can get some sleep.

We call the police and when they get here, they can do nothing. The police tell us they saw the young people doing nothing so they can do nothing.

Some of the officers have the attitude that these adults are picking on the young people because they are young. This is not so!

How would these same men like to have their yards filled with these young people nearly every night? The empty beer cans and bottles in the morning are something to see. I am certain they would do a lot more than is being done for us.

Perhaps we should take the law into our own hands? Maybe we should fight fire with fire by parking ourselves in the yards and on the porches of these young people's homes and make all kinds of noise until 2 or 3 in the morning and see how well it sits. Would we be arrested? What charge? Tresspassing, disturbing the peace, or what?

Young people want to be treated like adults, then why not conduct themselves as adults with a little respect and dignity, or am I being too OLD FASHIONED?

Once again I ask are the police doing their job or are their hands really tied.

Protecting Our Assets

Dear Editor:

I noted with interest in your Jan. 10 issue the article concerning two pieces of legislation filed by Mr. DeNuss DeNucci that will hopefully be acted upon by this year's State Legislature.

The first bill would limit the number of children who may be detained by the Dept. of Youth Services in one detention home or facility. The second bill would establish a second youth forestry camp under the same department.

I believe the filing of this legislation and its eventual passage is a long step in the right direction. Needless to say its enactment would help restore my confidence in our lawmakers concerning an area I consider sorely neglected.

It happens that state and local governments give higher priority to their physical plant and services than to the welfare of our most precious asset, our young people.

It appears that sensible, logical legislation such as Mr. DeNucci has proposed is long overdue and worthy of consideration.

Housing Would Transform Newton

Dear Editors:

I would consider it a great favor and civic duty if you would please publish this letter in your newspaper or at least give the citizens of Newton the real facts behind this public housing project.

The people are not aware of what will happen in their communities and all of Newton, not only Newton Centre will be transformed and in effect destroyed with urban housing, the all of the Newtons.

The NCDF plans to start with 50 units (nine buildings). They will open up four streets (now dead end) namely, Hamlet (private way) Beecher Place, Madox and Carlisle streets (in time). Langley Road cannot standy anymore traffic.

These people intend to build 200 more units when they get their money from the Massachusetts Housing Finance Agency, an office of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. They do not risk any money themselves since they do not plan to use their own money although they are a private organization (so called non-profit) and have nothing to do with City of Newton government.

They also have plans for additional sites for Newton now in mothballs but these will be brought out as they get strong. We, the people of Thompsonville want to stop them before they get a foot-hold in our area. Please let the people of Newton know.

Also, the Chestnut Hill Towers (so called) but actually on Goat Hill, Newton Centre, plan two twin towers (16 stores, 428 luxury apartments for sale.)

They want to open up a road (emergency, they say, with a gate for police and fire only, in the so-called dog-let street and take our lovely little memorial park in honor of our World War II veterans and, of course, whatever homes or buildings stand in their way on this stretch of road.

We do not believe Newton Citizens should be required to sacrifice their homes and lands for the sake of outside developers to become rich.

In time, all of Newton Centre will be destroyed if these two elements succeed in their operations.

The hearing at City Hall on Jan. 9 was for the Towers and NCDF, although a third real estate speculator is on the scene. His name is Robert Cohen, and he is in the Vale and impregnating the woods near Westminster Road and his pipes, water, sewerage, etc. are going through private homes there on that street.

Many people in our area will lose their homes and lands. Our neighborhood will be destroyed. Please help us.

What About The Little People?

To The Editor:

I am delighted to see the improvements made on the Riverside MBTA line and glad to have it back in use. It was sorely missed by my family and me.

However, whoever is responsible for the design of the new pay phones or their installation needs to go back to the drawing board. My husband is 5'5" and can barely reach the coin slot. I am 4'10" and can't reach it either and my daughter is 4'7" and finds it impossible.

After a long ride on the Green Line, one arrives in Waban station during inclement weather and can't physically make a phone call for a cab or family to pick them up. I'm wondering how many small children as well as short adults are going to face this problem?

Perhaps some reader will have an answer or can reach the almighty powers behind this. We short folk are used to craning our necks to look someone in the eye, we've learned the acrobatic balance of standing on the MBTA without being able to reach a hand on strap or bar, but we can't carry step stools everywhere to make a phone call. There are many minority groups receiving new aids.

Now, how about the little people!

Mrs. Robert Kraus

Nonantum Committee Thanks You

Dear Friend:

The committee of the Nonantum Children's Christmas Party Association wishes to extend our profound thanks to you for your assistance to us in all of our Christmas endeavors. Without your help we could not function.

The many children we had at our new Legion hall all received gifts and had an enjoyable time. We were able to entertain over 2000 children. The people who received food baskets and gifts wish to say thanks.

Our elves, pixies, clowns and hobos did a fine job entertaining whereever they went. We hope that with your continued assistance, our hard working group can continue to go on indefinitely.

All of us wish to extend our thanks to you once again for the help you gave to us.

Anthony Pellegrini,

Word Of Thanks

(This letter was sent to the Fire Dept. snd a copy forwarded to the Graphic)

Dear Chief Perkins:

I would like to express my deep appreciation to the members of your department who responded to an emergency call on Sunday, Jan. 6.

When my hand got caught in the mechanism of my garage door, your men came quickly to my rescue and handled the situation effectively in cooperation with members of the Police Department.

I am sending a copy of this letter of appreciation to the mayor.

Basketball League Resume Play

After two nights of cancellations, due to inclement weather, the Newton City Basketball Leagues are back on schedule, according to William Barry, Recreation Supervisor.

This includes the Pony, National and A and B Divisions of the American Basketball League. Barry announces that the cancelled games will be rescheduled later in the season.

The adult badminton program held at the Warren Junior High School on Thursday evenings from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. has resumed. Interested Newton adults, high school age and up are invited to participate. They may join the program by going to the Warren Junior High School gym on Thursday evenings and sign up with Mrs. Jennie Rogan or Leo Passero. Players should be suitably clothed, including sneakers and should bring their own rackets. At present, over 25 people are taking part in the program.

Barry reports there have already been a couple of inquiries regarding the softball league sponsored by the Newton Recreation Department. Play is not scheduled to begin until the first week in May.

The cold snap made it possible for the Recreation Department to open Bullough's Pond to limited skating and it is expected that the facilities at Ware's Cove in Auburndale will be ready soon. Despite the frigid weather, the earlier snowfall had effectively insulated the ice, delaying the opening of skating facilities. Once the ice is safe, the entire area will be cleared and rink boards for hockey set up.

Complete and accurate information on the latest skating conditions may be obtained 24 hours a day, seven days a week by calling the Recreation Department's special number, 969-2851.

Information on conditions at the toboggan chute at Newton Centre Playground is also available at this number. The chute has been operating for two weeks. It is open on weekdays from 2-5 p.m. and 7-10 p.m. On Saturdays and Sundays the hours are 9 a.m. to noon, 2 - 5 p.m. and 7 - 10 p.m.

Newton residents may bring their own toboggans or they may rent equipment at the playground house for 50 cents an hour.

Recreation Supervisor Fran Towle says that the gym program for junior and senior high girls at the Day Junior High School is going well. The general gym program is open Saturdays from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m.

All the school gym programs offered by the Recreation Department at many of the elementary and secondary schools during the winter months are going well as are the many basketball leagues sponsored by the Recreation Department.

The ten-week archery class program held at the Newton Centre Playground field house Wednesdays from 7 - 8:30 p.m., is well underway. The classes for boys and girls eight to fifteen are directed by Bill Baker.

The two ski programs offered this year by the Recreation Department have already been fully subscribed. One is a five-week downhill program held at the Blue Hills. The other includes family cross country ski instruction at the Metropolitan District Commissions Ponkapoag Golf Course.

Antitrust Suit Urged Against Oil Companies

The Massachusetts State Senate has unanimously passed a resolution filed by Sen. Jack H. Backman (D-Brookline) calling on the governor, the attorney general of the Commonwealth and the attorney general of the United States to immediately initiate appropriate antitrust proceedings against the major oil companies.

Sen. Backman stated: "Massachusetts as a sovereign state must initiate a suit to stop the oil companies from continuing their conspiracy against the people of the Commonwealth.

"The Federal Trade Commission has alleged that the oil companies deliberately attempt to control prices and profits, restrict or eliminate competition and to follow a policy detrimental to consumers.

"In two conferences of the attorneys general of the United States, a consensus was reached that such an antitrust action be taken as a necessary measure to halt the conspiracy being perpetrated by the oil companies.

"Our governor has said time and again that something should be done. In fact, he even called a special session of the Legislature in a meek effort to deal with the so-called energy crisis.

"What is needed is affirmative action by our chief executive and the attorneys general. They should seek immediate remedial action in the courts, where the oil companies will have the burden of proving their claims.

"I am prepared to produce evidence for a civil antitrust action, or to join the governor and the attorneys general and their staffs in appearances before a federal grand jury for criminal complaint against the major oil companies."

League Unit Meetings On Education Planned

The League of Women Voters of Newton will hold a series of unit meetings on Education on Jan. 30 and 31 and Feb. 1 to review present League positions on education and to determine areas in which League members feel there is a need for new study and action.

The Massachusetts League has been actively concerned with education for many years and has supported the goals of quality education and equal educational opportunity for all. In order to achieve these goals, the League has supported increased state aid to education on an equalizing basis, fiscal autonomy of school committees, and adequate teacher certification.

In 1965, the League supported legislation which resulted in the restructuring of the state Department of Education and the creation of four new boards. League members agreed to support strong authority for the State Board of Education to set and implement minimum standards for local public school systems, and board leadership in providing services to assist the local schools.

The League also supports the principle of the Racial Imbalance Law and METCO.

Serving on the Education Committee of the Newton League are Rochelle Alexander, chairman; Jane Montgomery, vice-chairman; and Sylvia Apelbaum, Ruth Fernandez, and Sue Green.

The meetings will be held at the following times and places:

Wednesday, Jan. 30, 9:30-11:30 a.m., at the First Baptist Church, Newton Centre, and 8-10 p.m. at 50 Charlotte Rd., Newton Centre.

Thursday, Jan. 31, 8-10 p.m. at 28 Frederick St., Newtonville.

Friday, Feb. 1, 9:30-11:30 a.m. at the Auburndale Congregational Church, Hancock St.

Babysitting will be available for the morning meetings at $1.00 per child. All the meetings are open and interested visitors are most welcome. For directions or assistance with transportation call Judy Lavine at 969-2953.

Girl Scouts' Cookie Sale Begins Jan. 26

The twelfth annual Cookie Sale of the Bay Path Colonial Girl Scout Council will open Jan. 26, Mrs. Joseph Schmidt of Holliston, council cookie chairman, announced.

Girl Scouts will take orders from Saturday, Jan. 26, through Sunday, Feb. 3. The cookies will be delivered by the same order-takers between March 4 and 16.

The cookies will cost $1 per box.

The money derived from the sale of cookies will help pay for exciting projects related to ecology, camping, and the investigation of local heritage and the American culture in anticipation of the Bicentennial.

"The Cookie Sale offers everyone in the council - board members, troop leaders, girls and parents - an opportunity to support Girl Scouting," said Mrs. Schmidt. "Our slogan is BUY, SELL, EAT COOKIES - They're good1/8"

Star Markets . . .

Promoted To Vice President

W. Bruce Krueger, former manager of the Newton Star Market, was promoted vice president for retail store operations in the New Hampshire and Rhode Island districts, according to President John M. Mugar.

A product of the Westboro public schools, he was educated at the University of Maine where he received his B.A. degree in 1954. Following military service, he joined Star Market as a member of its Management Development Training Program in 1958. Since then he has held key posts in the expanding supermarket chain, including the management of the Newton Star.

Star Market currently operates a network of 58 supermarkets in Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Rhode Island as well as a vast warehouse and distribution center in Industrial Park, Norwood. It is also embarked on a large expansion program.

W. BRUCE KRUEGER

Audubon Shorts

Most of us are not directly responsible for environmental abuses, but we connive in them by our ignorance; we are ignorantly dependent upon them. Every time we indulge in or depend on the wastefulness of our economy, we are promoting the environmental crisis, the Massachusetts Audubon Society points out.

—o—

The U. S. population generates five pounds of municipal solid wastes per day per person. These wastes, per pound, have a fuel value averaging one and one-half kilowatt-hours which is more than one-third the fuel value of high grade coal, the Massachusetts Audubon Society tells us.

We import 50 percent of our iron ore, and 40 percent of this comes from South America. Domestic scrap could supplement the ore shortage; by 1980 recycled cans may become essential to steel production, according to the Massachusetts Audubon Society.

—o—

The solar energy falling on the surface of Lake Mead is five times the output of the generators at the Hoover Dam, the Massachusetts Audubon Society tells us.

To put a glass of milk on the table requires the energy equivalent to half a glass of diesel fuel; for a one-pound loaf of bread, two pounds of coal, and for a pound of hamburger, three pounds of coal. Twelve percent of the national energy use is for providing and preparing food, according to the Massachusetts Audubon Society.

First Female Postal Inspector Appointed

Like countless other women, Jane Williams Currie casually begins her day with a cup of coffee and then spends considerable time preparing herself for work.

But, the one thing which distinguishes Jane from the millions of women who go through this morning ritual is her job.

Jane is a postal inspector - the first female in the history of the U.S. Postal Service to hold such a position.

Mrs. Currie, a 34-year-old Texan, admits being pleased with having such an honor but readily adds that it is "more gratifying" to be a part of the oldest Federal law enforcement agency.

"Do you know that the Postal Inspection Service has a history which dates back to 1737?" she proudly asks.

It has been a little over two years since Mrs. Currie completed her basic training and joined some 1,700 other postal inspectors who enforce postal laws and safeguard the mails.

Since her appointment, 16 other women have been named. Jane works in Chicago on financial fraud cases.

"As far as efficiency as an inspector is concerned I feel no hindrance at all by being a woman," she said. "I have as much confidence in my ability as the men do."

During her two years as an inspector, Mrs. Currie has investigated dangerous postal fraud suspects, unraveled their phony alibis and even made several arrests.

"In my way," she explains, "I am doing something that may keep a great many people from being defrauded. If I can get the guilty prosecuted, then it's going to save someone from losing something - money or property or whatever."

The enthusiasm which Inspector Currie has about her job is contagious. Her flashing smile is as brilliant as the enforcement badge she carries in her handbag which on occasion has stored her .38 revolver.

"We qualify twice a year with firearms - including a shotgun - and we must maintain our qualification in order to keep our weapons," she said. "We are also trained in basic karate, strictly for defensive purposes."

No matter how tiring - or exciting - her daily routine is, Jane always leaves the title of inspector at the office. One bit of wisdom she picked up from her late father, a formal postal inspector, was "never take the office home with you."

So, what does an attractive Texan living in Chicago do in her spare time? Cook Mexican dishes, of course.

Jan. Meeting Of PACT On 30th

The January meeting of PACT, a group of parents of children with Congenital Heart Defects, will take place on the 30th, at the Jimmy Fund Building, 35 Binney Street, Boston, at 8 p.m. Dr. Harvey Chernoff, Pediatric Cardiologist at the Boston Floating Hospital will speak on Cardiac Catheterization. Films and slides will be shown. For further information, contact Sally Fogel at the Greater Boston Chapter, Massachusetts Heart Association, 738-4920.

To insure highest quality medical care, the Veterans Administration follows a policy of affiliating outpatient clinics with medical schools the same as has been the practice with its hospitals since World War II.

A Veterans Administration study reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association says anticoagulant drugs in acute heart attack cases sharply reduce the number of complications from blood clots.

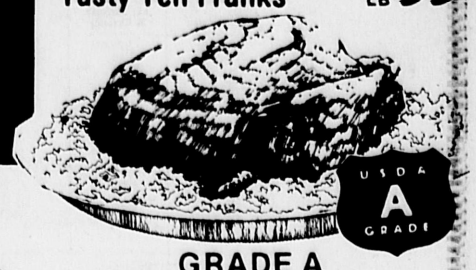

If all the steel thrown into dumps in 1970 had been recycled, about 16 million tons of coal would have been conserved. This amount of fuel can run eight, one-thousand-megawatt power plants for one year, the Massachusetts Audubon Society says.

Pick Heart Chairman

Atty. Robert P. Weintraub of Newton Centre has been named community chairman of Newton's 1974 Heart Fund drive.

As head of the campaign in Newton, Weintraub will coordinate all community Heart Fund activities taking place in February, including the door-to-door solicitations on Heart Sunday.

A graduate of Brandeis University, Weintraub received a law degree from Boston University. Weintraub is a practicing attorney in the firm of Bloom, Deutsch, Rosenwald, Weintraub and Witkin. He is a member of the Boston Bar Association and the American Bar Association.

Attorney and Mrs. Weintraub make their home at 25 David Rd. with their children Steven and Ellen.

For further information about the programs of the Heart Association contact the Heart Association at 738-4920. For further information on MRFIT, call 731-4040.

Association Offers Nursing Scholarship

Applications for the 1974-1975 Eight and Forty T.B. Nursing Scholarships are now available according to the Norfolk County-Newton Lung Association.

The Eight and Forty, an organization of American Legion Auxiliary members, established this scholarship fund over 17 years ago to assist nurses in securing advanced schooling for positions in either supervision, administration, or teaching. Applicants should also have prospects of being employed in positions which will be full-time and have a direct relationship to tuberculosis control.

For example, a scholarship may be used to prepare an instructor of nursing students who will include tuberculosis nursing in her instructions; a nursing administrator who will be employed in hospitals or other institutions which include tuberculosis patients; or a public health nursing supervisor or staff nurse employed by an agency which includes the nursing care of tuberculosis patients.

Julia V. Mullan of Needham, National Tuberculosis Nursing Scholarship Chairman, reports that during the past 17 years the Eight and Forty has awarded 172 scholarships totalling $210,000 to help eliminate personnel shortages in this important area of nursing.

For information on general scholarship requirements, personal qualifications, basis of selection, or extent of awards write: The American Legion Education and Scholarship Program, P.O. Box 1055, Indianapolis, Indiana 46206, Attn: Eight and Forty Scholarships.

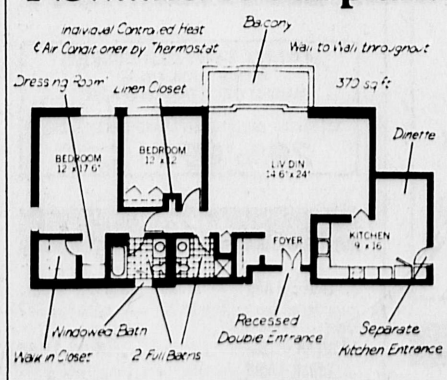

The deadline for applications is June 1, 1974. Announcements of awards will be made by July 15, 1974.

An exceptional opportunity!

Save up to 50% on New York Designer Showroom Furniture.

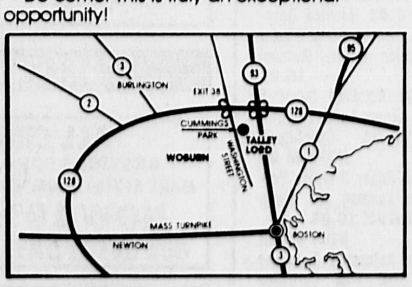

Because we are remodeling our extensive New York showrooms the superb furniture featured in its forty-five room settings, the same furniture that has been featured editorially in McCall's, Better Homes & Gardens, Ladies' Home Journal, House Beautiful and 1001 Decorating Ideas, is being offered at tremendous savings. This makes it possible for you to own furniture of heirloom quality for no more than you would pay for the ordinary, see-it-everywhere kind. You'll find deep down cushioned sofas covered in lavish traditional fabrics like damask and cut velvet; sleek contemporary styles fashioned to complement chrome and glass; chairs, from lounge to occasional; tables, from lamp to coffee. And all sorts of tempting accessories—fur pillows, bronze sculpture, mirrors, lamps, ceramics, figurines. All the beautiful, the unique, the truly distinctive furnishings you've always dreamed of owning, to make your home reflect you and your family's personality, can now be yours at these dramatic savings.

But the items and the time of this exceptional sale are limited. Many are one-of-a-kind, all are reflections of decorator taste that will enhance the beauty of your home.

At the end of this sale admittance to our new showroom will be granted only to professional decorators and their clients since we are a closed showroom and cater only to the professional designer, architect or contractor-developer.

So, don't delay. Plan now to drive out to our easy to reach showroom in Cummings Industrial Park in Woburn. From 128 take Exit 38, travel ¼ mile to entrance of Cummings Park. We're open from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Mon-Tues-Thurs, 9:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Wed. & Fri., and 10:00 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Sat. Charges may be made to Master Charge.

Do come. This is truly an exceptional opportunity!

fiberglas® insulation

foil-faced fiberglas® insulation

Conserve your fuel this winter . . . insulate your un-insulated areas! Extra-thick 6" foil faced Fiberglas® keeps heat in, cold & moisture out!

foil-faced fiberglas® insulation

Save on fuel bills . . . reinforce your present insulation! Staples on easily over existing insulation! Foil-face keeps moisture out too!

CONSERVE ENERGY

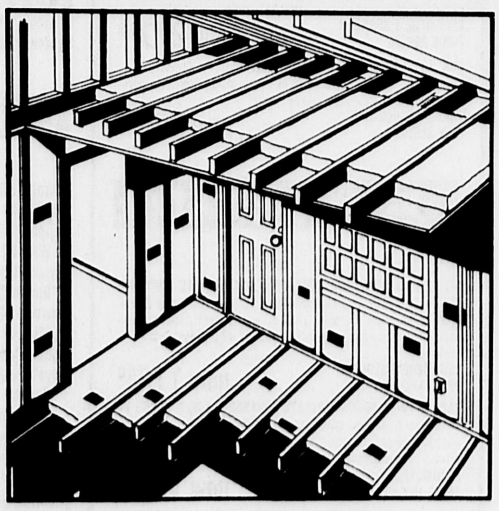

Measure the insulation in your attic. If there's less than 6", you're wasting money on fuel!

If you have no insulation, install 6" Fiberglas® insulation between the joists. Just lay it in place.

HOW TO DO IT...

For a room addition or a new home...

Use 3½" (R-11) thick Fiberglas® insulation in all exterior walls, and also in walls & floors between heated & unheated areas.

Insulate behind all pipes & sides of studs or joists, making sure they fit smoothly and tightly.

Always place vapor barrier towards the side heated in winter.

For attics...

Be sure attics above insulation are vented to prevent heat build-up in summer and condensation in winter.

Lay insulation in attics only to top plate for proper eave ventilation.

Use 6" (R-19) Fiberglas® insulation in attics.

Don't be disappointed . . . shop early!

Prices & availability are limited to in-stock merchandise — so hurry! Visit Grossman's now and pick-up insulation for your winter needs! Our courteous salespeople will be happy to advise you! We can not accept phone orders or C.O.D.'s.

Sew Into Spring

The make-it-yourself boom, especially for the young, is sweeping the country. According to recent reports, two-thirds of the women who sew are under 45 and almost half of this group is between the ages of 20 and 35

Sewing has become the number one hobby among teen-agers, and their choice of fabric and patterns reflects their ability to express themselves in a fashion-freedom that is most remarkable

The young sewer, unlike the older woman who uses, saves and reuses a pattern, is brought up in a "disposable" world and tends to use the pattern once and discard it as she would a paper plate. This is unfortunate since many bodices, sleeves, skirts and pants may be used interchangeably with other patterns.

If you've never enjoyed needlework of any kind, or just didn't have the desire to have a go at it, you're bound to love sewing today because it's easy and fun! Current patterns allow the novice to pitch right in and come out a winner. Most pattern companies offer an abundance of "Easy to Make' patterns which have only two, three or four pieces—which means sewing a seam or two, a hem and your garment is ready to wear.

Although the most obvious reason for sewing may appear to be a monetary one, statistics have shown that the majority of women enjoy the creative outlet although they ultimately will save money in the process.

Take the tennis dress, for instance. When you examine the shift it is often a simple little item with an unbelievable price tag. By sewing their own, women are able to lengthen the skirt and remedy an often heard com-'int, too small armholes. Hemmed ac-lion pleated double-knit fabrics have also de sewing tennis dresses an easy task.

The surplice look will be seen in blouses, jackets, skirts and dresses. It can be used in both a provocative or demure manner. depending on how you choose to wear it—tightly or loosely.

If you've been behaving, calorie-wise, you'll probably be making yourself a slip dress, the latest fashion to be enjoyed by slender women. When is a slip dress not a slip? It will be hard to tell the difference because lingerie trimmings such as lace, tiny ruffles or ripple edges will be edging lightweight knits. It's bound to be an interesting spring with these out-and-out lingerie looks going out in the open!

Other than the slip dress, the romantic look . . . a mood, feeling of softness is a giant step away from strict classic lines. This mood can be separated into two camps—one dressier and quite costumey, with white and pales predominating; the other casual and sportive with the bias flare, tiered and ruffle hem skirts. Either can be dressed up or down, depending on the fabric used.

Watch for a continuation of the Western Look as seen in pointed bodice yokes, snap closures, wide cuffs, skirt yokes, fringes, important contrasting piping, topstitching and embroidery on shirts, skirts, pants and dresses

McCall's pattern that requires only one yard of fabric and 20 minutes to make an item that can be worn 16 different ways is sure to be a best seller again this season. A foulard or paisley is most effective—when completed, it can be worn as a turban, a halter, an ascot (for men or women), a turtleneck scarf, a Chanel bow, a beach turban, a knotted turban . . . and on and on.

June brides have been leafing through pattern books, studying bridal gowns. Even the average home sewer has been able to make her own gown which is often the elongated version of the A-line or Empire dress. Fabrics and findings are available in all fabric centers—the ambitious bride-to-be may even take on the sewing of her bridesmaids' gowns, with an assist from Mom and the girls.

Men are sewing for themselves and doing a most professional job of it too! Recent contests have shown more and more entrants—young men under 25 have been tailoring their own jackets, robes, pants and leisure shirts. Men's patterns have come a long way. Since men's ready-to-wear is getting more and more expensive, that reason alone is incentive enough to try the do-yourself-route.

As happy as flowers in the spring are flowers on spring fabrics, and this coming season will find blooms of every description strewn in several directions—clusters on dark backgrounds, sprays on white or off-white, or in combinations with stripes or tiny dots. It's doubtful that you will be able to resist buying at least one garden-like print.

Halston, world famous designer, has joined Bill Blass, Oscar de la Renta, Willi Smith, Anne Klein and others in making his designs available through McCall's Patterns.

Following are tips offered by him for women who sew:

1. Know what styles are becoming to you before selecting patterns.
2. Know exactly what your lifestyle is, so you can plan your wardrobe needs.
3. Be sure when making clothes and fitting them that they are comfortable.

Before you finish a garment, move around in it.

4. Make sure the fabric suits the style you intend to make.
5. Plan your wardrobe in advance and coordinate a color theme. Think about what accessories can be worn with it, so you don't need all new accessories for each outfit.
6. Pay attention to details. Spend the time to finish a garment properly. Don't look for shortcuts.
7. Choose prints with care. Solids have a longer life than prints.

Yves St. Laurent Original Priced At $2030.00 . . . Vogue Pattern #2885
Cost To Make, $40.55

In addition to the saving of money, women interviewed declared the main reason for making their own clothes was to reflect their own individual personalities and fashion preferences. Just think, if you began now, you could most likely complete your entire spring-summer wardrobe before the first daffodils appear

Our thanks to Mrs. D. B., West Roxbury who sends in a super-special recipe given her by her sister in Chicago. Here it is:

MANDARIN CHICKEN BREASTS SUPREME

4 whole chicken breasts, boned (small ones)
1½ cups hot cooked rice
3 tablespoons butter, divided
¼ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
¼ teaspoon rosemary
¼ teaspoon basil
¼ cup unsifted all purpose flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon paprika
2 envelopes instant chicken broth
1¾ cups water
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 bay leaf
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 can mandarin orange sections, drained

Sprinkle inside of chicken breasts lightly with salt. In a small mixing bowl combine rice with 1 tablespoon of the butter, salt, parsley, rosemary and basil. Toss lightly to mix. Spoon rice mixture into hollows of chicken breasts over stuffing covering completely; fasten with toothpicks. Mix flour, salt and paprika together; dip chicken breasts into the mixture, coating well. In a medium skillet, brown the chicken in the remaining butter. Stir in chicken broth, water, minced onion, lemon juice and bay leaf. Heat to boiling; cover and simmer 25 minutes or until chicken is tender. Remove bay leaf. Place chicken on a heated serving platter, and keep warm. Reheat liquid to boiling. Combine cornstarch with a little water to make a paste. Stir into the liquid in the skillet. Cook, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens and boils–boil for 3 minutes. Stir in mandarin orange sections. Heat until bubbly. Spoon over chicken. Garnish with additional orange sections if desired. Serves 4

The following recipes come from Mrs. S. H., West Newton who writes that she turns an ordinary chuck roast into delightful dinners when she fancies them up in these recipes:

FRUITED POT ROAST

3 pounds beef for pot roast
2 tablespoons flour
1 tablespoon fat
3 tablespoons water
3 tablespoons vinegar
Salt and pepper
Dash EACH of ginger, nutmeg and allspice
8 dried prunes
8 dried apricots

Dredge meat with flour and brown on all sides in fat in heavy saucepan. Add water and vinegar. Sprinkle meat with salt, pepper and spices. Cover and simmer 3 to 3½ hours. Soak prunes and apricots in hot water to cover for 1 hour. About 1 hour before meat is tender, add drained fruit and simmer for 1 hour. Season to taste. Serves 4.

YANKEE POT ROAST

4 pounds beef for pot roast
1 teaspoon salt
¼ cup water
1 medium onion, sliced
½ cup diced turnip
½ cup diced carrot
½ cup cut celery, with leaves
2 tablespoons chopped parsley

Brown meat on all sides in heavy kettle, adding a small amount of fat if necessary. Sprinkle with salt. Add onion and water, cover and simmer for 4 hours. About ½ hour before meat is tender, add remaining ingredients and simmer until vegetables are done. Remove meat and thicken liquid with a paste of flour and water, if desired. Season to taste. Serves 6.

Question: I've been finding it very difficult meeting both the budget demands as well as food demands of my family of six. To be perfectly frank, even making a soup with chicken or meat in it is an expensive dish. What I'd like is a hearty soup (because my family loves soup before eating the main dish at dinner) but not an expensive one, please. Thanks.–Mrs. C. W., Dedham

Answer: We're all in agreement with you, it is difficult providing the family with filling, nourishing meals while keeping within the budget guidelines. Here's a recipe for a good Lamb Soup–a budget treat.

LAMB SOUP

2 pounds lamb neck slices
Water (about 2 quarts)
⅛ teaspoon curry powder
1½ teaspoons salt
1 bay leaf, crushed
½ teaspoon pepper
1 cup EACH: chopped celery, chopped onion
½ cup rice, uncooked
1 apple, diced
¼ cup green pepper, diced
4 tomatoes, cut in wedges

Place lamb in large stock pot or dutch oven. Add water to cover, curry powder, salt, bay leaf and pepper. Simmer for about 1½ hours or until lamb is tender. Remove lamb from liquid and cut into large pieces; discard bones. Skim fat from soup stock and return lamb to dutch oven. (Or–at this point soup may be refrigerated overnight and fat lifted off before resuming cooking.) Add celery, onion, rice, apple, green pepper and additional water if necessary. Cover, bring to a boil, reduce heat and simmer about 20 minutes or until rice is cooked. Add tomatoes and heat thoroughly. Serve. Serves 6.

PLEASE NOTE: In the January 3rd Information Please column, the gremlins interfered with the completion of the directions for preparing Lobster, Scallops, Pork and Chinese Vegetables Cantonese. Our apologies, and here are complete directions: Clean and chop lobster into 8 pieces (be sure that lobster is alive when fish clerk chops lobster or if you do it). Mince garlic and scallion. Slightly beat egg. Wash scallops, halve and set aside. Mix cornstarch solution; add sugar, monosodium and pepper. Set beside extra large pot or wok. Cooking: Using a high flame, heat pan and add oil, salt, garlic and ginger. After 30 seconds add pork and stir for 45 seconds. Next add lobster, scallops and chicken stock. Stir, then cover and allow to cook for 5 minutes or until lobster is fiery red and lobster meat will turn to a chalk white. Add drained Chinese vegetables, cornstarch solution and scallion. Just heat through. Just as you turn flame off, stir in beaten egg. Mix well and serve. Serves 4. (You may substitute shrimp for lobster in this recipe.)

Across the Kitchen Counter

On a January day, the aroma of a slowly simmering stew bolsters the spirits and warms the heart. Who can resist lifting the pot cover to observe the whispering bubbles breaking on the surface?

For those of us who are always on the lookout for economical yet hearty meals, stew is a practical dish that calls for long slow cooking to develop a rich flavor. An excellent one-dish meal, stews can be prepared in advance and allowed to mellow a day in the refrigerator–it's also a good idea to prepare double batch and freeze one-half for future use

A stew can be made of beef, lamb, pork, veal, chicken or fish and a variety of seasonings and whatever vegetables are on hand or in season (almost all stews include onions, potatoes and carrots).

Following are some economical recipes and general tips on saving money while shopping. For example, learn to do some of your own meat cutting. Whole chickens cost less than the cut-up parts, and one large piece of chuck is apt to cost less than cut-up stew meat.

If you feel that the word "stew" conjures up visions of a ho-hum sort of dish, announce to the family that you're serving a "ragout, daube, puchero, carbonade a la flamande" or "goulash"...and then serve STEW!!

Lamb Stew

COUNTRY BEEF STEW

2 pounds chuck cut into 1-inch cubes
¼ cup all purpose flour
¼ cup vegetable shortening
4 cups water
1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce
¼ cup chopped onion
½ teaspoon garlic salt
1 bay leaf
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
6 medium potatoes, pared and quartered
6 medium carrots, pared, cut in 1-inch pieces
3 medium onions, quartered
¼ cup cornstarch
¼ cup water
Biscuits (See recipe below)

Coat meat with flour. In a Dutch oven brown meat in hot shortening. Add 4 cups water, the tomato sauce, chopped onion, garlic, salt, bay leaf, salt and pepper. Bring to a boil, then reduce heat. Cover and simmer 1½ to 2 hours, or until meat is tender. Add potatoes, carrots and quartered onions; cover and simmer until vegetables are tender, about 30 minutes. Blend cornstarch and ¼ cup water; add to stew and stir until mixture boils; simmer for 5 minutes. Place stew in large shallow baking dish or pan and top with biscuits. Bake in 425 degree oven 20-25 minutes.

BISCUITS

Combine 2 cups all purpose flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder and 1 teaspoon salt in bowl. Cut in one-third cup vegetable shortening until mixture resembles coarse meal. Add ¾ cup milk and stir just enough to moisten well. Knead dough 8 to 10 times on lightly floured surface. Roll or pat out to ½-inch thickness. Cut in twelve 2-inch biscuits. Place on top of stew and bake in 425 degree oven 20-25 minutes.

BUFFET BEEF STEW

4 bacon slices, cut in 1-inch pieces
2½ pounds chuck or round cut in 1-inch cubes
Salt and pepper
2 cloves garlic minced
2 cans (8 oz.) tomato sauce with onions
1½ cups water
½ cup dry red wine
2 to 3 teaspoons grated orange peel (optional)
½ teaspoon oregano
½ teaspoon thyme
8 carrots, pared and sliced diagonally
4 medium potatoes, pared and cubed

In a 3-quart Dutch oven cook bacon until crisp; remove, drain and reserve. Sprinkle beef with salt and pepper. Brown beef with garlic in bacon drippings; stir in tomato sauce, water, wine, orange peel, oregano, thyme and ¼ teaspoon pepper. Simmer, covered, for 1 hour. Add carrots and potatoes; simmer, covered, for 30 minutes more or until vegetables are tender. Uncover and simmer 5 minutes more until slightly thickened. To serve, garnish with reserved bacon. Makes 8 to 10 servings. (Stew may be made several days ahead, frozen and reheated 1½ to 2)

VEAL STEW WITH CASHEWS

2 pounds veal shoulder, cut into 1-inch pieces
2 tablespoons oil
1½ cups water
1 can (6 oz.) tomato paste
1 tablespoon worcestershire sauce
1 clove garlic, crushed
1 teaspoon flour
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ cup salted cashews
Hot cooked rice
Minced parsley

Brown veal in oil in dutch oven; stir in water, tomato paste, worcestershire, garlic, flour, salt and pepper. Cover, simmer for 1 hour, stirring occasionally. Add cashews; continue simmering, covered for 15 minutes. Serve over hot cooked rice. Sprinkle with parsley. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Original German Documents Go To Brandeis

Nine hundred pages of original German high command documents dealing with Jews at Theresienstadt, Czechoslovakia, during World War II, have been presented to Brandeis University.

The gift was made as 1973 came to a close by Mrs. Emma Goldscheider Fuchs of Newton survivor of the Nazi Holocaust, who was incarcerated in the camp together with her first husband, Alfred Goldscheider, and the couple's two children, Hanus and Nina.

It was at atheresienstadt, 25 miles from Prague, that tens of thousands of Jews were held on their way to Dachau and Auschwitz. Mr. Goldscheider held a monor administrative post at the partially self-governing transportation camp and secreted the documents as they passed through his post.

German security was such that the Goldscheider's could not know they were progressing through a system that would see six million Jews annihilated by the end of the war. Yet, they sensed the importance of what was happening to them at Theresienstadt.

Mr. Goldscheider gave the precious documents to his wife for safekeeping and told her that one day they would be of extreme importance. Just before the end of the war, he and his 17-year-old son, Hanus, were transported out of Theresienstadt.

Emma Goldscheider never saw them again.

Freed after the war, she and her daughter, Nina, who also survived, meticulously traced Alfred and Hanus. They learned that the father had been sent to Auschwitz where he died in a gas chamber and that Hanus had succumbed in a hunger camp.

Emma returned home to Bohemia where she unsuccessfully tried to reclaim her factory and business which had by that time been appropriated by the Communists.

Family, friends, home and wealth gone, she and her daughter, dressed in borrowed clothing, migrated to the United States carrying one package — the documents from Theresienstadt.

The papers are considered by Joshua Rothenberg, librarian of the Judaica section of the Goldfarb Library at Brandeis, as rare and invaluable, unique in their chronological completeness.

Mrs. Fuchs' possession of them came to light when a member of the Brandeis National Women's Committee interviewed her to obtain a tape for the "Living History" collection at Brandeis.

Living History consists of taped recordings of first person accounts by Jews who lived through and survived the Nazi Holocaust. It has been taken on as a special project of the Brandeis National Women's Committee through its chapters across the United States. The main thrust of Women's Committee work is support of the Brandeis libraries.

The Theresienstadt papers will be part of Brandeis Holocaust collection, since they are written documents and not voice recordings of first hand experiences. However, they have been reviewed by Assistant Professor of American Studies Jacob Cohen, the Brandeis scholar who oversees the Living History project.

"They are very important. One can recount the daily life in a detention camp from 1942 to 1944. This may be the most complete set of administrative documents from Theresienstadt in existance."

The papers contain routine data like housing assignments. They also include lists of those who will leave and stay — which now can be translated as "who will live and who will die."

Survivors

Mrs. Fuchs (left) and her daughter Nina Ebb (right).

Noting that for 28 years, Mrs. Fuchs guarded the precious papers as she was instructed by her husband, Prof. Cohen said: "She is presenting them to Brandeis now because she believes young people should understand what happened."

Prof. Cohen, quite apart from the Theresienstadt documents, recalled what helped make the tragedy real to him.

"In my research, I came across German insurance company documents with clauses designating Jews as poor risks because of the inevitability of destruction of their property by the Nazis. When you think of the chilling reality of the process of exterminating six million people down to the administrative detail of writing it into an actuarial clause in an insurance policy, it really hits home."

Mrs. Fuchs had two sets of the Theresienstadt papers made, one for each of her grandchildren. The originals will be at Brandeis.

"She held onto the papers not only because they were precious to her, but because, until Brandeis, she has never found a place she wanted them to be," Prof. Cohen said.

"As much as she wanted them available to scholars, she made clear that they must be accessible to Jewish students so that they can abstract the spiritual values behind them," he said.

In accepting the documents for the university, President Marver H. Bernstein pledged that wish would be granted.

After those terrible days at Theresienstadt, Mrs. Fuchs went to New Yoek, remarried, and with her husband opened a delicatessen in that city. At night, she attended courses at the New School for Social Research, at the same time teaching herself English.

Using her new language, she wrote "Kaleidoscope," a biography which dwells mainly on carefree earlier years when she was a young girl and happy wife and mother in Bohemia. A copy of this biography, in manuscript form, will be part of the Goldfarb Library collection as well.

Widowed once more, Mrs. Fuchs came to the Boston area several years ago to be near her daughter, Mrs. Nina Ebb, who had become a teacher. Mrs. Ebb, her husband and their two children now live in Stratford, Conn.

Still showing the spirit that brought her through the Holocaust, Mrs. Fuchs has remained in the Boston area where, at the age of 72, she is a third year student of political science at Northeastern University.

Viscott To Speak At Temple Sisterhood

The Sisterhood of Temple Shalom of Newton will feature the well known author David S. Viscott, M.D., as the speaker at the meeting to be held on Wednesday evening, Jan. 30 at 8 p.m. in the social hall.

Viscott is the author of a new book "Dorchester Boy: Portrait of a Psychiatrist as a Very Young Man" and the best selling novel "The Making of a Psychiatrist" which is currently being made into a motion picture.

Dr. David Viscott

Viscott is a "Dorchester boy" and in his latest book he describes the experiences of his early years. He creates a special revelation of both childhood and the making of a mind and a man and will share some of his insights in his presentation.

Viscott is not a stranger to either Newton or Temple Shalom. He is a former resident of the Garden City and member of the congregation. He is a graduate of Dartmouth College and Tufts Medical School and has been a resident in psychiatry at University Hospital in Boston, psychiatric fellow at Boston State Hospital and chief resident at University Hospital Psychiatric Clinic. He has taught on the faculty of Boston University Medical School and has been a fellow of its Law-Medicine Institute. He has also served as senior psychiatrist and consultant for the State of Massachusetts.

Mrs. Henry Kharfen, president of the Sisterhood, will introduce the guest speaker. All members, their families and friends are invited to attend. A coffee hour will follow the meeting.

Local Students Honored

Exhibit Guides Project At Science Museum

Would you relish knowing how maps are made . . exactly what waves are . . how a lighthouse could throw its beams so far?

If you would like to broaden your own education and pass some of it on to others, join the exhibits guide project at Boston's Museum of Science.

Beginning in mid-February, the Museum will prepare volunteers to help visitors improve their understanding of exhibits. The guides will talk informally to visitors, point out aspects of an exhibit that might otherwise be missed, answer questions, and suggest related exhibits.

After an initial training course, guides will continue learning at once-a-month sessions.

A commitment of four hours a week on either Wednesday or Thursday morning or Sunday afternoon is required. Volunteers with a background in education, science, or experience in dealing with the public are invited to apply.

Such qualifications may also enable interested persons to apply for other volunteer openings, such as gift shop work or Project Eye-Opener, in which volunteers shepherd very young inner-city children around exhibit halls. The Museum also frequently has openings for volunteers with special expertise, such as technicians and linguists.

Wins Good Citizen Award

Canton High School Principal Joseph E. Joyce has announced that the winner of the 1974 D.A.R. Good Citizen Award was Miss Jane Callanan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Callanan of 18 Greenwood Rd., Canton.

Miss Callanan was elected by the members of the senior class and faculty at Canton High School as the young lady who excelled in dependability, service, leadership, and patriotism.

During her career at Canton High School Miss Callanan has taken leadership and service roles in many aspects of school life. Besides attending all school activities that she possibly could, she has been and is a member of the Student Council (four years), vice president this year, National Honor Society, CCD teacher last year, Scholar Dollar last three years, office assistant (two years), candid and writing staffs for the yearbook this year, and a member of the rally committee.

Outside of school she has been a member of the CYO for three years, campaigned for Attorney General Quinn and taught a babysitting course for the town.

Jane's teachers all have the same comments about her: "Outstanding academically and personally."

Jane plans to attend college and become an English teacher in high school.

Veterans' News

EDITOR'S NOTE: Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them through the Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries.

Additional information may be obtained at any VA office.

Q — An editor friend of mine tells me the Veterans Administration touches the lives of nearly half the U. S. population. Is that true?

A - That's a fairly accurate statement. VA benefits and services are potentially available to 47.1 percent of our nation's population, either directly to veterans and surviving dependents, or indirectly to members of veterans' families.

Q — I'm having family and job problems. As a Vietnam Era veteran, am I entitled to counseling by the Veterans Administration?

A — Yes. Some of VA's veterans assistance centers are staffed with community service specialists to help meet the veteran's total counseling needs. These specialists are on duty in Boston, New York, Chicago, St. Louis, Detroit and other principal cities, and VA plans eventually to place them in all centers.

+ + +

Nearly 3.9 million veterans insured under World Wars I and II government life insurance policies will receive a record $303.8 million in dividends during 1974, according to the Veterans Administration.

The Veterans Administration is training two new kinds of personnel—nurse practitioners and nurse clinicians—and assigning them to agency health care teams.

Q How many spinal cord injury treatment centers and prosthetic treatment centers does the Veterans Administration have?

A — As of December, 1973, the agency had 15 spinal cord injury treatment centers and 18 prosthetic treatment centers for amputees, geographically dispersed around the country.

Audubon Society Making Survey On Bird Feeding

Do you feed the birds during the winter months?

If you do, the Massachusetts Audubon Society would like you to take part in a winter bird feeding survey scheduled for this February The survey is the first part of an investigation conducted by the Society on the magnitude and importance of people's feeding of the birds. The growing number of people who put out food for birds is probably an important reason why some species spend the winter in Massachusetts rather than flying elsewhere, and are able to survive the severe climate rather well.

The Society is interested in having people fill out a simple form if they feed birds on any kind of a regular basis, regardless of whether or not they own feeders.

If you or your friends are interested in taking part in the survey, write "Feeding Survey," Mass. Audubon, Lincoln, MA 01773 or call 259-9500 and a questionnarie will be mailed to you.

Tax Breaks For Senior Citizens

While Federal income tax laws apply equally to all taxpayers regardless of age, certain provisions in the laws grant special considerations to taxpayers who are 65 years of age or older, according to William E. Williams, Internal Revenue Service District Director for Massachusetts.

Internal Revenue Service Publication 554, "Tax Benefits for Older Americans" tells you how to compute the retirement income credit, covers the exclusion of gain on the sale of residences, makes clear the gross income requirements for filing a Federal Income Tax Return, and many other special provisions.

It also contains general information designed to assist senior citizens in preparing their tax returns and includes numerous examples and step-by-step explanations to show how the law applies to taxpayers over 65, Williams said.

IRS Publications 554, "Tax Benefits for Older Americans" is available free at all Internal Revenue Services offices throughout Massachusetts.

Meat Guide Shields Are Reliable

Ever notice those shield-shaped marks or labels on many meat cuts. Do you know what they are or why they're there?

They're U. S. Department of Agriculture meat grade shields, put there by a USDA meat grader. They're your reliable guides to meat palatability — meaning its tenderness, juiciness and flavor.

They're not to be confused with the round meat inspection stamp that indicates meat wholesomeness. Meat inspection and meat grading are two completely different USDA operations performed for different purposes.

All meat is inspected for wholesomeness, but since meat grading is a voluntary service paid for by user's fees, not all meat is graded. However, about 85 per cent of all fed beef is graded.

Supermarket shoppers should be most familiar with the top three of the eight beef grades — USDA Prime, Choice, and Good. These three are the grades consumers are most likely to see in the supermarket.

Prime grade beef offers you the ultimate in tenderness, juiciness and flavor. It is the highest grade available.

Chioce — the grade most widely available — is just a lettlw less tender than Choice, because it lacks some of the juiciness and flavor found in the higher grades. These grades also apply to lamb, veal and calf in a similar manner. Pork is not graded.

Grade stamps are rolled onto a carcass by, rr under the supervision of, a USDA meat grader who is highly trained to evaluate meat. He grades only whole carcasses or wholesale cuts because certain characteristics affecting quality cannot be accurately appraised in retail cuts.

When grading a beef carcass, he rates two characteristics that have proven to influence eating quality — maturity and marbling.

Maturity (age) is significant because meat from young beef carcasses is more tender. Maturity also affects beef flavor. Maturity is appraised by looking at the boee characteristics and color of lean.

Marbling is flecks of fat within the lean that you can see in retail beef cuts. It is related to beef flavor and juiciness, and is appraised by lookigg at the amount of marbling in the exposed ribeye muscle of beef carcass.

In general, retail cuts from carcasses with lighter color of lean and greater amounts of marbling are more tender, juicy and flavorful.

Conformation — the relative thickness of muscling — reflects the ratio of lean to fat and bone, and is the third consideration in determining the final grade. Although conformation doesn't affect eating quality, it does affect the value of the carcass.

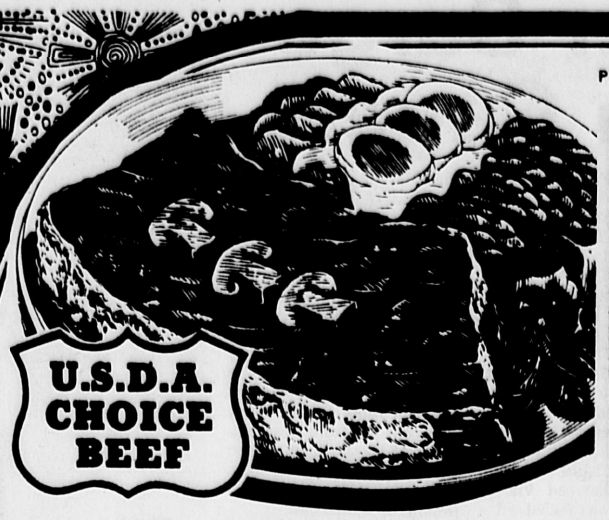

After rating these three factors, the meat grader mentally weighs them, balancing one against the other, and determines the final grade. Using an approved edible dye, the grade shields are rolled all along the carcass covering the round, back, shoulder, and brisket in a continuous rib-bonlike strip.

When the carcass is sut into indivisual retail cuts, one of these grade shields will usually remain on each cut. But, if the retailer removes it during the trimming, he will usually put a grade label sticker on the package.

A skilled meat grader in a high speed plant grades about 200 carcasses an hour. Accuracy and sound judgement are necessary since the grade applied to the carcass can make a substantial monetary difference to a packer when he sells it. That is why graders are carefully selected, trained, and tested before they are permitted to officially grade meat.

Since the meat grading service began in 1927, it has grown to include about 375 meat graders working thtoughout the nation. Graders uniformly apply meat grades — which are based on exacting standards — throughout the nation, so a USDA Choice rib roast, for instance, will be the same no matter where you buy it.

So, when you're in the market for beef, lamb, or veal, remember you can rely on a meat grader's shield. Look for it when you buy meat.

Fourth Quarter Surge Upends South Cagers

By BRUCE BOYNICK

Newton South's basketball team fell from an elite undefeated group when it lost 59 to 58 to the Bedford Buccaneers last week at the Newton South High gym.

The cagers bounced back on Friday, Jan. 18, to dispose of the previously unbeaten Concord-Carlisle Patriots, 59-44, at Concord.

The Bedford game resembled last Saturday's college contest, in which the mighty UCLA Bruins lost to the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame, 71-70. The Bruins had a 70-59 lead with just a few minutes left to play.

The Irish, with a strong full court press and some torrid shooting, scored the last 12 points of the game to win by a point.

The Lions were leading Bedford 57-44, with 3:50 remaining, and lost 59-58.

Yet until that fateful 3:50 mark, the Lions had played 28 minutes of fantastic basketball.

South jumped out to an early 5-0 lead before the Bucs called a time-out. Bedford rebounded to tie the game at five apiece, but the Lions roared back to lead 20-11 after one quarter.

Bedford out scored South in the second stanza, 19-11, to close the Lion lead to 36-30 at intermission.

In the second half, a psyched-up Newton South club looked as if they were going to tranform a fairly close contest into a romp. Stout defense and a fine fast break helped Newton South in a 21-14 stretch that built the Lions' lead to 57-44, with 3:50 left to play in the game.

But before you could say, "time to light the victory cigar," Bedford had gone ahead 58-57. The Bucs did it on some sharp shooting (six for nine) and a tenacious press.

Lion center, Rich Spector deadlocked the game at 58-58, it was Bedford center Chris Weaver who scored the winning point with a foul shot at the other end of the court with 34 seconds remaining in the game. The Lions got the ball back, but could not score, as the Bucs hung on to win 59-58.

The Lions received a fine performance from junior guard Mark Aronson. Aronson had nine baskets, and scored 20 points. Forwards Bob Harris and Steve Korn finished with 13 and 12 points, respectively. They combined for 13 rebounds while Spector pulled down 10, before fouling out of the contest.

The game's top scorer was Bedford senior sensation, Mike Elias. The 6-1 forward lived up to his all-scholastic billing with a 33-point performance. Elias had thirteen baskets, and converted seven of eight foul shot attempts. After the one fould shot Elia missed, he scored via a rebound and was fouled.

Against the previously unbeaten Concord-Carlisle Patriots, the Lions trailed at the half, 28-25, despite some good shooting (11 for 19, 57.8 per cent).

An outstanding Lion defense dominated the second half as South outscored Concord-Carlisle 34-16.

The Lions prevented the Patriots from scoring for five minutes but at the end of the third quarter three short jumpers by Concord's sophomore center, Stan Smith, kept the Patriots in striking distance at 38-34.

But four points away was as close as the Patriots could get, as the Lions outscored Concord-Carlisle 21-10 in the final period, to win 59-44.

Leading the Lions in scoring was Aronson, with 15 points. The 5-10 guard was superb again, as he provided some needed scoring when the offense lagged. Aronson scored South's first three baskets.

The scoring was quite balanced, as three other Lions were in double figures. Harris turned in another fine performance, finishing with 14 points, most of them on some key second half baskets. Korn had 10, while senior Mark Jefferson, the team's captain, tallied 11 points. Junior guard Howie Pinderhughes ably spelled Jefferson, who eventually fouled out.

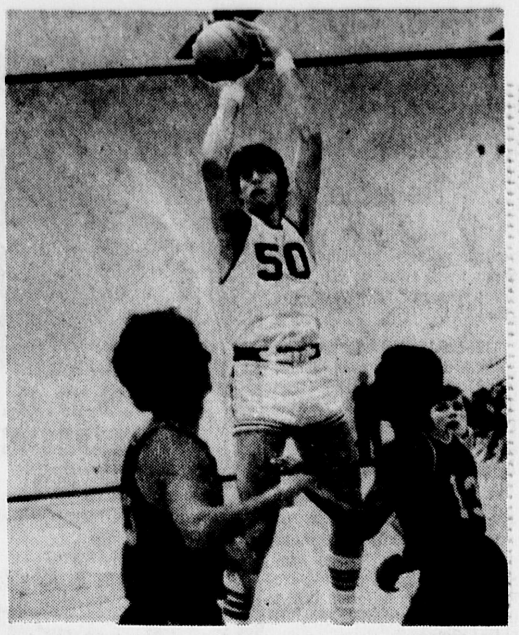

Spector, Korn, Harris and Bob Lent combined for 24 rebounds.

The Concord-Carlisle scoring was paced by senior Randy Murdock and junior Jim Brehenwischer, who each scored 12 points. Smith added 10.

The Leions had their best shooting performance of the season, hitting 25 or 51 shots (49 per cent).

The loss to Bedford, coupled with the win versus Concord-Carlisle, tightens the Dual County League race. Newton South, Bedford, and Concord-Carlisle all have one loss. Bedford, which has played one more game than South and Concord, has one more win.

The Lions, now 7-1, travel to Wayland on Jan. 25, to play the Warriors.

South Wrestlers Stay Undefeated

By HOWIE APPELSTEIN

Newton South's wrestling team won its eighth straight match, 32 to 23, over Milford last week.

The outcome of the match was not decided until South heavyweight Scott Groper pinned his opponent in the final competition.

Milford gained a quick 3-0 lead when 100-pound division wrestler decisioned South's Bob Paisner. Lion Mike Shockett pinned his foe in the 107-pound class to give South a 6-3 advantage.

South Captain Paul Linn tied his opponent in the 114-pound division. Lion Brad Anthony was pinned in the 121-pound class and Milford led 11-8.

Peter Nathanson won his eighth straight match of the year in the 128-pound division to tie the score at 11-11.

Milford went ahead again, 14-11, when South's Howie Appelstein was decisioned in the 134-pound class.

South's Art Murphy pinned his opponent in the 140-pound division to give the Lions a 17-14 lead.

Milford regained the lead when Lion Greg Moan was pinned in the 147-pound class. After Aaron Moynihan gained a decision in the 157-pound division, the score was tied 20-20.

South's Haskell Kingston lost his first match of the season in the 167-pound class. Lion Peter Maples retied the score when he won a decision in the 177-pound division.

Walt Fatini gave South a three-point lead when he won on a decision in the 187-pound class.

Groper insured a South victory when he pinned his Milford opponent in the third period of his match.

South Coach Aredis Kojoyian noted, "The team should be very proud of an 8-0 record."

The Leions have several undefeated wrestlers. Nathanson, a junior, is 8-0, Shockett is 6-0, and Maples is 7-0-1.

South meets Wayland on Friday, Jan. 25. Wayland has defeated the Lions five years in a row.

North Basketball Team Loses At Final Buzzer

By JACK GREEN

Arlington's Bill Coleman scored at the final buzzer to give the Spy Ponders a dramatic 65 to 63 win over Newton North in a Suburban League game last week.

Jack Ryan helped the Tigers to a 24-12 lead by the end of the first quarter.

Newton surged to a 34-18 advantage in the second period, but Arlington reduced the lead to 45-33 by halftime.

Arlington made a shot at the buzzer at the end of the third quarter to cut Newton's lead to 11 points.

The Spy Ponders reduced their deficit to seven points at the beginning of the final period. Newton played well but did not score.

Steve Forte made a basket to up Newton's lead to 61-53. Mark Wasserman then sunk two free foul shots to give the Tigers a 10 point advantage.

The Tigers had a 63-57 lead with less than two minutes remaining in the game. Arlington's Will O'Brien, who until this point had not taken a shot, then made two baskets, to make the score 63-61 with 19 seconds left.

Newton's Steve Forte was then fouled. Forte missed a foul shot and Arlington gained possession of the ball.

Bob Pellegrino made a lay-up with three seconds left to tie the score at 63-63. Newton called a time-out and the clock was adjusted so that it read that two seconds remained.

Peter Laskaris' pass-in attempt hit the roof, and Arlington recovered the ball.

Coleman, who scored 12 points overall, made a shot at the buzzer to complete Arlington's comeback.

Laskaris led Newton's scorers with 21 points. Ryan and Wasserman each tossed in 14 points.

Pellegrino scored 19 points for Arlington.

The Spy Ponders also defeated the Tigers in Newton's opening game. Newton's record is 7-4 overall and 5-4 in league.

On Tuesday, Jan. 15, three days before playing Arlington, Newton defeated Weymouth North, 70-51. Laskaris and Keith Glasser each scored 20 points.

Newton North Hockey Team Wins And Loses

By KEITH GLASSER

After a week's layoff, Newton North's hockey team split a pair of games. Newton defeated cross town rival Waltham, 5-3, Wednesday night, and dropped a 2-0 verdict to Brookline Saturday at the Boston Arena.

Brookline beat Newton for the second time this year. In the earlier meeting it was 3-1.

The Tigers were flat in the first period and Brookline scored with two late first period goals. Mark Hetnik set up Kevin McNeil at 10:01 and Kevin Bauer at 10:37 for the game's only scores.

The Tigers were improved in the second and third periods but could not score. Twice in the third period Newton shots hit goal posts.

"We didn't take enough shots because we weren't able to penetrate their defense," Coach Don Crowley said. "We have to shoot to win."

Newton and Waltham played a hard-fought game. Newton had six penalties while Waltham received seven.

Waltham's Ken Johnston opened the scoring at 4:45. He was assisted by linemates Bob Kelley and Frank Cormier. Gus Quaranto tied the score with only 14 seconds remaining in the first period. He was assisted by Dave Chapman.

Cal Moffie put Newton up 2-1 at 0:30 of the second period. Chapman got his second assist.

At 4:00 Johnston got his second goal, assisted by Bob Kelley. Five minutes later the Hawks took the lead, 3-2, when Kelley stole a clearing pass and shot a 20-footer past Newton goalie Peter Berquist.

The Tigers came back to score three unanswered goals in the first six minutes of the third period.

Quaranto tied the game at 2:33 on assists from Moffie and Chapman. At 3:33, sophomore Rick Cavanaugh got the winning goal on a power play. Steve Donovan won a face off, passed to Cavanaugh, and Cavanaugh fired a low, hard shot by screened Waltham goalie Ken Doucette.

John Carey made a nifty pass from behind the net to set up a Steve Donovan 20-foot shot which completed the scoring. Crowley summed up the game, "It was a terrific win."

Newton is now 2-5-1.

The Tigers next game is Saturday, Jan. 26 at 12:30 p.m. at the Boston Arena against Brockton.

South Skaters Play Well, Lose

By MARK COOPER

Despite a good, solid effort, Newton South's hockey team bowed to Concord-Carlisle 4-2 last week at Natick.

The setback, South's fourth in a row, made the Lions' record read 1-5-1 at the halfway point of the season.

Concord-Carlisle opened the scoring at 1:03 of the first period when John Zorzy drew Leion netminder Dave Satter out of the goal and fired the puck into an open net.

Only seconds later, at 1:25, Concord struck again. John Tortella took a pass from Paul Moreau and drove the puck past Satter.

Battling back, Newton South got on the scoresheet at 3:18. Mark Cooper gave Kenny Bianco a pass at the Concord blueline, and Biance flipped the puck across the zone to send Steve Tresca in alone on the Concord goalie. Tresca scored into the upper right hand corner of the net, registering his fifth goal of the season.

This goal gave South momentum and hhe Lions carried the play in the Concord end for the remainder of the period.

South continued its fine play in the second period, but at 6:49, with two men in the penalty box, the powerplay of Concord proved too much for the Lions to stop. Brett Smith scored the first of his two goals to give Concord a 3-1 lead. The remainder of the second period was scoreless.

The Leions opened the final period pressing in the Concord end, and at 4:40 Steve Tresca apparently had scored the Lion's second goal of the night.

The referee on the spot ruled the puck had never crossed the goaline and the goal was nullified. South Coach Neil MCPhee later called this the turning point of the game.

Only two minutes had passed before Concord scored again to gain a 4-1 lead.

Newton South did not stop trying. At 11:01, Joe Donlong, cutting by the Concord defense, fed Steve Tresca, who in turn gave the puck to Brian Cain. Cain scored into the Concord net for the final goal of the game.

Newton South outshot Concord 19-16, and hit the goalpost three times in the game. McPhee remarked after the game that his players should be proud of the effort they gave.

Enrichment Program Presents Talks On Changing Sex Roles

The Enrichment Program at Newton South High School is presenting week-long program from Jan. 21 through Jan. 25th entitled "The Changing Roles of Men and Women."

The overall goal of the activities arranged has been to acquaint students and faculty and participants with some of the questions being asked today about the roles of women and men.

The program featured Dr. Nan Forbes, endocrinologist at Mass. General Hospital, Prof. Betsy Useem from Boston State College, Dr. Waldo Fielding, and Judy Norsigan and Norma Swenson, authors of "Our Bodies, Ourselves."

On Wednesday, Joseph Cronin, Secretary of Education, spoke on "Education for Men and Women," followed by a talk by Ms. Rita Formica, senior editor of Ginn & Co.

Ms. Fran Henry, executive director, Governor's Commission on the Status of Women, discusses "Men and Women and the Law," including thoughts about social security, taxes, property and custody laws, at 11 a.m. on Thursday, Jan. 24 in the lecture hall.

Also on Thursday, at 12 noon, Diane McKnight, a student of the Dept. of Mech. Engineering at M.I.T. will show slides and discuss "Sexist, Advertising in Engineering Journals."

The last day of the program, Friday, Jan. 25, features films and discussions, and a lecture, "Changes in Men's Lives" by Bill Redpath of the Arlington School and Robert Fein of M.I.T. at 8:54 a.m. in the lecture hall.

Prof. Michael Woodnick of Northeastern Univ., will speak about music and song in communication of men's feelings in the music room at 10:57 a.m. There is a free discussion group beginning at 12:45 p.m. for all students, faculty and the general audience.

As with all of the programs presented at Newton South High School under the auspices of the Enrichment Program, members of the community may attend any or all of the lectures without charge.

Union Church Annual Meeting On Jan. 25

The annual meeting of the Union Church in Waban will be held on Friday, Jan. 25 in the vestry.

Dinner is planned for their committee are in charge.

The business meeting of the church will commence at 7:45 p.m.; the church moderator Donald F. Manchee will preside. At that time, reports will be received from various organizations and the 1974 budget will be reviewed and adopted. Also, new officers will be elected.

A film, "Rainshower," will be shown following the meeting, which has been arranged by Mrs. Damon Carter.

On Jan. 28 the next men's club meeting will be held. A social hour beginning at 6 p.m. followed by dinner at 6:30 p.m. is planned.

Calvin Hill, president of the men's club, will preside. Mrs. John Pokorny is dinner chairman. The speaker will be John S. Pringle, director of packaging for United Brands Co. He will discuss: "Central America: Are they really banana republics?"

Zenith Announces Solid State Television

Robert E. Bumpas, Needham resident and merchandising manager of Northeastern Distributors, Inc., Cambridge, wholesale distributor has announced to Zenith dealers a major advance in Zenith color television.

The breakthrough, called "Power Sentry," is a new system of magnetic voltage regulation. It is standard in the chassis of Zenith's all solid-state sets in its 1974 color television line and cuts down on the amount of electricity needed to operate sets, contributes to energy conservation and at the same time helps the pocketbooks of television viewers.

Noting additional advantages that mark the use of the first magnetic voltage regulating system built into color TV sets, Bumpas said that "the Power Sentry enables these sets to maintain a bright picture even when pictures on many other TV sets shrink, distort, roll or lose their color and brightness because of low household voltage. It also provides longer life for the picture tube and other components by providing isolation from high voltage transients or surges."

Zenity 1974 solid-state Power Sentry color TV may now be seen at local Zenith dealers stores.

ROBERT E. BUMPAS

Sixty-eight percent of the smoke from cigarettes goes into the environment rather than into the smoker, and this "side stream" smoke contains more toxic elements than the smoke inhaled by the smoker. Four cigarettes in a large room give off a quantity of carbon monoxide that creates air pollution, the Massachusetts Audubon Society reports.

A freight train gets from two to five times as many cargo ton-miles per gallon of fuel as does a truck. Air freight is 6 times less efficient than trucking, the Massachusetts Audubon Society points out.

There's more to a menthol than just menthol.

There are two parts to every menthol cigarette. The menthol part. And the cigarette part.

And, since almost every brand (including Kent) uses natural menthol, often the difference in taste can be traced to the cigarette part.

That's why the same milder, lower-leaf tobaccos and famous Micronite filter that go into regular Kent, go into Kent Menthol.

And why Kent Menthol, like regular Kent, goes through over 200 quality checks in the manufacturing end, alone.

There's no better way to give you the crisp, clean taste that makes Kent Menthol what it is:

America's quality menthol cigarette.

Kent Menthol 100's.
America's quality menthol cigarette.

The only menthol with the famous Micronite filter.

Educational Vouchers Are A Fantasy

By DR. William H. Hebert
Executive Secretary
Massachusetts Teachers Association

Deep dissatisfactions with the public schools have led to a wide range of schemes and proposals, many of them designed not merely to reform the public school system but to replace it.

Yet in spite of the critics and the problems, and there are many, we have made great strides. We are reaching toward equality of opportunity and desegregated schools. College is no longer for the privileged few. The results of IQ tests of Army recruits of today indicate remarkable gains have been made since World War I and the American Institute for Research claims that in reading ability alone, 11th graders of 1970 resemble 12th graders of 1960.

A listing of the ideas, recommendations, and programs to fix whatever ails education is endless. One of the most widely discussed proposals is the educational voucher. A voucher is a document issued by the Federal government worth a sum of money which can be exchanged for a year's education. Parents will then be free to select a school tailored to the needs of the individual child rather than a school shaped by community standards. There are many variations but essentially vouchers can be broken down into two major categories—regulated and unregulated.

The unregulated voucher calls for schools to be financed by giving parents vouchers redeemable at any school meeting a few minimum standards. This could easily result in economic and recial segregation even worse than we have now; would be an open invitation to hucksterism; and could lead to the public schools becoming dumping grounds for the less gifted or undesirable child.

Presumably the regulated voucher guards against the inherent dangers of the unregulated type. Parents could not add to the sum of the voucher in order to send their children to more expensive schools, nor could schools practice segregation of any king. Poor children would ge given larger vouchers and thus could select schools outside their neighborhoods when schooling might cost more. Supporters claim vouchers will stimulate competition among schools, thus forcing them to improve the quality of their product or go out of business.

Under the regulated voucher system, a large governing body would have to be established to make sure schools comply, and the complicated regulations required could become an administrative nightmare in an attempt to compel schools to do what they are supposed to be doing.

It would be impossible to control the schools that carefully. As a result the regulated voucher could effect essentially the same product as the unregulated voucher; could be s serious setback for the education of the disadvantaged; and could lead to further racial and economic segregation.

There are alternatives to vouchers which would strengthen our schools. We could, for example, enforce the laws of desegregation. We can extend bussing. We can offer parents choice through establishing schools with a wide variety of programs. We can increase open entollment. We might try permitting teachers the freedom to teach and grant them the kind of respect and salary scales other professionals command. And we can do all these things without creating a whole new educational bureaucracy.

Vouchers will never change a poor home environment, a child's emotional problems, or the classroom experience.

The Pennsylvania Power and Light Company is building an energy-saving house in the Lehigh Valley. It has a fence-like solar heat collector to provide auxiliary heating capability, a heat reclamation system to recover heat from appliances (refrigerator, clothes dryer, etc.) and a "heat pipe" to recapture heat from waste hot water. A see-through fireplace is tied into the supplementary heating unit, the Massachusetts Audubon Society says.

California and New York received $1.3 billion and $967.7 million, respectively, largest shares of Veterans Administration expenditures on veterans and dependents during fiscal year 1973.

+ + +

Under a recent change of regulations, an undetermined number of persons eligible for Veterans Administration educational assistance now may pursue external study programs along with regular college curricula leading to standard college degrees.

Cooler Temperatures Sustain Good Health

While nerves will be frayed from waiting in line at the gas station, one plus to come out of the energy crisis is a healthier environment.

"Lowering the thermostate to a temperature of 65 to 68 degrees is probably a healthier atmosphere in which to live than the 70 to 72 degrees we're used to," contends Dr. Harry R. Mushlin, vice president for corporate medical affairs at John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co.

"It will take some time to adjust to this change," he said, "but with proper wearing appearel there should be no undue discomfort from a strictly health point of view."

The eenergy crisis that we are now experiencing involves our living in an environment which is from five to seven degrees cooler than that to which we have been accustomed.

"I do not forsee that this change will increase any danger towards increased numbers of upper respiratory diseases or influenza," Dr. Mushlin said.

"These illnesses are airborne and if an epidenic of flu were to strike us this year, as predicted, the lower environmental temperature would have no real significance as to whether or not our exposure would be increased or lessened."

"Europeans have for many years worked in a temperature of 65 degrees and they consider this as normal working conditions," he continued.

"Our Canadian neighbors in many areas do likewise. It may be necessary for us to wear heavier garments on certain days when temperatures are abnormally low but other than that the energy kcrisis may in effect help us. With the gasoline shortage, we may not be indulging in as many off-time social activities where we might be exposed to individuals who are ill and transmitting other illnesses," he said.

While the use of vitamins for preventing colds has been widely stressed, Dr. Mushlin doesn't believe that there is satisfactory response from taking large doses of vitamin C or other vitamins to have any protective effect in preventing colds or influenza.

"There have been small studies which would indicate that large doses of vitamin C are helpful, but," Dr. Mushlin stated, "the amount required and whether or not symptoms of toxicity are present have not been established."

"The few studies which have been done with effective controls," he added, "seem to indicate that large doses of vitamin C may shorten the illness but not prevent it. These studies also show that there appears to be differences in age ranges. Vitamin C is apparently more effective in younger age groups below 15 years."

Dr. Mushlin indicated that there also has been noted an unexplained sex difference with the ffemale sex being afforded the greater protection than the male. "At the present time," he said, "The studies are not conclusive enough to advise vitamin C in large doses to prevent colds."

A new type of vehicle is also part of Levitan's thinking, one which would "allow the elderly and handicapped easier access."

Mollomo told Levitan he know the kind of vehicle he was proposing. "It would cost $8,000," Mollomo said, "and we couldn't service it."

"If we could develop a prototype program," Levitan parried, "I'd ask for federal funding." It is available, Levitan said later.

Freshman Alderman Terry Morris was allowed to present his proposal for a jitney service to be operated by the city's taxi fleets, after some disagreement between Task Force Chairman Michael LeConti and Levitan earlier as to whether the proposal, which is also before the Board of Aldermen, should properly be discussed by the Task Force.

Morris explained his 10-route system that, using taxis, would crisscross the city north of Route 9.

The terminal points of Morris' system would be either a Green Line trolley station or the stops for express bus service into Boston.

Because Morris' proposed service would traverse fixed routes during the rush-hour periods of 7:30-9:30 a.m. and 4-7 p.m., he feels there would be enough reverse traffic to eliminate "dead trips," almost empty trips going against the heavy traffic flow.

The clientele of the cab companies is different enough from that of the potential for a jitney service Morris believes, to make a trial of the jitney service worthwhile, and said he will suggest to the Planning Department that it draw up a citywide questionnaire on transportation needs and commuting habits.

The meeting of the Transportation Task Force had opened with further discussion of the mayor's failure to respond specifically to the Task Force's predecessor, the Transportation Advisory Committee.

At the TAC's last meeting, disappointment was expressed that the mayor did not comment on many of the recommendations proffered by the TAC on improving the transportation picture in Newton, particularly in reference to MBTA service, routes, and scheduling.

Levitan, who had gone over the report with the group in December, said, "The mayor's position is that he has responded to the TAC. His response was verbal (through Levitan), not written."

TAC Chairman Mike LeConti, arguing goodnaturedly with Levitan, said that some of the committee's recommendations that could have been implemented at little cost were not passed on to the MBTA.

Levitan confirmed this statement, saying later that ll those that could be implemented easily had been transmitted, and all recommendations will be passed on to the MBTA within two months, when the MBTA has promised to establish a liaison position for the Green Line and municipalities.

"This committee put in more time and effort than we got out of the mayor's office," LeConti observed. "It would be nice for him to come back and go through the list."

Schools (Continued from Page 1)

The budget proposal stated that the average number of classes taught by full-time teachers at Newton North High School is 4.29. At Newton South High School the average is 4.03.

School Committeeman Alvin Mandell said that these figures might be increased to an average of five classes.

Superintendent of Schools Aaron Fink commented that "when everyone taught five classes, there was not much time for individual services."

School personnel in the audience stressed the importance of having time to deal with students individually.

There was discussion of the class sizes at the high schools. According to the budget proposal, there are 13 English classes at the two high schools with less than 10 students. There are also small classes in other departments.

Reasons offered for the small classes included a small demand for some subjects, the need for individualized teaching, and scheduling mistakes.

Fink raised the possibility of combining small classes which meet at both high schools.

proved by the Finance Committee and referred to the Legilsation and Rules Committee for work.

There appeared to be no opposition to the $2,100 salary increase, although several members felt that the raise should either become effective with the new fiscal year or should be frozen by two-year periods to coincide with the terms of the Board.

Board of Aldermen President Cohen had the highest praise for Board Clerk Edward English. "To wait until July is unfair," Cohen said, "not only to the Clerk but also to ourselves."

"The Clerk is here at least four nights a week, and by his efforts has saved the city thousands of dollars," Cohen went on.

Ald. Sidney Small pointed out that city business has grown much more complicated even since English took office two year ago. "He has served the Board well, and as such the needs of the city."

Miss Ross Trains At Rehabilitation Center

Miss Janet E. Ross of Commonwealth avenue, Newton, a recent honor graduate of high school and now within a few months of becoming a registered nurse, is currently participating in a six-week training course in rehabilitative nursing at the New England Rehabilitation Center, Woburn.

Miss Ross will have the opportunity to deal with all types of rehabilitation. She will work with patients on their way back to health and strength from such afflictions as strokes.

She is one of a group of nine honor students from Boston College School of Nursing, all of whom were among the top five in their high school graduating class and who are completing their four-year nursing training as one unit.

Miss Ross is a member of Sigma Theta Tau, a national honor society in nursing; was vice-president of the National Honor Society at her school during her senior year; a member of the student council; vice-president of the math club and secretary of the library council.

Newton Y Picks Camping Director

The son of a former YMCA executive from Binghamton, N.Y., R. John "Jack" Haston, has been named the youth and camping director of the Newton YMCA.

Bringing with him 10 years of YMCA professional experience, Haston received both his bachelor of science and masters degrees from Springfield College. After doing his graduate work in community services, he became the boys director of the Cortland, N.Y., YMCA in 1964. Five years later, he moved on to the youth and camping directorship at the Montclair, N.J., YMCA, a position he held until coming to Newton.

Jack Haston

Haston, whose experience is extensive in teenage, extension, and camping work, will direct Camp Frank A. Day, the Y's residence camp in E. Brookfield, Mass.

"I intend to stress a sense of camping excellence," he said, "dedicated to the development of the whole boy."

Q. I was born in Fall River, Mass., on August 25, 1908, at 5:00 a.m. I know my Sign is Virgo but what about the position of the Moon which I also understand influences characteristics? – G.J.M.

A. The Moon in a horoscope indicates a persons instincts, emotions. memory, unconscious mind and how impressions are received.

Your horoscope indicates you have a keen sense of what you consider right and wrong and are inclined to live up to your code of ethics. As a child you had, and all though your life. you will have a youthful appearance.

You are discriminating and are apt to withdraw from those when you do not approve of their conduct. You are a stickler for details and are apt to take what you hear literally.

In the home as well as in the outer world you work in an orderly, systematic manner and are quite proficient especially when permitted to work in your own way.

You are at times inclined to speak impulsively and when irritated may resort to sharp retorts which is no way to win friends or influence others. You have keen perceptions and are capable of making instantaneous decisions.

Your mind is always active and sufficient rest and relaxation is advisable to avoid nervous strain.

Others not blessed with your concern for details may consider you "nit picking" or too fussy. You are apt to be happiest when you are rencering some worthwhile, useful service.

Bicentennial Committee Extends Fund Deadline

The application deadline for the Bicentennial Commission's current $50,000 matching grant program has been extended from January 28 to March 1, 1974

The reason for the extension of the deadline is to allow cities and towns ample opportunity to complete their proposals.

This is the second series of matching grants sponsored by the Bicentennial Commission. Twelve communities shared in a $40,000 grant program last fall.

Any of the Commonwealth's 351 cities and towns are eligible to submit proposals for the Commission's current matching grant program. The main criterion for consideration for a grant is that the community project shall have special historic interest and be of lasting value or significance.

Local governments and tax exempt organizations are eligible for grants, providing they submit a statement of probability of matching funds and have the project approved by the chief elected official of the community.

A single project may not receive more than $7000 under the current grant program.

It is expected that this will be the first in a series of matching grant programs administered by the Bicentennial Commission this year

If the world population were spread evenly over all land areas there would be 73 people per square mile. By 2350 A.D. at the present rate of population increase, there would be one hundred thousand people per square mile, the Massachusetts Audubon Society says.

Boy Gymnasts Lose Two Meets

By BOB LOW

After beginning its season with a victory over Winchester, Newton North's boys' gymnastics team lost its next two meets to Wellesley and Lexington.

On Tuesday, Jan. 15, the gymnasts traveled to Wellesley and suffered a 76.95-68.05 defeat.

Wellesley's standout performer Jim Schroeder accounted for 32 points and took five out of six firsts, with only a third on the rings preventing a perfect day for him.

Wellesley took a 13.2-10.8 lead after the floor exercises. Finishing behind Schroeder were a teammate and Newton's Tony Webber. Newton kept pace in the pommel horse as Webber and Robert Hodgdon placed second and third behind Schroeder.

Hodgdon took second on the high bar but Wellesley added to its lead when Schroeder and Schmidt took the other top spots.

Wellesley then outscored Newton by four-and-one-half points on the parallel bars. Hodgdon got Newton's best score in that event, tying for second place.

Schroeder and a teammate were the top two vaulters ahead of Hodgdon and Kevin Gudjeko. A Weloesley teammate broke Schroeder's win skein by taking a first on the rings. Mitch Baker took second and Schroeder finished third.

Three days later, Lexington came to Newton and gained an 84.80-79.05 win. Lexington's depth made the difference as individual first place honors were evenly divided.

Tim Simcox's 6.0 led Lexington to a 16.10-13.15 lead after the floor exercises. Webber's 5.5 earned second place. The Tigers got closer in the pommel horse as Hodgdon and Webber finished one-two with scores of 4.2 and 4.0.

Lexington's Scott Eames outscored Hodgdon and Baker on the high bar before Hodgdon earned a 4.15 on the parallel bars. Although Hodgdon's score was the highest in the event, Lexington got the next four top scores to offest his mark.

Hodgdon registered another first in vaulting but Steve Quinn scored an excellent 5.85 on the rings to assure Lexington of a triumph.

The Tigers are hoping to rebound on Friday, Jan. 25, at Wayland before they take on Brockton at home on Tuesday, Jan. 29, at 3:30 p.m.

Newton North Swimmers Lose

By RICK GORDON

A power-packed Lexington swim team defeated Newton North last week, running to five the current Tiger losing string.

Newton gained only one first place finish at Lexington closing the meet on the low end of a 55-25 score. This contest followed a 108-63 loss to Concord-Carlisle two days previous.

In the Concord-Carlisle meet Jay Jasset, Kurt Pohlman, John Wish and Dale Syphers won the medley relay to give Newton a short-lived lead. Nick Antoniades, Alex Schipira, John Lory and Ed Devine finished third.

From there it went almost straight downhill. The Tigers could not manage better than a third until Dave Fishkind won the diving event. John Wish followed that with a second in the butterfly.

In the 100-yard freestyle, Scott Pohlman finished third. Jay Jassett and Kurt Pohlman earned second place spots in the backstroke and breaststroke, respectively.

The relay team of Dale Syphers, John Volante, Scott Pohlman, and Scott Eston finished second. Newton coach Benn Merritt admitted, "I was a little disappointed." Merritt noted, ". . . some real good things came out." Ed Devine, Bob Pershfield and John Wish were three swimmers cited by their coach as, "showing what we're looking for." All three broke their previous fastest times of the season.

Through the first ten events against Lexington it appeared that Newton would fail to even gain one first. Syphers, Devine, Volante and Eston captured the 400-yard freestyle relay to blemish Lexington's first place streak.

Merritt said he was satisfied with the times and wasn't tremendously surprised with the outcome. "This first year we just have to build endurance," Merritt commented.

Merritt hopes to be able to spend more time working on turns, starts and relay takeoffs.

Girl Gymnasts Open With Win

By BOB LOW

Newton North's girls' gymnastics team started on a trail which it hopes will lead to a third consecutive state championship when it defeated Quincy in its third match of the season.

Margie Magraw, the reigning state individual champion, led the way for the Tigers by earning the top score in all four events, starting with an 8.1 in the floor exercises. Margie finished ahead of Julie Myers, who had a 7.7, and Kathy Magraw, who scored 7.65.

In the vaulting, Margie's score was an 8.8. Amy Semmel and Gail Whoriskey had the next highest marks for Newton.

On the beam, the two Magraw sisters and Julir Myers duplicated their finish in the floor exercises. Margie had an 8.4, Julie a 7.4, and Kathy a 7.0.

Margie continued her impressive exhibition with a score of 7.7 on the uneven parallel bars, almost two-and-one-half points more than teammate Gail Whoriskey who was second with a 5.3. Ann Hurwitz' 5.0 rounded out the scoring for the Tigers and made the final Newton 84.7, Quincy 60.1.

The 84.7 points established a new school record for points by the girls' gymnastics team. The gymnasts were elated over the results but were also wary of the fact that Braintree, which last year came within a half point of taking the state crown from Newton, had scored 85 and 87 points in its first two meets.

The gymnasts' next meet will be at home on Jan. 29 at 3:15 p.m. against Brockton.

Tiger Marksmen Win And Lose

By KEITH GLASSER

The Newton North High School riflery team outshot Bedford 845-805, but was outshot by Malden, 860-844, in matches last week.

Newton's top five shooters against Bedford were Tony Rufo, 182; Sal Yeradi, 173; Dave Palmieri, 166; Wayne Huminik, 165; and Matt Berry, 159.

The Bedford match included Susan Kell, the first girl to ever fire for Newton. She shot a 148, which was not high enough to place.

Tony Rufo's 182 was the top score this year for the Tigers. The win kept Newton undefeated at 2-0.

The Tigers ran into some stiffer competition from Malden and were defeated at the West Newton Armory on Thursday, Jan. 17.

The Newton placers were Sal Yeradi, 173; Tony Rufo, 172; Tony Tambascia, 171; Matt Berry, 165; and Dave Palmieri, 163.

Newton coach John Meyer praised the sharpshooting of Tony Tambascia since it was only his second match and he was a last minute replacement.

After the match Meyer commented that Newton is lucky to have a 2-1 record since it has had low scores. "We're at a plateau, 847, 845, 844,," he added. "I think we're a little nervous, but on the verge of a breakthrough."

After three matches Tony Rufo is averaging 174 and Sal Yeradi is close behind at 173.

Junior High Cagers Play

The Newton junior high schools' basketball season began during the week of Jan. 7.

This year, for the first time, Newton has entered its five junior high schools in a league with Waltham, Arlington, and Weston. Records will be kept, and a championship game may be played.

The varsity teams are currently engaged in a thirteen game schedule. Supplying some of the competition are teams from Weston, Saint Sebastians, Bedford, Shady Hill, Brookline, as well as both the sophomore teams from Newton North and Newton South.

In varsity action, Bigelow Junior High gained two wins. On Thursday, Jan. 10 Bigelow defeated Meadowbrook. Top scorers for Bigelow were Mark Rosenburg with 16 points and Mark Jackson with 10.

Bigelow has also defeated St. Sebastian's. The scoring was well distributed. Some of the top scorers were Bob Martin 12, Kevin Henchy 10, and Mark Jackson 8.

Lowell Defeats North Wrestlers

By BOB LOW

Newton North's wrestling team suffered its worst loss in years last week when Lowell won all but one match, nine of them on pins, to defeat the Tigers, 64 to 6.

Lowell won the first five matches on pins. George Kacavas defeated Paul Siegenthaler at 1:37; Dave Hopler pinned Mike Annesi at 1:23; Mike Dillon struggled to beat Mark Siegenthaler at 4:55; Barry Dillon had an equally hard time with George Hebard but won at 3:58, and Acklaind pinned Steve Rosen at 3:37.

Steve Parker was defeated 13-0 and Cliff Brown lost 10-5 before Bill Furey registered another pin for Lowell, beating Bob Keefe. Bruce McNutley was shut out 4-0 and Craig Hill was pinned. Bill Rawnsky won at 177 on a Newton forfeit.

The only victory for the Tigers came at 187 where Mark Riley pinned Mike Cowgill to avert a shutout. Riley started fast, piling up a 4-0 lead but fell behind in the second round. He responded by taking Cowgill down and pinning him at 3:5_8 1_8.

Barry Lewis pinned Tom Barrett at 1:32 to make the final score 64-6.

The junior varsity had a more successful week as it defeated Catholic Memorial, 68-10, and lost 25-21 to Lowell on a pin in the final match.

Newton North's next match is Saturday night, Jan. 26, at home, against Brookline.

Celts At Home For 3

BOSTON (UPI) — Tommy Heinsohn hopes his Boston Celtics, who have played poorly recently, can win three games at home in the next five days and "lock the door" leading to the National Basketball Association's Atlantic Division title.

Heinsohn, whose Celts were pasted by Golden State Sunday and who have struggled to a 4-4 mark since the year began, held a team meeting earlier this week to "clear the air."

"Every year we seem to have a little letdown near the middle of the season," said Heinsohn. "We were inconsistent and spotty over the last couple of games and against Golden State we ran into a buzz saw.

"I hope we're over it now," said Heinsohn. "Perhaps we can lock the door on New York (currently $7\frac{1}{2}$ games out in second place) during this home stand."

The first home game of the week comes tonight against Bill Russell's improving Seattle Supersonics. The Sonics, led by Spencer Haywood's 23.7 scoring average, have climbed from last to third in the Pacific Division.

The Celtics meet the Philadelphia 76ers Friday night and host the Kansas City Omaha Kings Sunday night.

Chamber Of Commerce Creates Resource Center

The establishment of a materials and informational resource center relating to the energy crisis was announced recently by John L. Vaccaro, CPA, vice president of public affairs for the Newton-Needham Chamber of Commerce.

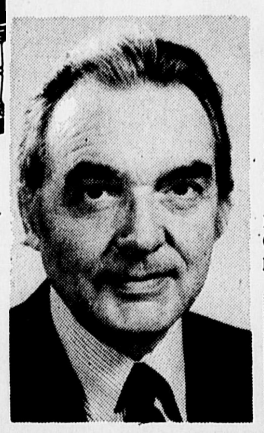

At the same time, Vaccaro announced increased cooperation among business firms in reducing fuel and power requirements. The returns from the first 20 per cent of business firms polled a few weeks ago, in conjunction with a letter from Newton Mayor Theodore D. Mann asking for total business cooperation in meeting the problem, have shown a great number of ways which the local business firms have devised to cut fuel and power uses.

These include reduction of temperatures in offices, warehouses, buildings & factories, not only to 68 degrees generally, but in some cases back to around 65 degrees; reduction of both inside and outside lighting, reduced working hours (particularly banks and retail stores), the encouragement of car pools, changing some night shift operations into daytime operations, using smaller autos, reduced the number of exhaust fans, tightened up drafty areas by weatherstripping and lowered hot water temperatures.

Colleges and private schools which are Chamber members reported changes in making longer vacation periods, while some businesses related to the auto industry have closed Sundays and others have reduced evening hours.

The Energy Crisis Resource Center includes materials received from the U.S. Government, the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, Associated Industries of Massachusetts, other local Chambers of Commerce, national trade associations and other significant material. The materials may be used at the Chamber's offices, 437 Cherry St., West Newton.

"We are hopeful," Vaccaro stated, "that by making as much material available to both business and the total community as they may need, we may assist in providing ways for continued conservation activities which will help alleviate the problems of use associated with the energy crisis."

ROBERT C. CASSELMAN of Newton has been elected vice president, marketing, for Itek Corp. He will be responsible for the corporation's domestic and international marketing strategies. He is a director and trustee of several public and private organizations including Newton Savings Bank, Newton-Wellesley Hospital, Citizen's for Economy in Government and the Newton Community Development Foundation (NCDF).

Mid-Year Forum Convenes Friday

Mitchell T. Rabkin, M.D., general director of Boston's Beth Israel Hospital, will present the Richard T. Viguers Memorial Lecture at the Massachusetts Hospital Association's seventh mid-year forum Friday, Jan. 25 at the Marriott Hotel in Newton.

Rabkin's speech, "The Personal Dimension of Patient Care," details some of the programs put into effect at Beth Israel Hospital to decrease the depersonalization of the contemporary hospital brought about by the rise in technology and in specialization. More general considerations of the problem lead to approaches which can be of use to any health care organization. The talk will be a highlight of the Association's day-long educational program.

Mirchell Rabkin

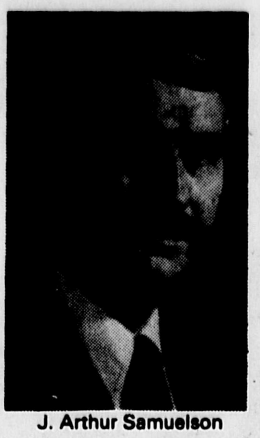

A graduate of Harvard College and Harvard Medical School, Rabkin trained in internal medicine at the Massachusetts General Hospital. He became the general director of Beth Israel Hospital in 1966.

Rabkin's academic appointment at Harvard Medical School is Associate Professor of Medicine at Beth Israel Hospital. He is a Director of Massachusetts Blue Cross, Inc., and of the Medical Foundation, Inc. He is also a member of the Board of Trustees of Milton Academy.

Energy Seminar

A public service seminar, "Dealing With Social Change - the Energy Crisis in Particular," is scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 2, at 10 a.m. at 73 Union St., Newton Centre.

There is no fee for the seminar, sponsored by Liberty Street Associates, but advance registrations are necessary. Call 965-1322.

J. Arthur Samuelson

Named VP

J. Arthur Samuelson, 155 Eastbourne Rd., Newton Centre, has been named an assistant vice president in the personnel division of the First National Bank of Boston.

He joined the bank in 1968 as a personnel assistant after serving for eight years as dean of men at Boston University. He was made a personnel officer in 1969.

Samuelson holds a bachelor of arts degree from Baker University and graduate degrees from Boston University and Harvard University.

He is a member of the National Association of Student Personnel Administrators, the Adult Education Association of America and the American Personnel and Guidance Association.

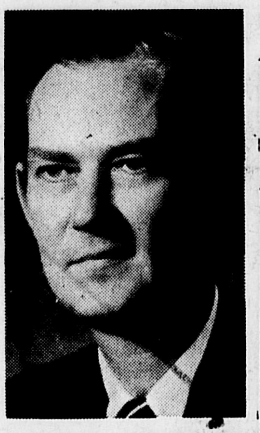

In addition, he is a member of the board of directors of the Counseling YMCA Affiliate, Inc., and is a member of the Masonic Order, Rotary International and the Scarlet Key.

Reception For Bowdoin Alumni

More than 500 Bowdoin College alumni and their spouses who live in the Greater Boston area are expected to attend a reception and dinner Jan. 30 at the Marriott Motor Hotel in Newton.

The principal speaker will be Professor Herbert Ross Brown who retired from the Bowdoin faculty in 1972 after a 47-year teaching career. His topic will be "The Uncommon College and the Common Good."

The reception will begin at 6 p.m., with dinner scheduled for 7 p.m.

CAMERON P. BLELOCH, 1844 Washington St., Auburndale, has been named an assistant trust officer in the old colony trust division of the First National Bank of Boston. He joined the bank in 1966 and has been an administrative associate since 1970.

Skill Courses Offered At Newton Junior College

In response to numerous requests for skill courses, Newton Junior College recently announced that students entering Newton Junior College in the second semester will have the opportunity to take elementary skill courses: typing, shorthand, office machines, filing, machine transcription, and accounting.

A cycling of courses will enable all students to start their secretarial programs either in September or January. Courses in elementary shorthand, typing, advanced typing, advanced shorthand, office procedures, english, science, data processing, business law, marketing, accounting and numerous liberal arts and general education are available.

The secretarial programs are designed to satisfy all areas of interest, executive, legal or medical, with or without shorthand, and include a six-week cooperative office education program during the second year.

In addition to the secretarial programs, students may enroll as majors in the following programs: liberal arts, business administration, business technology, and general. Programs are individually planned for both transfer and non-transfer students.

People can call or write the dean of the college for further information — telephone number: 969-9570 — address: Newton Junior College, 5 Washington Park, Newtonville, Mass. 02160.

Late registration will be from Jan. 28-31.

Lecture On Atomic Energy Slated For Newton Schools

A demonstration lecture on atomic energy and its uses, conducted by Wentworth College of Technology, will be presented at several Newton schools this week and next week.

The program, titled "This Atomic World," is designed to acquaint students with the basic principles of nuclear energy, its sources, and its role in agriculture, industry, medicine and research. The grant for conducting this lecture-demonstration program among high schools in Eastern Massachusetts was awarded to Wentworth College of Technology by Boston Edison Company.

Robert J. Phillipo will present the assembly program, which explains in student terms the structure of atoms and the operation of nuclear reactors as well as such concepts as radiation, fission, and fusion.

Phillipo has completed extensive training at Oak Ridge Associated Universities in Oak Ridge, Tennessee. Heholds an Associate Degree in Electronic Engineering and a B.S. Degree in Engineering Technology from Wentworth College of Technology.

Specially designed electronic equipment is used during the 40-minute program to demonstrate the sources of radiation, how nuclear energy is harnessed to furnish electric power for cities, and the use of radioisotopes to aid in diagnosis and treatment of diseases and to learn more about life processes.

A blackboard talk or demonstration lecture to science classes, which deals more specifically with the topics of atomic structure, radioactivity, radiation biology, and careers in nuclear science, follows the assembly.

The program is operated in cooperation with Oak Ridge Associated Universities (ORAU) and the United States Atomic Energy Commission

Who Says You Can't Have Everything?

6 Cylinder Economy Car! New 1974

Pontiac VENTURA

You can have all the economy you need without sacrificing the roomy comfort you want — when you buy Pontiac Ventura. You get a nifty little 6 cylinder engine that uses regular gas in very small amounts. If you'd prefer a V-8 engine or a turbo-hydramatic transmission, they're available options with the Ventura. If we don't have just the Ventura you want equipped just the way YOU want it — we'll be glad to order it for you!

The 6 Cylinder Family Car! New '74

Pontiac Le MANS

When Pontiac builds the LeMans they start with a great design — for more beauty — and a unit-welded steel body construction — for more protection, then add luxurious interiors — for more comfort and a six cylinder engine — for more economy. Pontiac believes in giving you a lot more, for less money — that's probably why more and more American families are choosing the Pontiac LeMans.

$3388

Pontiac's Sporty 6 Cylinder! New '74

Pontiac FIREBIRD

You really can have a Sports car AND room for a family! If you doubt it — just look at the Pontiac Firebird. Imagine all the zingy personality of a sports car — beautiful interiors — wide track stance — in an economical 6 cylinder car that uses regular gas and gets great gas mileage. From the racy chassis to the fabulous all Morrokide interiors — Pontiac has a way with cars!

If your economy car only carries half your family, where's the economy?

We're not going to tell you that you'll get 25 miles to the gallon in a Country Squire. You won't. But what we will tell you is economy isn't simply a matter of gas mileage. If you need a large car, because of your family's size or your business, there is no better buy today than Ford's Country Squire. A Country Squire can carry nine people as comfortably as many so-called economy cars carry three. They're larger in size, therefore they're actually safer than most smaller cars. So think about it. If you need two trips to get your family from one place to another, where's the economy?

WE NOW HAVE THE LARGEST SELECTION OF COUNTRY SQUIRES IN OUR HISTORY

Right now, choose from 109 Country Squires, America's most popular station wagon. Rodman has the area's largest inventory and you may choose any options, in any color, and all Squires are ready for immediate delivery. There has truly never been a better time than right now at Rodman. All Country Squires are now available at prices in effect prior to the Ford Motor Company's December increase.

Newest VW - The Dasher At Herb Anderson VW

Volkswagen's all-new car, the Dasher, combines traditional VW economy and nimbleness with handsome styling in a package unlike any VW seen in this country before.

The Dasher is designed to give about 25 miles per gallon of gasoline but that's only part of the economy story. Other features, such as extended maintenance service intervals and VW's Owner's Security Blanket with Computer Analysis, give it superior overall economy of operation.

"It's the right car for these days of fuel shortages and general high cost of living," said Don Glazer, General Manager of Herb Anderson.

"We are sure that many drivers will get better than 25 miles per gallon," Glaser said. "The figure is based on a standard German industry test (DIN)." The Dasher is the first VW to be sold in North America with a water cooled engine and front wheel drive, he noted. "Though it differs from other VWs in many aspects, it nevertheless is true to the VW concept of placing the engine over the drive wheels."

Compared with the Beetle, which continues to be VW's most popular model, the Dasher is more powerful, has a longer wheel-base and longer overall length. It is also more expensive than the Beetle, coming in the line to replace the Fastback and Squareback models which were dropped at the end of the 1973 model year.

The new car will be available as a two-door sedan, a four-door sedan and–a first for VW–a four-door station wagon. All were styled by the well known Italian designer Giorgetto Giugiaro.

The Dasher is the second front wheel drive, water cooled car from VW. The other, the K 70, was introduced in 1969 and is not sold in North America. The Dasher is representative of new thinking at VW's headquarters in Wolfsburg, West Germany. It has been described by Rudolf Leiding, Chairman of the Board of Management, as the first of several new models that will be designed on the "building block principle."

As Leiding described the building block principle, VW will take advantage of engineering and production talents throughout the parent company and its subsidiaries to build, as economically as possible, the best vehicles it can for its various nameplates. He stressed that individual make "flavor" will not be compromised.

St. Catherine's Six Topples Allston 3-1

By JOHN ARABY

BOSTON—Two goals by John Reynolds and one by Chick McGrath vaulted the Norwood Saint Catherines CYO sextet to a 3-1 win over Saint Anthony's of Allston last Saturday afternoon at Boston College's McHugh Forum.

Coach Mason Clark started Paul Erker in the nets, Greg Talbot and John Chisholm at the points, with Dan DeIeso centering between Chick McGrath and Tom Shaughnessy.

In the opening minutes of the period Norwood applied the pressure with Chick McGrath finding the handle at the 37 second mark of the period when Dan DiIeso fed him a perfect pass and Chick put it into the twine to put Norwood ahead 1-0.

Norwood outshot Allston in the first period by an 8-6 margin with both goalies coming up with some good saves.

In the second period both Norwood and Allston scored. At the one minute mark Allston put it in when Jim Keady let it go.

Norwood went ahead at the 4:06 mark of the period when John Reynolds scored one of his two goals.

John took a pass from Paul Riley and slid it by. John Chisholm also assisted on the goal.

Norwood made it 3-1 at the 7:41 mark when John scored his second of the game as he tipped in a Frank Giampietro shot for Norwood's third and final goal.

In the third period Norwood held Allston scoreless as the Defense did a great job. John Chisholm, Greg Talbot, Frank Giampietro, and Larry Auburn all played fine.

WFL Would Sue NFL

BOSTON (UPI) — World Football League President Gary Davidson, who specializes in starting professional leagues to compete against established circuits, says he would sue the National Football League if the NFL interfered with WFL plans.

"The NFL has a monopoly and if it tries using its control over stadiums or players through the option rule, we would sue," Davidson said Monday at a news conference to announce the formation of the Boston Bulls and the signing of Babe Parilli as head coach.

"And if we did sue, we also would go after the NFL contract to knock out the option clause — as we did in the World Hockey Association and the American Basketball Association."

Davidson, who also founded the ABA and WHA, said the 12-team football league might "start our own network to nationally televise our Thursday night games", if present negotiations with a network can't be reached.

"I have had —in 2 ½ months —more correspondence from people interested in the WFL than I have had in two years in hockey," said Davidson. "Four hundred people have contacted my office about getting jobs and I have heard from 300 football players.

THE NEW VW is called the Dasher. In addition to the two-door sedan shown, both four-door station wagon versions are offered. Trim in overall size, the front wheel drive Dasher has room for a family of five. Its overhead cam engine gives good performance yet gets about 25 miles per gallon of regular gas. Disc brakes and radial tires are standard. Dashers are available along with the full '74 VW line from some 1,200 VW dealers.

'Black Comedy' Director Picked

The Newton Country Players have selected Bob Reed of Newton Centre, a second year member of the group, to direct their mid-winter production, Peter Shaffer's farce, "Black Comedy."

Performances are scheduled for Friday and Saturday evenings, March 1-2 and March 7-8, at the Rebecca Pomroy Playhouse, 84 Eldredge St., Newton Corner.

The production will be available for programming to sponsor groups and theatre parties interested in fund raising at the Pomroy Playhouse, with its seating capacity of 175. Organization bookings for alternate mid-week or Sunday dates will be considered for the show, which will be staged cabaret-style, with tables and chairs.

Prior directoral credits for Reed include prodkctions of "Anything Goes" for Wheelock College, and, for Meadowbrook JHS, where he is a mathematics instrcctor, mountings of "The Boy Friend," "Music Man" and "The Cop and the Anthem." He will direct also the school's March production of "Guys and Dolls."

"Black Comedy" marks his first directoral assignment with the Players.

On stage for the Players, Reed has essayed the roles of Moonface in "Anything Goes," the master magician Count Chive Oregano in "Gabriel Ghost," and Bob Stein in "And Miss Reardon Drinks A Little," a role he repeated as an entrant into the New England Theatre Conference Drama Festival last Spring.

He repeated his portrayal of Moonface in "Anything Goes" for Wheelock College last season and, with the Weathervane Summer Theatre, Whitefield, N.H., he is credited with the roles of Felix in "The Odd Couple," Mr. Webb in "Our Town," Master of Ceremonies in "Cabaret," the Streetsinger, Mac the Knife, in "The Three Penny Opera," Snoopy in "You're a Good Man Charlie Brown" and the minor roles of a Ziegfield johnny in "Funny Girl" and a postman in "The Most Happy Fella."

Bob Reed

Reed received his BS in Mathematics at UMass. and a masters degree in education at State College of Boston. His impromptu stints at local nite clubs of impressions of musical comedy stars led to a number of professional engatements locally.

Along with hispartner, he has appeared at the Eliot Lounge, 1776 Pub, Harp and Bard, Liam's Pub, Warren Tavern, Main Deck, Charlie's Tap, Hunter's Inn and Amaru's in the Boston area and at the Playhouse Motor Inn and Kimball Hill Inn in New Hampshire.

Now in their 18th year of community theatre activity, the Newton Country Players are a non-profit, philantrophic association comprised of local residents, who, as an avocation, are actively engaged in the development, expansion and assistance of theatre activity on community and educational levels.

For additional information concerning theatre party sponsorship, phone Jim Sloane at 969-2665 write P.O. Box 9, Newton Centre, 02159.

Players Offer Children's Play

The Country Players of Newton have announced that "Suds; Or How to Win a Princess," a musical fairy tale for children, is available for programming to sponsor groups and theatre parties interested in fund raising.

It is available for weekend bookings from late March through early May, either as a road show or for performances at Pomroy Playhouse, 84 Eldredge St., Newton Corner, which has a seating capacity of approximately 175.

The production, for elementary school children, had its premiere performances at the Ravencroft Summer Theatre in Rindge, N.H. last August.

For further information concerning theatre party sponsorship, people should contact Jim Slaone at 969-2665, or write to P.O. Box 9, Newton Centre, 02159.

Sheila-Gail Schneider

Recital Is Saturday

Sheila-Gail Schneider, soprano, accompanied by David P. Lutz at the piano, will be heard in recital on Jan. 26, 1974, at 8 p.m. at the Conference Auditorium of Boston University's George Sherman Union complex.

Miss Schneider was born and raised in Newton where she lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Schneider of 1121 Boylston St.

While attending Newton South High School, she participated in such productions as "High Button Shoes," "The King and I," and Jenny in "Threepenny Opera."

At Boston University, Miss Schneider has been a member of the B. U. Savoyards, a campus Gilbert and Sullivan troupe, since the fall of 1970.

As a senior at Boston University School of Fine and Applied Arts, Miss Schneider is presenting this program as partial fulfillment of the requirements for a Bacelor of Music degree.

Fans On Display At Newton Free Library

American, European and Oriental fans, used when the style of living was vastly different from today's, are on display this month in glass cases at the Newton Free Library, 414 Centre Street, Newton Corner.

The fans, selected from a collection loaned to the Newton Free Library by Mrs. Sue Schlossberg, include a typical dance fan made from ostrich feathers and imitation tortoise shell, a white flowered graduation fan, an American art nouveau black fan and a Japanese male dancer-actor's fan, as well as several fans from the Allen Fan Company of Braintree, Mass.

The oldest fan, a French hand painted lithograph fan, is from the early 1800's, and one of the most recent fans in the collection is a pink ostrich feather fan, tipped with black, which was probably used in the early 20th century.

A group of books dealing with the collecting of small antiques the care of antiques complements the exhibit. The fans remain on view through early February.

Three Newton Residents Are Chosen For Concert

At auditions held recently, three Newton residents were chosen to participate in the eighth annual Youth In Concert program sponsored by the Wellesley Choral Society.

This concert will be held Sunday, Jan. 27 at 3 p.m. in the Wellesley Junior High School Auditorium on Donazette St., Wellesley.

William Wright of 10 Hinckley Rd., Waban, is a tenth grade student at Newton North High School. His piano selection will be "Fugue in G Minor" by Girolamo Frescobaldi. Wright, age 15, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bradford Wright. His piano instructor is Julius Chaloff of Newton.

Miss Elise Chang, pianist, is a senior at Newton South High School. She is the daughter of Drs. Y. C. and O. S. C. Chang of 55 Beethoven Ave., Newton. Miss Chang will play "Ondine" by Debussy, and "Prelude No. 1" by George Gershwin. Miss Chang takes piano instruction from Nini Perlo of the All Newton Music School.

Miss Jan Lerbinger is a 17-year old senior at Newton North High School. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Otto Lerbinger of 28 Lakewood Rd., Newton. Miss Lerbinger plays the viola and takes instruction from Betty Hauck at the Wellesley Branch of the New England Conservatory.

She will be playing with the Scholarship String Quartet of the Wellesley Branch of the New England Conservatory.

She will be playing with the Scholarship String Quartet of the Wellesley Branch of the New England Conservatory. The quartet will play the first movement of Felix Mendelsohn's "String Quartet Op. 44 No. 2." The quartet's coach is Ms. Lucy Parker.

The individual or group determined by a panel of judges to have given the best performance will be featured at the Wellesley Choral Society's annual Pops Concert in May.

Tickets, may be purchased at the door.

"Lord Jim" Seminar At Newton Free Library

Dr. Michael Sperber, a psychiatrist affiliated with the Harvard Medical School and McLean Hospital in Belmont, will lead an informal seminar, "Fiction and Psychiatry: Their Relationship," Monday evening Jan. 28 at 7:30 p.m. at the Newton Free Library, 414 Centre Street, Newton Corner.

Participants will focus on Joseph Conrad's "Lord Jim" a short novel which is suggested advance reading, in this second of three seminars on the relationship between fiction and psychiatry.

The group will explore Lord Jim's behavior, that of a wanderer, and will try to figure out the basis for his difficulties and the significance of his wandersings. They will attempt to study his personality and try to understand him as a human being, concluding with some generalizations that are representative of a complex type of behavior observed in certain people today.

Dr. Sperber plans to bring into the discussion questions the group may have relating to the dynamics of psychiatry or psychotherapy.

The group will be invited to ask questions about mental illness; how people become mentally ill, how it is diagnosed and how it is treated.

Dr. Sperber took his psychiatric training in Boston and taught at the Department of Social Relations at Harvvard and the Cambridge Center for Adult Education. He lives in Newton Centre with his wife, Renee, and their two children, Lisa, two, and Jeffrey, five.

The seminar, an open-ended informal discussion, is open to all interested citizens.

Wyman To Talk

Thomas H. Wyman, senior vice president and general manager of the Polaroid Corporation will speak to the general body of Black Citizens of Newton on the subject: "Black Economic Development-Employment Opportunities in Business and Industry."

The meeting will be held at Myrtle Baptist Church, 21 Curve Street, West Newton, Mass., Sunday, Jan. 27, at 8 p.m.

Many Responses To Library Contest

pertinent, funny, clever, and outrageous.

Responses came in from all over the city, from women, men and children - from a class of third graders, from Newton senior citizens, and from whole families submitting lists of suggestions.

Sponsored by the Friends of the Newton Free Library, a group of library supporters who want a new library, the Bumper Sticker Contest aroused interest and action from a large segment of the Newton community.

The NFL Bumper Sticker Contest will result in the selection of slogans for two bumper stickers for citizens' use: one slogan highlighting the need for a new main library; the other stressing library usage.

According to Library Director Virginia A. Tashjian, the prize-winning entries, and two runner-up slogans for each bumper sticker category will be announced at a celebration at the Newton Free Library, 414 Centre Street, Newton Corner, Tuesday evening, Feb. 26 at 7:30 p.m.

The response to the Newton Free Library's (NFL) Bumper Sticker Contest was enormous. The suggestions were cretive,

Glee Club Inviting Members

The Highland Glee Club of Newton, under its conductor Robert C. Prince, will hold an open rehearsal invitation to male singers of all voice parts, on Monday, Jan. 28, at 8 p.m. at Newton Centre Methodist Church.

This club, the oldest musical society in Newton, and a Charter member of the New England Federation of Men's Glee Clubs, has a repertoire chosen from a library of several hundred selections, ranging from the classic compositions of Bach and Beethoven to excerpts from operettas and musical comedies.

School Committee to reduce budget

Look familiar? The end of the month is here, the energy crisis is deepening, and "pumps closed" is a slight motorists appear to be faced with more and more often. This attendant, faced with a street full of gas-hungry customers, took it easy as he warned motorists the line was at an end. (Lupo photo)

By TOM GRAVES
Of The Graphic Staff

The Newton School Committee tentatively cut $226,072 at its last two meetings from the 1974-75 school budget recommended by the school administration.

The tentative deletions would reduce the projected $6 per thousand school increase in the tax rate by about 65 cents.

The school administration recommended a budget of $29,381,470 for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1974.

The School Committee voted to cut 30.8 professional positions and four aide positions. The administration had recommended that 25.5 professional positions be eliminated.

It was estimated that $81,914 may be saved by cutting the additional positions.

There were also motions to cut 25.5 and 40 positions. The motion to cut 25.5 was tabled and the motion to cut 40 was defeated.

The reduction of 30.8, if given final approval, would be exclusive of personnel changes at Newton Junior College and needs created by Chapter 766.

School Committeeman Herbert Regal did some computation and challenged the administration's request for $22,459,709 for salaries (the amount anticipated after personnel cuts).

Regal conferred with Harry Vienneau, director of budget and accounting, and Assistant Superintendent for Personnel James Laurits on Monday afternoon, and it was concluded that an additional $42,123 could be cut from the budget.

This saving came from three sources. It was est mated that $18,500 could be added to the administration's figure on savings due to teacher turnover. It was concluded that $10,000 could be saved by the turnover of secretaries, and $13,623 was subtracted because the administration had erroneously credited a 5.5 per cent salary increase for merit pay.

The School Committee cut $10,700 from the administration's recommendation for sabbatical leaves.

Chairman Emeritus Manuel Beckwith asked that there be a moratorium on sabbitical leaves.

"In this year of critical economical problems, I think the School Committee, being responsible to the community, should have a moratorium on sabbaticals this year," Beckwith said.

An amendment requesting no money for sabbaticals in 1974-75 was defeated. The School Committee then voted to allow $68,150 for sabbatical leaves.

A discussion of the summer school program revealed that $1,935 could be cut from the budget anticipated by the administration. This resulted from a reduction in the usalary of the summer school secretary on the 1974-75 budget.

The administration suggested Monday night wthat $88,000 could be saved if the opening times of schools were staggered, and eight less school buses were used.

Director of Support Services John Gilleland explained that timing would be critical to the reallocation of buses.

Under the new busing plan, the starting times of three junior high schools would be changed. At least eight elementary schools would start at 8:45 a.m.

It was claimed that the new busing program would cause no reduction on the service which existed on Dec. 21.

There was lengthy discussion of the proposed budget for junior high school sports coaches.

The administration asked for $8,160 in order to add to add 15 coaches in the junior high schools, three at each school. These coaches would be used primarily to expand the sports program for girls.

School Committeeman Alvin Mandell asked that this money be cut, and that instead, coaches be reallocated.

Miss Helene Breivogel, physical education coordinator, explained that reallocation could cause severe reduction the boys' sports program.

"I think we should give some assurance that there is more equitable access to limited facilities," commented Superintendent of Schools Aaron Fink. "I would hope to not decrease opportunities for anyone, and increase opportunities for girls."

Mandell's motion to cut the sports budget by $8,160 was defeated. The School Committee approved the recommended amount of $101,574 for elementary and junior high sports.

The School Committee also gave tentative approval to a budget of $762,642 for Newton Junior College.

It voted $134,316 for the food services revolving account, $259,424 for substitute teachers, $71,540 for the summer school, and $154,000 for acquisition of equipment (exclusive of $150,000 for equipment for Newton North High School).

Discuss reorganization

By ELIZABETH McKINNON
Of the Graphic Staff

A compromise was reached in Legislation & Rules Committee this week on the makeup of an ad hoc committee of aldermen to review the mayor's reorganization plan for city government.

The formation of the committee has been stymied since the first of the year, when Board President Eliot Cohen's announced appointments to the committee met with some disapproval by other members of the Board.

Cohen appointed Finance Chairman Sidney Small, President Emeritus Wendell Bauckman, Board Vice-President Richard Bullwinkle, Public Works Chairman Michael Antonellis, Public Buildings Chairman Edward Richmond, City Planning Chairman David Jackson, Legislation and Rules Chairman Thomas Concannon, and himself to the committee. He and Small would have served as co-chairmen.

A close vote almost passing an amendment by Ald. Richard McGrath, in which he proposed that the reorganization be studied by a committee of the whole, convinced Cohen that there was substantial dissatisfaction with his proposed committee, and the item was referred to the L&R Committee.

A committee of the whole is the entire Board acting as a committee.

Cohen's proposal advanced at the L&R meeting was to allow all aldermen who are interested to attend meetings, participate in the discussion, and be counted in the vote but the responsibility of the work will still rest on the eight members of the ad hoc committee.

The compromise was acceptable to all members of the L&R Committee that were present.

Cohen's reasons for the ad hoc committee appointments, he said, was to involve the chairmen of the committees that would be most affected, so that they would understand the implications of the reorganization and be able to report to their committees.

A committee of the whole would be unworkable because of its size and the erratic attendance patterns at committee meetings exhibited by some of the aldermen, Cohen said.

Ald. Ernest Deitz and Richard McGrath were those most in favor of wide representation, with Jackson offering a plan that would have subcommittees of interested aldermen reporting to the main committee.

Jackson also circulated a letter to all aldermen asking them to postpone voting on the part of the reorganization of the executive department until the ad hoc committee can go over it.

Phase I of the reorganization plan restructures the executive department so that all departments report to the proposed chief administrative officer instead of directly to the mayor.

Two other new positions are also created under the proposed reorganization plan — chief budget officer and planning and programming officer.

A salary increase to $25,000 for James Salter, who will be the chief administrative officer, has been approved by the Finance Committee, but salaries for the other two positions were cut to $22,500 each.

Several aldermen have expressed reservations about the executive department reorganization, fearing that the mayor will be giving too much power to his administrative officer.

The only control the Board has over executive staffing is through approval or disapproval of requested salary appropriations.

According to the city charter, reorganization of the city departments must be approved by the Board of Aldermen.

Mayor Theodore Mann has submitted to the Board a draft reorganization plan for their study and review.

The committee appointed by Cohen will start its review at a meeting tonight (Jan. 31).

Towers and NCDF proposals up for aldermanic vote Monday

By CYNTHIA BLACK
Of the Graphic Staff

Proposals for construction of Chestnut Hill Towers and 50 units of low and moderate income housing are ready for a vote of the Board of Aldermen.

Members of the aldermanic Land Use Committee met last Wednesday and this Tuesday night to deliberate and vote on both developments and prepare board orders for full aldermanic consideration.

The site plan for the $42 million Towers, approved on a 5-2 vote of the committee, will go to the Board of Aldermen with a traffic impact study, changes in sewer and drainage plans for underground electric and telephone wires.

The 428-unit luxury development has been stalled since September, 1973, when it came to light that its permit to build had expired.

In November, 1973, The Board of Aldermen granted the Towers an extension of its permit on the basis that the new site plan would be submitted and would get aldermanic approval before in-ground work on the Chestnut Hill land would begin.

The reopening of the Towers issue led to its link with the NCDF (Newton Community Development Foundation) proposal for 50 townhouse units of low and moderate income housing adjacent to the Towers land.

The NCDF plan was approved at Tuesday night's meeting by an 8-0 vote of the committee after the committee heard a lengthy presentation on conditions and restrictions attached to the plan.

Land Use committee members began discussion of NCDF at last week's meeting and after two hours of talk and an arguement over the fact no renderings (drawings of how the finished buildings will look) were available, Land Use Chairman Joseph McDonnell ended the meeting and set another Tuesday night.

Tuesday, NCDF architects came to the meeting, renderings in hand.

The long list of conditions includes a stipulation that the 50 units planned are the maximum number that can be built on the site and that 20 of these units will be offered to the Newton Housing Authority for placement of low income families or elderly people.

This development will also have underground telephone and electrical wiring.

A more crucial condition is the improvement of Hamlet Street prior to occupancy of the development. NCDF has decided that access to the project will be from Hamlet Street and not Carlisle Street. Widening of Hamlet Street to 24 feet is to be done at the petitioners' expense.

A last minute addition to the restrictions, coming from Alderman Alan Barkin and passed 7-1 by the committee, stipulates that "no more than three unrelated people" can be living in a unit and each unit will be restricted to a maximum of two cars.

Local 800 pays tribute to Dedham

"This gathering is the greater possible honor I could have received," outgoing Public Works Director Richard Dudman told more than 100 members of Local 800 at a testimonial dinner given him by the union last week.

"Early on, you tested me to see whether what I professed to believe was in fact true in practice. It was true - I stood up and fought equally hard for my beliefs and for your beliefs," Dudman said.

In Dudman's opinion, cities are manageable, but proper managing will never occur until management and labor work together to revolve the problems, with "the less politicizing the better."

Working together, Dudman continued, will occur only when "maturity, honesty, openness, trust, and mutual respect are firmly established."

"To me, the path to the future is with labor - not against it, not through it but with it," he said.

Possibly dropping a few words of advice to the city administration he will be leaving in about a month, Dudman asked both management and labor to accept their responsibilities to each other and not to indulge in "nitpicking and backbiting."

"Proper management does not need superbrains nor bigger-than-life people. All it needs is the people who are here tonight mixed with honesty, openness and trust toward and with one another, combined with a minimal amount of politics."

In addition to members of Local 800, Ald. zdavid Jackson, mayoral assistant James Salter, F. Miller of the mayor's office, and Mayor Theodore Mann attended the dinner.

This week Louis Rufo, Local 800 president, praised Dudman's attitude toward labor. "We believe that the man was for labor, and anybody that's for labor the administration lets go."

"He believes firmly that management and labor should work together in all things," Rufo said.

"I can honestly say that he's never shut the door on me, he kept his appointments, and he never raised his voice at me. He was always a gentleman," Rufo said.

According to Rufo, labor has never before given such an accolade to a member of the administration.

Vandalism subject at meeting

"Vandalism and Antisocial Behavior in the Newton Public Schools" will be the subject of a panel discussion at a meeting of the Newton Council of Parent-Teachers Associations, Feb. 7, 7:45 p.m. at the Beethoven School in Waban.

Panelists will explore possible solutions and curses to improve conditions in the schools.

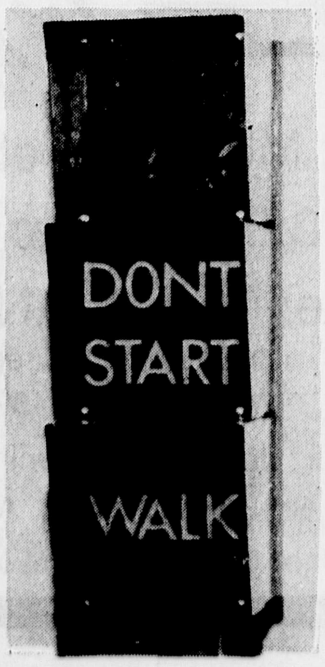

Students and interested parents are invited to attend and to submit relative questions to the panel.

Members of the panel will be Judge Monte Basbas; Newton District Court; Police Chief William Quinn; Rabbi Terry Bard, president of the Newton Clergy Association; John Gilleland, Newton School Department; Mrs. Paula James, parent; Richard Clark, student teacher; Dr. Charles Brinton, psychologist, school department; and panel chairman Peter Scott, parent and former PTA Council chairman.

New message to pedestrians

"Our pedestrian signals try to give too many message from two words," said Maralynn Johnson of Auburndale, who has been waging a year-long campaign to be heard.

Mrs. Johnson, mother of three young children, has come up with her own improvement on the present Walk-Don't Walk system and people are beginning to listen.

She has written to the top levels of the Federal Highway Administration, the signals subcommittee of the National Advisory Committee on Uniform Traffic Devices, traffic and highway departments of nearly all the states, and several signal-device manufacturers to try to get her message across and to find out what can be done about the misleading signals.

Her campaign was triggered by an experience with her own children. As a parent concerned with safe crossing of streets and chairman of the Williams School safety committee, Ms. Johnson one day took her children on a street-crossing training expedition.

"My son, who could read, told us when to go, when the 'walk' light went on. We were in the middle of the street when the 'don't walk' light came on, Mrs. Johnson said.

"Then my children didn't know what to do. One ran ahead, one went back to the curb," she explained.

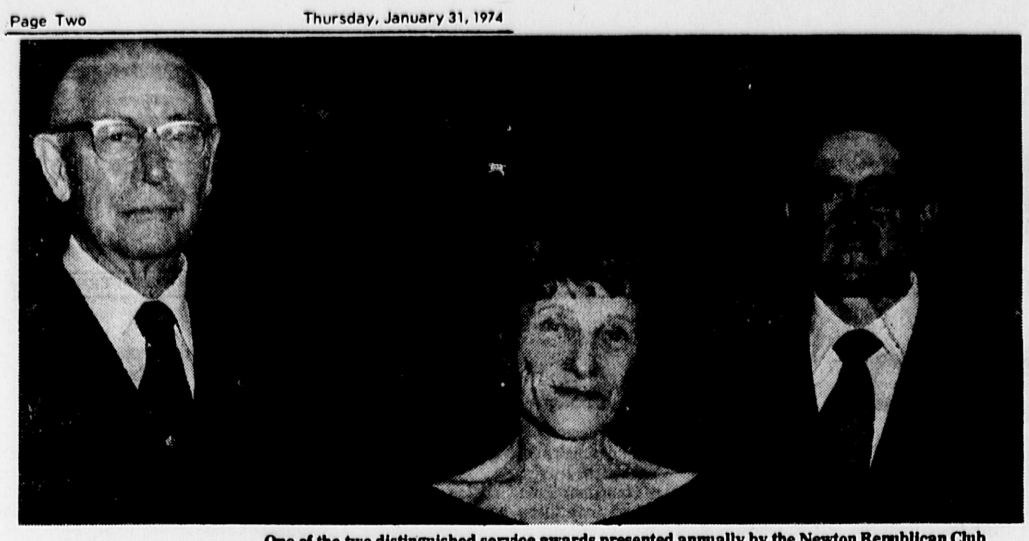

Many people, especially children and elderly people react the same way, Mrs. Johnson said.

"Some traffic engineers and others claim that education will take care of the confusion. But education has not dispelled the confusion."

"Children and most of the rest of us are taught to follow instructions. When they see "don't walk" their inclination is that they are doing something wrong, even when they are in the middle of the street," she said.

Mrs. Johnson's concern is the misunderstanding of the present system, which uses a three-part message. Many people, Mrs. Johnson feels, do not realize that when the "don't walk" light flashes the message is actually "Continue across the street, but don't start across from the curb."

Education Workshop begins another year

By ANDY FIELDING

Last Saturday marked the beginning of what will hopefully be another successful year for the Newton Educational Workshop (N.E.W.).

The weekly program, which will run through April 13, allows Newton South students to plan and teach small group and very specialized courses to elementary school children.

This year, there are about 30 Newton South students who are teaching courses, and there are some 100 4th, 5th, and 6th graders from the Emerson, Hyde, Beethoven, and Angier schools who are taking them.

"N.E.W.", says senior Peter Davidow, director of the program, "offers elementary school kids courses they would not normally get at their regular schools, and offer them in a fun way. These are not really sit-down classes. The English and Science courses are a little bit academic, but the main purpose is for the kids to have a good time, and learn something in the process."

Courses in the program fall under three major categories: Art (headed up by Ellen Riceman and Adam Birnbaum); Science (headed by Chet Birger); and English (Billy Gordon). They include: ceramics, modern dance, puppetry, candlemaking, batik, music, rug hooking, watercoloring, pillow making, sculpture, drawing and painting, tye-dyeing, origami, recorder (the instrument), macrame, arts and crafts, pencil drawing, body appreciation through movement, amateur radio, computers, math, astronomy, electromagnetism, Spanish, French, German, creative writing, sports, drama, basic typing, human body, geometric art, natural science, and electronics.

Each N.E.W. student takes three courses in the program, and since he or she does not pay for the courses, the city's P.T.A. periodically subsidizes the program (about $300 a year). That money goes towards supplies, materials, etc

What is an average N.E.W. Saturday like?

"The day is divided up into four parts," says Davidow. "In the first part—the first forty minutes, the whole group gets together, and we'll either show a movie or have a guest speaker or something. This way, we keep a sort of unity within the whole group. Then, there are the three periods of classes which also last forty minutes each."

Senior Jon Sandman, who taught his first French class last week, says that his students were very enthusiastic about learning a foreign language. Of his plans for the course, he says, "I'm only going to teach them some basics, because you really can't teach them much more in the time we have." In his first class, for example, Jon went over the French alphabet, counted "en francais", and even played a game of French hangman.

The students who are teaching in N.E.W. are obviously not experts in the subjects they have chosen or have been asked to teach, but most of them do, at least, have more than an average knowledge about the subjects. More importantly, however, they have a genuine interest in those subjects, and feel they have something substantial to offer the elementary school children.

"When the elementary kids leave after the ten weeks", says Peter Davidow, "they should have a background in the courses they took. And they should have had a good time."

Ms. Eldridge-Martin is helping out from the school's faculty.

Last week, all week, Newton South students and teachers took a look at the "Changing Roles of Men and Women," a symposium sponsored by the school's Enrichment Program. It would be difficult to evaluate a whole week of activities, but it seems the general student and teacher response to the program was quite favorable.

Recreation notes . . .

Residents warned about unsafe skating conditions

Newton Recreation Department spokesmen have again warned parents and children of the dangers inherent in skating on areas not approved by the department. Conditions during the recent thaw and freeze weather have been extremely hazardous, and the ice is not safe.

Current conditions for skating or tobogganing at specified areas under the jurisdiction of the Newton Recreation Department are available by calling 969-2851 any day of the week, 24 hours a day.

Those who prefer indoor tennis may reserve time at the new Newton North High School indoor courts by calling 965-0267. Games are limited to doubles and all players must have a current tennis permit issued by the Newton Recreation Department. To reserve a court, call 965-0267 between 7 and 8 p.m. any day of the week. Starting on Feb. 18, two additional courts may be reserved at Newton South High gyms by calling the same number.

The Recreation Department's basketball program is off to a fast start in all three leagues. In the first standings reported this season, the American A Division has a four way tie for first place with the Troubadours, Center Pizza, George's Cafe and Boys Club all having 2-0 records. In the B Division, the Big Blue leads with 3 and 0, followed by Upper Falls and the Ziphles

Initial standings reported in the National League are: Boys Club, 3-0; Newton Centre, 3-1; No Names, 3-1; The Beginnings, 2-2; Hawthorn, 1-2; Capitals, 1-2; The Tempts, 1-2 and the Messina Club, 0-4.

In the Pony League, Hawthorn A is in first place, 2-0.

Pat Savage reports on the Girls Junior High Basketball League standings. Tony's Villa and Stearns have 1-1 records; Zepp's Lakers and the Flower Bouquets, are 1-0 and the D J's is 0-2.

The league plays two games Wednesday nights at Hawthorn, one starting at 6:15 p.m. and the other at 7 p.m.

The Women's Volleyball League has two divisions this season, eleven teams in all. Recreation Supervisor Fran Towle reports that in the A Division, the Burr Volleys are in first place. The Bouncers lead B Division.

A workshop in exercise and dance for beginners will be starting at the Newton Centre Playground House on Feb. 5. The program, for women, will be held Tuesday and Thursday mornings 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. and will last for six weeks with a break for the school vacation. Amy Morse will conduct the workshop. Interested women should call the Recreation Department at 969-3171 to register.

Plans are being formulated for a Women's Basketball League to begin after the February vacation. Games will be played at the Day Junior High School, Tuesday nights. Interested women should call Miss Towle at the Recreation Department, 969-3171.

Also in the planning stage is a Girls' Floor Hockey Jamboree to be held at the Day Junior High during the February vacation. Interested teams and individuals should contact Fran Towle at 969-3171.

Recreation Supervisor, William Barry announces that a woodworking class for girls will be held at the Emerson School beginning on Friday, Feb. 1. The program will run from 3-4 p.m. in the afternoon and will be directed by Gordon Westwater.

Woodworking classes for boys are held at Emerson between 3-4 p.m. Monday and Wednesday afternoons. They have been offered for several years, but the class for girls was started last year at the request of the girls themselves.

According to Recreation Supervisor Robert Doherty, there are still a few openings in the archery class held from 7-8:30 p.m. on Wednesday evenings at the Newton Centre Playground Field House.

The classes for boys and girls, eight to fifteen years of age, are conducted by Bill Baker and Ray Minard.

Saturday afternoon informal basketball programs are being held from 1:30 - 4:30 p.m. Boys play at Bigelow, Meadowbrook, Warren and Weeks Junior High Schools, while the girls play at Day Junior High

Flaschner to speak

Chief Justice of District Court of Massachusetts Franklin N. Flaschner will speak at 97th annual winter meeting of Massachusetts Schoolmasters' Club at Beatty Hall in Wentworth Institute Saturday, Feb. 2, at 12:30 p.m.

Judge Flaschner, who is presiding justice of Newton District Court, is a graduate of Yale University, Harvard Graduate School of Public Administration, and Yale Law School. He is married and the father of three daughters.

Edward T. Kirkpatrick, Wentworth president, will welcome the educators to the luncheon meeting.

Officers include Harry L. Walen, graduate placement advisor, Needham High School; Thomas J. Curtin, commissioner of education for State Dept. of Education; Ronald J. Young, provost, Wentworth Institute; Prof. Lawrence A. Ovian, Fitchburg State College; all vice presidents; Donald E. Brunelli, principal, Glenwood School in Malden, secretary-treasurer; and Thomas F. Cosgrove, asst. supt. of Malden schools, asst. secretary-treasurer.

Recycling tonnage plummets

The tonnage of paper collected by the city for recycling dropped by almost nine tons in December, Ms. Betsy Lewenberg, chairman of the Mayor's Advisory Committee on Environmental Affairs, announced recently.

The total collected was 112.88 tons.

Scrap metal recovered from the Rumford Avenue landfill recycling area also dropped, from 63 tons in November to 40 tons in December.

Glass amounting to nearly six tons was collected in December from the Rumford Avenue recycling bins.

The Boy Scouts collected and sold an additional 750 pounds of cans and 25 tons of glass at their Elliot Street recycling area.

Home for disturbed subject of meeting

A meeting to discuss the possibility of establishing a residence for emotionally disturbed persons residing in the Newton-Wellesley-Weston area will be held on Monday, Feb. 11.

The meeting is open to the general public and is exploratory in nature. It will be held in Usen Auditorium at Newton-Wellesley Hospital at 7:30 p.m. and is sponsored by a professional and lay group organized as a steering committee for an alternative home.

The meeting is expected to attract civic officials from all three communities, mental health experts working in this area, members of the clergy and interested citizens. Former patients who have been hospitalized by traditional institutional methods will also be represented.

Because the alternative residence movement is frequently misunderstood in potential host communities, the alternative home steering committee is actively working to alert the Newton-Wellesley-Weston community.

League plans to discuss school system procedures

Who runs the Newton schools? What do they cost? Who builds and maintains them? What special services are available?

These are among the questions to be considered at a seminar on Education in Newton which the League of Women Voters of Newton will hold on Tuesday, Feb. 5 at 8 p.m. at 239 Chestnut St.

League experts will discuss the Newton school system with the participants. A group observation of the March 11 meeting of the Newton School Committee is planned to follow.

The League of Women Voters of Newton has a continuing interest in education. League observers attend all meetings of the Newton School Committee and the League Education Committee gathers information on developments in education, informs the membership of significant developments, and identifies the need for concerted League action.

A recent League publication entitled "Newton the Garden City" contains a chapter on education in Newton and provides information on administration, staffing, programs, special services and other aspects of the Newton school system. The book is suggested as background material and is available for reference or sale ($1 per copy) at the Newton libraries or by mail order from Anne De Rosier (965-5612).

The meeting on Education in Newton is one of the "Know Your Newton" series which is designed to inform participants about the organization and services of Newton city government. The meeting is open to the public and the League encourages any interested citizen to attend. For further information, directions or assistance with transportation call Judy Lavine at 969-2953.

Concert at Babson

Barry McGuire, folk guitarist and singer who recorded the hit single "Eve of Destruction," will appear in concert at Babson College on Mon., Feb. 11 at 8 p.m. in Richard Knight Auditorium.

Admission is fre and open to the public. The concert is sponsored by the Babson Christian Fellowship.

Telephone Co. eyes land in Upper Falls

A proposal by the New England Telephone Company for a parking and equipment storage facility fronting the Charles River will be presented to the Newton Conservation Commission at its next meeting, Feb. 6, at 8 p.m. at City Hall.

The proposed facility would be built on land owned by the WHDH Corp. off Oak Street and Sweet Street.

Residents in the neighborhood bounded by the river and Oak, Sweet, Abbott and River Streets may be interested in hearing the proposal and asking questions of Desmond Sullivan, Telephone Company representative.

Commission meetings are open to the public.

Bills filed to prohibit lobbyist contributions

State Sen. John M. Quinlan has announced that he has filed legislation to prohibit lobbyists from making contributions to political campaigns.

Pointing to the ITT and milk fund scandals, Quinlan stated, "As long as the public believes that government decisions are based not on the merits of the case, but rather on the political contributions of powerful interest groups, confidence in government will remain at an intolerably low level. This legislation is only one of several bills I have filed which are aimed at eliminating the corrupting influence of money in politics."

"The lobbyist contribution ban," explained Quinlan, "coupled with the Lobbyist Regulation Act enacted last year, will help eliminate illicit influence by paid advocates. Although industries, professional associations and citizen groups should have the right to hire lobbyists and to expend money to present the merits of their positions on issues, direct contributions by lobbyists often represent disguised and-or illegal contributions from lobbyist employers. The lobbist's right to contribute should yield to the 'clear and present danger' of lobbyist contributions illicitly influencing public policy decisions."

RICHARD SULLIVAN JR., son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sullivan of 25 Maple Pk., Newton Centre, is now stationed at Ft. Lewis, Wash. A 1973 graduate of Newton South High School, he joined the Army after high school and took basic training at Ft. Dix, N.J. He attended Military Police School in Georgia.

NRA acquires 10 lots in the Lower Falls area

By TOM GRAVES
Of the Graphic Staff

The Newton Redevelopment Authority (NRA) intends to create new housing on three sites in Newton Lower Falls.

The NRA acquired 10 lots on the western side of Moulton Street, and has received permission from the state Department of Community Affairs to sell each lot for $1,000 to displaced residents of Lower Falls.

Former property owners in Lower Falls may be given up to $15,000 to help them build a new home. This is in addition to what they may have received after their old homes were appraised and acquired by the NRA.

People who formerly rented dwelling units may be given up to $4,000 for building a home on one of these lots.

Three of the 10 lots have been sold.

The NRA is also seeking to develop six lots on the eastern side of Moulton Street. These lots serve as a buffer zone to the commercial parcel in the project area.

Several different plans have been proposed for developing these lots.

Two of the plans would result in people receiving rent subsidies from the Newton Housing Authority. Both plans include state funding.

Under an amendment to state law 705, the Housing Authority can buy land already developed by a private builder and rent it out with subsidies.

Under state law 707, the Housing Authority could become the lessee of a private builder, and could rent out dwelling units to tenants. Again, it would subsidize tenants.

There are several objections from the Lower Falls community to these plans

Joel Leighton, chairman of the Lower Falls Project Area Committee (LOPAC) said recently that members of LOPAC have assumed that the lots will eventually be privately owned, rather than the property of the Housing Authority or the builder.

A spokesman at the NRA said that people worry about being labelled as part of a public housing project.

Another worry is that if the property is owned by a private builder and leased to the Housing Authority, it will not be properly maintained by the private builder.

A final problem with these plans is that it may be difficult to find a private builder, since a builder would probably not get a large return on his investment. The Housing Authority would have a maximum rent it would be able to pay.

A third plan for developing the lots was to use funds from the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

HUD has had a home ownership program which allows people to begin as tenants, and eventually results in their owning their homes.

Funds have been cut off for this program, and a spokesman at the NRA said recently that there are no signs of their being restored.

Under this program, a Housing Authority supervises the construction of dwelling units and finds tenants.

The tenants enter on a rent paying basis and receive subsidies. Part of the rent money is put aside into an equity account. The money in this account is eventually used to acquire a conventional loan which helps people to buy their homes.

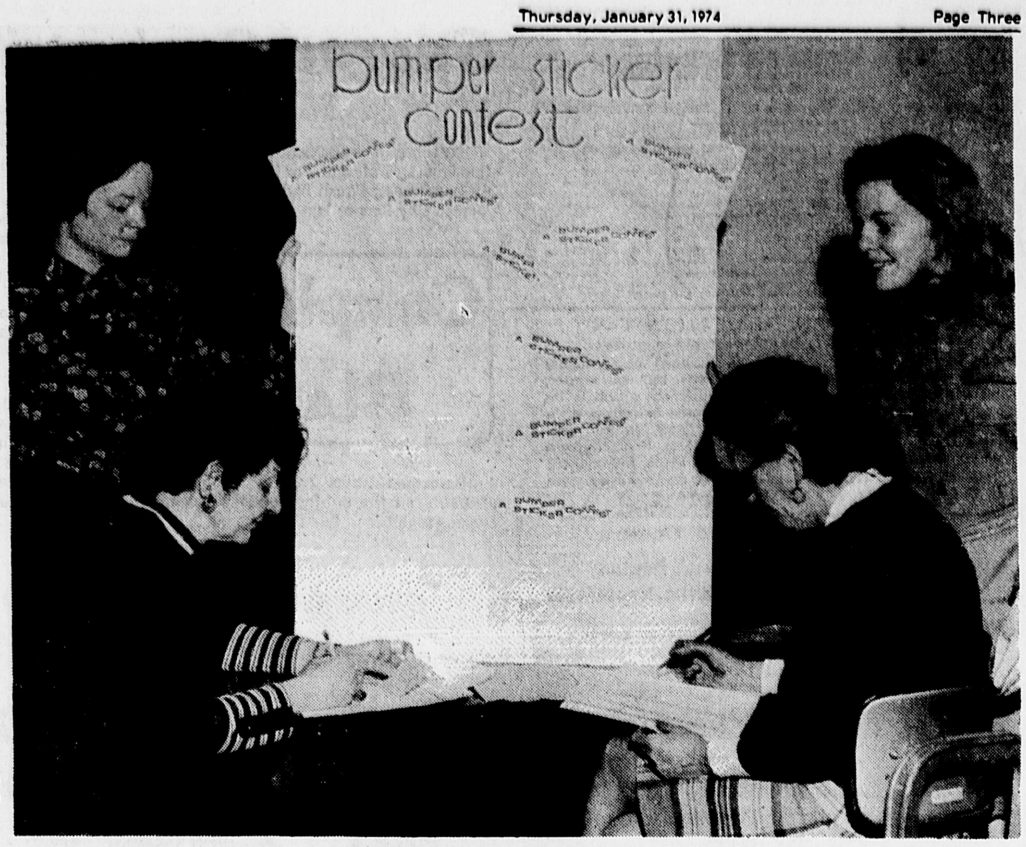

A staff member at the NRA is presently looking for a non-profit organization to provide funds for a home ownership program. Such a program would operate much the way the HUD program did except that the non-profit organization would serve the function of the Housing Authority and would pay for development.

A third site for housing is on Washington Street. Plans call for 65-70 units of low to moderate income housing. It is known as parcel A.

The units were originally to be built under a plan which called for a private developer to receive a mortgage subsidy through state funds. The programs which were to supply the subsidy money have been curtailed.

An alternative is for the NRA to sell the land to a private developer who would build with his own funding. The developer would then be required by the city to make 10 per cent of the units low income housing.

There are 10 families yet to be displaced in Lower Falls according to an NRA spokesman. Three families reportedly already have relocation plans.

Automotive center future still uncertain

The automotive center for Newtoon South High School, proposed more than a year ago, may never be built.

At a joint meeting of the Finance and Public Buildings Committees Tuesday night, a 6-0 vote of Finance and a consensus of a few members of the Public Buildings Committee held the proposal until Buildings Commissioner Gene Larson could approach the School Committee on the acceptability of a metal building, instead of the masonry building specified.

The Public Buildings Committee earlier in the evening had heard members of the Design Review Committee (a boby that goes over architects' plans for schools and other public buildings) say that a metal building could be erected for a fraction ($30,000) estimated minimum for the new facility ($74000).

Public Buildings Committee Chairman Edward Richmond proposed that Larson look into this option for the automotive center.

Larson said he already had obtained an estimate for a 1200-square-foot metal building — $68,000 complete — and had decided the School Committee would not accept the idea.

Two aldermen from Ward 8, the Newton South High ward, agreed that not only would the School Committee reject the metal building, but as Ald. Eliot Cohen said, "I anticipate tremendous opposition from the neighborhood."

Larson commented that if the automotive center wrre his, he would buy a metal one, but agreed that the School Committee probably would not.

The history of the automotive center, recounted by Finance Committee Chairman Sidney Small, indicated that the facility was to be built for initial training of high school students to learn whether they wish to pursue a complete automotive course.

If a full course is decided on, the students were to complete their training at the Newton North High automotive center, which has newer and better equipment.

The first estimate given by the School Committee was $20000 for a modest cinderblock building, to be attached to the rear of South High School. The Committee later found that fire laws would prohibit the building's being attached, and in stages the cost escalated to $115,000, including equipment.

Larson pared that down to $74,000 for a "minimum facility," and the School Department found that it will, after all, need no new equipment.

Small said Tuesday night that he is not convinced of the need for another automotive center and "will probably vote against it."

Guzzi seeking support for public financing bill

State Rep. Paul Guzzi has launched a statewide speaking tour to appeal for citizen support of public financing of political campaigns.

Rep. Guzzi, a Democrat from Newton, is author and co-sponsor of a bill that would limit private contributions and special interest groups to $50 donations to gubernatorial candidates in postprimary races. Candidates would be restricted to $150,000 in total contributions.

If the Model Public Finance Bill for 1974 passes, Guzzi anticipates it will serve as a model for eventual public financing of campaigns for major statewide offices. The second-term representative wants to deny moneyed "influence peddlers" access to political candidates.

"These changes and many others are absolutely necessary to correct a political system in which too many people have lost faith," Guzzi said. "Abuse in campaign financing is the major reason for corruption in our political system."

Rep. Guzzi is soliciting support from Bay State citizens sharing his sentiments. Local civic groups interested in scheduling him as a speaker should contact his scheduling director, Judy Holmberg, at 617-244-1871, in Newton.

Gerald Rogovin chairman-elect

Gerald A. Rogovin, president of Gerald A. Rogovin-Public Relations, inc., Newton, has been elected chairman-elect of the counselors section of the Public Relations Society of America, Inc. (PRSA).

Rogovin was elected at the Section's annual meeting in Honolulu for a one-year term.

Rogovin lives at 51 Shornecliffe Rd. in Newton. He is an accredited member of the PRSA and a past president of the New England chapter.

Fishman resolution calls for impeachment of Nixon

Senator Irving Fishman (D. Newton) has introduced a resolution in the Massachusetts Senate calling on the Massachusetts Congressional delegation to support the resolution calling for the impeachment of the President of the United States, which is now pending before the U.S. House of Representatives Judiciary Committee.

The resolution, H.R. 513, resolves "that Richard M. Nixon, President of the United States, be impeached of high crimes and misdemeanors."

"During the past year it has become increasingly apparent that Richard Nixon's conduct as President has been such to warrant a full and immediate public inquiry to determine whether or not he should remain in office," Senator Fishman said in his speech before the Senate.

"The substantial public evidence of corruption in the Nixon administration and the President's participation in the perversion of government and violations of civil liberties are so serious as to undermine public confidence in the presidency and government itself" Seantor Fishman continued.

"Until the cloud over the presidency is dispelled, until the truth comes out, all public officials - including the members of the General Court - will be affected by public doubts and cynicism.

"Impeachment does not mean guilt," Fishman said. "It simply means that sufficient evidence exists to cause a trial by the Senate of the United States."

"Impeachment has emerged as the only remaining means of providing the American people with the full truth behind Mr. Nixon's incursions against our very system of government," Fishman added. "It will bring the President out from behind the cloaks of executive privilege and national security and place him before the Senate to answer the hard questions which the public is asking.

"Without impeachment, the President will be tried in the court of public opinion, without counsel, without counsel, without the right of cross examination or any other procedural safeguards," Fishman said "Both the President and the people of the United States are entitled to see the myriad of accusations against Mr. Nixon subjected to fair trial under established procedures.

"Impeachment will provide a constitutional forum for the President to level with the American people."

Water bills to increase

A 60 per cent increase in water rates has been asked by Water Commissioner Willard Pratt in the wake of a recently announced increase in MDC assessments to cities and towns.

The increase being sought by Pratt would raise the typical annual residential water bill from $28 to $45.

The new rates would be 45 cents per 100 cubic feet of water, or 750 gallons, for users of less than 7,500 gallons per day, and increase of 17 cents per 100 cubic feet.

Users of more than 1,000 cubic feet per day would pay an increase of 13 cents per 100 cubic feet, from 21 cents to 34 cents.

The MDC announced its increase earlier this month. Its rates to cities and towns in the Metropolitan District will go up by 66 per cent.

The MDC charges to member communities a rate of nine cents per 100 cubic feet of water. The new rate, to be assessed in November, will be 15 cents.

High school students inspe

With the cooperation of Newton North High School Principal Richard Mechem and teacher Mrs. Carolyn Woodbury, students at Newton North recently began participation in Boston Gas Company's Housafari program.

Housafari was developed in 1970 as a program covering the full spectrum of housing, aimed at furnishing high school seniors with information they will need as future homeowners and apartment dwellers.

The pupils are given a choice of subject matter for slide and lecture sessions. Slide show topics selected by Newton North seniors were "Construction and Remodeling of a Home," and "My Home and the Community."

On the third day, the students embarked upon a Housafari trip: a bus journey to local housing developments. This final stage of the program varies from town to town, but a tour generally encompasses housing developments, homes under construction, model homes and apartments, condominiums, and in some instances husing factories and core-city developments.

Newton North High students visited Windsor Village Apartments on Lexington Street, Waltham; Briar Hill Estate Homes on Briarwood Road, Waltham; and "The Village Condominiums" on Belmont Street, Watertown.

Making this Housafari tour possible were: Timothy Fife, manager of Windsor Village; Ron Pedonti, developer of Briar Hill Estates; and Leo La Brache, manager of The Village Condominiums.

Since making its debut four years ago, the Housafari program has been presented to more than 2,000 high school seniors in the communities served by Boston Gas.

Two tax bills issued this year

During 1974, two property tax bills will be issued.

The first will be for the first six months of 1974. This bill will be issued as of March 15 and is payable on April 1, 1974, with interest after May 1, 1974.

The second bill will be for the fiscal year July 1, 1974 to June 30, 1975, and will be issued after July 1, 1974. The bill will be for the twelve month period, but will require two payments, one-half to be paid October 1, with interest after November 1st, and the balance to be paid April 1, 1975, with interest after May 1, 1975.

Suspended sentence in indecency case

A man charged last month with indecent assault on a child under 14 was given a six months' suspended sentence and two years' probation in Newton District Court, according to Newton police.

Edward Brown, whose last known address is Roxbury, was sentenced by Special Justice Monte G. Basbas. According to the clerk's office at the Newton District Courthouse, the sentence is being appealed in Middlesex Superior Court.

The bar in which the incident began, the 349 Lounge, was given a new license in January by the Newton Licensing Board.

Residents of Nonantum are reportedly considering a petition to the Licensing Board or the State Alcoholic Beverage Control Board to withdraw the license because of numerous disturbances in the vicinity of the bar.

The establishment has recently been sold to new owners, according to one report.

Newton people involved in bicentennial program

Ms. Nancy Conron and Timothy E. Feige are taking part in Boston's bicentennial program, Boston 200.

As administrative assistant, Ms. Conroy will be working with neighborhood organizations, cultural institutions, businesses and private citizens that are interested in participating in the celebration of the nation's two-hundredth birthday.

Ms. Conron is a graduate of Boston College where she received a Bachelor of Arts degree in elementary education in 1969.

Prior to joining Boston 200 in October, 1973 she was employed by the Archdiocese of Boston.

As director of marketing and development, Feige will be working with neighborhood organizations, cultural institutions, businesses and private citizens that are interested in participating in the celebration of the Nation's 200th birthday.

Feige graduated from Harvard Business School in 1972 and has been with the Boston 200 since July 1973.

While many activities are underway now, Boston 200 officially begins in April of 1975 and runs through to the end of 1976.

George Bush strikes a positive note for Republicans

By CYNTHIA BLACK

Republican candidates, don't be intimidated by Watergate, or the press, was the message George Bush had to deliver at the Lincoln Day Dinner last week.

Completely Black

Humorous barbs came from several speakers on the subject of Republicans sticking together in this time of trial. And it looked as though they took the admonishment seriously. At least 500 GOP faithful were packed into the Nonamtum ballroom of Post 440 for the annual dinner, called the Lincoln Day Dinner.

I have been meaning to ask one question for the last month . . . Last year, the Lincoln Day Dinner was in March. This year, the Lincoln Day Dinner was in January.

I hope no school child in Newton is ever asked on a test when Lincoln's birthday is. In fact, I've been to both dinners and I'm beginning to lose track myself.

Bush, a dynamic speaker and master of hand and facial gestures, struck an optimistic pose in discussing the fall Congressional elections. He said it is his opinion that the Republican party does not have "the kinds of problems the Democrats like to feel we have."

"And I'm not going to dwell on Watergate," he told his audience, "because I maintain we are separate from Watergate."

"In fact," he continued, "I think if the Republican National Committee hadn't been bypassed so much in that election, this situation wouldn't exist."

But it would be a mistake, Bush said, to view Watergate as the "decimation" of the GOP.

He alluded often to the number of polls taken with dismal messages for the Republicans and the amount of space the press gives to this type of information.

On the poll taken in November, 1973, in reference to the 1974 congressional elections, Bush pointed out a bleak picture was painted for his party.

"But people aren't voting in November, 1973," he said. "In 1965, the polls had the same message for Republicans and we won."

"Don't be discouraged," he told the audience of prospective candidates and party workers.

Bush also said that despite the negative poll predictions, "we won a disproportionate number of elections in 1973; elections in Maryland, California, Westfield, Mass., Virginia.

"The papers were saying these elections were going to be 'tests of Watergate' too," he observed, "at least until they were over. Then the papers had nothing to say."

Voters in our country are fair and reasonable and the party is not the loser or a gainer in a scandal.

"A political party is ongoing and I am trying to make this party appear the way that in my heart I know it is," he said.

CRUISING DOWN THE RIVER

Editorial

Don't Overlook It

Things aren't like they used to be with Uncle Sam's fighting forces.

Most people associate the military with selective service and an obligation to be met as quickly and painlessly as possible before launching on a career.

Today the picture has changed. Instead of a responsibility to be fulfilled, service in the armed forces is being stressed as an opportunity to train for a career while drawing down a halfway decent week's pay.

The authority to draft men expired last June 30, but no one has been inducted through selective service in any of the area towns since January of 1973.

Since then there has been a falling off of volunteers nationally. With the end of selective service, the incentive was gone for volunteering in a particular branch in order to avoid being drafted into an outfit that seemed less desirable. Consequently all branches of the service have been trying to induce the younger generation to look into the opportunities that exist today for those in uniform. And while the volunteers haven't exactly been beating down the doors to the local recruiting offices, there has been enough action here to indicate that young men and women of the area are not only looking to the military for a free billet for anywhere from two years up, but also to get Uncle Sam to foot the bill for an education and on job training.

Ten years ago a Joe entering the service got $75 a month and stood a fair chance of winding up shouldering a gun in a shooting war.

Compare that with $326.10 a month that a raw recruit receives today no matter what branch of the service he enters. And he is reasonably assured that he won't be engaged in armed conflict. Add free food, shelter, clothing and education, plus free medical and dental care, legal services, travel opportunities, discounts at post exchanges and commissaries, and the total benefits figure out at better than $600 a month, or about $150 a week. Then there are also lifetime veterans benefits to be considered.

With mounting problems in civilian life, including shortages of jobs and goods, the prospects for young people generally are not the best. Therefore it can be expected that more and more will be looking into the military, especially as graduation time rolls around.

Cutbacks in manpower announced by the Defense Department over the next six months, well beyond the reductions already imposed by Congress, appear so far to have had no effect on local recruiting goals. Service representatives say they have room for more.

It would be difficult to think of a career field in which some branch of the service doesn't offer training today. Categories number in the hundreds for both men and women.

Those who wish to make the service a career can enlist at 18 and retire at 38 in time to start on an entirely new life with prospects of a second retirement income. Really not a bad long-range plan for financial security.

There are today within one short block in uptown Norwood in the area of Vernon-Washington-Cottage streets recruiting offices for the United States Air Force, Army, Navy and Marines serving all towns in the Transcript reading area. Each is manned by experienced and articulate personnel who stand ready to explain the various options open to prospective recruits.

Young men and women who have preferably completed high school, who aren't on drugs, haven't tangled with the law, can pass simple qualifying tests, may just come across some eye opening information by talking with those service representatives.

There's no obligation. And there may well be opportunities there which have so far been overlooked.

Political Highlights

By JAMES G. COLBERT

Do voters favor rich or poor candidates?

Is it a political advantage to be rich or poor when a candidate for high public office discloses his financial status, including his savings, the value of his home and automobile, and his over-all net worth?

From where we sit, it's a private matter which really has no part in a political campaign. It's an invasion of privacy. But one candidate reveals how much he's worth as a publicity stunt, and the next candidate is afraid not to do so for fear the public will think he has something to hide.

Former State Representative Michael Dukakis of Brookline made known his financial worth when he announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Governor. Representative George Sacco of Medford did the same when he moved into the contest for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General.

Sacco and Dukakis unquestionably were well-intended when they revealed their financial circumstances. If the purpose of their action was to show they hadn't accumulated a lot of money while they were holding public office, they accomplished it. But in a general way their action was meaningless.

Governor Francis W. Sargent seemed a bit non-plused and taken aback when he was asked if he plans to disclose his financial status when he announces his candidacy for reelection. He said it's a question which will be met when he officially becomes a candidate for another term.

Then he made the cogent observation that it would be unfortunate if able men and women are discouraged from running for public offices because they are reluctant to lay bare their financial circumstances and made known facts which really are nobody else's business.

On the basis of Governor Sargent's answers and comments, it appeared that he is undecided whether he will divulge his own financial status when he announces his candidacy for reelection.

He observed that he has a business on Cape Cod, that he has a trust and that he owns several properties. That presumably means he is a man of substantial worth.

Sarge added that he had discussed the matter with Senator Edward M. Kennedy who is probably the wealthiest public office-holder in Massachusetts. He didn't reveal Ted's position, but one gathered it wasn't much different from his own.

Tee discussion left this listener pondering a number of questions,

Do the statements of financial worth accomplish anything beyond safisfying the curiosity of some people as to how much money political candidates have in the bank.

Is the average person more likely to vote for a candidate who has been able to build up a substantial net worth for himself and his family or for a politician of lesser financial means?

(When the late John F. Kennedy first ran for Congress back in 1946, a very astute politician told the writer many people would vote for JFK because they knew he was so wealthy he would have no reason to steal any money.)

That probably was an accurate appraisal which would indicate it is not a political handicap for a candidate to be wealthy.

What a candidate accomplishes by making public his private financial affairs is not clear to this observer. Possibly, he shows that he has no skeletons in the closet and nothing in his background to hide.

But is a man who has worked hard, saved part of his earnings, made sound or lucky investments in the stock market a better political prospect than a candidate who has not been as fortunate and has accumulated only half or a fourth as much wealth?

A candidate who reveals his financial circumstances must believe he gets votes by doing so. We're not convinced that is true.

Gov. Sargent predicts rationing of gasoline

Governor Sargent is convinced that automobile-owners in Massachusetts and throughout the United States are headed for gasoline rationing.

He believes the Nixon administration "has dragged its feet on every point" concerning the oil shortage.

"But I think they eventually will recognize that gasoline rationing is the fairest solution to the problem confronting us," the Governor asserted.

Mr. Sargent denies flatly and with some force that he was making a political ploy or staging a publicity stunt when he called the Legislature back into special session late last month to hear his recommendations for the enactment of new laws to meet the energy crisis.

He pointed out he has filed virtually the same proposals for the consideration of the law-makers at the legislative session now in progress on Beacon Hill.

"Who the hell knew there was going to be an energy crisis?" Sarge demanded when he was asked why he hadn't submitted his bills to the legislators at their regular session last year.

The answer to that question is that Governor Sargent himself had some advance warning about the threatened oil shortage and energy crisis more than a year ago but apparently was not told or did not realize the severity of the situation that loomed ahead.

Whether Governor Sargent called the legislators "sons of bitches" during a private meeting with members of the Massachusetts congressional delegation in Washington, is a matter of some dispute.

A Congressman who was in attendance says he did. Aides to the Governor insist he didn't. Several legislators, who were queried by the writer, said it doesen't matter whether he did or didn't, that he undoubtedly feels that way and the feeling is mutual.

Governor Sargent, incidentally, is wary about the effect the Watergate scandal will have upon his campaign for reelection and those of other Republican candidates who will be running in Massachusetts this year.

He cites that he never has been close to President Nixon or the Nixon administration. Nevertheless, an element of uncertainty exists as to the impact of Watergate upon Republicans and especially upon Republicans who are in office and striving to stay there.

That includes some Republican Congressmen from Massachusetts who are regarded as powerhouse vote-getters but who, nevertheless, will breathe more easily next autumn after the election results have been recorded in the history books and they have been returned to office.

Mr. Sargent is not certain that it would make much sense to finance one election campaign with public funds next fall and leave the candidates in the other election races to pay their own bills.

That was his response when he was questioned about the Bartley-Guzzi bill, now pending before the Legislature, which would limit the amounts which could be spent on the battle for the Governorship but would pay those expenses from tax revenues.

Sarge made it plain that he would be very happy to have someone other than himself pay his campaign bills so he would not have to go around passing the hat, but he was uncertain how the candidates in the other contests and their supporters would feel about the bill which singles out the gubernatorial campaign as the one which would be paid for by the people.

That poses the question of whether the candidates for Lieutenant Governor would continue to pay their own campaign bills if the gubernatorial campaign is publicly funded. The candidates for Governor and Lieutenant Governor run as a tandem. They are on a party ticket together. Both nominees of each party are either elected or defeated. It would seem they should be treated alike in the matter of campaign financing.

New message to pedestrians

Mrs. Johnson's new system, which her electrical engineer husband built to her specifications, would say just what the signals have been trying to say — "don't start."

The new system would have "don't start" and "walk" lighted together, making it clear to pedestrians that there is not enough time to get across the street from the curb but enough time to continue if they have already started.

"Don't walk" would continue to mean not to cross.

Another box would be needed at every signal installation at a cost of about $90 per location, which seems a small price for the increased safety, Mrs. Johnson said.

The addition of the "flashing walk" indication, which has recently been incorporated into the signal systems of several communities, is another faulty message that Mrs. Johnson is just beginning to take on.

She and a Waltham woman recently picketed at a corner where the flashing walk is in effect. The "walk" signal tells people to cross the street; the flashing phase is supposed to be understood by pedestrians to mean "watch for cars turning into you."

Through Mrs. Johnson's efforts to point out the dangers of the flashing walk, its use in Newton has been tabled, if not banned, by actions of the Street Traffic Committee under the former chairman, Ald. David Jackson.

The flashing walk is an optional device, Mrs. Johnson said, but many communities apparently believe that it is a part of the federally mandated Uniform Traffic Control Devices system that must be in effect nationwide by 1977.

Mrs. Johnson's mail contains letters from ordinary citizens around Boston who have read of her efforts, from manufacturers interested in her new controls, and from state and national officials expressing interest and sometimes guarded agreement with her criticism of the present signals.

Mrs. Johnson heard unofficially last week that her paper on pedestrian signals was read at a Jan. 18 meeting of the Highway Research Board in Washington and that her machine, which was presented at the meeting, has been accepted for research.

"Even though signals are supposed to be uniform throughout the country by 1977," Mrs. Johnson said, "federal officials are still open to suggestions and are constantly reviewing the mandated systems."

People who want to see Mrs. Johnson's signal system instituted should contact the Massachusetts Department of Public Works or write Mrs. Maralynn Johnson at 8 Weir St., Newton.

Playing tennis in Newton costly

(Editor's note: This letter was sent to the Recreation Dept. with a copy to the Graphic).

Dear Mr. Burke,

My name is Richard Kates. I am a senior in college and have been a resident of Newton nearly all my life. I have, like so many other people, become addicted to the game of tennis. My complaint is, that although Newton enjoys some very fine recreational facilities (i.e. tennis courts) it suffers very poor methods of allocating the use of these facilities to its citizens.

Early this past summer, I endeavored to play tennis at the Newton South High School courts, only to be frustrated by the attendant's demand for a $10 permit and a reservation.

I was, at that time extremely aggravated by the prospect of paying a $10 fee (which I could not afford and I am not alone in this category) for the privilege of playing on the courts which my father's taxes helped to build.

My disdain for the system peaked when, during the latter part of Dec. 1973, I sought playing time on the Newton North High School indoor courts. I found that a permit was required for these courts too. Upon inquiring as to the nature of this permit I found that its price was $10 and that it expired in five months rather than 12. I was advised that in the spring I could purchase a $10 permit that was good for 12 months. Yet, to this prospect I experienced the same difficulty; shortage of funds coupled with ill feelings.

I believe the time has come for a revamping of the system in favor of a far more equitable plan. I realize that there are two main problems immediately involved in allocating the use of the facilities: the facilities should be for the use of Newton residents only and the cost of an attendant must be absorbed by those using the courts and making reservations. I propose a plan which could leap these two hurdles and probably any others that could be thrown in its path.

My solution is a simple variation of the old system. Permits should be granted free of charge to all Newton residents who desire them . . . but, only to Newton residents. The cost of the attendant could be met by simply charging a nominal 25 cent fee per reservation. In this way we will not only pay for the attendant but fewer people will make reservations and subsequently never show up. Also, people will be paying as to their use of the courts. The professional man who makes his own hours obviously has more time to play than the working man.

A common $10 fee in this, which is a common case is not exactly just. Upon closer inspection, many other attributes as to the ease and egalitarian nature of this plan may be found.

I respectfully submit my plan as a serious suggestion of improvement to the current system. I also urge you to consider the fact that while I am one person, I am speaking on the behalf of many disgruntled Newton residents who merely do not know the right channels through which to guide their disdain.

NCDF letter 'inaccurate'

Editors and Citizens:

I would like to answer the letter written by Letitia Angleone published in this paper last week. I attended the public hearing on the NCDF proposal for the Thompsonville area sire. Mrs. Angleone's letter was emotional and inaccurate in several instances.

NCDF has presented a plan which is modest in size and has many requirements which will maintain a good "quality of life" in the proposed area. They have taken pains to deal with conservationists' and neighbors' concerns.

Let us be frank, fair and unemotional about this issue. Newton has one of the poorest records of planning for and providing housing for moderate and low-income families when compared with other Boston suburbs. I believe that it is our obligation to supply good housing for these groups. Please join with me in attending the meeting to be held in City Hall on Monday evening, Feb. 4th, so we can support sorely needed housing for moderate and low-income families.

A statement on Metco students

To the Editor:

A newspaper account of last Wednesday's Newton School Committee meeting focused on the difficulty of cutting expenses and staff (and eventually closing of a school) to fit a declining enrollment in Newton.

The account ended: "There were few persons present at Wednesday night's meeting other than a large number of school personnel."

Mrs. David Dwelley was among those other "few" and at the end of a long evening presented the proposal below. It was intended to trigger interest, reaction and broad discussion.

It is interesting that a Wellesley newspaper carried an article recently that described that town's policy to invite Metco students to fill the "empty seats" in their system. Perhaps this is the time to look at ways in which the Newton school system might also continue to provide good education at full capacity.

Arthur Barnes
Norumbega Association

Remarks addressed to the Newton School Committee Jan. 16, 1974, by Ann Dwelley.

We have a concern about the cost of operating our school system. As enrollment starts down and as it is predicted to continue on a downward trend for some years to come, something obviously must be done to relieve the tax burden on Newton citizens. However, there are alternatives for the accomplishment of this relief, alternative to the proposal for the laying off of experienced staff members and the eventual closing of a grade school.

Norumbega Association recommends a regional perspective in most matters involving public functions — as well as the more basic municipal viewpoint. In public education, as in many other fields, we are a part of a metropolitan region with a growing realization of responsibility for a share of the needs of the total population of the region.

Therefore, we suggest consideration of an approach to our problems similar to that used by industry when an in-house machine shop (for example) finds its back orders gone and its loading down to 90 percent. Temptation is great to lay off and cut back, dislocating good mechanics and idling good capital equipment. A solution that has been used constructively is to take on "outside work" pricing it to carry the cost of continuing operation of the shop.

We suggest a similar approach to our 1974 problem in the Newton elementary schools.

Specifically, we suggest that the grade school enrollment of 1972-73 be accepted as a base norm for the system as a whole. We than look at 1974-75 projections and use the shrinkage difference as an indication of the amount of "outside work" we are willing to accept. Ideally this figure (perhaps 300 pupils) could be programmed by realignment of elementary school boundaries, so that roughly equivalent numbers of open seats in each of the elemtnary schools of the city become available.

Ideally we should invite outside students to come into our system from Boston:

1. Where need is great — for good education.
2. Where relief in the magnitude of one school's capacity would allow them to forego the expense of building a new school.
3. Where the cost savings of not hiring new teachers or amortizing the capital cost of facilities will allow them to reimburse Newton adequately.
4. Where the resulting life-learning experience for Newton elementary students will be enriched and better prepare them for the real world of 1980-85.

The essence: Let's take the burden off Newton's taxpayers as suggested by Supt. Fink, but by an alternative method that has subsidiary benefits for the region and, we beliefe, for Newton as well.

Assume a cutback of 30 staff — a saving of $300,000 — against an "outside contract" to teach 300 Boston elementary children at $1,250 each — total $375,000. The figures are illustrative only, but we'd like to have the concept at least looked at.

Police officers certified

The Newton Police Union, a branch of the Massachusetts Police Association recently certified its officers.

They include: Patrolman John Quinn, president; Patrolman John Roman, secretary; Patrolman Raymond Thibault, treasurer; Lieutenant William Dowling, Sergeant John Likely, Detective Richard Halloran, Sergeant Walter Haywood, board of directors.

Also, Patrolman Martin Daly, Sergeant Robert McDonald, and Patrolman George Austin, collective bargaining committee; and Patrolman Michael Volpe, Patrolman Richard Toli, and Detective Edward Meredith, grievance committee.

Change policy, save milk

Dear Editor:

I would like to call to your attention the amount of milk wasted at our public schools.

In our cafeteria, there is a cold lunch line, and a hot lunch line. In the cold lunch line, foods like hot dogs, hamburgers, and sandwiches are featured, including a variety of drinks: white milk, coffee milk, chocolate milk, and orange juice.

In our hot lunch line, the lunch varies from day to day. The lunch ranges from spaghetti to chop suey, and includes a vegetable, a potato or bread of some type, and white milk.

Buth this is our problem. The government insists that we have a nourishing meal, including white milk. If, however, you do not like white milk, or "just don't feel like it," you are required to take it anyhow.

This is where the waste begins. Students go through the hot lunch line and take the required milk. If they do not want it, they merely throw it out. All of these hundreds of milks could be given to more needy children, but instead, they are wasted by junior high students.

So, I think that students should not have to take the milk if they do not wish it — then imagine how many milks would not be wasted.

Think about it! !

Keep school hours

To the Editor:

As parents of children in the Newton elementary schools, we strongly urge the Newton School Committee to maintain the current school hours.

At the time of the initial change of hours, many personal schedules had to be rearranged in order to accommodate the new hours; this having been accomplished, it seems ludicrous to have to go through this process of again rearranging schedules to go back to the old hours.

We have inquired but have not been able to find out why the school day originally started at such an early hour (8:15 a.m.). There does not seem to be any strong reason for beginning the school day at that time.

Since there does not seem to be a valid justification for awakening small children between 6:30 and 6:45 a.m. to get them ready for school, we ask the School Committee not to change the current school hours.

We also ask that all parents who are interested in this issue call and write both the Newton School Committee and Aaron Fink, superintendent of schools, at the same address: 265 Watertown St., 969-9810.

Grossman's Lumber opens three Wisconsin stores

Three grand openings in one day on Wednesday, January 23, in Wisconsin, marked the growth of Grossman's lumber and building material outlets in the midwest, headed by William Van Note, operations manager-Wisconsin.

Radiating from Milwaukee, the hub of Grossman's midwest operations, the three stores, all new construction, are located in Watertown, Fond du Lac and Oshkosh. This brings to 10 the number of stores the company has in this area.

Managers are David Hasenstein at Watertown, Robert Triolo at Fond du Lac, and Gerald Newkirk at Oshkosh. Hasenstein joined Grossman's when the firm acquired six Yankee Builders Supply outlets in Wisconsin two years ago, retaining many of its employees. Triolo was Grossman's former assistant manager in Hudson, N. Y., while Newkirk formerly managed Grossman's in Johnstown, N. Y.

The Watertown and Oshkosh opening both take place at 10. o'clock in the morning with Mayor Carl Kolata of Watertown and City Manager Gordon Jaeger of Oshkosh participating in board cutting ceremonies. City Manager Myron Medin of Fond du Lac presided at a similar ceremony at 3 o'clock in the afternoon in his city.

Kenneth Gee of Wellesley, executive vice president-operations, jepresented Grossman's headquarters in Braintree, as will Regional Manager Jerry Peters.

All vehicles must have proper titles

The head of the Registry of Motor Vehicles's Title Division today reminded motorists in Massachusetts that any vehicle purchased in the state must be titled. Richard P. Coburn said that vehicles ten years old or less must be titled regardless of whether they are registered or not.

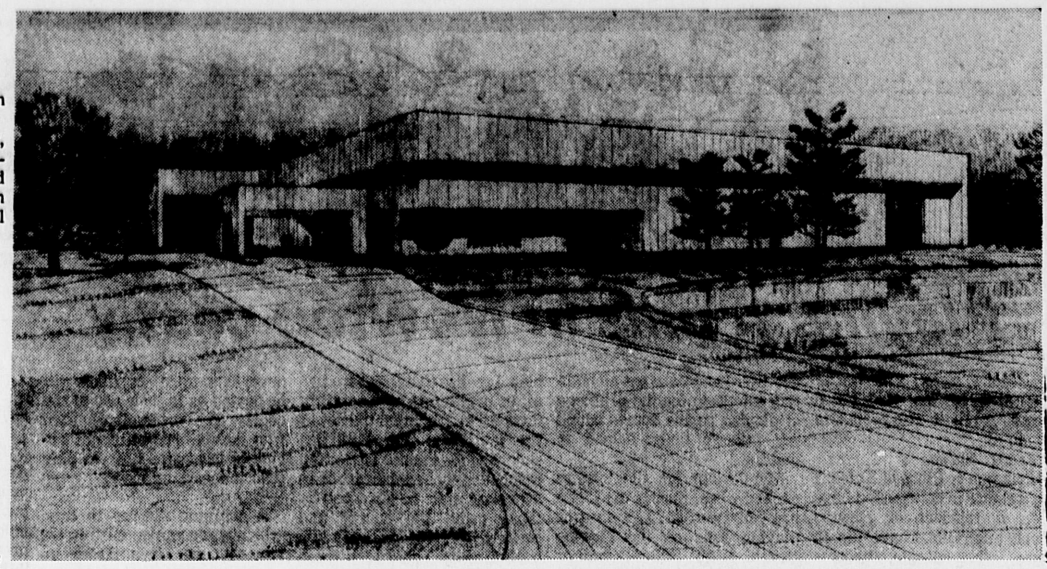

Coburn warned that motorists are required to title all vehicles purchased in the state since the effective date of the Commonwealth title law which went into effect in September of 1972.

The certificate of title is now considered the primary proof of ownership on all vehicles changing hands since the title law took effect.

Australia Beckons

LONDON (UPI) — Crisis conditions in the British economy have led to a boom in emigration to Australia.

Visiting Australian Immigration Minister Albert Grassby said requests for information on emigration jumped 50 per cent since November. A local travel agency said its sales of one-way tickets to Australia and New Zealand soared 300 per cent.

New store

Paine Furniture announces that a new store of modern design with climate control is planned to be opened this summer on Route 114 in Danvers. This 52,000 square foot store is being constructed so as to best preserve the existing setting of trees and countryside. Renowned throughout New England, Paine's will bring to the area 140 years of experience and expertise as a leader in the home furnishings field, as well as a staff of highly skilled interior designers. A complete range of quality home furnishings and accessories will be offered, including gifts, lamps, rugs, imports, draperies, antiques, etc.

Randolph and Sharon branches for First Federal Savings

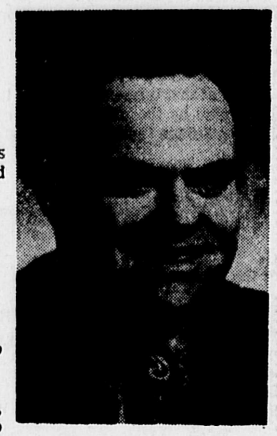

One of the oldest and most respected Federally-chartered savings and loan institutions in Massachusetts has opened branch offices in Randolph and Sharon.

Afte a highly successful move into the tri-Town area in Stoughton with its first branch outside metropolitan Boston, First Fedeal Savings will offer its full line of financial services in the Sharon Shopping Center and the Randolph Shopping Center.

(The Randolph branch will be temporarily oused in a free-standing facility in front of the permanent location, which is presently under construction.)

Of the twin openings, Richard E. Hale, president of First Federal Savings, commented: "In less than a year, we've made many new friends at out Cobb Corner location. I think that more than anything convinced us to bring First Federal Savings closer to even more people in this general area."

According to Hale, all financial services of First Federal Savings will be available: Savings accounts, mortgage loans, home improvement loans, travelers checks, savings bonds and money orders.

APPOINTED VICE PRESIDENT, engineering services for Star Market is David B. Moffatt, Woodland road, Auburndale, according to an announcement by President John M. Mugar, head of the 58-store supermarket chain. A member of the Boston Society of Civil Engineers, he joined Star in 1969 as director of engineering services. A 1957 graduate of Tufts University, College of Engineering, he has pursued graduate studies at Babson College and University of Connecticut.

Pension bill appears certain to pass

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A bill to assure workers that the pensions they anticipate actually will be paid upon retirement advances to the House floor for approval early next month.

The House Ways and Means Committee finished weeks of drafting the measure Monday. The Senate passed a similar bill, 93-0, last September and final action seems certain this year.

Both bills would require that workers with 15 years' service would be fully vested—assured of receiving their accrued pension benefits.

Firms are given 40 years to set aside adequate funds to meet their pension obligations. An insurance fund is to be created to pay pensions to workers whose employers go bankrupt. s

No Offer Required0

Nothing in the legislation, however, requires a firm to offer a pension plan or stipulates how much it must pay retirees. Pensions paid today average $141 a month.

The House bill would regulate all 350,000 existing private pension plans which cover an estimated 25 million to 30 million workers—less than half of the nation's 80 million civilian work force.

Under the vesting provisions, a worker with five years experience would receive 25 per cent of his pension upon retirement. His vested right would grow each year until he is fully vested after 15 years.

Susie Mac

By SUSIE McDOUGAL

Dear Susie Mac: Robert and I were married a few months ago. After a few weeks he changed completely. He quit his job and stayed around the house all day while I footed the bills. I'd bought a car, and he wanted to drive it (with no driver's license). I refused, and he began to beat me. He threw me into a wall, and since then I've had splitting headaches and backaches.

Well, I got tired of it all and my mother recommended her lawyer to start a divorce. I talked to Robert about it, and again he changed. He got a job and told me to quit mine because he would take care of me for the rest of his life, so I did.

Now, a month later, he's on his beating thing again. I cannot afford a divorce. I can't even afford a new pair of pantyhose! I'm trying to get another job, but he keeps taking my carfare for interviews.

I need help desperately. We have no children, and I don't have the slightest idea of what to do.

Through With Marriage

Dear Through: Nobody said you had to put up with the bum. That's what the Legal Aid Society is all about. Give them a call and you'll have a lawyer — and you won't have to give up wearing pantyhose, either.

Foreman defends

NEW YORK (UPI) — George Foreman, the globe-trotting, world heavyweight champion, signs today to make his second title defense against Ken Norton in Caracas, Venezuela on March 26.

As reported last Friday by UPI, the fight will be staged in the new Polideportivo Stadium, which can accommodate 15,000 spectators.

The negotiations were carried out by Aldemaro Romero, president of the stadium, who had the backing of the Venezuelan government, and Hank Schwartz, executive vice president of Video Techniques, which put the package together.

Foreman has been guaranteed $700,000 against 40 per cent of all rights while Norton will earn $200,000 against 20 per cent.

Foremah, who gained the crown by scoring a second round technical knockout over Joe Frazier last year in Kingston, Jamaica, made his first defense last September in Tokyo against Joe Roman. Foreman took less than one round to dispose of Roman.

Friars still No. 1 in NE

BOSTON (UPI) — Providence College has survived its two strongest regional challenges to maintain the top spot among New England's Division I college basketball teams, according to the latest UPI coaches poll.

The Friars, 16-2, staved off Boston College by one point in overtime last week to keep its record perfect against New England opponents. A week earlier Providence had nipped Massachusetts by one point.

For its efforts, Providence received 16 of 17 first place ballots cast en route to 84 points.

Massachusetts, 12-2, finished second for the ninth straight week, picking up the other first place vote among 66 points.

Boston College, 11-5, held onto third place with 42 points, while Connecticut, 11-4, and winner of seven straight, finished fourth with 38 points.

Fairfield, conducting a see-saw battle with Brown, climbed back into fifth position with 18 points. The Stags are 9-5.

Points are awarded on a descending scale with a first place vote worth five points.

Remembered

Nonantum Post 440 honored former alderman Edward C. Uehlein (center) with a special citation in recognition of his assistance to the post and his dedication to the good of the community as a five-term member of the Board of Aldermen. The presentation was made at the Lincoln Day Dinner. Shown with Uehlein are Mayor Theodore D. Mann (left) and Alan W. Licarie of Post 440 (right).

Heath trying to head off strike

LONDON (UPI) — The government of Prime Minister Edward Heath has begun secret contacts with union and industry leaders in an attempt to head off a disastrous coal mine strike, it was disclosed today.

Government sources said officials were conducting behind-the-scenes contacts with leaders of the 10-million-member Trades Union Congress (TUC) and the Confederation of British Industry (CBI), which represents 12,000 companies.

The sources said the peace moves, still in an early stage, were a possible way out of Britain's crippling economic crisis, described by the government as the worst since World War II.

A slowdown by the nation's 269,000 coal miners, an overtime ban by 29,000 railroad engineers and Arab oil cutbacks have combined to cut Britain's fuel supplies and force Heath to impose a three-day work week.

The coal miners were expected to vote Thursday and Friday in favor of escalating their slowdown into a potentially disastrous nationwide strike on Feb. 10.

The miners were demanding a 30 per cent pay rise, but the state-run National Coal Board has offered only the 16.5 per cent allowed by Heath's antiinflation wage guidelines.

The government's Pay Board, in a possible move to break the coal deadlock, issued a report last week saying wage ceilings might be lifted for workers in vital industries. Government sources said Coal Board Chairman Derek Ezra has suggested the Pay Board consider guideline exceptions for miners.

Heath told Parliament Tuesday the government was ready to look into the possibility of exceptions for miners "as soon as the TUC and the Confederation of British Industry are prepared to."

Labor party opposition leader Harold Wilson wrote Heath Tuesday urging the prime minister to take the initiative in calling a meeting with the TUC and the confederation.

The coal miners also made tentative peace moves. Mineworkers President Joe Gormley expressed hopes for last-minute talks with the government even if his union members vote for the Feb. 10 strike.

Mine leaders said, however, they have won pledges from railroad and transport unions to block coal shipments to power stations and industry if the strike starts.

National Flag

KINGSTON, Jamaica (UPI) — Jamaica's national flag has a diagonal gold cross separating black sections on the sides and green sections on the top and bottom.

The black stands for hardships the nation has overcome or faces, the gold represents natural wealth and the sunshine, and the green stands for hope and agricultural resources. The flag's official symbolism is: "Hardships there are but the land is green and the sun shineth."

Backyard frontier

By POLLY BRADLEY
Mass. Audubon Society

A seaside park with benches where the elderly can relax and watch the crashing waves. . . a marsh which welcomes thousands of ducks and geese, as well as hundreds of human observers. . . a pond with a footpath around it, where young married couples like to come carrying their babies by papoose-a-pack. . . all over the country almost 11,000 projects to purchase and develop public outdoor recreation areas have been funded half by the federal Land and Water Conservation Fund and half by the state or local communities.

This year the program is continuing - unfortunately not funded as strongly as many would like to see but it is nevertheless continuing, and gradually new areas are being added to the store of conservation lands which will be a "Legacy of Parks" for future generations.

Of the $66 million appropriated nationally for the 1974 fiscal year, $4,280,861 went to the six New England states.

The following apportionments were announced by the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation:

Massachusetts - $1,105,011; Connecticut - $831,117; Rhode Island - $624,455; Maine - $591,316, New Hampshire - $577-851; and Vermont - $551,111.

Since the Land and Water Conservation Fund was started in 1965, over $24.5 million has been allocated to Massachusetts, according to the Massachusetts Department of Natural Resources. In fiscal 1973, nearly $2.9 million was paid in reimbursements to the Commonwealth and its towns and cities.

Massachusetts, like many states, also offers additional state aid to communities undertaking projects under the Land and Water Conservation Fund. By using both federal and state aid, a community may buy and develop recreational lands for only 25 percent of the cost. The other 75 percent may be paid for by the Land and Water Conservation Fund and the Massachusetts Self-Help Program funds.

Applications for Land and Water Conservation Fund grants are channeled through state Outdoor Recreation Liaison Officers to the regional offices of the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation. Projects must be in accord with the state's comprehensive outdoor recreation plan.

New Englanders may obtain the name and address of their state Outdoor Recreation Liaison Officer and a fact sheet on the Land and Water Conservation Fund program by sending a post card to the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, Federal Building, 600 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa. 19106.

Concert by Zamir Chorale on Feb. 24

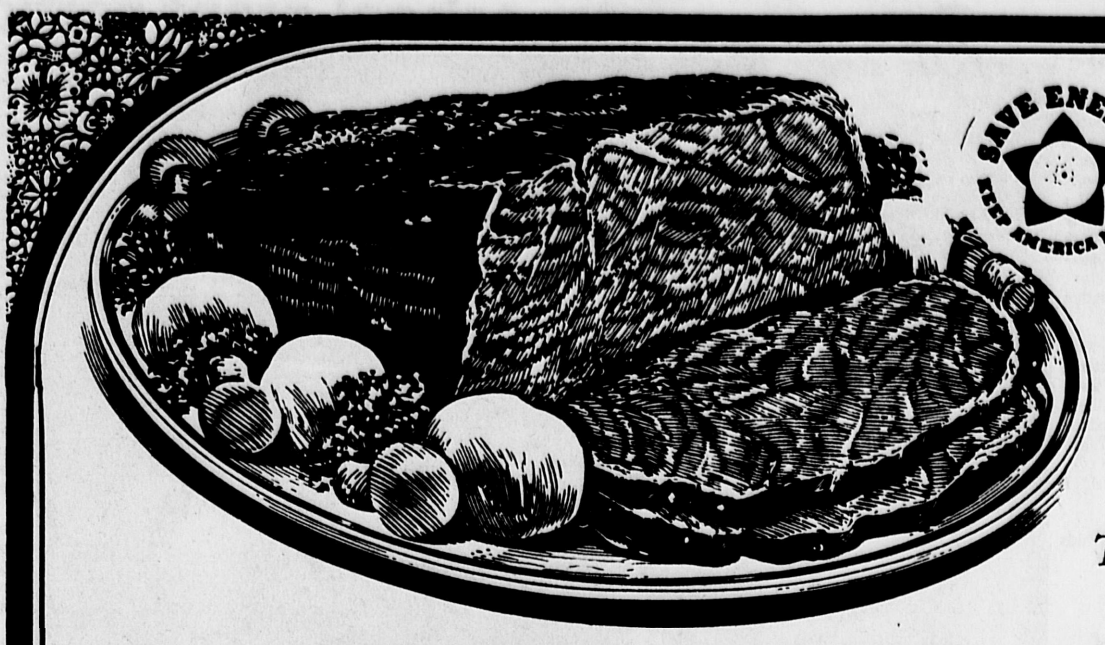

The Museum of Fine Arts, together with Collage, the contemporary music ensemble of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, presents a series of concerts in conjunction with the Museum's contemporary exhibitions. The first concert, complementing the paintings of Horacio Torres, will be at 8 p.m. Feb. 3 in the Museum's Contemporary Gallery.

Virtuoso jazz trumpeter, Clerk Terry, will be the featured soloist. The program includes works by Gunther Schuller, Luciano Berio, Mario Davidovsky, as well as pieces by Robert Fritz and Charles Schwartz, presented for the first time.

Collage is a recently formed group which received much attention and critical acclaim in Boston last year. They will perform again at the Museum March 31 during an exhibition of metal sculpture by Michael Steiner and in May with an exhibition of neon light and rope sculpture by Christopher Sproat and Robert Rohm.

This concert series, sponsored by the Museum's Department of Contemporary Art, is made possible with support from the Massachusetts Council on the Arts and Humanities.

Tickets are available at the Huntington Avenue door only one hour prior to the performance. For further information call 267-9300, Ext. 266.

Are you 'Mr. Fit?'

Beginning Feb. 11, Newton men between the ages of 35 and 57 will have the chance to participate in a national heart attack prevention program called "Mr. Fit" (Multiple Risk Factor Intervention Trial).

Eligibility for this six-year study in preventive medicine will be determined by a twnty minute screening at the Newton - Wellesley Hospital, according to Dr. Arthur Baldwin, Director of Screening, and former chief of medicine at the Newton - Wellesley Hospital. Appointments for the free screening can be made by calling the "Mr. Fit" numer — 731-4040 — at the Greater Boston Chaptec of the Mass. Heart Association.

Screening hours are 4 p.m. to 8 p.m., Monday through Thursday in the ambulatory services area of the hospital.

The director of the Greater Boston "Mr. Fit" program is Dr. James E. Dalen, assistant professor of medicine at Harvard Medical School, a cardiologist who is associate director of the cardiovascular laboratory at thePeter Bent Brigham Hospital.

"Mr. Fit" is sponsored in the Greater Boston area by Harvard School of Public Health and Greater Boston Chapter, Mass. Heart Association, and is funded by the U.S. Public Health Service.

A pilot screening was held in Milton in November, making Newton the second community in Boston to participate in the program. At the screening, men will have their blood pressure taken, cholesterol levels checked, and will be asked a few questions about their health. Results of these tests will be reported to the participant and his physician. There will be no charge for this important health check-up.

Men accepted into the study may have the chance to enter a program designed to help them stop smoking, lower their cholesterol levels and reduce their blood pressure. These changes in lifestyle are expected to reduce their risk of heart attack.

Call now to improve your odds for a healthier, longer life.

Beaver country school grant participant

Expansion

Inspecting art books for the grant collection are (from left) School Librarian Mildred Wagner; John Marksbury, director of development; Hilary Harwood, class of 1974; and Karl Tabery, chairman of the Art Dept.

A joint project involving the Beaver Country Day School, Chestnut Hill, and seven other private schools in the Boston area has won a special Title II grant from the State Department of Education.

The $4,000 grant was awarded for a "Study of North American Arts," a collection of materials compiled by the Cooperative Library Association for sharing among member libraries.

For the next two months it is Beaver's turn to offer this resource package which includes books, filmstrips, slides and records on all aspects of the arts. Many classes plan to coordinate their studies with the material or to develop mini-courses; independent study is also being urged.

The project is a good demonstration of how cooperative effort among schools can make new programs available and to find new ways of funding them.

The "Study of North American Arts" is a compendium of all the arts which did not exist in the collection of member libraries nor was within the reach of one school's budget to provide.

Other schools who are participating in the project are: Belmont Hill School, Brimmer and May School, Dana Hall, Noble & Greenough, Rivers Country Day School, Saint Mark's, and Winsor School.

Newton bicentennial group formed

The Newton American Revolutionary Bicentennial Committee has proposed Newton's agenda for the Bicentennial celebration that will take place nationwide between April, 1975 and November, 1976.

All-Newton projects that are already planned and will be incorporated into the Newton Bicentennial celebration are the arboretum on Commonwealth Avenue, bicycle paths, improvement of Newton's historic cemeteries, improvement of historical markers throughout the city, a People's Fair at City Hall, historical bus trips, and special programs at the library and by the DAR and veterans' groups.

New projects suggested by the Bicentennial Committee are the formation of bicentennial committees in each village, local beautification programs for each village, and square dances in each village.

Tourist service proposed by the committee would include lists of available lodgings in the city and the distribution of pamphlets about historical sites.

The committee would also like to prepare booklets on local historical personalities for use in local schools and will encourage the schools to form their own plans for the Bicentennial celebration.

French teacher needs homes for visiting students

Newton high School French teacher David Phelan hopes to establish a French colony in Newton this summer.

Phelan is the central Massachusetts director of AVEL, a French-based organization that places French students in American home.

Phelan, who lived in France for two years, said he "tries to get as many of my own students as possible involved in the program."

"It's a great way for a student who is taking French to bring the whole experience alive," he observed.

Although AVEL is not an exchange program, he said many American young people are invited to pay a visit to France after the French students visit here.

Last year, 25 students were placed in Newton, Phelan said, and host families here had many nice things to say about the summer-long experience.

Families interested in playing host to a French guest this summer can call Phelan at Newton North High School or collect at 1-481-6516.

The Newton Recreation Department is sponsoring figure skating lessons for girls on Saturday mornings at the Cleveland Circle M.D.C. skating rink.

There are openings at all levels of skating including beginners through advanced. Professional instructors teach. Grades one through three meet from 9 a.m. to 10 a.m. Grades four through high school will meet from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m. This program has been expanded to include junior high and high school students.

The fee for the six week session will be $6.00 payable on Saturday, Feb. 2 at the Cleveland Circle rink prior to the start of the class a person will be taking.

Francis P. Frazier caps school career

Former School Committeeman Francis P Frazier was honored by approximately 150 friends and associates at a dinner this week at American Legion Post 440.

Franzier served on the Newton School Committee from 1940 to 1973. He worked with six mayors and six school superintendents. He was principal of William Howard Taft Junior High School in Brighton from 1951 until 1961.

Mayor Theodore D. Mann presented Frazier with a key to the city. "There are members of the School Committee who were not born when Frank Frazier began giving service," Mann commented. "We hold a special place for you in our hearts."

Harold B. Gores, superintendent of Newton schools from 1949-1958, presented Frazier with an honorary degree from the gathering making Frazier a "doctor of education." Gores thanked Frazier for "helping to make Newton what it is."

Former Superintendent Charles E. Brown said, "I want to pay tribute to a man who is as selfless as anyone I know."

Present Superintendent Aaron Fink remarked that "Frank always kept us on our toes.

"Frank was always sensitive to the community and the kids," Fink said. "He was fair. I never heard a word of anger while I was sitting next to him; there was frequently a word of caution, and always a word of compassion."

Wendell R. Bauckman, chairman emeritus of the Board of Aldermen, presented Franzier with a resolution passed unanimously by the Board of Aldermen.

The resolution noted that Frazier "served this City, State and Country faithfully and well for over half a century, including 34 years as a member of the Newton School Committee with six mayors and six superintendents."

"Frank and I have served pretty much the same third of a century in Newton," Bauckman commented. "Frank has related the past to the present. Frank has always served the best interests of the boys and girls," Bauckman added. "You did your homework."

Former state representative Joseph G. Bradley presented Frazier with a citation from the state legislature.

Manuel Beckwith, chairman emeritus of the Newton School Committee, said that "Frank is a gentleman."

"I am proud to have been his friend and associate all these years."

Beckwith added that "the School Committee has informally agreed unanimously and quickly to authorize the naming of the School Committee room at F.A. Day in honor of Frank Frazier."

Service Centers announce annual dinner speaker

Arthur Martin, chairman of this years' Annual Dinner of the Newton Community Service Centers, Inc. announced that David S. Liederman, director of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts Office For Children, will be the featured speaker for this event.

Scheduled for Tuesday evening, Feb. 12, the dinner will be preceded by a reception coordinated by Mrs. David B. Cooper, Mrs. Frank C. Wheelock, Mrs. J. Seymour McLean, Mrs. Augustus P. Castoldi, and Seymour McLean.

The speaker of the evening has a vast record of achievement. He received a B.A. from the University of Massachusetts, a masters of education at Springfield College, and a master's of social work in group work from the University of Pittsburgh. His professional experience includes: social service center director in the Orchard Park Housing Project; Roxbury Federation of Neighborhood Centers assistant director; family relocation director for the South End Urban Renewal Project, and he has served as an urban consultant for the Harvard Medical School, field placement instructor at the Boston College School of Social Work, and as a lecturer and assistant professor of social work at Boston University.

Liederman served as a member of the State Legislature representing the 17th Middlesex District from 1968 to 1972. He was known for his efforts on behalf of legislation relative to housing and public welfare. His effort resulted in his being cited by organizations such as the Malden Chamber of Commerce which provided him with the "Malden Mover" award in 1969, and in 1970 he was named "Social Worker of the Year" by the Eastern Mass. Chapter of the National Association of Social Workers.

He is recognized for his efforts as a member of the Governor's Special Commission on the Status of Women and actively in organizations such as Mass. Legislators Association, National Association of Social Workers, National Association of Housing and Redevelopment Officials, and was active in the mid 60's in the Metropolitan Boston Settlement. Association of whch the NCSC Inc. played a vital role.

For additional information on this meeting contact the centers at 969-5906.

Newton man reappointed

Charles M. Daley, president of the Massachusetts Federation of Nursing Homes (MFNH), has announced the reappointment of Sidney R. Neustadt as chairman for 1974 of the federation's public safety-construction and OSHA committee.

Neustadt, who resides in Newton, is a former assistant attorney general in Massachusetts.

He is a past president of the federation. The membership of the Federation includes over 400 long term care facilities in the Commonwealth.

Money pledged to Cox cancer center

A private donation in excess of $500,000 for the new Cox Cancer Center at the Massachusetts General Hospital (MGH) was announced recently by MGH Board of Trustees Chairman John E. Lawrence and General Director Dr. Charles A. Sanders.

The funds come from the estate of the late Miss Mary E. Tennis of Newton. Beyond a pledged sum of $500,000, the hospital will receive a further, yet undetermined amount as a result of the Newton woman's will.

The executors of Miss Tennis's estate, Mr. David E. Mintz and Mr. Robert O. Cummings, have presented the MGH with a $250,000 check as part of the donation.

The Cox Building, now under construction, will house most of the various methods of cancer treatment under one roof. It will attempt to bring closer cooperation between many cancer specialists and make treatment more accessible to patients.

In Miss Tennis's memory, the MGH will name the tumor clinic waiting areas in the Cox Building, "The Mary E. Tennis Waiting Rooms."

Miss Tennis, a onetime patient at the MGH, was for several years the proprietress of the Daree Gown and Hat Shop, Newbury St., Boston.

Polka Dot Dazzler

Raindrops keep falling . . .

Today's features by Ruth Lenson

Into each month some rain must fall, and since there's little you can do about it why not enjoy it by wearing attractive stylish rainy day clothes.

The wear-everywhere raincoat has replaced the spring coat and little wonder. Designers have done away with the dreary beige raincoat image and have come up with rain-and-shine gear that is more than purely utilitarian.

One of the brightiest young stars of the fashion scene, Mary Ann Restivo, has designed the new Spring '74 line for Pigooia, a new division of Count Romi, the famed rainwear maker.

Working with imported featherweight poplins, some of them rubberized, tie dye corduroys, awning stripes, quilted calico, perky polka dots, she has designed a whole line of clother . . . not just coats . . . that spell youth and sophistication.

Trench coat looks with new body slimming lines, a rubberized balmacaan can be worn belted or not, a stitched riding coat looks great over pants or a skirt. A rain dress with an elasticized waist is sure to become its owner's favorite any weather dress. 'a tucked jacket has custom dressmaker quality, a Provencal quilted cotton print has a red bias bound hem.

Coat shapes are as individual as today's woman—raincoats don't hide in the closet any more, waiting for the first signs of storm. They're all done up in lovely silk-like Qiana, ire, tussah, moir, and double for travel or a night on the town.

There's nothing so sad as wearing dull colored clothes on gray mornings. Stores will be full of surprise fabrics and bright happy colors. Maybe a screaming sulphur yellow isn't your thing, perhaps a turquoise coat belted and buttered in violet is more your style.

Your raincoat needn't even be a coat this coming season, you may opt for one of the new dashing pant suits. A safari pants suit to wear in the rain has a shirt jacket with set-in waistband and no-cuff pants.

Short rain jackets are very popular this coming season, some with elasticized waistbands. First introduced by Hubert de Givenchy of Paris, the smocklike pants coat in waterproof cotton gabardie is a perfect rin or shine coat and looks perfect when worn with matching or plaid pants.

Costumes are now the big thing in rain fashions. Many designers have purposely done polka dot or paisley linings on their jackets or coats with matching dressmaker blouses or scarves for added zip.

Coordinated [illegible], skirts, shirts. shorts. dresses and headscarfs or hats make it a one-look classic right in step with today's quieter fashions. The fit is never stiff—the appearance is easy and relaxed and it's the new fabrics that make it all happen.

Rubberized cotton polyester that is featherweight and supple. The riding coat style has been copied in many rainy day fashions. When done in bright scarlet with navy top stitching, it's enough to make any fashionable sing, "Rain, rain come again—to stay."

The young crowd has a world of shiny oilcloth rain gear to choose from. Vivid hued slickers in hooded as well as fisherman styling offers a bright look as well as excellent protection from the elements. Some coats come complete with matching hats.

Good old reliable denim, rain treated, has top white stitching, white buttons and belt and is slated to become a spring best seller. Though the color trend is towards the neutrals, patriotic reds, white and blue will still be spring favorites.

A random sampling ofrain fashions: The look of the Orient in Mary Ann Restivo's light weight poplin shirt-dress coat with a mandarin collar closing. A matching hat and black and white polka dot scarf completes the look.

A quilted calico coat dress reverts to its reverse pattern for collar and cuff detailing. A matching off-the-face brimmed hat is availale. The wrap coat of tie-dyed cotton corduroy—with winged collar, self sash, inset pockets give it a young, slim look.

A word of caution in the purchase of your rain wear. Read labels carefully to see if the item is waterproof or simply water-repellent. Dry cleaning will remove the water repellency after several cleanings, or even the first one if not approached with caution; it's a simple and inexpensive process to make them water-repellent. Also, your rubberized rainwear should be wet-cleaned. It's a good idea to seek the advice of your dry cleaner.

Though the clear bubble umbrella is still finding acceptance, it's the jumbo umbrella that is coming into importance. Umbrella coverings are wildly imaginative—sunshine colors with plaids mixing with stripes and polka dots.

By the way, are you one of those who forgets your umbrella wherever you go? Why not get an ID dog tag or one of those identification cards with a chain and fasten it around your umbrella handle.

People have a way of complaining bitterly when it rains—it seems such a shame to allow climate to limit your lifestyle—so, put on that happy rain gear of yours and go—go—go!!!

Information Please

This is the reader's column. If you have a question or a recipe to share with other readers, please write to: Information Please, Transcript Newspapers, 420 Washington Street. Dedham, Mass. 02026.

When we heard about the popularity of Mrs. Naomi Stein's Apricot Squares and Shrimp Dip, we asked if she would share them with our readers, and here they are:

APRICOT SQUARES

3¼ cups all purpose flour
¾ cup sugar
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup shortening
1 egg, beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 small jars apricot jam

Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder, and salt. Add shortening, egg, vanilla. Mix with fork or crumble with fingers until in small pieces. Spread ½ of the mixture on pan and pat with hand. Spread on jam. Distribute balance of mixture on top of jam and pat gently. Bake in 350 degree oven for 45 minutes. Cut into squares.

SHRIMP DIP

¾ cup shrimp
½ cup mayonnaise
½ cup sour cream
¼ cup catsup
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon horseradish

Grate shrimp in blender; combine other ingredients and then add shrimp.

A recent Bagel recipe request from a reader was answered and now we have another for her to add to her files, Beer Bagels. This recipe is quite easy to make and though I detect a trace of beer flavor (which is not unpleasant) others do not — so here it is for you to try:

BEER BAGELS

2 pkgs. active dry yeast
4½ cups sifted all purpose flour
1½ cups lukewarm beer
3 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon salt

Combine yeast and 2 cups of the sifted flour. Heat beer until lukewarm. Combine beer, sugar and salt. Add to yeast mixture. Beat at low speed of electric mixer for ½ minute. Beat 3 minutes at high speed. Stir in, by hand, enough of the remaining flour to make a moderately stiff dough. Turn onto a floured surface and knead until smooth; approximately 8 minutes. Cover. Let rest for 15 minutes. Separate into 10 or 12 portions, then shape into balls. Punch hole in middle of each ball with floured finger. Enlarge hole and shape into round bagel form. Cover; let rise 20 minutes. Combine 1 gallon water and 1 tablespoon sugar in large pot. Bring to boil, then reduce to a simmer. Cook bagels 4 or 5 at a time for approximately 7 minutes, turning once. Drain. Place on greased cookie sheet. Bake in 375 degree preheated oven (be sure to turn bagels when half way through baking) for 30-35 minutes until golden brown. When cool store bagels in plastic bag and secure with wire twist to insure freshness.

Our thanks to Miss Helen Chin, secretary of the Women's City Club of Boston for sending in a recipe for Won Ton Soup in response to a reader's request.

WON TON SOUP

4 cups basic soup stock (see recipe below)
3 dozen pieces prepared wonton (recipe below)
1 teaspoon Accent
1 tablespoon fresh scallions, chopped finely
¼ teaspoon salt

Put wonton-pieces in a pot of boiling water. Cover and let simmer for a good five minutes (allowing for the filling to cook) Remove from the pot, drain, and rinse in cold water. Put cooked and drained wonton in individual soup bowls, or in a large tureen. Bring soup stock to a boil. Add seasonings and stir thoroughly. Pour the broth into the individual bowls, or tureen, and garnish with the green scallions.

WON TON

Won Ton skins may be purchased at any one of the grocery stores or noodle shops in the Chinese district. It's best to call and order in advance. Fill as follows:

1 lb. lean raw pork, chopped
½ pound chopped, cooked shrimp
1 tablespoon fresh scallions, chopped very finely
1 tablespoon soy sauce
1 egg, beaten
1 teaspoon Accent
½ teaspoon salt
Dash garlic powder

Mix all ingredients together thoroughly. Refrigerate until ready to use. Using a small knife, put ½ teaspoon filling in center of wonton skin. Roll skin to within ¼-inch of opposite corner. Turn left corner under and bring right corner under to meet it. Wet right corner with a dab of beaten egg and press firmly so that both corners meet and hold together. Yields about 10 dozen.

BASIC SOUP STOCK

2 lbs. cut up pork bones
5 lbs. cut up fowl
1½ gal. water in lge. soup pot
Virginia ham bone (optional)
10 celery stalks
1 onion or ½ cup chopped scallions
2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon Accent

Put pork bones in water and bring to boil. Remove scum from top of liquid. Add fowl and ham bone. Bring to a boil. Lower heat and add celery stalks, onion, and-or scallions and seasonings. Simmer for 2 hours. Drain soup stock. Remove meat from bones. Skim fat from top of liquid. Add meat to quantity of broth to be used. Add cooked noodles, if desired. Heat and serve with garnish of parsley, or chopped scallion greens. For remainder of soup stock, cool and place in refrigerator overnight. Can then be frozen in pint-size plastic containers for use whenever a basic soup stock is needed.

Question: Can you print a recipe for Banana Cream Pie please? — D. E., Dedham

BANANA GINGER CREAM PIE

½ cup sugar
3 tablespoons cornstarch
¼ teaspoon salt
2 cups skimmed milk
3 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
15 gingersnaps
3 medium bananas

In a saucepan mix sugar, cornstarch and salt. Gradually stir in milk. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to a boil. Continue cooking and stirring for 5 minutes, or until mixture thickens, and is smooth. Remove from heat and stir a small amount of milk mixture into egg yolks, beating constantly. Return yolks to mixture and cook for 2 minutes longer. Add vanilla and cool. Cut 6 gingersnaps in half and stand around inside of a 9-inch pie plate. Crumble remaining cookies and press down to line bottom of dish. Slice 2 bananas and arrange over bottom of ginger shell. Pour cooled filling into shell and chill thoroughly. Just before serving, slice remaining banana and garnish top of pie. Yield: 8 servings, 165 calories per serving.

Banana Ginger Cream Pie

Across the Kitchen Counter

Legend has it that ambrosia, the delectable food of the gods which gave mortals immortality, may well have been a form of wild mushroom.

Mushrooms are convenient—no fuss and feathers and certainly no peelings! If using fresh mushrooms rinse them briefly and drain promptly. Cut a thin slice from the stem end if it looks brown or dry. They need 5 to 10 minutes cooking time, depending on method.

SPAGHETTI MUSHROOM SAUCE BOLOGNESE

½ pound fresh mushrooms or 1 can (6 to 8 oz.) sliced mushrooms
4 tablespoons olive oil
1 cup chopped onion
1 clove garlic, minced
½ cup (¼ lb.) diced ham
1 pound ground lean beef
1 can (2 lb. 3 oz.) Italian Plum Tomatoes
1 can (7 oz.) tomato paste
½ teaspoon salt
½ tsp. Italian seasoning
¼ tsp. sugar
Cooked spaghetti

Rinse, pat dry and slice fresh mushrooms or drain canned mushrooms. In a large saucepan heat oil. Add onion and garlic and saute until onion is transparent. Add mushrooms and ham and saute 5 minutes longer. Add beef and cook until browned, stirring often. Blend in remaining ingredients except spaghetti. Simmer uncovered 2 hours or until sauce is thick, stirring occasionally. Serve over cooked spaghetti. Yield: Apprx 6 cups sauce.

SHRIMP STUFFED MUSHROOMS

1½ pounds fresh mushrooms
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ cup chopped onion or scallions
1 jar (2¾ oz. tiny shrimp, drained and sliced)
¼ cup mayonnaise
1 hard cooked egg, finely chopped
1 tablespoon prepared hot mustard
¼ teaspoon lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt
One sixteenth teaspoon ground red pepper

Rinse, pat dry and remove stems from mushrooms—Save for use in soups, stews etc. In a large skillet heat butter. Add mushroom caps and saute for 5 minutes. In the same skillet saute onions. Add remaining ingredients; mix well. Fill sauteed mushroom caps with shrimp mixture. Bake in a preheated hot oven 450 degrees 6 to 9 minutes. Serve hot. Apprx. 30 stuffed mushrooms.

ORIENTAL MUSHROOM COCKTAIL KEBABS

¼ cup butter, melted
2½ teaspoons soy sauce
1 teaspoon sherry
¼ teaspoon onion powder
⅛ teaspoon ground giner
½ pound fresh mushrooms or 1 can (6-8 oz.) whole mushrooms
1 can (7 oz.) water chestnuts, drained and sliced
1 green pepper, cut into 1 inch squares
¼ pound chicken livers, halved

Combine butter with soy sauce, sherry, onion powder and ginger; mix well. Rinse pat dry and trim stem ends and halve fresh mushrooms or drain canned mushrooms. Alternately place a mushroom, a chestnut slice, a green pepper square and a chicken liver half on short skewers. Brush generously with butter mixture. Broil 7 inches from heat source 5 to 8 minutes turning and brushing often.

MUSHROOM CHOWDER

1 pound fresh mushrooms
½ cup butter or margarine
½ cup chopped onion
1 cup diced potatoes
1 cup finely chopped celery
½ cup diced carrot
1¾ teaspoons salt
¼ tsp black pepper
1 tablespoon flour
2 tbs cold water
3 cups boiling water
1 cup milk or light cream
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese

Rinse pat dry and slice mushrooms, makes about 5 cups; set aside. In a large saucepan heat butter; add onion and saute until golden. Add reserved mushrooms, remaining vegetables, salt and black pepper. Cover and simmer 15 to 20 minutes or until vegetables are tender. Combine flour with cold water. Slowly stir into vegetable mixture. Add boiling water; simmer for 10 minutes longer. Just before serving stir in milk and cheese. Heat only until hot. Do not boil. Serves 8.

Discussion at DAR meeting on children of the American Revolution

Mrs. George C. Houser of Chestnut Hill, New England Regional Senior National Vice President, Children of the American Revolution, was the featured speaker at a meeting of the Lydia Partridge Whiting Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, on Monday, Jan. 14. She described the beginnings and many activities of the C.A.R.

Meeting at the home of Mrs. James S. Gove, the Chapter held a business session at 1:30 p.m. after which Mrs. Houser, who is also State Regent, Massachusetts DAR, was introducted by the Chapter Vice Regent, Mrs. William A. Hurley.

Incorporated April 11, 1895, under the laws of the District of Columbia, the C.A.R. was founded by Mrs. Daniel Lothrop of Concord ("Margaret Sidney"), famous writer of fiction for children.

Membership in C.A.R. is open to any young person from birth to 21 years of age "who is lineally descended from a man or woman who, with unfailing loyalty, rendered material aid to the cause of American Independence as a soldier, sailor, civil officer, or recognized patriot in one of the several Colonies or States, or of the United States." Local societies are sponsored by chapters of the DAR, and C.A.R. members, at age 22, may become members of DAR, Sons of the American Revolution, or Sons of the Revolution. Over the years, more than 15,000 young people have belonged to C.A.R., and each year about one thousand attend the annual National Convention in Washington, D.C.

The organization is both philanthropic and educations, and in addition it provides enjoyable social activities for its members. It helps support several schools for mountain children and American Indians: Tamassee, Kate Duncan Smith, Bacone College, and St. Mary's School for Indian Girls. Conservation of natural resources ranks high in it interest—many trees are set out by C.A.R. members, and litter bags are distributed by the thousands.

Its outstanding aim is to instill in its members a sense both of patriotism and of community responsibility, and its most important program is Patriotic Education. This includes observance of American History Month and Constitution Week, and participation in all community patriotic holiday observances. Emphasis is placed on learning as much as possible about American history, culture, art, and handcrafts.

Because of her work with, and interest in, C.A.R., Mrs. Houser caused Massachusetts to become the first state to enact legislation annually proclaiming February American History Month. She was senior state chairman of Patriotic education when she originated and co-sponsored a C.A.R. Bill which became Chapter 44, Acts of 1957. A former Massachusetts DAR state historian (1953-1956) she caused C.A.R. to achieve many awards for locating graves of American Revolutionary soldiers.

In 1958 she received the Good Citizen Citation presented by the governor in State House ceremonies, as well as a C.A.R. citation for promotion of Massachusetts C.A.R. As part of her talk on Monday, Mrs. Houser read the C.A.R. Creed, which emphasizes responsibility and work, and de-emphasizes controversy of any kind: "I believe in the Children of the American Revolution as an organization for the training of young people in true patriotism and love of country, in order that they shall be better fitred for American citizenship.

"As a descendant of the founders of my country, I believe that my birthright brings a responsibility to carry on their work, and that as the young people of 1776 took an active part in the War for Independence, so the young people of today have a definite work to do for their country. As a member of the Children of the American Revolution, I believe it is my duty to use my influence to create a deeper love of country, a loyal respect for its Constitution, and reverence for its flag among the young people with whom I come in contact."

At the business meeting preceding Mrs. Houser's speech, delegates to the March Conference of the Massachusetts DAR were elected: Mrs. William A. Hurley, and Mrs. Leslie W. Irwin. Alternates are Mrs. Rose E. Langill, Mrs. James S. Gove, Miss Marion E. Stratton, and Mrs. Edgar H. Brown. The conference will be held on Wednesday, March 27, at the Copley Plaza Hotel, Boston.

Lore of India subject of talk

Mrs. Loy Long of Auburndale recently was hostess to the Wellesley Branch, National League of American Pen Women.

The speaker was Mrs. Abraham Matthews of Newtonville, a young Indian woman whose husband is studying at Boston College for his doctorate in Urban Planning. They belong to a Christian group in which members adopt names from the Bible.

Sabitha Abraham, as she explained she would be called in India, demonstrated on members and guests the donning of the six-yard length of beautiful fabric, including the secrets of strategic anchoring at waist and shoulder.

Miss Sumi Devasahayam, a student at Harvard Divinity School, also working for her doctorate, helped with the demonstration of putting on the traditional Indian outer garment.

Long before the informal talk had ended, most of the assembled women were wearing saris loaned for the program by the hostess. Edna Long and her husband, the Rev. Loy Long, worked for 20 years in India, directing social welfare projects in economically depressed areas, and they have maintained their ties with India.

While the most valued saris are made of pure, handwoven silk, they are also made of other materials. Mrs. Matthews admitted that hers was of machine - washable nylon, and her audience was amused at the idea of a wash - and - wear sari.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthews, when they return to India, will engage in social work. Sabitha is at present assisting at the Newton Day Care Center at the Presbyterian Church in Newton Corner. She intends to establish a day-care center in India in conjunction with her husband's work.

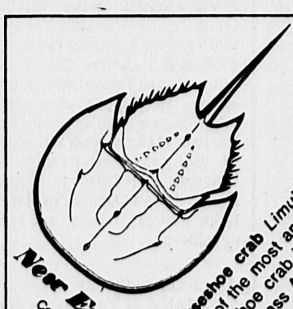

President Jo Brewer presided. Those present included Mrs. Ritchie Lowry and her guest, Mrs. Wayne Klingerman, both of Wayland; Miss Mariam Nelson and her guests, Miss Katherine Hardeman and Miss Devasahayam, all of Cambridge; Mrs. David Hall, Mrs. Walcott E. Sibley, and Mrs. Robert V. Frost of Wellesley; and Mrs. David Laurie of Wellesley Hills.

Citizens advocacy project begins Feb. 7 in Newton

A new program, the Newton Citizen Advocacy Project, will be opened Feb. 7 under the auspices of the Newton-Wellesley-Weston Committee to Establish Community Residences for the Retarded, Inc.

Judy Palmer, coordinator of the project, explained citizen advocacy as a program of supervised one-to-one relationships between community volunteers (advocates) and mentally retarded people (proteges), in which the advocates will provide friendship and advice to help the protege solve the basic problems of everyday living.

Advocacy relationships will range from short-term to long-term, from formal to informal, according to Ms. Palmer.

The first proteges will be the residents of the home at 14 Newtonville Ave., which will receive its first three residents from Wrentham State Hospital soon.

Mrs Lucille Chansky, president of the Committee, and Marvin Rosenberg, director, emphasize the need for the advocacy program to help retarded persons become productive members of the community.

When it is fully established, the advocacy program will be available for all retarded persons in the community.

Volunteers are now being recruited in the Newton area. For more information, please contact Judy Palmer at the new office of the Massachusetts Association for Retarded Citizens (MARC), 381 Elliot St., Newton Upper Falls, 965-5320, during the day or at 861-7699 in the evening.

Valentine exhibition

The Centre Art Gallery, 195 Harvard St., Brookline, has a new exhibit, "Be My Valentine," a collection of His & Hers pictures, antiques and collectibles.

Opening day, Sat., Feb. 2

Screening Three generations participated in recent lead screening tests conducted by a Newton-Wellesley Hospital team. Young Christopher Travers received the test from technician Gloria Weliska. Mrs. Ann Erlanson of RSVP keeps the paperwork straight. This screening was done at the First Baptist Church nursery school.

1000th child screened for lead

Young Christopher Travers recently became the 1,000th child in Newton to receive a free blood test for possible lead poisoning.

Chris was tested along with 35 classmates at First Baptist Church nursery school in Newton Centre last week. Newton-Wellesley Hospital teams have concentrated on testing children aged 1 to 6 within neighborhoods since September along with groups of children in nursery school.

Next screening tests are being scheduled for Wednesday, Feb. 13. Again the target will be nursery schools and possibly additional public kindergartens. Specific locations and times are expected to be announced next week.

Eating chips of sweet-tasting lead paint in older houses is the main cause of lead poisoning for which Newton-Wellesley Hospital personnel are testing. Doctors and nurses are working in conjunction with a State Dept. of Public Health campaign to eradicate the health hazard which is not restricted to low-income areas.

Heading the hospital team are Pediatric Nurse Practioner Mrs. Irene Lamb and Chief of Pediatrics Dr. John Cohen. Approximately one-third of all tests conducted in the Commonwealth to date have been done by the Newton group.

Senior citizens associated with the R.S.V.P. organization have handled scheduling and notification of parents regarding test results.

Last week three separate nursery-age groups meeting in First Unitarian Church, West Newton were tested.

The groups are Newton Children's Center, Newton Community Service Center and Headstart. More than ten nursery schools have been covered as part of the total program.

Additional testing dates and location will be announced throughout the remainder of the school year. Pediatric Nurse Practitioner Lamb reported that older homes are more likely to contain old and potentially dangerous lead paint. According to State law, corrective steps must be taken within homes presenting the hazard by landlord or owner. Health damage to young children ingesting lead paint can be severe, with brain damage a distinct risk.

Further information about the testing program can be obtained by calling the hospital's outpatient department.

Named vice president

Gerald Davis has been named vice president-merchandising for Zayre Corp. by the company's board of directors.

Davis joined Zayre Corp. six years ago and was previously general merchandise manager (hardgoods) for a major department store chain. He is a US Navy veteran and holds a B.S. degree in economics from the Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania.

Davis and his wife, Betty Lou, and their three children are residents of Newton.

Appointed attorney

Donald G. Leka, a resident of Newton, has been appointed a senior attorney of the Gillette Company. He will work on legal matters relating to the Personal Care and Toiletries Divisions.

A native of Tulsa, Okla. Leka joined the Gillette Company after six years with the Boston law firm of Hutchins & Wheeler. He was graduated from Yale University in 1964 and from Harvard Law School in 1967. Leka and his wife have two daughters.

Nature's ways

BY Wayhe Hanley

IT'S hard to beliebe that Maine residents put out six million pounds of seeds for song for songbirds in 1972.

Yet, apparently it is true. Indeed, it is the first well-cocumented foact that supports the need for a new line of wildlife management. For while Maine cannot be considered urban– nor especially affluen, for that matter– the Maine survey gives a hint of general public interest in the new field of urgan wildlife biology.

MaineSDepartment of Inland Fisheries and Game established the extent of the bird seed business in the state. Under the direction of Peter A. Cross, wildlife biologist, the state agency gathered figures on the traffic in wild bird seed mixtures. The tonnages were taken form the inventories of prime wholesale distributors, with cross checks to be certain that through intrastate transactions no ton was reported twice. Such seeds as cracked corn, which many people feed wild birds, were stricken from the accounting since most of it goes to farm operations.

The results indicatied that the equivalent of 150 trailer truckloads of wild bird seed mixtures was sold in Maine in 1972. From postcards returned by known feeders of birds, the Department found that the average bird fan tossed 124½ pounds to the birds each witner.

However, Yankees working within the Department recognized that while enthusiasts who answered survey cards might shovel out feed at that rate, the averate citizen is a mite more conservative. So their more realistic figures gave aa hint tha ti six million pounds were used, no fewer than 100,000 persons were buying the stuff. The result indicates that 100,000 households ar putting out grain for wild birds.

Wildlife biologistts recently have become intereste dinn the extent of enthusiasm that urban and suburban dwellers have toward their wildlife neighbors. The amount of money spent on wildlife maintenance in these areas has been considered a more reliable guide than answers to questionnaires serarching for emotional responses to wildlife.

Unquestionably foa more poundage of wild bird seed mixtures is distributed in suburban areas than in either the cor e cities or farm regions. It woud seem true because many families move to suburbs to "be closer to nature." But what actually happens, of course, is an urbanizing of suburgan landscapes by the sheer numbers of houses and people that have made the move. To retain the original "nature" values in the landscape, , of course, is an urbanizing of suburban landscapes by the sheer numbers of houses and people that have made the move. To retain the original "nature" values in the landscape, the suburbanite must scatter bird feed to keep biirds present. Otherwise, there is insufficient food to keep them alive through the winter in an urganizes environment.

Stat wildlife agencies gradiually have become awaret that the same pressure of people thah has limited their traditional acitivities as stimulators of game bird and mammal populations has provided thaem a new clientele: people who ar interested in birds and mammals as neighbors. The state agencies now are turning to whoat they might well have turned toward a decade or two ago, the study of methods through which wildlife may be retained in the suburban or urban neighborhood.

Newton Catholic school system chronicled

Several years ago, a group of concerned parents from all parishes in the City of Newton met frequently in the Sacred Heart Grammar School, Newton Centre, to discuss the future of parochial schools.

It appeared evident that because of the increasing cost of education, which was materially affected by the large reduction in religious vocations and the need to increase the number of lay teachers, together with the inflationary spiral of higher costs of living, many parents desirous of having their children benefit from such education would be unable to finance attendance at parochial schools.

It also became apparent that financial assistance from either the State or Federal Governments would not e forthcoming, particularly in view of many court decisions, including a landmark decision of the U.S. Supreme Court, which held that such assistance would offend the traditional constitutional separation of Church and State concept.

Although the group was convinced of the need for private education, as another choice to public education, it appeared that the financing thereof would prohibit the continuance of Catholic elementary and secondary education. The goal of the group was to provide Catholic education to all who desired it, and not to establish a school system available only to the wealthy.

Subsequently, during the early fall of 1972, the pastors of the Newton Catholic churches in joint meeting agreed to form a Planning Committee for the Newton Catholic School System to research the feasibility of establishing such a city-wide school system. The Committee established various sub-committees to conduct studies in the various areas involved. During December 1972, following a diligent research effort, the Committee recommended the establishment of a Newton Catholic School System, utilizing the physical plant of Our Lady of Help of Christians School in Newton.

The NCS system would include a grammar school, junior high school and a high school, and would receive students not only from the four Parishes forming the NCS, but to the extent of available openings from other surrounding Parishes. The four Parishes participating in the NCS are Corpus Christi in Auburndale, Our Lady Help of Christians in Newton, Our Lady Help of Christians in Newton, Our Lady Immaculate of Lourdes in Newton Upper Falls, and Sacred Heart in Newton Centre.

Tuition for each of the Newton Catholic Schools would be established at a level commensurate with the parents' estimated ability to pay for the students from the four cooperating parishes, with the agreement on the part of these parishes to make up the difference between receipts from tuition and the actual cost of educating those students. Students from non-cooperating parishes would be expected to assume tuition reflecting the estimated total cost of educating such students.

The recommendation of the Planning Committee was accepted by the four cooperating parishes and application was properly submitted to the Archdiocese of Boston seeking approval for the establishment of the Newton Catholic System. This approval was reflected in the letter dated Feb. 27, 1973, from the Archbishop of Boston, Humberto Cardinal Medeiros.

An interim Newton Catholic School Board was then agreed upon by the four cooperating parishes to serve until a formal Constitution was adopted and a School Board established pursuant to the expected provisions thereof. This School Board has had ten formal meetings and an untold number of meetings of its sub-committees.

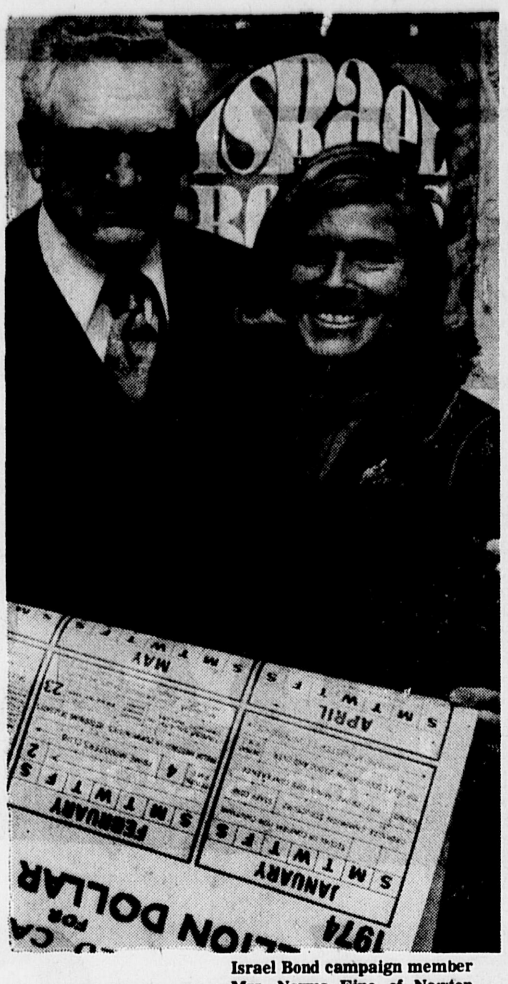

The Newton Catholic System has for its primary concern the intellectual and spiritual development of the student in a cheerful educational experience. Its purpose is to assit the students in maturing toward wholesome, worthwhile adjustments to their respective cultural, social, and economic environments. It also has as its purpose to aid in the individual development of talents, opportunities and personal adjustments both to other persons and to themselves.

The instructional program in the Newton Catholic System is not intended to be a static routine fixture in the school. It is intended to be a growing, developing, changing approach to the educational process.

In addition to the academic and religious interests of the students, a well rounded program of athletics, social activities, service projects, etc., have been established. Although the present enrollment of the High School and Junior High School are at near capacity, the lower grades of the grammar school have a few openings available. The kindergarten class is presently at its desired capacity.

As indicated at the outset, however, the financial ability to maintain the ever increasing costs and standards of this outstanding Catholic School System poses a need for support from many sources to assure that all students who desire to attend may do so irrespective of their financial status.

Accordingly, the Newton Catholic System welcomes the continuance of support it has already enjoyed, as well as the much needed additional support of all who desire its alternate choice in education for the children of Newton and surrounding areas.

Folk singer Wise to appear at church

Joe Wise, nationally known folk singer and composer of liturgical and popular music, will appear in concert Friday, Feb. 8, at 8:30 p.m. at First Baptist Church, Newton Centre.

Wise's two latest albums, Welcome In and Songprints, have both received nominations for 1974 Grammy Awards. His other recordings include Gonna Sing My Lord, Hand in Hand, Sweet Water, A New Day, and Watch With Me. He is the author of three books and sings his own compositions on the soundtrack of the film, A Time To Die.

Those who wish to attend the concert may obtain tickets from First Baptist Church, 848 Beacon St., Newton Centre, 02159, at $1.50 each. Checks may be made payable to Sacred Heart Church — Joe Wise Concert. A stamped, self-addressed envelope should be enclosed.

The concert is part of ajoint program sponsored by Sacred Heart Church and First Baptist Church, both in Newton Centre. As part of this program, Wise will also lead the music at the 5 p.m. mass at Sacred Heart Church on Saturday, Feb. 9.

Wise holds Masters degrees in Guidance and Counseling and in Religious Education. In addition to giving concerts around the country, composing and recording, he also gives workshops on music and worship and leads retreats for groups of all ages. He lives in Louisville, Kentucky with his wife, Maleita, and two children, Michele and John.

Ziedan Atashi to speak at Temple Shalom Feb. 1

Ziedan Atashi, consul of Israel in New York since 1972, will speak about the Middle East to Temple Shalom's Institute for Clergy on Friday, Feb. 1.

Rabbi Murray I Rothman, spiritual leader of Temple Shalom, is chairman of the Institute which is presented in cooperation with the Newton Clergy Association.

Atashi, born in Osifiya, the Druze Village on Mt. Carmel in Israel, served in the Israel Defense Army for two and one-half years. He was appointed deputy director general of the Arab and Druze Workers Youth Movement under the Histadrut program for training Arab youth.

During this same period he continued his studies, specializing in Arabic studies and political science, receiving his B.A. degree from Haifa University where he later held a teaching position in the political science department.

Atashi later began working in the Arabic department of Israel television in Jerusalem, while continuing his studies for an M.A. degree at Hebrew University. In 1970 he was put in charge of Arabic television for the northern area of the Haifa District.

The Clergy Institute will begin at 10 a.m. with an invocation by the Reverend Dr. Gene E. Bartlett, president of the American Baptist Churches of the United States and minister of the First Baptist Church in Newton.

Ziedan Atashi

A discussion and luncheon will follow the presentation. The Reverend Msgr. Matthew P. Stapleton, chairman of the Archdiocesan Ecumenical Commission will offer the blessing at the luncheon, and greetings will be brought by Rabbi Terry R. Bard, president of the Newton Clergy Association, and Mr. Eli Golub, president of Temple Shalom of Newton.

At the Sabbath Eve Service (on the same day), which begins at 8:15 p.m., Atashi will speak to the congregation from the pulpit. A post-Service discussion and reception will follow. The community is invited to the evening service and reception.

Woman's group to meet Feb. 6

The Woman's Association of Central Congregational Church in Newtonville will hold a meeting Wednesday, Feb. 6, with luncheon at 12:30 p.m.

Mrs. Wallace Moyle and Mrs. Harold Lounsberry are co-chairmen of the luncheon. Mrs. Benjamin Huke is chairman of the dining room. Miss June Allen is in charge of the table decorations.

Following the luncheon the business meeting will be conducted by Mrs. Earl Alban, president of the Woman's Association.

Prior to the program, Miss Ruth Waldron will give the Devotions. Mrs. Richard Keil, program chairman, will present the speaker, Mrs. James Shaw. Her subject will be "The Meaning of Lent in Christ's Life."

Good Shepherd exchange schedules half-price sale

The Community Exchange run by the Church of the Good Shepherd in Waban will hold a half-price sale Tuesday Feb. 12 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., offering 50 percent reductions on fall and winter clothing for men, women and children.

Sports equipment, jewelry and some household items will also be avilable for sale at regular prices. All of the merchandise is of good quality and in excellent condition.

The Exchange is regularly open on all Tuesdays that public schools are in session. The Church of the Good Shepherd is located at 1671 Beacon Street in Newton, just off Waban Square, and is easily accessible by public transportation (the nearest T stop is Waban Square, close by the church).

Becase of the sale, there will be no receiving of incoming merchandise at the Exchange on that day.

Ham dinner slated at St. Paul's church

St. Paul's Church, Newton Highlands, will serve a ham and baked bean supper Thursday, Feb. 7, at 6:30 p.m. in the parish crypt.

A special price will be offered for children and families.

For reservations, call 527-6642.

JWV honor local students

The 20th annual Brotherhood Breakfast of the Jewish War Veterans will be held Sunday, Feb. 3 and two Newton residents will receive awards.

Frank P. Bodengraven of 100 Homer St., was chosen by North High School as the "Classmates Today - Neighbors Tomorrow" award recipient. Amy Fader of 11 McCarthy Rd. is the South High School award recipient.

Both students will be guests of honor at the breakfast at the Chateau de Ville in Framingham.

Q. My 80-year-old uncle gets monthly social security payments of about $100. This is barely enough for him to live on. He has been unable to get help from the State welfare agency. Will the new Federal program be able to help him?

A. When the Federal program starts in January 1974, your uncle may be eligible for some supplemental security income payments even though he's getting social security benefits. The Federal program is intended to assure a monthly income of at least $130 for a single person over 65 in financial need if the person has no other income. If the person has other income, this is generally taken into account. The first $20 of your uncle's social security won't reduce his Federal payment, but the balance of his social security payment will reduce the new Federal payment dollar for dollar. So your uncle could get a supplemental payment of $50 a month in addition to his $100 social security check.

Q. I've heard that the new Federal payments for people who have little property and low income and who are 65 or older, blind, or disabled starts in January, 1974. My father, who's almost 90, is confined in a State hospital. Medicaid pays his bills there. Will he be eligible for the new Federal supplemental security income payments when they begin?

A. He may be, but his payments would be limited to $25 a month because he is in a medical institution and supported by Medicaid. The $25 is intended to purchase small comfort items for those recipients who have no income.

Q. I get State assistance because I'm blind and have no other income. I understand the Federal Government is going to make these payments. What do I have to do to make sure my payments continue?

A. Starting in January 1974, the Federal Government will make monthly supplemental security income payments to people in financial need who are blind, disabled, or 65 and over. Since you are getting assistance, you don't have to apply now for the Federal payments. Until 1974, State and local public assistance offices will continue to make payments in the usual way. Before the Federal payments start, you'll be getting more information and instructions.

Q. I understand that under the new Federal supplemental security income program certain individuals 65 or over can be paid up to $130 a month, but couples can only be paid up to $195 a month. This amounts to $97.50 each for a husband and wife. What about a couple that has separated?

A. Under the Federal supplemental security income program, a husband and wife who have been living apart more than 6 months would be considered as individuals rather than a couple. Each could qualify for a payment of up to $130 a month.

Q. My neighbor is 68. He owns the little house he lives in, and he's worried whether he'll be able to get payments under the new Federal supplemental security income program because he owns his home. Will he be able to get Federal payments?

A. Probably. Owning a home of reasonable value won't rule out Federal supplemental security income payments to older people who have limited assets and little or no cash income.

Q. My widowed, 69-year-old mother has just taken a part-time job working in a cafeteria kitchen, but she only gets called to work when one of the regular employees is absent. She seldom earns more than $75 a month. Since her only other income is a small monthly social security check, can she get any additional help even though she's working?

A. Starting in January 1974, your mother may be eligible for Federal supplemental security income payments even though she's working. The first $20 of her monthly social security payment, for example, would not count as income. In addition, the first $65 of her monthly earnings would not be counted. One-half of the rest of your mother's monthly earnings - if she earned more than $65 - would count against the Federal payments. Your mother should contact any social security office for more information about supplemental security income payments.

Q. My grandfather, who's 76, lives with me in my household. He has no income of his own. Could he get monthly Federal payments when the supplemental security income program begins?

A. Starting in January 1974, your grandfather may be eligible for the Federal payments However, since he's living with you, his monthly payments would be reduced. You or your grandfather should contact any social security office for more information.

All vehicles must have proper titles

The head of the Registry of Motor Vehicle's Title Division today reminded motorists in Massachusetts that any vehicle purchased in the stat must be titled. Richard P. Coburn said tat vehicles ten years old or less must be title regardless of whether they ar registered or not.

Coburn warned that motorists are required to title oall vehicles purchesed in the state since the effective date of the Commonwealth title law which went into effect in September of 1872.

The citifacate of title is now considered the primary proof of ownership on all vehicles changing hands since the title law toodk effect.

North skaters defeat Brockton

By KEITH GLASSER

Newton North's hockey team tied league-leading Weymouth North 1-1 and defeated Brockton, 3-2 in recent games.

The first period of the Brockton game was scoreless. At 2:13 of the second period John Carey gave Newton a 1-0 lead after passes by Dave Solomon and Steve Donovan.

Brockton's Bill Lankawiewicz scored an unassisted goal at 6:37 and assisted on a Jack McGaffigan goal at 10:13.

With 43 second remaining in the second period Jeff Senior tied the score at 2-2.

Frank Bodengraven scored the winning goal with a minute remaining in the game. John Connolly shot wide of the net. The puck hit the side of the net and bounced in front. Bodengraven flipped it by Brockton goalie Dave Regan.

Elated Tiger coach Don Crowley called the win "a real strong team effort."

"The forwards kept the pressure on and the defense did a good job clearing the puck," Crowley added. "Joe Steele did a good job in the nets."

Weymouth North goalie Mark Holden stopped numerous Newton scoring opportunities in the 1-1 tie last week.

Weymouth North's Mark Haley scored at 4:10 of the second period when the Newton defense could not clear the puck. Bob Balchunas passed in front to Haley who lifted it by Joe Steele.

Three minutes later Dave Chapman scored off a rebound to tie the score 1-1. Gus Quaranto and Cal Moffie were credited with assists.

Crowley called Chapman's goal, "A terrific effort. Dave was really aggressive around the net."

"This showed a lot of growth since they (Weymouth North) beat us 4-0 the first time we met," Crowley said. "We played very well."

Newton's next game is on Saturday, Feb. 2 at 1:45 p.m. against Weymouth South at the Boston Arena.

Newton North is 3-5-2.

High scoring Newton girl gymnasts win again

By BOB LOW

After setting a new school record in its opening meet, Newton North's girls' gymnastics team came within a quarter of a point of breaking it in a victory over Weymouth South. The gymnasts' record is 2-0.

Newton had a ten point advantage after two events. In the floor exercises, Margie Magraw was first with an 8.1, followed by Julie Myers' 7.8 and Kathy Magraw's 7.6.

Amy Semmel scored a 7.5 to finish first in vaulting, just ahead of Margie Magraw who had a 7.45. Julie Myers was third with a 6.9.

On the balance beam, Jenny Barber placed first with an 8.1. Kathy Magraw was second with 7.75 and Julie Myers third with 7.6.

Margie Magraw had the highest score of the meet with an 8.2 on the uneven parallel bars. Ann Hurwitz was second with a 4.9 and Kathy Magraw third with a 4.0. The final score was 84.45 - 55.9. Newton's point total was just shy of the 84.7 it got in its opening meet.

The Tigers had the top three scores in each event, with the exception of the uneven parallel bars, where a Weymouth South gymnast finished third.

The gymnasts' next meet is on Friday, Feb. 1, at 3:15 p.m. against Brookline.

Tiger marksmen lose

By KEITH GLASSER

Newton North's riflery team lost to Waltham, 885-865, and Concord, 877-859, in recent matches. Newton's record is 2-3.

Against Concord, Newton's top scorers were Sal Yerardi (175), Matt Berry (174), Tony Rufo (171), Dave Palmieri (171) and Wayne Huminik (168).

Berry's 174 was his high score of the season.

Rufo (178), Yerardi (177), Berry (173), Chris Farrell and Tony Tambascia (167) placed for Newton in the Tigers' loss to Waltham.

The 865 was Newton's top score of the year. Farrell placed for the first time this season.

We have improved from the 840's and reached our second plateau in the 860's, commented Newton Coach John Meyer. "We shouldn't fall below 860 in our final four matches."

Newton will meet Watertown on Tuesday, Feb. 5 at 3:30 p.m. at the West Newton Armory.

South basketball team wins again

By BRUCE BOYNICK

Newton South's Basketball team moved closer to a State Tourney berth by defeating the Weston Wildcats, 46-35, and Wayland, 55-52, in Dual County League action last week.

The Lions have to win three of their remaining seven games to qualify for the State Tournament. They have a 9-1 record, and are tied with the Bedford Buccaneers for the Dual County League lead.

The Weston contest took only an hour, as there were only twenty fouls called.

South held Weston scoreless for three and a half minutes, and led 10-5, after one quarter of play. With four minutes left to play in the half, Weston took the lead, at 15-13. Two jumpers by Lion reserve forward, Chandler Bosworth, helped South run off a 10-4 string to lead at the half, 23-19.

The Lions led 33-25 after three quarters. The Wildcats fought back to come within four, at 35-31, with five and a half minutes of play remaining.

The Lions then outscored Weston 11-4.

A fine pass from Mark Aronson to Rich Spector for a layup began the surge. A pass from Captain Mark Jefferson to Jerry Antonellis produced another layup and South led 39-31, with 4:33 left to play.

South senior Rich Spector, scored 14 points. The big center dominated the boards with help from Steve Korn and Bob Lent. Korn gave a fine defensive performance, finishing with eight points, while Lent tallied four. Jefferson finished with eight points. The Lions were minus the services of starting forward Bob Harris (sidelined with an injury), but received excellent performances from Bosworth and Antonellis.

The Lions hit 20 of 45 shots (44.4 per cent), while the Wildcats converted 15 of 51 attempts (29.4 per cent).

Against Wayland, the Lions led after one quarter of play, 9-8, despite making only four of 15 shots.

The teams battled to an 18-18 draw in a "run 'n gun" second quarter. Bob Harris had three field goals in the quarter, while Wayland's Greg Anderson and Steve Rier combined for seven hoops, all on outside shots.

Rier opened the second half scoring with another downtown shot that put Wayland ahead at 26-25. The Warriors' lead was shortlived, as the Lions scored 14 consecutive points and led 39-36 with 2:25 left in the quarter.

Lion forward Bob Lent had six points in this surge. The Warriors, in a 2-3 zone, were collapsing on South's center, Spector, in the low post, freeing Lent for short jumpers just inside the foul line.

Wayland, on two outside shots from Jim Porrell, cut the Lions' lead to nine, at 39-30.

The Lions retaliated as Korn converted a three point play after an excellent pass by senior Rick Sharton. A pair of Warrior free throws closed the third quarter scoring at 42-32.

In the fourth quarter,the teams traded baskets during the first five minutes. South led 52-44 with 3:12 remaining.

A bucket by Porrell with a minute remaining made it 54-50. Wayland pressed, but a Bob Harris free throw with seconds remaining clinched a South victory.

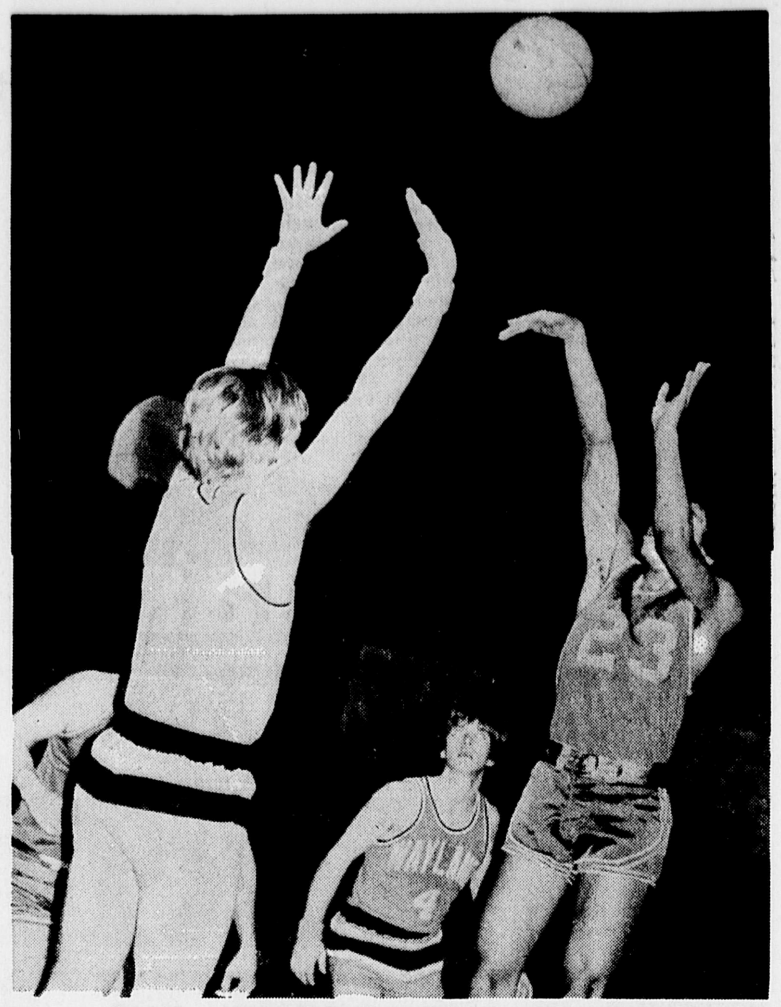

The Lions had balanced scoring; 14 points from Harris, 10 from Lent, nine points from both Jefferson and Spector, eight from Korn, and five from Aronson.

Wayland's Anderson was the game's high scorer with 16 points, while Porrell had 12, and Rier added 10.

The Lions converted 20 of 47 attempts from the field (42.5 per cent), while Wayland took 74 shots and made 24 (32.4 per cent).

"We won the game at the foul line, because we played the better defense," commented South Coach Richard Walker. Wayland attempted 10 shots from the line, while South shot 23.

The Lions travel to Lincoln-Sudbury on Tuesday, Feb. 5. In their first meeting this season, the Lions defeated the Warriors at Newton South, 51-44.

North cagers up record to 9-4 with two victories

By JACK GREEN

Newton North's basketball tean won two close games last week against Suburban League opponents.

Brockton came to Newton seeking its second wn of the season against the Tigers. Peter Laskaris and Jack Ryan combined for 36 points to help Newton to a 62-61 overtime victory.

On Friday, Jan. 25, the Tigers gained a 57-54 win over Weymouth North.

Newton led Weymouth North 15-10 after one quarter. Outside shooting by Mike Reddish helped Weymouth to a second period lead. Newton came back to lead at halftime.

The Tigers led 39-38 after three quarters, but Weymouth gained a three point lead in the opening minutes of the fourth period.

Newton then scored eight consecutive points. Sophomore John Williams sparked the Tigers with rebounding and scoring.

Weymouth North again fought back and Newton led by only two points with 14 seconds remaining. Newton's Keith Glasser forced a jump ball and won the tip.

Williams was fouled and made a free throw to give Newton a 57-54 lead.

Glasser scored 22 points for Newton while Williams scored 14.

Newton upped its record to 7-4 in league play and 9-4 overall.

The Tigers will play Cambridge Latin in Newton on Friday, Feb. 1.

Newton North track team loses to Rindge

By RICH RAUM

Newton North's track team lost its third meet of the season to Rindge Tech, 50 to 36 last week. Newton's record is 3-3.

"There were about four close calls," commented Coach Ed Boyle, "and we lost all four of 'em."

The first close call came in the mile, as a Rindge runner and Newton's Art Murphy both ran a 4:51.7 First place was awarded to Rindge.

The second close call came in the 1000. With less than a lap to go, the Tigers' Gary Tutungian passed Rindge's second man, but in the final straight-away, the Rindge runner caught and passed Tutungian to give Rindge a first and second. Tutungian finished third.

Ken Tocci ran a 1:23.4 to give Newton a second in the 600.

The third close call came in the 300. A Rindge runner and Bob Meet of Newton finished in 36.6 seconds. Rindge again was awarded first place. The Tigers' Dave Burduiso took third.

Newton then swept the shot put. Moe Morella, Jim Averback and Bob Grossman finished one - two - three respectively.

Rindge won the two-mile. Tom Hightower finished second for Newton.

In the hurdles, Bill Fulton and Bill Seaward of Newton placed second and third. Seaward and Fulton finished first and second in the high jump.

The fourth close call of the race involved the dash. Peter Waxman ran the race in 5.8 seconds and was awarded third place.

Gymnasts win and lose against Weymouth teams

By BOB LOW

Newton North's boys gymnastics team managed to split two matches last week, defeating Weymouth South and then losing to Weymouth North.

On Tuesday, Jan. 22, Weymouth South came to Newton. The Tigers outscored their opponents in five of the six events to earn their second victory.

A Weymouth South gymnast had the highest mark in the floor exercises but Tony Webber, Mitch Baker, and Peter Clancy had the three next best scores to boost the Tigers into a lead.

Newton's advantage was widened to almost four points when Webber and Robert Hodgdon finished one-two on the pommel horse.

Weymouth South then came back a bit. Weymouth gymnasts finished first and second on the horizontal bar. Mitch Baker was third for Newton.

Weymouth South gained another first on the parallel bars, but Hodgdon, Webber and Mark DiBennedetti took the next three spots allowing Newtoon to gain in the event.

Hodgdon and DiBennedetti then placed first and second in vaulting and Baker and Steve Annesi did the same on the rings to make the final score 78.2 - 73.4.

On Friday, Jan. 25 the Tigers lost their third match of the year to Weymouth North, which previously had never defeated Newton.

The Tigers gained an early lead once again as Webber and Baker were awarded the top two scores in the floor exercises.

Weymouth North came back and gained first places in the next four events. Hodgdon and Webber were the top Newton scorers on the pommel horse and Baker took second on the horizontal bar. Webber was fourth on the parallel bars and Hodgdon led Newton in vaulting.

Baker broke Weymouth North's streak when he finished first on the rings with a score of 5.2. Weymouth North won the match 82.50 - 78.55.

The Tigers' next meet will be on Friday, Feb. 1 at 3:30 p.m. when Brookline comes to Newton. On Tuesday, Feb. 5 Arlington will visit Newton.

Newton North wrestling team ends losing streak

By BOB LOW

Newton North's wrestling team scored five pins in a 33-26 win over Brookline last week to stop its losing streak at five.

Earlier in the week Weymouth North had defeated the Tigers in a close contest, 31-24.

Against Weymouth North, the Tigers took a 9-8 lead after four matches, after a pin by George Hebard and a win by Jim Glick.

Newton did not get more than a tie in the next five matches. Cliff Brown tied but Steve Rosen, Bruce McNulty, and John Pellegrini lost decisions and Bob Keefe was pinned.

Newton came back to pull within one point at 25-24. Don Keefe won 12-1 Mike Mulcahy won 14-5 and Mark Riley scored a pin at 1:00 of his match.

In the heavyweight match, Tom Barrett was pinned at 1:02. Weymouth North won the match.

The Tigers rebounded with a win over Brookline. Brookline gained an early 11-6 lead as Paul Siegenthaler, Glick, and Hebard were defeated. Mark Siengenthaler's pin at 0:34 kept Newton close.

After Rosen won his match, Steve Parker and Brown were decisioned.

Newton wrestlers then gained four pins in the next five matches to win the match.

Bob Keefe won on a pin at 3:54, but Bruce McNulty lost 2-1. Brookline forfeited the 167 match and Donny Keefe and Mark Riley pinned opponents to give Newton a 33-20 lead.

Riley's pin was his sixth in a row in junior varsity and varsity competition.

Brookline won the final match on a forfeit.

The Tigers have no more home meets this season. On Friday, Feb. 1 they will compete in Wayland. They will finish their season in Brockton a week later.

Pats draft not working well

FOXBORO, Mass. (UPI) — Chuck Fairbanks says he would prefer to build his defense first "but it's not working out that way."

Fairbanks' New England Patriots had no first-round pick in Tuesday's opening session of the National Football League draft so the team "went for the best player available at any position" in the second round—offensive center-guard Steve Corbett of Boston College.

New England, using a second pick in the second round, grabbed linebacker Steve Nelson of North Dakota State, where Patriots' offensive backfield coach Ron Erhardt coached until joining the Patriots in early 1973.

The Pats had no third or fourth round choices but picked two players in the fifth—quarterback Andy Johnson of Georgia (projected as a running back) and defensive end Charles Battle of Grambling.

In addition, the Patriots made a trade—sending seldom used tight end John Mosier to Green Bay for former All Pro Dick Gordon.

The big news of the day appeared to be Corbett, who is expected to be a first-rate pulling guard. He played guard for two seasons at Boston College before shifting to center in his senior year.

"I'm a natural guard," said Corbett, a 6-4 248-pound marketing major from Dover, N.H. "I played center last year out of necessity."

Fairbanks said Corbett, who runs the 40 in a rapid 4.75 seconds, could help New England's outside running game.

"He has outstanding characteristics for a guard and I think that will help us increase our ability on the outside running play," said Fairbanks.

"The addition of Steve will give us a chance of building a strength at offensive line this year," said Fairbanks, talking as if Corbett were signed (He also has been drafted by the Boston Bulls of the World Football League). "I think if I had a preference of where to start building, it would be on defense, but it's not working out that way."

But four picks later—on the Pats' second choice in Round 2—New England drafted Nelson, rated as a "player who loves to hit."

Nelson, 6-2, 223, was the player Fairbanks was hoping to get in the second round. "Steve's an exceptionally aggressive player, a very fine tackler and an extremely intelligent young man," said Fairbanks.

"His biggest adjustment will involve the passing game. He comes out of a conference and a level of competition where passing is at a minimum."

In the fifth round, New England drafted Johnson for his running ability. At Georgia, Johnson ran for 1,799 career yards, a Southeastern Conference record for quarterback.

Little is known about Battle, a 6-4, 235-pound defensive end.

Ex-boxer ponders political career

By LEWIS FREEDMAN

The last time Joe DeNucci made an announcement it showed up as a few words in the agate type on the sports page The next time he makes an announcement it will be page one.

Back in November, DeNucci made an announcement which was almost a forgone conclusion. He was, he said, retiring from a broken-up 17–year career as a middleweight boxer to devote his time to his family and his job as general court officer in the State House.

That was three months ago. The recent rumors are that the 34-year-old former world championship contender and Newton native has given up his fistic battles, not for peace and quiet, but for verbal wrangles.

The rumors, said DeNucci recently, are more fact ghan fiction. He is, barring unforseen circumstances or catastrophies, going to run for the office of state representative.

"What it hinges on," said DeNucci, "is whether or not Paul Guzzi (current state representative for the 12th district) runs for secretary of state."

If Guzzi announces, DeNucci will announce his intention of seeking the Democratic nomination for that seat.

DeNucci laughed at the notion he had bowed out quietly for someone who made such a splash on the local boxing scene as a 17-year-old senior at Newton High

"I sort of wanted to just fade out," he said, "It was something I did with mixed emotions. I didn't want to drain myself and go too far. Of course, fighting was something which was a big part of my life, but someday you have to retire."

DeNucci had only been back in the ring for a little over a year after a four-year lay-off, when he packed away his gloves for good.

He won nine fights in a row upon his return and then lost a disputed split decision to former title holder Emile Griffith in Boston. A rematch with Griffith wasn't as close and then DeNucci was disqualified in a fight with Jean-Claude Bouttier in Paris, last spring. That was his last fight and it was one he felt he was robbed of.

"I found out when you go out of the country they really handcuff you," he said with some bitterness in his voice. "I had plenty of offers to continue fighting, but most of them were out of the country. I just felt it was time to retire."

If DeNucci has regrets about retiring he doesn't think his wife's feelings were mixed.

"I think she was relieved," said DeNucci. "It does take an awful lot of the family. It's not so much fear that I'd be hurt, but I had to devote so much time to training, had to go to bed early, get up early, eat a certain way. The house really wasn't relaxed while I was preparing for a fight. It was a real sacrifice for my family.

"Now I have different values. When you begin to even question fighting, it's time to go.

"I think I stepped down at the right time. I lost some of that desire to be champion of the world and when you lose that forget it. I never boxed for the simple fact of makicg money. I boxed because I loved it."

So what makes Joe DeNucci think he is qualified to represent the people of his neighborhood in the State House? What interests him enough to make him jump from the ring to the three-ring circus of politics?

"I think I can be an asset to my district," said DeNucci. "I've always been interested in politics. It's something I thought of since I first came into the State house as a page in 1960."

DeNucci thinks he can help people if he's in politics. His interests include youth, the elderly and handicapped. He hopes to get programs passed to help those groups.

"These people need help and I think I can give them some," said DeNucci.

The DeNucci campaign hasn't exactly started rolling down Walnut Street yet, but he's been "moving around," feeling out the political reception he will get if he plunges into the race for rep.

"The reception has been good," said DeNucci. "One thing I've got going for me is my background. I didn't pop out of the wall. I've got experience working in the legislature for 14 years. I got my education from the ground up, as a page boy with the House Rules Committee, as a legislative assistant, and as a general court officer. That's something you can't learn overnight."

The primary fight isn't until September, but DeNucci is already in training. And he's approaching his possible confrontation with the ballot box with the same philosophy he approached his fights in the ring.

"If I didn't think I could win," said DeNucci, "I wouldn't be in it."

(Editor's note: Guzzi was to announce today that he was running for Secretary of State.)

North swim team defeats Brookline

By RICK GORDON

The relay team of Dale Syphers, John Volante, Scott Eston and Scott Pohlman led Newton North's swim team to a slump ending 87-81 triumph over Brookline last week.

Although a loss at Medford followed the Brookline meet, both contests were encouraging for the first year Newton swim team.

"All the way around I was real happy," stated Newton coach Benn Merritt. "This is by far the best we've swum," he added after the Medford loss.

At Brookline Jay Jassett, Kurt Pohlman, John Wish and Ed Devine won the medley relay. Peter Katseff, Alex Schipira, John Volante and Charles Wu finished third.

Scott Pohlman and Gil Pementel finished second and third, respectively, in the 200 yard freestyle, giving Newton an 18-12 lead.

In the individual medley, Bob Hershfield's third was the best Tiger finish. Brookline had its only lead of the day following the 50 yard freestyle, in which Scott Eston earned second for Newton. Dale Syphers finished fourth.

The Tigers regained the lead when Brookline provided no official competition in the diving, allowing Dave Fishkind, Ken Freedberg and Bob Bontempo to finish one, two and three.

Wish won the butterfly for Newton. In a controversial finish, Syphers earned runner-up points in the 100 yard freestyle. Syphers was two-tenths of a second behind the Brookline victor. Eston placed third. Pementel finished third in the 500-yard freestyle. Steve Schaefer cut ten seconds from his previous best time to finish fourth.

Jassett took second in the backstroke, .6 seconds out of first. Pete Katseff swam third.

Kurt Pohlman's second in the breaststroke, the next to last event, left Newton with a four point lead with only the relay remaining.

The Tigers needed either a first place finish or both second and third place to assure themselves of victory and Syphers, Volante, Eston, and Pohlman swam the course in 3:55.0 to clinch a Newton victory.

"Improvement is coming," commented Merritt. "The kids have done a lot."

At Medford, the Tigers lost to a more experienced team by a final score of 160-137.

One of Newton's two individual first place spots came in the diving where Fishkind won, teammate Freedberg finished third. Scott Pohlman earned the other first, beating out Eston in the 100 yard freestyle.

The relay team of Syphers, Volante, Eston and Pohlman finished first in front of Devine, John Mescall, Arnie Benack and Charles Wu, who took second.

Devine, Wish, Pohlman and Jassett finished second in the medley relay.

In the individual medley, Eston's second was the best Newton finish. Wish improved his time but finished third for the Tigers in the butterfly.

Jassett and Kurt Pohlman placed third in their events, the backstroke and the breaststroke.

The freestyle races were encouraging. Scott Pohlman and Volante finished second and third in the 50-yard freestyle.

Scott Pohlman won the 100-yard freestyle just ahead of Eston. Syphers finished second in the 200 yard freestyle and Schaefer placed third.

In the 500-yard freestyle, Schaefer cut almost 20 seconds from his time in the Brookline meet and finished second.

"Every single race was a complete effort. We had some great times," praised coach Merritt. "This was by far the best meet that we've had."

South skaters lose to Bedford

By MARK COOPER

Newton South's hockey team lost to Bedford High, 5 to 2, last week at West Concord Arena. Newton South's record is 1-6-1.

Bedford scored first at 6:08 of the first period. Seconds later, at 6:41, Bedford scored again, on a breakaway. Bob Driscoll was the South goalie.

At 5:51 of the second period, Bedford scored against goalie Dave Satter. With a 3-0 lead, Bedford began to protect its advantage by playing defensive hockey.

At 7:48, South defenseman Mark Cooper scored with a slap shot. Steve Tresca and Brian Cain assisted.

Driscoll returned to the South goal in the third period. Bedford's Jim Griffith scored twice to up the score to 5-1.

South's Jeffrey Randall scored the final goal of the game with a hard slap shot from the blue line. Ken Bianco assisted

Today's SPORTS Parade

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Maybe you were so taken up with all that Ali-Frazier fuss that you didn't even hear the bomb drop.

If you didn't, don't worry.

All you really missed was the start of another world war.

To people in sports, the economic bloodbath between the NFL and AFL was World War I and the continuing shooting between the NBA and ABA is World War II. The NHL-WHA struggle comes under the heading of World War III, and World War IV officially began Monday when the brand new World Football League signed UCLA running backs Kermit Johnson and James McAlister and Southern California tackle Booker Brown to "long term contracts."

Bob Woolf, the highly capable and successful sports attorney out of Boston, was talking about what all this will do to professional salaries while watching the NFL draft here Tuesday.

On that subject, Woolf probably can speak with more authority than any other man.

He has negotiated the contracts of more than 700 players in all sports, including the NFL's No. 1 draft choices the past two years, John Matuszak and Walt Patulski.

An Upbeat Individual

Bob Woolf is an upbeat sort of individual, not the kind who goes around viewing with alarm, but he draws the only logical conclusion possible from the World Football League's move on Monday.

"Unfortunately, it looks like the war is on," says Woolf," and if this war is anything like those others, salaries will be doubled.

"I don't ever like to see a war in sports, but with the World Football League signing those three players even before the NFL conducted its draft, it makes it quite evident we now have another war.

"These three players must have been paid a substantial amount of money and the owners in the World Football League apparently intend spending a great deal more to get the players they want. I don't say this is good. I just say it is happening."

Bob Woolf then adds the real shocker—considering the fact he's always representing the players, not the owners.

"I'm not certain football can sustain this," he says.

Bob Woolf is a lawyer, licensed to practice before the United States Supreme Court. By training, like most lawyers, he's cautious in his statements.

I'm not an attorney and I think Bob Woolf is merely scratching the surface. I'm positive football cannot sustain this kind of financial suicide. Not football, basketball, baseball, hockey or even J. Paul Getty.

"The margin of profit in professional sports today is not as great as people imagine," points out Woolf. "Even in the NFL. Everybody thinks the NFL is making a mint. It's not that much.

"The WFL, for all the money behind it, isn't as well funded as the AFL when it first started. It doesn't have the Lamar Hunts and the Bud Adams. However, they are sufficiently funded so I know they'll get off the ground. What I don't know is whether they'll flourish or not. No one can tell how owners will react if they lose a couple of million dollars a year."

Woolf insists the only thing most professional athletes want is an opportunity to play ball and make a decent living.

"They really don't want to strangle a franchise," he says. "Where the problem arises is when one owner becomes, let's say overenthusiastic, and announces he's going to win the championship no matter how much it costs. He then sets a new market value for all the other people in sports."

Pro football players, according to Woolf, are the lowest paid performers among those in the four major sports. Basketball players get the most, he says, followed by hockey and baseball players, who by the way, are about to go to arbitration boards with their employers

South track team loses to Acton-Boxborough

By JEFF KAROL

Newton South's track team lost its final regular season meet to Acton-Boxborough, 64 to 22.

South's Andy Shulman finished first in the 300 with a time of 35.5. Steve Garfinkel tied for second in the 40.

Charley Bond finished second in the 1,000.

South's Jeff Karol finished third in the mile.

South's relay team of Stuart Perry, Peter Kotzen, Howie Harris and Shulman won.

Police A.A. basketball tournament in February

The eighth annual Newton Police Athletic Association Junior High and Freshman Basketball Tournament will be held at the Newton South High gym during the February school vacation.

Sixteen teams will be invited. Teams will be selected by a Newton Athletic Association Committee. Factors for selection will include win-loss records and regional locations.

The Brockton freshman team won last year's tournament. In the past seven years, there has never been a repeat champion.

Three games will be played nightly. Games will have six minute periods. Teams will be eliminated after one loss.

Massachusetts teams are invited to apply for entrance to the tournament.

Bruins start stretch drive

BOSTON (UPI) — The Boston Bruins, reunited after five players returned today from the National Hockey League All Star game in Chicago, begin the stretch part of the season with a six-point lead over Montreal in the Eastern Division.

The Bruins' next test comes Thursday night against the Atlanta Flames and the Boston team will be playing without defenseman Bobby Orr.

Orr, who received a thigh bruise in Sunday's win over Philadelphia, is expected to start skating Friday and play over the weekend.

Defenseman Darryl Edestrand, out two weeks with a knee injury, was fitted for a brace Tuesday in New York, and also should be available to play Saturday in Toronto and Sunday at Boston Garden against Pittsburgh.

5 from N.E. picked

BOSTON (UPI) — Five New Englanders, three of them from Boston COLLEGE, WERE AMONG THE PLAYERS PICKED IN Tuesday's opening session of the National Football League draft.

The Boston College contingent included: center guard Steve Corbett of Dover, N.H., drafted in the second round by the New England Patriots; offensive tackle Gordon Brown of Franklin, drafted immediately after Corbett by the New York Jets; and quarterback Gary Marangi of Valley Stream, N.Y., drafted in the third round by the Buffalo Bills.

The first New England player drafted was Carl Barzilauskas of Waterbury, Conn., a defensive tackle from Indiana, Barzilauskas, whose Uncle Fritz used to play at Yale, was the New York Jets' first round pick.

Celtics bombarded

For one basketball game at least, a good defense proved superior to a good offense.

The New York Knicks, allowing opponents a National Basketball Association low of 97 points a game, routed high scoring Boston, 104-83, Tuesday night, holding the Celtics 28 points below the per-game average.

"Our defense was the key," declared Knick All-Star guard Walt Frazier in one of the great understatements of the year. "We stopped their penetration and forced them from sideline to sideline by jumping out at the ballhandler."

Celtic ace John Havlicek, himself held to a mere 12 points, had a slightly different opinion, claiming it wasn't the Knick defense as much as it was his team's inability to adapt to the situation.

Havlicek claimed, "If you don't have that free-lancing, free-wheeling, fast-breaking type of game, you've got to adjust. Once again, we didn't do it...."

Frazier Leads Knicks

Frazier led New York with 23 points and Dave DeBusschere chipped in with 20 while Dave Cowens topped the Celtics with 21.

The victory allowed the Knicks to move within 6½ games of the first-place Celtics in the Atlantic Division.

Appearing At Wall Night

Rustic recording stars Charlie and John Chisholm will be among the featured entertainers at the show dedicated to Frank Wall, Sunday, Feb. 3, at Moseley's Ballroom.

ABC coming up fast as TV force

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — ABC-TV is coming on fast as a major force in investigative television journalism.

A number of its prime-time documentaries have made people in the video industry take notice of the network's new eminence in this field.

For ABC-TV, smallest of television's three major commercial networks, this sudden eminence must be producing a heady kind of feeling.

And no wonder—because for years ABC-TV was regarded as a distant third in its news and documentary competition with CBS-TV and NBC-TV.

ABC-TV did, indeed, have some splendid news coverage and documentary entries even when it trailed well behind the other networks.

More Time to Devote

But NBC-TV and CBS-TV, being more established, were always more able to devote a larger amount of time and energy to public affairs broadcasts.

They had, and undoubtedly still have, bigger news staffs than their smaller competitor.

And they could afford to preempt more prime time entertainment programming than ABC-TV, which was struggling to survive.

In terms of prestige and productivity in news and documentary broadcasts, many people today instinctively probably still would regard ABC-TV as the third network.

But there is no question the competition is a lot closer than it used to be.

For instance, audiences for the nightly network half-hour newscasts once were considered just about wrapped up by CBSTV and NBC-TV.

No more. ABC-TV's teaming of Harry Reasoner with Howard K. Smith has been a success, and has paid off handsomely in the ratings.

The chances are that the ratings would be even better if ABC-TV had as big a lineup of affiliate stations as the two other networks.

Bentsen's Not Decided

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Sen. Lloyd M. Bentsen, D-Tex., says he is not well enough known nationally to consider running for the presidency in 1976, but this might change by the end of the year.

Bentsen has said he plans to spend most of 1974 campaigning for Democratic senators and helping them raise money.

"Then, at the end of the year we'll see how we've done, and then decide whether it is a realistic thing or not to do. I know the place where a man can do the most for his country is right down at the White House...so we'll look at it then and decide what should be done."

UCLA gets revenge

After winning three of four "Games of the Year" against Maryland, North Carolina State and Notre Dame, UCLA should be able to relax now. The Bruins probably won't have another "Game of the Year" until the NCAA playoffs.

Like a gunfighter who finds somebody new challenging him everytime he disposes of the previous one, UCLA, with the quickest guns west of the Atlantic Ocean, riddled upstart Notre Dame Saturday night with one of college basketball's most devastating displays of precision and power.

Stung by the Irish, 71-70, only a week before in South Bend, Ind., while having their record 88-game winning streak snapped, the Bruins roared back on their home court behind Bill Walton's 32-point performance to deflate Notre Dame 94-75.

Walton, 6-foot-11, two-time Player of the Year, was about as good as a player can be, hitting 16 of 19 field goal attempts, dominating the backboards with 11 rebounds and shutting off Notre Dame's offensive penetration before fouling out with 5:39 left.

Seventeen-year old 6-foot-5 freshman Marques Johnson proved that coach John Wooden's Bruins have no intention of dropping from the top after Walton's departure at the end of the season.

Strong Rebound

Johnson, who earned the start with a 20-point performance against Santa Clara Friday night, gave the Bruins stronger rebounding and some sparkling offense with 16 points, 14 in the second half.

UCLA led by as many as 28 points in running its home court victory string to 60 games and in improving its record to 15-1.

The Bruins return to Pacific-8 play next Saturday night against University of Southern California. Notre Dame, now 12-1, is at home against Marquette Tuesday night.

In other action, third-ranked North Carolina State downed Purdue, 86-81, fifth-ranked North Carolina whipped fourth-ranked Maryland, 82-73, sixth-ranked Marquette routed Loyola, 71-54, seventh-ranked Providence beat Rhode Island, 78-64, eighth-ranked Vanderbilt tripped Mississippi, 71-56, ninthranked Long Beach State defeated Northern IKLLINOIS, ⅛ ? ¾ + ⅞ ⅛ , AND ⅛?TH+RANKED Alabama beat Georgia, 86-71.

Elsewhere, 11th-ranked Southern California dumped Fordham, 70-60, 13th-ranked Indiana ripped Northwestern, 82-53, 14th-ranked South Carolina nipped Seton Hall, 75-74, 16thranked Wisconsin beat Ohio State, 69-64, 17th-ranked Kansas edged Oklahoma, 82-79, 18thranked Arizona State downed Utah, 82-74, 19th-ranked TexasEl Paso walloped Wyoming, 68-38, and 20th-ranked Michigan clipped Iowa, 86-84.

Pittsburgh, 12th-ranked nationally, won its 15th straight game Sunday with an 83-61 rout of Penn State. Pitt's winning streak is the longest among major colleges.

Major oil companies forcing independent gas stations out

BOSTON (UPI) — A leading Massachusetts consumer advocate has charged that the increase in gasoline sales during the last quarter of 1973 indicates that major oil companies are trying to force privately owned stations out of business.

Dermott P. Shea, former head of the state Consumer's Council and now a director of the Association of Massachusetts Consumers Inc., said Monday "I think we have a carefully orchestrated scheme by the major oil companies to use the energy crisis to force the competition out of business."

"There's really no other logical way to explain what's going on," he added. "We have fewer stations pumping more gasoline. Some stations get all the gas they can sell while others — those that are privately owned—are getting less than they received last year."

Shea said the same squeeze has been put on independent fuel oil dealers during the winter.

UPI Report

His remarks were in response to a United Press International report that Massachusetts service stations pumped 10 million gallons more gasoline in October and November 1973 than they did in October and November 1972, despite the energy crisis.

The report also said that although final figures for December 1973 have not yet been compiled, it appears that sales in that month will meet or exceed the December 1972 level.

Herbert Goodwin, chief of Attorney General Robert H. Quinn's consumer protection division, said the figures "raise some very serious questions which we intend to get answered."

State Consumer Affairs Secretary John Verani responded to the UPI story by saying "while it is true that gasoline sales increased in October and November 1973 over the same months in the previous year, there has been a decreasing rate of increase."

Verani said the increase in sales for October and November 1973 over October and November 1972 was only 2.5 per cent, "well below the anticipated increase of 7 per cent."

"The figures also do not reflect the 50 mile an hour speed limit and gasless Sundays that occurred in December," he added.

Verani said he expects that the December 1973 sales figures will be below those of December 1972. "After that, I predict consumption will be down tremendously."

The secretary's forecast does not agree with projections released by the state Department of Corporations and Taxation. In its monthly report on tax collections, the depar'ment estimated that revenue from the state motor fuel tax in fiscal 1974, which ends June 30, will total $191.6 million, up $7.4 million over fiscal 1973 collections of $184.2 million.

A spokesman for the department said, however, the fiscal 1974 projection in the report was made in January 1973 and may be revised downward.

The department reported that collections in December 1973 totalled $14.9 million, an increase of 12 per cent over December 1972.

Revenue collection from the motor vehicle tax in calender year 1973 totalled $187.2 million compared to $176.7 million in 1972—a 7 per cent increase.

The collections in both years resulted from a flat 7½ cent per gallon tax on gasoline and diesel fuel. This means that 2.496 billion gallons of fuel were sold in 1973 compared to 2.355 billion in 1972.

Audrey Rubin chosen for trip to Washington

Miss Audrey N. Rubin, of 36 Howland Road, West Newton, a senior at Beaver Country Day School, has been chosen to participate in the 1974 Congressional Seminar in Washington, D.C.

The Washington Workshops Foundation, a nonprofit, nonpartisan association, founded in 1967, will conduct eight, one-week seminars during 1974 in cooperation with Mount Vernon College, where students will be housed.

The seminars encourage an intensive study of American government for selected high school students from across the nation and abroad.

Participants travel to Capitol Hill daily where they confer with government leaders. In dialogue sessions with members of Congress, Supreme Court Justices and Cabinet Members, the students receive commentary on the operation of the government of the United States and in turn submit their questions and comments concerning government activities.

The students also spend time observing the workings of the national government firsthand, as they attend sessions of the House and Senate, as well as Committee hearings. They meet individually with their own Congressmen and Senators.

Pats get Gordon

FOXBORO, Mass. (UPI) — The New England Patriots have acquired former All Pro Dick Gordon from Green Bay in a straight wide receiver swap for John Mosier.

Gordon, 30, who led the National Football League in receptions and touchdown catches while with the Chicago Bears in 1970, saw limited action last season after being picked up from the Los Angeles Rams on waivers by the Packers. He is a nine-year pro from Michigan State.

Mosier, 25, a third year pro, played in only one game for New England in 1973, spending the rest of the season on the taxi squad. He played two seasons with Baltimore before being picked up and later released by the Buffalo Bills.

Book revised by local man

Dr. Emanuel A. Friedman of Newton, obstetrician-gynecologist-in-chief at the Beth Israel Hospital and professor of obstetrics and gynecology at the Harvard Medical School, has revised a textbook, "The Biological Principles and Modern Practice of Obstetrics."

The book has been used for years in medical schools and hospitals as a source of information on obstetrics.

Prior to his appointment at Beth Israel in 1969, Friedman was department chairman at Michael Reese Hospital in Chicago. Trained at Columbia-Presbyterian Hospital in New York City, he is a graduate of the Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons and has published over 200 papers and many books.

Friedman, his wife and three children make their home in Newton Centre.

Housing gap widens

The Newton Housing Authority has lost ground in its attempts to keep up with demand for housing, according to its latest statistical report covering the last three months of 1973.

The waiting period for "first apartment offers" is now a full two years, the report shows, whereas a year ago the waiting time was 21 months.

The waiting period for "first apartment offers" is now a full two years, the report shows, whereas a year ago the waiting time was 21 months.

Over the past year the number of subsidized rental units has declined by four, from 195 to 191. Family housing declined by two apartments of more than three bedrooms, gained one two-bedroom apartment, and lost one one-bedroom apartment.

Housing for the elderly has lost two project apartments temporarily because of roof problems, and lost four two-bedroom subsidized units. One efficiency apartment and one one-bedroom unit, both subsidized, have been gained.

The first of the Housing Authority's family housing projects, to be built on Beaconwood Road, Newton Highlands, may be ready to go to bid again in early or middle February, according to Executive Director Frank Quinn. The first bids were rejected by the state funding agency, the Department of Community Affairs, for being too high.

Since the bid rejection the architects have revised the 20-unit plan to cut costs.

Design plans have been submitted to the DCA, with landscape and electrical plans to be submitted within a week. After DCA approval, DCA will announce bid dates.

The Beaconwood housing will require a landtaking procedure, which cannot get underway until after DCA approval of the plans.

Election held

The Newton Police Benefit Association recently elected officers. Patrolman John F. Lovely, a 39-year veteran, was elected president. Patrolman Martin W. Daley was elected treasurer, Patrolman John J. Coffey secretary, and the board of directors consists of Patrolmen John I. Likely, John A. Zilinskis, Robert W. Whelan, and James I. Norcross.

Human health rights

There was a time when people thought health care was a privilege. Now almost everyone believes adequate health care is a basic human right.

According to the Norfolk County-Newton Lung Association, hospital patients even have their own Bill of Rights, which was approved by the American Hospital Association in 1973. All patients, says the document, have a right to considerate and respectful care. They have a right to complete information about their diagnosis and treatment—in terms they can understand.

They also have a right to refuse treatment to the extent the law allows and to know the medical consequences of doing so.

Among other safeguards, patients have a right to have the records of their case kept confidential. They have a right to expect reasonable responses to requests for services and a right to know why they may be transferred to other institutions. They have a right to expect adequate continuity of care. They have a right to examine their bills and have them explained, regardless of who pays the bill.

A Patient's Bill of Rights is an important building block in the growing effort to provide guarantees of adequate health care for everyone. Lung patients, for example, are a special concern of the American Lung Association, whose goal is to establish comprehensive care for all lung patients by the end of the next decade. The Association supports a national health program and believes the federal government should establish cost controls and set minimum standards for all health services "to assure all Americans adequate coverage for comprehensive care and catastrophic illness."

To find out more about your human rights and health, particularly for lung disease patients, contact the Norfolk County-Newton Lung Association. It's a matter of life and breath.

Annual alumnae day

Sister Anne Higgins, Headmistress of Newton Country Day School of the Sacred Heart, announced the first Annual Back-To School Day for Alumnae will be held Feb. 6, 1974, at the school, 785 Centre St., Newton from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Mrs. Timothy X. Cronin, Wellesley Hills and Mrs. Brian J. Kelley, Southboro, co-presidents of the Alumnae, are in charge of the program which begins at 9 a.m. with Registration and Coffee followed by a welcoming address by Sister Anne Higgins and a short film of Newton today.

Participants will be able to attend a choice of classes at 10:20 and 11:15, covering all subjects, thus providing a first-hand opportunity to evaluate academic and spiritual goals for the 1970's and to compare classes with their own school experience.

Luncheon will be followed by short group discussions. Baby sitting for children over three years of age will be provided.

Alumnae of the Country Day School interested in attending may contact Sister Wolfington, Director of Communications, at 244-4246 or either of the co-presidents.

Check Presentation

J. William Grimes, left, vice president, CBS Radio Division and general manager of WEEI, Boston, presents a check for $71,000 to Dr. Arthur J. Barsky, world renowned plastic surgeon and co-founder of Children's Medical Relief International, Inc. The money represents the proceeds from WEEI's 1973 "Penny-A-Month" campaign and will be used to help support the work of the Center for Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery in Saigon.

Moakley acts on energy crisis

WASHINGTON — Congressman Joe Moakley (D-Mass.) has announced a legislative package to deal with the energy crisis. Moakley's legislation was developed in cooperation with other congressmen over the recess.

The bills meet several of the more important priorities Moakley had outlined last year in testimony before the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce during the committee's investigation of emergency energy legislation. Moakley's legislation would:

—Impose price ceilings on petroleum and related goods. Moakley has charged that oil companies have used the present plight of the American people to reap record profits. Ceiling prices, he argues, would eliminate windfall profits and assure that people can still obtain needed gasoline and oil products at prices they can afford. Similar legislation has been introduced in the Senate by Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.).

—Establish a Bureau of Energy Information within the Department of Commerce. Moakley has been critical of efforts to base national energy policy on industry supplied statistics. His bill would make independent data available.

—Provide low interest loans to businesses hurt by the crisis. The Small Business Act makes special provisions for firms hit by natural disaster of the SALT talks. Moakley's bill would expand that category to include businesses affected by the energy crisis.

—Limit a special tax loophole which continues to encourage U. S. firms to export goods which are in short supply. Under the 1971 Revenue Act, American companies have been encouraged through tax advantages to establish subsidiaries (known as domestic international sales corporations) which export American goods and materials. "However, Moakley pointed out, "this tax break should certainly not apply to products in such critically short supply as oil.

Moakley said, "These bills will not solve the energy crisis but we must take every step possible to alleviate the suffering the energy crisis is causing. One important move in that direction is to make clear that Congress will not support the apparent administration policy of making everyone but the oil companies suffer for this crisis."

advice for car poolers

"Jumping into the pool" is becoming popular, and it's not even necessary to know how to swim. Car pools are catching on today—particularly in areas where the automobile is the only visible form of transportation.

Car pooling, as an energy saving measure, is encouraged by local governments and employers, some of whom are considering toll reductions and parking benefits to promote sharing the ride.

If you are considering starting or joining a pool, the Automotive Information Council offers the following suggestions:

—Periodically check all cars to be used in the pool to ensure they're in safe operating condition, because driving with a full passenger load places extra stress on components such as tires, suspension and brakes.

—Increase tire pressures two or three pounds above your car's normal level, but don't exceed the maximum pressure recommended for your particular tires.

—Make sure you have adequate auto insurance. The Insurance Information Institute advises motorists to check with their insurance companies to make sure they have enough liability and medical payment coverage because the chances of multiple injuries are higher in a car pool related accident, and minimum coverage may not be sufficient. Additional coverage is available under both conventional and no-fault insurance systems.

—Ask your insurance company if you can qualify for premium reductions based on decreased car usage.

—If any members of your car pool elect to pay a fee in lieu of their share of the driving, check with your company to determine if they consider this "commercial use" of your vehicle—ordinarily not covered by most policies.

—Become familiar with the provisions and benefits of your policy. According to the Insurance Information Institute, in states using the no-fault system, other insured drivers who sustain injuries while passengers in your car generally can file a claim with their own insurance companies. If their claim exceeds the amount of their coverage, however, you may be liable for the difference.

While a successful car pool depends on many factors, such as agreeing beforehand on rules governing smoking, lowering windows, use of radios, etc., in the car the most important factor is allowing sufficient time between pickups. Most car pool related accidents involve drivers rushing to stay on schedule or to make up for lost time.

ASTROLOGY

By Oscar Weber

SLOW STARTER

Q. According to my Sign, Capricorn, I am a slow starter but successful later. True about being a slow starter but "successful," I'm still in there plugging but nothing yet! I was born on January 16, 1932, at 2:10 a.m. in Chicago, Ill.

B.N.

A. Not all Sun Signs of the same Sign are alike as noticed many times before in this column, the Sun Sign is not a horoscope. A horoscope consists of eight planets, the Moon, the Ascendent as well as other factors in addition to the Sun.

"Later" is a relative term meaning after some time. Since your Sun was in "conjunction" aspect with the planet Saturn which with the planet Mars was also in Capricorn, from an astrogolical point of view, "later" means the latter part of life, usually not during the first half.

During the first half of life you are apt to learn patience which may not be easy since planet Mars was also "conjunct" your Sun and Saturn. You are able to carry your duties and responsibilities very well even though at times you may be somewhat discouraged.

You have a fine intellect, are realistic, practical and able to keep your objectives in mind. You absorb knowledge easily, are a good student, express yourself clearly and logically and in general are a good speaker.

While your intellegence is a strong point, as much cannot be said about your emotions. Your feelings can be easily stimulated, at times you can be passionate yet at other times icy cold. All through life you are able to learn by your experiences and any mistakes you may make.

Your recuperating powers, are great and even should you upon occasion be depressed, you are able to work yourself out of it. With Venus in your Fourth House you should find Peace and Happiness during the last quarter of life.

For questions to be answered through this column, mail the year, month, day of the month, city of birth, time of day if known and question to Ask Oscar, Box 114, Canton, Mass. 02021. Please sign your name which will not be published. Selected questions can only be answered through this column.

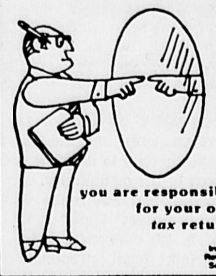

Income tax booklet now available

Postmaster George K. Walker announced today the official Internal Revenue Service guide, "Your Federal Income Tax," is on sale again this year at all post offices in the Boston Postal District.

The booklet provides assistance to taxpayers filing separate or joint returns. It contains sample completed forms with entries keyed to appropriate pages and many clear examples of allowable expenses, deductions and contributions.

Postmaster Walker said this year's revised edition, priced at $1.00, is expected to be another "best seller."

Mental health group is told of children's needs

The board of directors of the Norfolk Mental Health Assn. with Mrs. W.J. Kitchen of Sharon as president, held its January meeting in the Norwood Hospital and discussed "The Office of Children" created through 1972 legislation.

The speaker, David Paracheni, is director of one of the Regional Councils of the Office of Children which is the result of an effort of many people, both inside and outside of government to create a strong voice for the needs of children up to the age of 18. As an advocacy group, it will be monitoring existing services and helping children who sometimes "fall between the cracks" of agencies dealing with youngsters. In this way they hope to deal with the individual child with a specific need who has found no service.

Paracheni called the new set up "the largest job ever handed to an agency in State government." The Office will be coordinating all services, public or private, have charge of licensing family day care centers where a woman may have charge of up to six children in her own home, and help to have it run more efficiently; also under scrutiny will be adoptive and foster home care for which for the first time in ten years there has been a financial increase; it will look at State institutions such as Wrentham State School for the Retarded in this area "to see what is right and what is wrong" and help to develop community alternatives to institutionalization.

Part of the program is called "Chapter 766" which makes local schools responsible for providing children, even those with specialized needs, with the educational services they need. This Special Education Act, which goes into effect in September 1974, the Assn. has learned, is causing much concern in school circles both as to manpower and funds to cope with the Act.

Among other business was the approval of funds to install a $12,000 piece of equipment donated by an anonymous business firm to the workshop at Medfield State Hospital, which is sponsored by the Assn. and the Mass. Rehabilitation Commission, where selected patients work on contracts brought in from outside industry as therepy to help them to return to the community.

Announcement was made of another Teachers' Seminar to start Feb. 12, co-sponsored by the Norfolk County Teachers Assn. to help teachers in preventing mental disorders in children and preserving their mental health. It was also reported that the current 15-week Seminar at the Peabody School for "The Licensed Practical Nurse and the Patient in Crisis" is being enthusiastically received by the participants.

Investigation Underway

The apparent conflict between reports of gasoline shortages and increases in gasoline sales last year is under investigation by Herbert Goodwin, chief of Attorney General Robert H. Quinn's consumer protection division.

"The meaning of these figures is not completely clear at this time," Goodwin said. "But the figures do raise some very serious questions which we intend to get answered."

Friday night programs at Museum of Science

Friday night visitors to Boston's Museum of Science in February can take advantage of international wildlife films, a program on reptiles and amphibians, or Heart Month presentations, all at no cost above Friday night half price Museum admission.

These programs are part of a weekly Friday night series which visitors may enjoy, in addition to the exhibit halls, for the small fee of $1 for adults and 50c for children.

Starting off the month on Feb. 1 will be natural history films from Africa and the Arctic. Continuous alternate showings will provide viewers with an understanding of the common ecological limits of these two life zones.

On Feb. 8, the Massachusetts Herpetological Society will hold an open meeting at the Museum, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Guest speaker for the program will be John C. Walsh, field officer for the International Society for the Protection of Animals, who will recount his successful efforts to rescue ten thousand animals trapped by flooding in South America's Surinam Jungle. Walsh was also host of "Walsh's Animals" on WGBH-TV.

The day after Valentine's Day, the Museum will observe National Heart Month with one-night-only programs on the heart on Feb. 15. Throughout the Museum, staff members will help visitors to understand this important organ and the functions it performs.

In Robb Auditorium, circulation in lower animals, such as single-celled creatures, frogs, and goldfish, will be discussed with the help of a closed circuit tv projection system. In the newly reopened and expanded Heart Exhibit, visitors will be invited to listen to their heartbeat and to the heartbeat of several small mammals, including a rabbit and a ferret.

Young people will enjoy learning about circulation from an imaginative and intriguing puppet show, to be presented at 4, 6, and 7:30 p.m. Representatives from the Red Cross will be present to explain blood donation, with emphasis on the procedures involved in storing it and preparing it for injection into a recipient.

On Feb. 22, Museum goers will have the opportunity to view wildlife and science films from the world over. These movies, which will also be shown daily throughout school vacation week, come from Japan, Canada, West Germany, Alaska, Brazil, and other points around the globe.

Throughout the month, visitors to the Museum on Friday nights and every day of the week may view the special exhibitions on temporary display there. In the Design Around Us Gallery a comprehensive showing of the works of Dutch graphic artist M.C. Escher has been held over to March 15. And on the second floor, Museum West, a multimedia exhibition entitled Greenland: Arctic Denmark offers visitors insight into the land and people of the world's largest island.

The Museum's Skyline Room is open for dinner on Friday nights between 5 and 8 p.m., and the Friendly's shop is open for sandwiches and snacks throughout the evening. Parking is available in the garage for a nominal fee. By MBTA, take the Green Line Lechmere car to Science Park Station.

Bentsen's Not Decided

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Sen. Lloyd M. Bentsen, D-Tex., says he is not well enough known nationally to consider running for the presidency in 1976, but this might change by the end of the year.

Bentsen has said he plans to spend most of 1974 campaigning for Democratic senators and helping them raise money.

"Then, at the end of the year we'll see how we've done, and then decide whether it is a realistic thing or not to do. I know the place where a man can do the most for his country is right down at the White House...so we'll look at it then and decide what should be done."

Turkey Population Up

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (UPI) — In 1952, just 20 years before the year of the highest trapping success, the Missouri wild turkey population reached its lowest ebb—fewer than 2,500 turkeys remained, the State Conservation Commission said.

Progress

The paramedical mobile coronary care unit is representative of highly sophisticated ambulances likely to become standard within a decade. A training course for ambulance technicians meets Tuesday and Thursday evenings at Newton-Wellesley Hospital. Here, Newton Fire Lt. Ronald Palkey (left) discusses the program with instructor Dr. Charles Lipson (center) and course designer Samuel Roberto (right) of Mass. Bay Community College.

Ambulance course underway

Former Massachusetts Governor Foster Furcolo advocated extension of so-called "Good Samaritan" laws to cover ambulance personnel at the first session of the emergency medical training course now in progress at Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

At the initial class last week, the former governor said that existing laws cover physicians and nurses who voluntarily extend on-the-spot medical aid to accident or emergency victims without specific authorization, but ambulance personnel are not covered now.

Furcolo urged the 35 men and one woman taking the emergency medical services course to work for protective legislative provisions.

"If a person goes out of the way to protect someone, he or she should be protected in turn," he said, adding that as ambulance personnel increasingly assume a paramedical role, the need for legal protection is keener.

Students enrolled in the emergency training course include firefighters, police officers, private ambulance personnel, and one female Newton High School student, Janice Goldberg.

The 17-year-old senior, who is also a member of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital Explorers Post, said she planned to join a Red Cross disaster unit when she becomes 18.

The 80-hour emergency course, which readies students for national certification as trained emergency technicians, is conducted by Mass Bay Community College under the supervision of Dean Samuel Roberto. Newton-Wellesley Hospital liaison is Administrative Assistant Timothy Harrington. Instructor Dr. Charles Lipson represents the hospital and the Charles River District Medical Society.

Obituaries

Henry Schafer

Funeral services for Henry G. Schafer, 83, of 33 Manor House Rd., Newton Centre, were held Monday (Jan. 21) at Trinity Church, Newton Centre.

Mr. Schafer died Wednesday (Jan. 16) in Bermuda after a brief illness.

He had lived in Newton 55 years and had been active in Trinity Church since moving to the city. At the time of his death, he was an honorary vestryman.

Mr. Schafer was a director of the Newton YMCA and a chairman of the city's Red Cross Chapter and a member of the Red Cross Annual Community Fund Committee.

He was retired from John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co. where he had worked for 48 years as supervisor of general agencies and manager of the Somerville and Newton offices.

Husband of the late Beatrice (Hill) Schafer, Mr. Schafer is survived by his daughter, Mrs.

Henry Schafer

Lisbeth Diman of Newton; his grandson, Charles N. Diman of Billerica; two granddaughters, Alice D. Pratt of Boston and Margaret D. Sattelmair of Newton Centre; and five great-grandchildren.

Maria Balling

Mrs. Maria L. (Vortsefflich) Balling of 1875 Commonwealth Ave., Newton, died Sunday (Jan. 27) at the age of 74.

A funeral mass was said Wednesday (Jan. 30) for her in Mission Church, Roxbury.

A professor of music at Newton College of the Sacred Heart from 1945 to 1965, Mrs. Balling was a native of Vienna, Austria, and a graduate of the New Vienna Conservatory and the University of Vienna.

She was an instructor at Manhattanville College in New York after coming to the United States.

Mrs. Balling is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Eva M. Thomas of West Roxbury; a sister, Mr. Hedy B. Fishman of Philadelphia, Pa., and six grandchildren.

Burial was in Newton Cemetery.

Frank Richardson

Funeral services for Boston banker Frank L. Richardson were held Saturday (Jan. 26) in Newton Cemetery Chapel.

Mr. Richardson died at his home at 929 Beacon St., Newton Centre, on Wednesday (Jan. 23), only four days after the death of his wife, Bertha.

An attorney, Mr. Richardson began his banking career at the Mattapan Deposit & Trust Co. In February, 1903, he came to the Newton Centre Trust Co., now known as the Newton-Waltham Bank & Trust Co., and served it as a treasurer, executive vice president, president and chairman of the board.

He held many other positions of importance in this community, serving as director of the Boston Mutual Life Insurance Co., member of the corporation, of the Newton Savings Bank, president and trustee of Newton-Wellesley Hospital, director of the Newton Chamber of Commerce and a member of the board of trustees of the YMCA.

Mr. Richardson was a member of the West Newton Unitarian Church, the Newton Bankers Association, Kiwanis Club, past president of the Newton Rotary Club, Retired Men's Club of Newton, Algonquin Club, University Club, Union Club and was the oldest living member of the Brae Burn Country Club.

He is survived by a nephew, Allen T. Richardson of West Medway; and a niece, Mrs. Irma Richardson Abbott of Hudson, Ohio.

Patrick Mulhern

A funeral mass was celebrated Wednesday (Jan. 30) in Mary Immaculate of Lourdes Church for Patrick Mulhern.

Mr. Mulhern, 73, of 90 Christina St., Newton Highlands, died Sunday (Jan. 27) in Newton-Wellesley Hospital after a long illness.

He was the retired owner of the Mulhern Sunoco Station in Newton.

Born in Ireland and a charter member of the Irish Republican Army, Mr. Mulhern came to the United States at the age of 27 and settled in Newton, opening his gas station on Rte. 9.

After 30 years, he turned the operation of his station over to his son.

Mr. Mulhern was a member of American Legion Post No. 141 and the Holy Name Society of Mary Immaculate of Lourdes Church in Newton Upper Falls.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Eileen Mulhern; five sons, Edward J. of Needham, Patrick J. of San Francisco, Calif., Daniel M. of Lowell, Thomas J. of Wayland, and Kevin J. of Newton; a daughter, Eileen M. Tirpak of Maryland; four sisters in Ireland and 10 grandchildren.

Burial is in St. Mary's Cemetery in Needham.

Violet Reynolds

Funeral services for Mrs. Violet (Wellman) Reynolds were held Tuesday (Jan. 29) in Myrtle Baptist Church.

Mrs. Reynolds, 67, of 51-A Bennington St., Newton, died Friday (Jan. 25) at her home after a brief illness.

She is survived by her sons, George Blutner Jr. of Dorchester and Newton Police Officer Ben Reynolds of Newton; five daughters, Mrs. Pearl Meredith and Mrs. Hope Beckett, both of Auburndale, Mrs. Fanny Saunders of Philadelphia, Mrs. Beverly Clark of Woodstock, Conn., and Mrs. Brenda Butler of Brockton; her stepmother, Mrs. Stella Wellman of Newton Highlands; two brothers, Alfred of New York City and Harry of Colorado; two sisters, Mrs. Alice McIver of Milton and Mrs. Eva Mitchell of Chicago, Ill.; 24 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

A resident of West Newton for many years, Mrs. Reynolds was a long-time member of the Myrtle Baptist Missionary Society.

Burial is in Newton Cemetery.

Otto Bresky

Services were held Wednesday (Jan. 30) for Otto Bresky, 84, of 52 Hammondswood Rd., Chestnut Hill.

Mr. Bresky, founder and retired chairman of the board of Seaboard Allied Mining Corp., a flour brokerage business, died Monday (Jan. 28) at the Miami Heart Institute in Miami Beach, Fla.

Mr. Bresky attended Dartmouth College prior to establishing his firm, which eventually became the fourth largest milling company in the United States.

He also served on the board of directors of Dania Bank in Dania, Fla., and was an adviser and consultant to the banking industry.

Mr. Bresky was a member of the Belmont Country Club, a founder of the Westview Country Club in Miami Beach and a member of Temple Israel in Boston.

He is survived by two sons, Otto Jr. and Harry; a daughter, Mrs. Marjorie Shifman, all of Newton; seven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Burial is in Temple Israel Cemetery, Wakefield.

Gerard F. Casey

Gerard F. Casey, 62, of 1855 Commonwealth Ave., Auburndale, died Sunday (Jan. 27) in Carney Hospital after a short illness.

Funeral services were held Wednesday (Jan. 30) with a mass in St. Bernard's Church. Burial is in Calvary Cemetery.

Mr. Casey was a supervisor for the MDC. He was a member of the Newton Knights of Columbus and active in its bowling league. He was also a member of St. Bernard's Holy Name Society and the American Legion.

Mr. Casey is survived by his wife, Mrs. Helen V. Casey; a brother, John of Milton; three sisters, Catherine M., Eileen V. Casey, both of Newton, and Mrs. Helen Mahoney of Rockland.

Antoinette Russo

A funeral mass was celebrated in St. Bernard's Church Wednesday (Jan. 30) for Mrs. Antoinette (Liberta) Russo.

Mrs. Russo, 76, of 14 Cottage Pl., West Newton, died Sunday (Jan. 27) in Newton-Wellesley Hospital after a brief illness.

Born in Italy, Mrs. Russo had spent most of her life in West Newton.

She is survived by her husband, John Russo; four daughters, Mrs. Mary Capello, Mrs. Rose Lapierre, Mrs. Elizabeth Teti, Mrs. Lena Bergantino; four sons, Salvatore, Dominic, John and Peter, all of West Newton.

Burial is in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

Sweet Adelines Pay Visit To The Hospital

The Liberty Belle Chapter of Sweet Adelines, Inc. entertained patients, nurses and visitors at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital last Monday evening.

They toured three floors and sang "Can't Help Singing", "In The Wee Small Hours of the Morning", "Harmonize the World" among others.

This singing engagement was one of many performances by this group. Past sing-outs include Mother's Clubs of various churches, the Lafayette Club of Lexington, Golden Agers of Melrose, Rainbow Girls Installation and private parties. Future engagements include singing at the Beta Sigma Phi Founder's Day Dinner and St. Agnes' Mothers Club Installation Dinner.

New day care center opening

The Newton Day Care Committee announces the opening of a new day care facility at 80 Cresent Aven. in Newton Centre in the former Sacred Heart School.

Negotiations with the parish of the Sacred Heart have come to a successful conclusion and the center will open as soon as some minor alterations required by the Health and Building departments of the city have been completed.

The new center will accept children between the ages of 2 years 9 months and 6 years in its pre-school section and children in grades 1 through 4 in its after school department.

The center will be open from 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

For further information about program and registration call Edith Babkey, director of the Day Care Services at 969-5907.

The Newton Day Care Centers are sponsored by the Newton Community Service Centers, Inc., a non-profit agency. A pre-school center has been operated at capacity for the last four years in the United Presbyterian Church in Newton Corner; an after school program opened last September at Pomroy House, and a new unit which includes pre-school children with special needs has just joined us.

The new opening in Newton Centre, a geographically ideal location, is in response to constant community demand for more day care space. It is also a very expensive undertaking for a non-profit agency.

There is need for money for the initial staffing, equipment of all sorts, arts and crafts materials, rugs, pillows, games, kitchen and office equipment, small scale furniture.

Anyone interested in helping and wishing further information call Lilo Willoughby at 969-3486.

Gathering for singles

The organization Jewish Singles will hold a get-acquainted cocktail party Sunday, Feb. 3, from 8 p.m. to midnight at the Howard Johnson Motor Lodge in Newton Corner.

Singles ages 18 to 70 are invited to attend.

Doctors host seminar

Dr. Edward C. Kelley Jr. of West Newton, director of medical education for St. Margaret's Hospital in Dorchester, will direct a two-day seminar entitled "Perinatal Medicine: Monitoring the High Risk Patient," on Feb. 8 and 9 at the Marriott Motor Hotel in Newton.

The seminar is being sponsored by Tufts University School of Medicine Continuing Education Program and St. Margaret's Hospital.

Milton physician, Dr. Joseph L. Kennedy Jr. will be among the more than 10 faculty guest speakers. Kennedy, neonatologist at St. Margaret's Hospital, will discuss "Hyaline Membrane Disease."

Dr. Anthony Sbarra, of Milton, will also be a guest lecturer at the seminar. Sbarra is associate director of pathology and medical research at St. Margaret's Hospital.

COCHITUATE—The Carlson Corporation, a New England based design-build organization, has been selected to design and construct a $1,000,000 student housing facility at Babson College in the Wellesley portion of the campus.

Based on Carlson's feasibility studies and preliminary design, the new structure will accommodate 108 students in 18 suites. The facility will be adjacent to two others built a few years ago near the Hollister Building.

The total structure will comprise three, 3-story modules with two suites per floor. Each suite will include a common living area, six individual study bedrooms, toilet facilities and a kitchenette equipped with refrigerator, sink and countertop burner. Thus, every student will be afforded both the privacy of his own room and the advantages of community interaction.

Each module will be serviced by a separate stair tower which will abut only the common living areas of the apartments to minimize noise interference in the study bedrooms. This arrangement will also improve security by limiting suite to suite access. In the event of an emergency, however, passage from one module to the next will be possible through access doors in each stair tower leading to the roof.

Additional features of the building design are the uniform room size designed to accommodate the school's standard furniture and the provision for future installation of window air conditioning units by insulating the building initially. Also, the modular repetition within the masonry framework will provide speed and economy of construction. For example, only one size of concrete floor and roof plank will be required throughout.

Energy bill may be dead

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A combination of Senate liberals and conservatives, backed by the Nixon administration and the oil industry, has badly wounded if not killed emergency energy legislation originally sought by the White House.

The Senate voted 57-37 Tuesday to send the bill back to conference committee.

Sponsors from House and Senate planned to meet today to see what could be salvaged, either as a package or piecemeal, from the sweeping bill that gave President Nixon broad powers to deal with the energy situation. They could modify enough of the old bill to satisfy opponents on certain points, or they could offer bits and pieces of the bill as riders to legislation already pending.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., the Senate sponor, said he had been told by House sponsor Harley Staggers, D-W.Va., House conferees would refuse to meet again on the bill.

Staggers told UPI either a Senate or House committee could have hearings on the biggest bone of contention in the bill—the control of energy profits—and possibly come up with a new approach that would be acceptable.

It Went Far Afield

The bill was originally requested by President Nixon, who wanted authority for such things as gasoline rationing during the energy problem. But when it reached the conference committee late last year, the administration said it had gone far afield of Nixon's requests.

Nixon objected to several of the bill's provisions—the windfall profits section, saying he had a better idea in a separate bill; the unemployment benefits section, saying it was vague; and the oil industry data requirements, saying they would be "unwieldy."

Jackson, however, said "industry won and the consumers lost" by the vote. If the windfall profits section is thrown out, he said, he will insist on a section forcing energy prices back to a set level of last year.

Staggers said the vote "was the most irresponsible thing that could be done to the wishes of the people."

The Senate did, however, warn oil producing countries they risk possible American economic retaliation for oil price increases that threaten to worsen inflation and unemployment in the United States.

Higher welfare payments will go out this week

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Increased payments in the new Supplemental Security Income (SSI) program go out this week. Officials expect increased problems from the addition of needy disabled persons, including drug addicts and welfare mothers, to the program.

SSI on Jan. 1 replaced some 1,152 differing state and local welfare programs with what amounts to a guaranteed annual income for poor persons who are 65 or older, blind or disabled.

The maximum federal SSI payment in January was $130 for an individual and $195 for a couple, but Congress raised those amounts to $140 and $210 and the increases will be paid retroactively in checks mailed beginning Saturday.

Social Security Commissioner James B. Cardwell said Tuesday he expected February to be a test month for SSI even though 95 per cent of last month's payments went smoothly. Crowds are expected as payment problems are being unsnarled.

The more vexing problems involved the transfer of some 30,000 drug addicts, more than half in New York City, and 5,500 welfare mothers, also in New jyork, to SSI rolls, and future aid, Cardwell said.

Claim many nursing homes owe millions

BOSTON (UPI) — The Massachusetts Public Welfare Department has overpaid some 700 nursing homes and reimbursements now owed to the state are in the millions.

Edmund C. Stone of the state Rate Setting Commission said late last week that latest figures showed 75 per cent of the nursing homes had been overpaid for services provided to welfare recipients during the last year.

Stone said the overpayments stemmed from inaccurate interim rates set by his agency. The rates were based on "estimated" data from nursing home owners.

"We don't view this as a situation where people are doing something wrong,"

Stone, the commission's executive secretary, said the nursing home owners would be required to pay back the money, but not with interest.

Though Stone does not believe the nursing home owners are guilty of violating any laws, at least one other state agency is investigating the overpayments with an eye towards prosecution.

Raymond F. Jowdy, head of the state fraud squad, says his group is now probing an estimated 50 nursing homes. The investigations center on the information supplied by the nursing homes to the rate setting commission.

Jowdy said there is some evidence the homes have "beefed up" their cost data to win higher interim rates.

Stations pumped 10 million gallons more

Where's the gas gone?

BOSTON (UPI) — Massachusetts service stations pumped 10 million gallons more gasoline during the first two months of the energy crisis than they did during the same period a year earlier.

Figures compiled by the state Department of Corporations and Taxation indicate that 396 million gallons of gasoline were sold in October and November 1973—the first months of the Arab oil boycott—compared to 386 million gallons in October and November 1972.

The figures also show that the use of aviation fuel in October and November 1973 increased by more than 40 per cent over the same period in 1972—from 860,000 to 1.2 million gallons.

Based On Tax

The data is compiled by the department based on monthly revenue collections from the state motor fuels tax of 7½ cents per gallon on gasoline and diesel fuel. The data shows that collections for 1973 were 7 per cent higher than 1972. Revenues rose from $176 million in 1972 to $188 million in 1973.

A spokesman for the department, John Spencer, said final gasoline fuel sales figures for December 1973 are not yet available due to a 30-day time lag between product sales and tax collections.

But based on collections in December for the overall motor fuel tax, it appears that gasoline sales for the month will meet or exceed the December 1972 level, despite Sunday station closings, 50 mile an hour speed limit and long waiting line at gas pumps.

Motor fuel tax collections for December totalled nearly $15 million compared to $13.4 million in December 1972. This menas that 200 million gallons of fuel was reported as sold in December 1973, compared to 180 million gallons in December 1972.

Spencer said, "I think it is fair to say that the bulk of the motor fuel sold was gasoline."

In November, when the impact of the oil boycott should have reached the U.S., gasoline sales totaled 194.4 million gallons, an increase of 2.1 million gallons over November 1972.

The final figures also show clearly that more gasoline was sold in the state this summer than the previous summer despite widespread reports of a gasoline shortage.

During the months of June, July and August of 1973, dealers sold 621 million gallons of gasoline compared to 602 million gallons during the same period in the previous year.

Sargent's fund 23 times more than opponent

BOSTON (UPI) — Gov. Francis W. Sargent, an undeclared Republican candidate for governor, had 23 times more in campaign funds on Jan. 1 than a Democratic opponent, Michael S. Dukakis.

Reports filed with the secretary of state under a revised campaign spending law showed Tuesday Sargent had funds totaling $233,000 while Dukakis had $10,600.

Neither of the reports, however, truly reflect the amounts already expended by the two candidates. Since the last statewide elections in 1972 Sargent has spent $292,000. Dukakis has spent about a third of that.

And both candidates say a series of fundraising efforts in the coming months should boost their totals substantially.

Dukakis is beginning to collect returns on a unique $10 a month coupon plan, with donors making payments on a regular basis.

Sargent's campaign chairman Victor Zuchero, has indicated a number of small fundraisers are planned for the near future with larger testimonial dinner events coming later in the campaign.

In the same report, Sargent also reported receiving $1,950 in contributions in the current year, offset by $3,419 in expenses leaving a balance of $231,537.

The governor also listed liabilities of $6,176, including a $4,000 expense for a voters survey by Market Opinion Research.

There's nothing left to go

BRAINTREE, Mass. (UPI) — Four years ago, Mrs. Catherine Damigella, a 50-year-old grandmother, was dying with heart and kidney ailments.

Saturday, she relaxed at home after four major surgical operations in three years have patched up her heart, replaced two bad kidneys with one good one and taken out her gall bladder.

Mrs. Damigella set a record of sorts with the latest operation. Doctors at Boston University Hospital said they know of no other person in medical history to undergo four such operations.

Despite the frequency of her hospital stays, Mrs. Damigella has always been dismissed before the end of normal recovery time.

The prayers of her friends and relatives have "backed me up" over the years, she said.

When people hear of her ordeals "they always expect to see someone with gray hair and a cane," she said.

In 1970, she was suffering from a kidney disease which doctors considered terminal and was spending a lot of time on a dialysis machine. Then, doctors discovered she also had a damaged vein in the coronary artery section of her heart. Doctors told her she could no longer be successfully treated.

Action expected on energy powers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Both houses of Congress plan on taking final action this week on a bill giving President Nixon emergency powers to deal with the fuel shortage, possibly before the Chief Executive delivers an energy-oriented State of the Union address Wednesday.

Five-thousand miles away, the 50th state today became the first to impose mandatory gasoline rationing, and halfway around the globe, diplomatic talks in Tokyo produced first a hint of an oil price cut by Saudi Arabia and then a warning against joint action by Western Europe, Japan and the United States against oil-producing nations.

In addition to final action on the energy bill scheduled Tuesday by the Senate and Wednesday by the House, a Senate subcommittee on multinational firms opens hearings Wednesday on the history of the oil industry's dealings with foreign countries.

In testimony last October before the Senate foreign relations subcommittee on multinational corporations and made public only Saturday, a former State Department official said the Nixon administration secretly gave U.S. oil firms broad antitrust exemptions starting in 1970.

The purpose, according to James Akins, now ambassador to Saudi Arabia, was to help the companies form a solid front against expected nationalization of their operations by Arab countries. He said the agreement was basically written by the oil companies.

The emergency energy bill came out of a House-Senate conference committee late last month but was left hanging in the windfall profits tax controversy Dec. 22 when the first session of Congress adjourned.

Rationing Powers

The bill contains provisions giving Nixon power to impose gasoline rationing and would set a tax of up to 85 per cent on oil companies' crude oil sales receipts above a ceiling set by the Cost of Living Council. It was the most disputed section of the measure.

"I think there probably is evidence of a punitive mood" in Congress, said American Petroleum Institute head Frank Ikard. In an interview with UPI Saturday he said, "You see all these charges and countercharges made in a very shrill voice, and not getting to the real basic question," he said.

The Hawaii rationing plan starting today is similar to Oregon's voluntary system under which motorists with license tags ending in even numbers can buy gas on even-numbered days, turning the pumps over to motorists with odd numbers the other days.

In addition, motorists in Hawaii must have no more than one-quarter of a tankful of gas before they attempt to buy more.

Weiner elected president of non-bank subsidiary

Former residential developer Morton D. Weiner of Newton has been elected president of New England Financial Services Corp., a wholly-owned non-bank subsidiary of New England Bancorp, Inc., headquartered at 600 Main Street, Waltham.

In his new capacity, Weiner will engage in the commercial and residential mortgage business, make, acquire and service loans or other extensions of credit secured by real estate, and act in an advisory capacity for mortgage or real estate investment trusts.

Prior to assuming his new position, Weiner had served as director of real estate and construction industries for New England Bancorp's wholly-owned banking subsidiary, Guaranty-First Trust Company, where he was responsible for appraisals, construction progress and inspections, and served as a consultant in all construction matters. He is a member of both the Bancorp and the bank's board of directors and chairman of the bank's real estate committee.

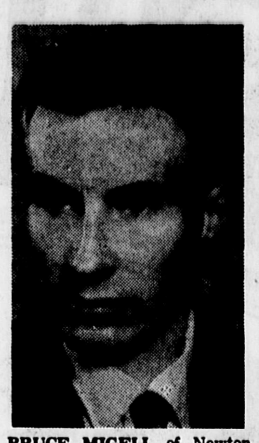

Weiner is a retired partner and treasurer of Meryl Construction Co., Inc., and a former president of Star Contracting Company. During his building career, he served as president of both the Home Builders Association of Massachusetts and the Home Builders Association of Greater Boston, and as a director of the National Association of Home Builders, the latter two of which he is an honorary life member and a director.

Morton D. Weiner

He was the 1963 recipient of the Massachusetts "Builder-of-the-year" award. The residential communities "Brentwood at Holliston," "Brentwood at Avon" and "Brentwood at Hanson" are among his major housing developments.

A graduate of Chelsea Senior High School, Weine attended Boston University and served four years with the U.S. Navy. He is active in the affairs of Temple Emanuel, Newton, and holds membership in the Freedom Lodge, A.F. and A.M., Somerville, The Realty Lodge, Boston, and the Probus Club, Quincy.

An avid boatsman, Weiner presently serves as vice commodore of the Metropolitan Yacht Club, Quincy. The father of three daughters, he and his wife, Beatrice, reside in Newton.

BRUCE MIGELL of Newton has been elected a trustee of the Watertown Savings Bank. He is vice president and general manager of the Atlantic Battery Company Inc. in Watertown, a battery manufacturing firm founded by his father in 1934.

Smith-Petersen elected member

Dr. Morten Smith-Petersen, a Boston orthopedic surgeon who resides in West Newton, was elected a member of the corporation of the New England Baptist Hospital at its eightieth annual meeting held recently in Boston.

He is a member of the Baptist's medical staff executive committee and the operating room committee. He is the orthopedic staff representative and advisor to the department of physical medicine.

A graduate of Amherst College and the University of Rochester School of Medicine, Dr. Smith-Petersen is currently an instructor of orthopedic surgery at Tufts Medical School. He has lectured at the post-graduate level at Massachusetts General Hospital, and has taught instructional courses at the American Academy of Orthopedic Surgery.

His numerous professional affiliations include the National Boards, the Massachusetts Medical Society, the Suffolk Medical Society, the American Medical Association, the American Board of Orthopedic Surgery, and the American Academy of Orthopedic Surgery.

Dr. and Mrs. Smith-Petersen make their home at 36 Westfield Rd. with three of their five children.

Lowell alumnus honored

Kalman Kobrin, a Newton resident and alumnus of Lowell Technological Institute, was recently honored as a life member by the Lowell Tech Alumni Association.

An active supporter of the alumni group, he has served on the board of directors, and was president of the association from 1960 - 1962.

Kobrin was awarded an honorary degree from Lowell Tech at the 1972 commencement exercises. He lives at 822 Commonwealth Ave. Newton Centre and is president of Reliable Fabrics, Inc of Everett.

President's Club For Tennant

Newton insurance consultant Robert L. Tennant of the R.L. Tennant Insurance Agency in Newton, has been elected to membership in the 1974 President's Club of Kemper Insurance.

Basis for membership is achieving an outstanding standard of service and sales to Newton policyholders. In awarding the membership, M. D. Rudgers, senior executive vice-president of the Kemper Group, explained "This recognition is reserved for those agents who excel in selecting and servicing Kemper policyholders and contribute substantially to the growth of our organization and the welfare of their community."

President's Club is the highest endorsement of the Chicago-based Kemper organization. Tennant was also named to membership in 1973 and 1972.

A native of Newton, Tennant lives with his wife, Margaret and their children at 189 Mt. Vernon St., West Newton.

Medical center taps local MD

R. Michael Scott, M.D., has been appointed an assistant neurosurgeon in the New England Medical Center Hospital (NEMCH) Department of Neurosurgery.

Scott, a graduate of Williams College and Temple University School of Medicine, comes to NEMCH from Massachusetts General Hospital where he had been a resident in the Department of Neurosurgery since July, 1969. Previously, he had been a research associate with the National Institute of Neurological Diseases and Stroke.

Scott's particular interest is in microneurosurgery and to further increase his skills in this area, he will spend three months in Zurich, Switzerland, with Dr. Gazi Yasargil, an eminent authority in that field.

In conjunction with Dr. William A. Shucart and Dr. Bennett M. Stein, neurosurgeon - in - chief at NEMCH, Scott will comprise the full-time staff at NEMCH and at the Boston Veterans Administration Hospital. Scott lives in Newton.

IRS booklet at local post offices

Postmaster George K. Walker announced recently that the official Internal Revenue Service guide, "Your Federal Income Tax", is on sale again this year at all post offices in the Boston Postal District.

The Booklet provides assistance to taxpayers filing separate or joint returns. It contains sample completed forms with entries keyed to appropriate pages and many examples of allowable expenses, deductions and contributions.

Post master Walker said this year's revised edition, priced at $1., is expected to be another "best seller".

Proper operation and maintenance help drivers conserve gasoline

"Conservative" operating habits and proper vehicle maintenance can reduce fuel consumption and extend engine life — whether the vehicle is new or old, small or large, reports the Motor Vehicle Manufacturers Association.

Fuel economy has suffered in recent years — the victim of added weight, stemming mainly, from government mandated equipment additions, new systems for controlling vehicle emissions and buyers' opting for more power-driven equipment such as air conditioning, brakes and steering.

Among tips for better mileage, MVMA says that gasoline is wasted by driving at high speeds, "hot rod" accelerations, excessive engine idling, making short trips and driving at varying speeds.

Rapid acceleration and high speeds demand more engine power and hence more fuel. A study by automotive engineers has found that the difference in fuel economy between a "hot rod" and "Sunday driver" can be about two miles per gallon (mpg) in city driving.

Long engine warm-ups should be avoided. Mileage will improve if the car is driven at moderate speeds even with a cold engine.

Drivers pay for short, convenience trips with greater fuel consumption. A vehicle started cold and driven four miles during one manufacturer's test got an average of 8 mpg. With a longer trip length of 15 miles, economy increased to 11 mpg, while fully warmed up, the test car received 12.8 mpg.

Stop-and-go city driving which is unnerving to drivers is also hard on fuel economy. For best results, try to maintain a fairly constant speed and avoid red lights and other conditions requiring stops or frequent speed changes, says the MVMA.

Driving a car faster than about 40 mph generally lowers fuel economy. Peak fuel economy occurs in all car sizes — sub-compact, intermediate, and full-size sedans — in the 30 to 40 mph. However, when driving on freeways minimum speed levels — usually 45 mph — must be observed.

Following the manufacturers' maintenance schedule for tune-ups, cleaning and adjustments will increase fuel economy for most vehicles. A manufacturer's study showed that a spark plug mis-firing half the time at 60 mph dropped fuel economy by 7.3 percent. Replacing worn spark plugs can improve average fuel economy by 5 to 6 percent. Under-inflated tires and improper front wheel alignment are other vehicle conditions that cost drivers money by increasing fuel consumption.

Highway travel 98.3% of all person trips

Americans are highway oriented, whether they are traveling to and from work, conducting family business, searching out recreation spots, or visiting friends.

Regardless of family income, more than 98 percent of all person-trips are taken in a motor vehicle over a portion of the nation's road-system. Eight out of every ten commuting workers travel between home and work in either a passenger car or light truck.

Automobiles are the preferred means of travel for some 85 percent of all person-trips in highway vehicles. Trucks add another 5.5 percent, while buses account for the remaining 7.6 percent.

A freight train gets from two to five times as many cargo ton-miles per gallon of fuel as does a truck. Air freight is 6 times less efficient than trucking, the Massachusetts Audubon Society points out.

Career opportunities in automotive service

Thousands of good paying jobs await qualified mechanics in servicing the nearly 125 million motor vehicles now registered in the U.S., according to the Motor Vehicle Manufacturers Association (MVMA).

The vehicle service business has grown so large that the nation's 800,000 mechanics can no longer keep pace. Already, total income from vehicle service far exceeds the dollar volume of new and used cars sold each year. And it's almost certain to increase: it is estimated that more than 185 million motor vehicles will ply the nation's highways by the end of the century.

Employment opportunities exist in many areas: general mechanic; specialty mechanic (transmissions, air conditioning, etc.); shop foreman; service manager, parts manager; and "jobber" salesman (parts wholesaler representative), to name just a few.

Other fine career opportunities await those interested in vehicle sales, running their own specialty shops, and in vocational education.

Women are strongly urged to investigate these career opportunities. At present, only about 11,000 are employed in vehicle service, according to MVMA. But the traditional male dominence of these fields has ended. Today, employers are eager to hire women with the necessary skills for these satisfying careers.

Improvement needs outpace road funds

Five out of every six miles of the nation's 1.25 million miles of arterial highways will require some kind of improvement before 1990 according to a transportation needs study conducted by the Department of Transportation. The report shows that 70 percent of the rural miles and 49 percent of the urban miles were already deficient in 1970.

Continuation of the present highway construction program, the study revealed, will lead to a system only partly up to "standard" with the remainder of the national highway system far below "minimum tolerable conditions."

The needs study, conducted in cooperation with state highway and transportation departments, found that meeting foreseeable highway needs by 1990 would cost almost $600 billion.

Most of the needs outlined were for improvement of existing roads not new construction. Nearly 285,000 miles will require resurfacing, about 140,000 miles will need reconstruction or additional lanes. Only about seven percent of all arterial highways—92,500 miles—would be new or relocated roads with less than one-third of these in urban areas.

Anticipated funds from highway user taxes until 1990 will total only about $135 billion, far short of anticipated needs. Currently, about $17 billion is spent annually by Federal, state, and local governments to build, modernize and maintain roadways. Over half comes from state and local highway user tax revenues including tolls.

The Federal share, about 25 percent, comes primarily from the Highway Trust Fund which was started in 1956 with special highway user taxes as Congress recognized that drastic action was needed to meet the growing demand for safer, more efficient highway transportation facilities.

The remainder, used primarily for local service roads and residential streets, comes from other sources.

Over 17 percent of state's tax revenues derived from motor vehicle use

During the 1972 fiscal year, motor vehicle fuel and license taxes accounted for nearly a fifth of all state tax revenues in the U.S. The Department of Commerce reports that the 50 states collected $59.8 billion during the year with motor use taxes amounting to $10.5 billion, or 17.6 percent of the total.

As expected from the most populous state, California motorists paid the highest total: $997 million, which was 15 percent of their state's tax revenues. Some states, notably Nebraska, New Hampshire and Wyoming, depend on vehicle use taxes for a third of their revenues.

Some die needlessly

By CAROLE A. CARMICHAEL

OMAHA (UPI) — Statistics of the American Cancer Society show one-third of all persons inflicted with cancer die needlessly every year due to the lack of early cancer detection. That's 108,000 persons.

One physician, along with a dedicated staff, has tried to offer a solution to such a problem by examination of allegedly well and healthy persons who may be harboring early signs of the disease.

The department of Preventive Medicine and Public Health at Creighton University School of Medicine, Omaha, under the direction of Dr. Henry Lynch, developed a mobile cancer detection unit aimed at such multiphasic cancer screening.

But, Dr. Lynch and his colleagues were halted in their efforts, and the first mobile unit of multiphasic cancer screening, had to close its doors last year. Lack of funds.

Unit Is Mobile

"The practicing physician in the small community," Dr. Lynch said, "puts in 18-to-20 hours a day and is on call at all times.

"By virtue of this, he has little time available to do the type of routine cancer screening examinations which we think are mandatory if we're going to make a dent in the over-all mortality."

The unit is designed in such a way that patients can be evaluated and examined at their convenience. The unit can be taken into a small town and put in an area of proximity to most of the people.

The initial cost of the unit was $35,000 and the operating budget for a year, which included salaries, equipment, living expenses in the field, transportation, supplies, was in excess of $100,000.

Nine Towns Visited

Dr. Lynch said when the operation initially got started, fewer than 50 patients were examined a day during the first few trips out. But, with increasing efficiency, his staff was finally able to see about 16 patients an hour, or 125 per day.

Nine Nebraskan communities were visited, including two Indian reservations, in little over a year's time. The staff on each trip usually included two physicians, two registered nurses, a social worker, a dentist and a X-ray technologist.

From the 3,500 patients screened in the unit, Lynch said, his team was able to detect a major cancer, a cancer of breast or colon, in one out of every 214 patients. Sixty-three skin cancers were found.

Dr. Lynch said, in addition, about 600 patients were found to have hypertension. Congestive heart failure, and peptic ulcers also were found.

Early Diagnosis Essential

The follow-up was very vigorous. Results of findings were sent to the patient's family physician, or, if immediate attention was needed, the family physician was called.

"It seems very sensible to us," Dr. Lynch said. "Knowing the psychology of people, how do you get a healthy person to be examined?"

He described cancer as a disease wherein a person can be in a remarkable state of health and have a tumor that is very small, that is not symptomatic. Yet a person may go for two, three, five years before it ever becomes symptomatic.

"If that tumor could only be diagnosed," he said, "three or four years earlier, that life can be saved. But this requires a healthy person seeing a physician."

The thrust of the program, Dr. Lynch said, was the detection of cancer. But allied to this thrust, "with our own ideas and the ingenuity of our nurses, we developed a concept which involves taking such programs as ours (mobile cancer screening) to the population so it could be a practical measure available to any community in the United States.

World-wide Screening

"We developed roles for nurses to become more closely involved in cancer screening and, indeed, to the point of actually conducting and performing physical examinations."

Carol Kraft, a registered nurse working with the unit, is an example of someone who came out of nurses training with limited field experience. With a lot of motivation on her part, some additional formal training and with experience gained in the unit, she has reached the point where she's able to do some examinations as well as a physician, according to Dr. Lynch.

Dr. Lynch said that cancer detection screening has been world-wide since as early as 1961 in such countries as Japan. But most screening dealt only with one part of the body.

In September, 1972, Dr. Lynch presented his ideas to the International College of Pathology in Helsinki, Finland, and drew world-wide attention, primarily because his project concerned multiphasic cancer screening, entailing examination of the entire body.

He said:

"Put me on record as being impatient and downright mad that patients are dying needlessly of cancer when it can be prevented."

Super buildings for urban ills

By GEORGETTE WAGNER

CHICAGO (UPI) — Chicago's Sears Tower juts up 110 stories as the world's tallest building. It has been called the first of the super buildings and the last of the technological dinosaurs, too large to survive.

Fazlur Khan, whose engineering concepts made possible the nearly complete Sears building, predicts 100-story buildings will become commonplace and forecasts a 150-story structure within a decade.

Architect Ben Weese disagrees. The Sears Tower is a relic of the past and the restoration of older buildings the way of the future, said Weese, who has rehabilitated several Chicago landmark buildings.

"We can't become rural again," argues Khan, a partner at Skidmore, Owings and Merrill. A burgeoning population, soaring land costs and industry's need for cities in the first place will make larger buildings inevitable.

Builders Misinformed

Furthermore, Khan looks to the super building as an answer to an assortment of urban ills. He would like to see very tall, slender structures surrounded by four blocks of parks, arcades, plazas and recreation areas. The lone building on this megablock would house four-blocks worth of offices, apartments, stores and theaters.

Khan said the megablock will "free the land for more human activities," bathe the city in sunlight, break up the "American urban canyons of concrete and steel" and put back life into decaying cities.

"In the middle of winter you're air conditioning (Chicago's) IBM building," Weese said. Utilities told builders "power was cheap and didn't tell them there would be an energy crisis."

He said older buildings use energy more efficiently. That efficiency coupled with their superior construction, an ample supply of office space and 3$$2iiw8ki)4 g-,ifn¼ COSTS MAKES RESTORATION MORE ATTRACtive than new construction.

Can Divert Savings

"There's not much construction. No one in the field likes to talk about that," Weese said.

Architect Bertrand Goldberg believes the Sears building won't be duplicated much, not because of its height, but "it is so monolithic in purpose that it intensely aggravates all our urban problems."

Office buildings demand high levels of service—transportation, police protection and sewage—but utilize these services only part of the day.

"It isn't Sears that pays these bills. It is us," he said. A multi-functional building that combines offices, apartments, stores and is in use 24 hours cuts down costs. The savings can be diverted "into the kinds of things people feel the city has failed to provide them—education, security, recreation."

Goldberg, who designed the Marina City Complex in Chicago with its two circular towers, said tall structures that are cut up into boxes destroy neighborhoods, keep people from congregating and produce a sense of isolation and alienation.

New Forms Foresen

"For the first time we can build within reasonable economics whatever (shape) we want. The kinds of places which make it possible for people to cluster in a city, or what we used to call neighborhoods."

Goldberg foresees buildings taking on completely new shapes and geometric forms.

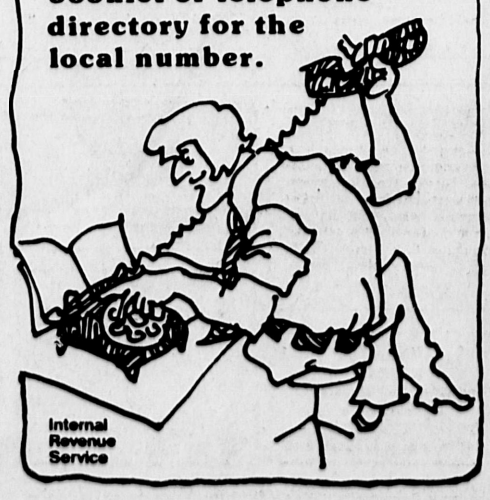

Architect Mike Gelick views cities on a cross section. Current urban centers are too dense and too high in one area and decaying in another.

If building heights were kept lower—to 20 or 30 stories high—development would spread over a wider band of the city and upgrade the quality of the entire urban center, he said.

"People interact and relate in horizontal levels," Gelick said. Urban blocks must be multi-functional, but the functions coordinated. Place parking on lower levels, stores and theaters the next stage up and apartments above, he said.

"I think there has to be some give and tace between a totally private approach and a public approach" to land use, Gelick said.

Recovery room terrors dispelled

NEW YORK (UPI) — A recovery room can be a terrifying place.

You've been in a deep artificial sleep when suddenly someone begins shaking your shoulder. A strange voice says:

"Say your name."

Until you pass that test or some similarly simple one that shows your senses have returned to normal, you stay.

You open your eyes to the questions. You see bright lights, an unfamiliar face peering at you. The operation is over.

"Are you awake now," the voice says.

"Cough for me," the voice continues.

That face, the questions, the commanding voice remain in your mind a long, long time afterward. Like a weird and frightening dream.

Smiles Replace Fears

It doesn't need to be like that. The terrors of the recovery room can be dispelled—and they are via a pre-operative program at Extendicare's new Suburban Hospital in Louisville, Ky.

In this recovery room, fear is out; smiling faces are in. Candance Fenimore is seeing to it personally.

Ms. Fenimore, 26, has been nurse in charge of the recovery room since the hospital opened in August, 1972. She decided at the outset that she and the seven nurses under her supervision "had to do something to combat the fears and sense of isolation most patients feel as they begin to regain consciousness."

Her solution: each patient is visited the night before surgery by the recovery room nurse who will attend him. She is wearing her green uniform, just as she will be next morning in the recovery room. Nurse and patient get acquainted, chat informally. "Nobody wants to be known as just 'the gallbladder in 203'," she said.

Special Requests Made

The nurse tells how the recovery room will look and what will happen there, including the coughing routine. She also outlines the various pre-op procedures and explains the reasons for them.

"Women sometimes ask why their nail polish must be removed before surgery," she said. "We explain that the color of the nailbeds is one way of telling how a patient is tolerating an operation."

Often there are special requests. In some cases a woman doesn't want anyone, even her husband, to see her without her dentures. These must be removed before an operation.

"So we arrange to take the dentures out after she leaves her room and is on the way to surgery," Ms. Fenimore said.

"Then we put them back in again before she returns to her room."

Every patient at Suburban now receives one of these preop visits from the recovery room nurse as a matter of course. Especially for persons who have never had an operation and for children, they are proving enormously helpful.

Girl Brightens Day

"It's a lot of extra work for us," Ms. Fenimore says, "but is it worth it? Of course, it certainly is. Not long ago, for example, there was a little girl here for an eye operation.

"During my visit she was distracted, nervous, didn't seem to be paying a bit of attention to me. But the next morning in recovery while I was standing beside her she opened her good eye, looked at me and whispered, 'Hello, Candy.' And she smiled.

"It wasn't much of a smile, just a tiny one. But it gave me a glow that lasted the whole day."

Oil from shale, not new

NEW YORK (UPI) — This isn't the first time the American motorist and his vehicle have been threatened by an energy crisis.

Nor is it the first time the United States has turned to shale to help the motorist through an oil shortage.

"Is the United States facing a gasoline famine?" asked Guy Elliott Mitchell of the Geological Survey in the February, 1918, issue of National Geographic. "Shall we be required to forego automobiling except to meet the stern necessities of war and utilitarian traffic?"

Soaring demand for oil in World War I led the United States Geological Survey to erect an "oil still" in Colorado to extract oil from shale rock.

Armistice Ends Crisis

The 1918 National Geographic article was accompanied by a photograph of the still with the caption:

"The horseless vehicle's threatened dethronement has been definitely averted and the uninviting prospect of a motorless age has ceased to be a ghost stalking in the vista of the future."

World War I ended before shale oil production really began and the plan was dropped. It was simpler and cheaper to pump oil from the ground.

Now, however, the government is again looking at this method of obtaining oil.

Idea Not New

The Department of the Interior is opening six tracts of public land in Colorado, Utah, and Wyoming to petroleum companies for experimental work in crushing shale rock to extract oil.

The idea was not new, even in 1918. Oil had been produced from shale in Scotland for 70 years. Tons of rock were crushed and heated. The rock gave off petroleum vapors which were condensed into crude oil and ammonia.

A generation earlier, Mormons used the same process in Utah to obtain oil for lamps. Even the earliest settlers of the American West had learned than when they built their campfires against certain rocks, the docks themselves would burn.

Before the Civil War, some 50 firms were extracting oil from shale. However, once the first oil well was drilled in 1859 at Titusville, Pa., the shale process was too costly to compete.

A Costly Process

Even with modern equipment, shale oil will be costly.

It takes more than a ton of the richest shale to extract one barrel of oil. Petroleum companies will be required to minimize environmental damage by landscaping and reseeding when they are through mining, adding to the cost of the final product.

The experimental program now in progress will "allow us to learn whether our 600-billion-barrel shale oil reserves can be developed at acceptable economic and environmental costs," according to Secretary of the Interior Rogers C. B. Morton.

Given the extent of today's energy crisis, Morton noted the new program "is in the national interest."

Next time you see someone polluting, point it out.

It's a spewing smokestack. It's litter in the streets. It's a river where fish can't live.

You know what pollution is.

But not everyone does.

So the next time you see pollution, don't close your eyes to it.

Write a letter. Make a call. Point it out to someone who can do something about it.

People start pollution. People can stop it.

UCLA back on top

NEW YORK (UPI) — If there is anything college basketball does not need, it is UCLA trying harder.

But, being No. 2, that's what the Bruins had to do Saturday against Notre Dame and the results were devastating.

It was an Irish wake as Notre Dame was trounced, 94-75, returning the United Press International Board of Coaches' No. 1 ranking to UCLA.

Quickly falling back into old habits, the UPI board unanimously voted the Bruins No. 1, while the Irish fell to third in the rankings.

North Carolina State, beaten only by UCLA this season, was ranked second ahead of Notre Dame.

Motoring Costs

New York — Motorists in the U.S. pay $4 billion a year for state licenses, gasoline taxes, special city and county levies, all in addition to bridge, ferry, and toll road fees.

Did you forget to designate your 1972 tax dollar to the '76 Presidential Election Campaign Fund?

You can still do so on your 1973 federal tax form.

Hi Marge.

We're vacationing in Ski 93 country. A real estate firm called First Waterville Corp found a rental for us so we can stay for a weekend, week, month or the season at realistic rates. Isn't that great?

First Waterville is going to show us some of their parcels of land. They have acreage for sale as well as commercial and residential parcels and old farms. 500 acres in southern New Hampshire, 1700 acres in the lakes region, etc. We like skiing so we'll look at 100 acres in the Waterville Valley area that has a view all the way to Plymouth. And if that's too rich for our blood, they have over 35 townhouses, condominiums and vacation homes in every major development within 15 miles of Waterville Valley and nine brand new townhouses 1 mile from Loon Mt. with all 35 units ranging in price from $24,000.

Needless to say, we're having a great time skiing and scouting the area for our shangri-la.

I think we'll probably acquire one of the resale homes or condominiums because we can save from 10 to 40 per cent without having to go through the hassle of building. Every penny counts these days.

Love,
Nancy

P.S. If you and Roger want a quality investment up here in New Hampshire — make sure you see First Waterville Corp. They have a large number of clients in the Greater Newton, Dedham, Needham and Norwood area. Some are our neighbors. Their office is on Route 49 on the way to Waterville Valley. Call them at 603-762-3090 collect or write First Waterville Corp., Box 326, Campton, N.H. 03223.

Whalers on road

BOSTON (UPI) — The New England Whalers will try to dismount the Jersey Knights and ground the Houston Aeros this week as they continue their battle to stay in first place in the World Hockey Association East Division.

The Whalers have regained their winning ways of late, beating the Cleveland Crusaders 4-0 last Saturday, and coming from behind to catch the Vancouver Blazers, 6-4, Monday night.

Thursday they travel to Cherry Hill New Jersey to face the Knights, a team with which the Whalers have been very successful. In the last seven meetings between the two clubs, the Whalers have won them all.

The Aeros, whom the Whalers will face Saturday in Boston, are a different story. Since being beaten 3-2 in Houston by New England on December 26. Houston has gone on a rampage, winning 11 of their last 13 games to take an eight point lead over the second place Winnipeg Jets in the WHA West.

The Aeros are led by the Howe family — Gordie, Marty and Mark. Father Gordie has been supurb in Houston's win skein, racking up 22 points to jump into third place in the WHA scoring race. His son, Marty, has been playing on a line with his fatherall year, and has rung up 20 points in the 13 game span to challenge teammate Andre Hinse for WHA rookie scoring honors.

Gordie's other son, Mark, has led a defense that has allowed only 22 goals during Houston's streak.

West on top 6-4

CHICAGO (UPI) — Winning Coach Billy Reay had the proper pre-game analysis for the National Hockey League's East-West All-Star game.

"We've got better goal keeping," he said in analyzing the two squads before the puck was dropped. "They're better up front, and the defense is about a standoff."

That was about the way it went in the West's 6-4 victory, the second in six games against the East in the East-West format and the second for Reay in four tries.

The East had 35 shots on goal and got four through while the West leveled 28 shots at East goaltenders Gilles Gilbert of Boston and Dave Dryden of Buffalo and scored six times.

10-Goal Total a Record

The 10-goal total for the two teams was an All-Star game record and it came before a record crowd which paid a record gate.

The attendance was announced at 17,095 compared to 16,986 at New York last year and the receipts were around $150,000 compared to the New York record of $120,767.

The West was outclassed in the first period when the East grabbed a 2-0 lead. One of the goals by Frank Mahovlich, his eighth for a total of 13 points in All Star competition, put him second only to Gordie Howe who had 10 goals and 18 points.

The West wiped out the East advantage with five straight goals in the last two periods and Garry Unger of St. Louis, chosen most valuable player in the game to win a new car, and the Chicago Black Hawks' Stan Mikita wrapped up the decision in the last period.

The Winning Tally

Mikita scored the West's fourth goal on a pass from Unger and Unger beat Dryden for a short handed goal, the winning tally and the first All-Star short-handed goal since 1965 by Howe.

An afternoon with the symphony

By DAVID HAHN

Newton's youngest music lovers began flowing into the Meadowbrook Junior High School auditorium as early as 1 p.m. Saturday afternoon.

They anxiously awaited the blissful sounds of the Newton Symphony Orchestra's 8th annual youth concert under the guidance of Michel Sasson. Many attended with their friends, and some were accompanied by their parents in the hope of instilling them with some measure of culture.

The program commenced with Copland's "Fanfare for the Common Man," followed by a "Concerto for Flute and Orchestra in D" by Mozart. It was not until the appearance of the family Romanul in Beethoven's "Travel Concerto for violin, piano, cello and orchestra did we hear the boisterous bravos and other accolades that were previously missing.

Robert Hazen, a trumpeter with the symphony, gave a brief account of the "Brandenburg Concerto" by Bach for the benefit of those classical music buffs unfamiliar with its background. And directly after Hazen's lesson, the audience was treated to a performance by Susan Greenberg, a junior at Newton North High School. Susan majestically led the orchestra in a contemporary styled piece she composed last May titled "Convictions." The young music connoisseurs were truly captivated by her talents, dreaming of a similar honor that might someday befall them.

Following the orchestra's recital of "Humoresque," written by 20-year-old Timothy Thorman of Newton, excitement surged through the crowd as the Newton Elementary Orchestra moved onstage alongside their fellow musicians. The two groups chose the "Sailors' Dance from Red Poppy Ballet" by Gliere as their final selection; the story of a beautiful Chinese dancer who gives the captain of a Soviet ship a red poppy bouquet, the symbol of liberty.

The audience proudly cheered the performance of their peers, for as I left I overheard one young music critic remark to another, "notice the magnificently timed coordination Sasson has achieved with his assemblage and our own. I find it truly remarkable and extremely gratifying . . . How about getting a street hockey game going now?"

'Convictions' Susan Greenberg led the Newton Symphony Orchestra in a performance of her composition, "Convictions," at last Saturday's free youth concert. (Easton Photo)

Chess Chatter

By ANDREW SCHMIDT

To the uninitiated player, the difference between a match game and a tournament game may be slight, but to the serious player, there exists a distinct individuality.

This month, eight grandmasters throughout the world are fighting in the quarter-finals of the 'Candidates Tournament,' a set of individual knockout matches. The eventual winner will play Bobby Fischer for the world title in 1975.

The New York Times chess columnist Robert Byrne is in San Juan playing Boris Spassky for the right to advance to the semis. Recently, Byrne has been playing fantastic tournament chess, yet in San Juan, he is at the moment in serious trouble, losing two straight to Spassky to be down 0-2. Spassky needs one more victory to win the match.

What has happened? Tournament chess is a fighting chess, where to win, one must try to win each game for he is not only fighting against his opponent, but also the other players. A draw in a tournament might hurt, since a competitor may win his game and pull ahead. In matches, draws do not count, and thus the slower player may well pace himself better and win matches, whereas he may do relatively poorly in tournaments.

Psychological differences exist also. In a tournament, you play different players each game, whereas in a match you see the same player over and over again. Is it depressing to Byrne to face ex-world champion Spassky after losing two straight? Apparently so, for after his second loss, he took a medical time-out claiming insomnia!

Even your opponent's style may have factors that lead to a result in a match that does not reflect your true ability, for if you like a positional game and your opponent plays tactically, you may do terribly while still not be that much worse. If Byrne loses 0-3 against Spassky, we can see why.

This week's game is taken from a 1972 match between this writer and Jason Arbeiter of Newton Centre. The score stood even at 3½ each going into the final 8th game, and what happened is presented here. The loser fell apart! (In all fairness, Arbeiter is currently winning the return match 2-0!)

5 B-B4 is unusual and allows Black to gain time for P-KB4 by attacking the Bishop with N-KR4. Note 9 B-Q3 overlooks the sealing 9 . . , P-B5 by Black, and to prevent the loss of a piece, White exposes his King. Black's 16th, N-N6ch, is not played for the rook-fork, but for a long forced mate. Any reader wishing to submit all variations to this writer (NFL Chess Club, Newton Main Library) will get a mention in a later column.

Rehearsing South High School students apparently enjoy rehearsing for their latest production, "Milk and Honey."

'Milk and Honey' next at South

Newton South High School's Music and Theatre Arts departments are now rehearsing this year's musical production, "Milk and Honney."

Playing the leading female roles are Susan Cutler as Ruth Stein and Mara Flash as Clara Weiss, member mf a group of husband-seeking widows.

Also in this marriage-minded group are Jorinda Margolis, Tara Becker, Cindy Gordon, Wendy Belcher, Ellen Kazin, and Sheryl Levitt.

Ruth's Israeli romantic interest, Phil, is played by Larry Benders. Other members of the cast include Andrew Schulman as David, the young pioneer; Caron Palder as Barbara, David's wife, and Frank Walker as Adi.

"Milk and Honey" is under the direction of Ernest Chamberlain and musical direction of David Arner, assistant direction by student Rina Miller, and produced by student Julie Scovell. The story is the celebration of a land filled with promise and song and will be enjoyable for all ages.

The show will be presented Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, Feb. 12, 13, 14, and 15 in out school auditorium, 140 Brandeis Rd., Newton Centre. Tickets are $2.50 and may be reserved by calling 969-9810, ext. 342, between 9 an. and 4 p.m.

Mrs. Tasjian to speak Feb. 4

Mrs. Virginia A. Tashjian, Newton's city librarian since 1970, will be the guest speaker at the Waban Woman's Club meeting on Monday, Feb. 4 at the Windsor Club.

Mrs. Tashjian has held professional offices in many library associations and has received special honors in connection with lecturing and story-telling.

Much of her experience has dealt with children's literature, and she is the author of several children's books. Book reviewing for church and club groups is also one of her activities, and at this meeting she will review recent books.

Mrs. John Phillips will be hostess for dessert and coffee at 12:30 p.m. and at 1 p.m. Mrs. Joseph Morog, president, will conduct the business meeting, which will be followed by the book review program at 1:30 p.m. Mrs. Eugene Faucher, president-elect of the State Federation of Woman's Clubs will be the guest speaker during the business meeting.

A special meeting will be held at 10 a.m. for a discussion of proposed amendments to the by-laws and the need to increase membership dues.

PATERNO WINS AWARD

NEW YORK (UPI) — Joe Paterno, who coached Penn State to a 12-0 record, including an Orange Bowl victory over Louisiana State, was presented the Football Writers Association of New York's annual Eastern Coach of the Year award Tuesday.

Mofenson to head privacy comm.

House Speaker David M. Bartley today named Newton State Representative David J. Mofenson to serve as chairman of the newly formed Special Commission on Privacy.

The Commission, which was established as a result of legislation sponsored by Rep. Mofenson, includes Newton Senator Irving Fishman.

House members of the Commission, in addition to Rep. Mofenson, are Reps. John Businger (D-Brookline), Ann Gannett (R-Wayland), Arthur Khoury (D-Haverhill), and Garret Lynch (D-Westefield.

Senate members, in addition to Sen. Irving Fishman, are Sens. Chester Atkins (D-Acton), chairman, and John Parker (R-Taunton).

Italian film to be shown at library

"Big Deal on Madonna Street," an Italian film in the Italian language will be featured at the Nonantum Branch of the Newton Free Library, Sunday afternoon, Feb. 3 at 3 p.m.

Starring Vittorio Gassman and Marcello Mastrianni, the film tells of a butter-fingered burglar who goofs while trying to rob a safe.

In the film, the "expert," along with his helpers, becomes all thumbs when the time for the robbery occurs. After they sneeze, drop their tools, and drill holes into the water pipes they all give up and go home.

Members of the Women's Auxiliary of the Sons of Italy will serve coffee and refreshments.

The public is invited to attend the free screening.

Sculptor to meet with local art association

The Newton Art Association will meet with Lloyd Lillie, a nationally renowned sculptor at its Feb. 7 meeting at the Workship-Woman's Club, 72 Columbus St., Newton Highlands, at 7:30 p.m.

Lillie, who was born in Washington, D. C., received his art education at the Corcoran School of Art, Washington, D. C., at the Skowhegan School of Painting and Sculpture in Maine, at the Boston Museum School and at the Academia di Belle Arti, Florence, Italy, in 1960.

Lillie has received many awards, fellowships and scholarships both in this country and in Europe. He has been a teaching professor at Boston University.

Lillie has been involved in many one and two man shows in and around Boston, including shows at the Boris Mirski Gallery, the Cambridge Art Association and at the main library in Newton.

Lillie's demonstration will be divided into two meetings. On Feb. 7 he will do a sculpture using a model, and at the following meeting on Feb. 21, he will demonstrate the art of casting.

Members and guests are invited.

Refreshments will be served by Mrs. Leona Monte and Mrs. Elvira Suitor.

Library offers five films

"Gunga Din" a feature film starring Gary Grant, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and Victor McLaughlin, will be shown at the Newton Free Library, 414 Centre Street, Newton Corner, Thursday evening, Feb. 7 at 7 p.m.

In this film, the three men are cast as soldier-adventurers stationed in India with the British Empire's military forces.

The free Thursday evening film series will continue with a showing of four sport films on Feb. 14. "The Will to Win" portrays the challenging world of athletic competition including skydiving, rodeo, karate, surfing and racing; "Sky Diving - Space Age Sport" shows expert jumpers in skydiving competitions.

"Challenge", the third film scheduled for Feb. 14, includes some of the 1969 Davis Cup finals and includes slow motion footage and a brief history of tennis.

"Fifty years of Baseball Memories" contains film clips of great players, including Ruth, Gehrig, Cobb and Mantle, dating back to 1931 and tracing baseball's history.

The films are screened in Chaffin Hall at the Main Library. The public is invited to enjoy the free films and a cup of coffee.

Concert at high school Jan. 31

A new format will be evident in tonight's concert by the Newton North High School Concert Band and Jazz Ensemble.

The concert, to be held at 8 p.m. in the new school's auditorium, will feature both a student soloist and a guest professional soloist.

Scott Karas, student drummer, will perform with the Concert Band as student soloist. Leading the Jazz Ensemble and performing with both groups will be guest trombonist Phil Wilson.

Wilson is chairman of the trombone department at Berklee College of Musicsand leader of the Thursday Night Dues Band at the school.

A former writer and performer with Woody Herman and the Dorsey brothers, Wilson has had his compositions performed by the Buddy Rich Band and the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

Church breakfast

The Episcopal Church, Diocese of Massachusetts, will hold its annual Washington's Birthday Communion and Breakfast for men, youth and families at Trinity Church, Newton Centre on Feb. 18 from 8-10:30 a.m.

A speaker will be Sam Ruthigliano, offensive coach of the New England Patriots.
